John J. O'Reilly Tells of His Reason for Business Apathy

TOWARD OUR COMING EXPOSITION.

The Liquor Element Indifferent, if Not Really Antagonistic.

WHY PRESIDENT MARVIN MAY RESIGN

The state of immorality into which Exposition affairs seem to have fallen has been somewhat disturbed by the resignation of J. F. Nicholson from Cincinnati, and that gentleman's good-humored opinion that Pittsburgh could get along without him and, anyway, he could get along without Pittsburgh.

This apathy seems to be again settling over the scene, and in order to get at some of the reasons why lively, bustling Pittsburghers should treat with indifference an Exposition scheme that would not only refund to the credit and honor of Pittsburgh as a whole, but promote private enterprises and private interests in every respect.

"Well," said he reflectively, when he was asked the plump question as to what he thought of the affair, "the liquor interests of this city are hustling all their money and resources together in view of this greatly enlarged prohibition act. They are afraid of the act, and not unreasonably, distrustful of a man who advocates prohibition. For certain reasons, the brewers and liquor men are indifferent to me and do not even take the trouble to attend the Exposition meeting, and vote as they are entitled. They do not even take the trouble to antagonize the Exposition Board.

"Mr. O'Reilly's particularities." "This feeling does not only exist in liquor circles, but I have encountered the strongest opposition even among our fair manufacturers every time I talked Exposition, and I always talk it, for there is no man in the city favors it more than I do. Prominent men here have said to me that the board, as at present organized, is not popular, and some of the best men in the city have said to me, 'We will not touch it as long as S. S. Marvin is President.' It would look far better if certain business men in the board would resign and be replaced by a trifle compared to their business derived rather than ask manufacturers to subscribe who receive no benefit whatever.

"My experience is that the sentiment of the people, and the sentiment of the best business men in agreement with the prohibition organization. Again, it is a shame to let that Cincinnati man, Nicholson, go. I have never met a canvasser for 10 years, and I have never met a better, more capable man than Mr. Nicholson.

"We would not by any means have Mr. Marvin out of the board, but I am sure that members of the board itself subscribing only $100, or a petty $500. We are in a bind as President, and with Mr. Marvin as director, and the bringing in of outside interest not represented in the board at present. With these considerations, and the opinion of an Advisory Board, a round $1,000,000 could be raised in 30 days. I guarantee myself that the brewers and liquor interests would subscribe a round $100,000.

"I associate with every line of business in the city, and I traveled around among the liquor men, and Mr. Nicholson knows how hard I talked, and what personal influence I brought to bear to raise a petty $10,000. I would not have been able to do it without the aid of the board. The latter subscribed $2,500 and I was right backed out and said he had reasons for doing so. I thought the brewers seem arrayed against the scheme, and won't give a penny, though they subscribed thousands for Nicholson in their own city.

"I John Hindley and A. F. Keating, or any member of the board come to me personally, I will tell them the names of some of our heaviest manufacturers here who have told me personally that they would not subscribe, and I will give them reasons, too.

"If the liquor interests knew their business was safe they would freely subscribe $100,000. As it is they have already given me even under the present adverse circumstances, one-eighth of all that has been subscribed, and I consider that a showing. It isn't a marvel to me that the board meeting was not well attended, as many subscribers preferred to be absent rather than antagonize any member of the board.

"Now understand, I do not speak as representing the liquor interests of Pittsburgh, but as one who has had business intercourse with all sorts of interests. I do not antagonize Mr. Marvin, but on the contrary respect him and would be sorry to lose him entirely from Exposition affairs, and no one wants to lose him on account of his well-known public spirit and enterprise. Nevertheless, I have encountered the feeling among the best men I know, that the Exposition Board as at present organized is not acceptable. Mr. Marvin has been chosen for president, and he sees a hitch somewhere as quick as anybody. He has influential backers, let them come forward.

"In conclusion, while I am reluctant to say anything against Mr. Marvin, it is just as well that he should know of the sentiment against him.

"I could go on and tell why the heavy street railroad interests have not given one penny toward a venture that will ultimately net them hundreds of thousands, but it is useless. I hope everything I have said will not be printed, but if it is I will stand by it. I echo public sentiment, and will bear anything, only so the Exposition goes through."

PRESIDENT MARVIN'S REPLY.

A call was made upon President Marvin, at his business house on Liberty street, in regard to the issues at stake. A few pointed questions were put to the gentleman regarding his feelings in the matter, and what he would do regarding such and such a thing were true. He leaned carelessly back in his chair, thought for half a minute, and said: "John J. O'Reilly says he will guarantee $100,000 subscription from the liquor interests if I resign from the Presidency of the Exposition. Now I have a proposition to make to Mr. O'Reilly. If he secures a subscription of $50,000, I will resign from the Presidency. More than that; if he or any other man secures a subscription of $50,000 that is opposed to me, I will resign at once, because I will think it to the interest of the Exposition.

"There is a certain interest in this city that, though it does not accuse me openly of prohibition, does not see an opportunity of making me in the back. My best friends and my best energies are being expended in securing what Pittsburgh citizens so much desire, an Exposition that will almost double their business, and make us famous. Nevertheless, I repeat this: If Mr. O'Reilly or any other man in this city produces $50,000 bona fide subscriptions arrayed against me as President of the society, I will resign."

AN IMPORTANT DOCUMENT.

The Construction of the Burlington Agreement Defined in a Letter.

CHICAGO, January 10.—A dispatch from Galesburg this morning said that a member of the engineers' committee which settled the Burlington strike had told the engineers at that point that there was a document in connection with the settlement which had not been made public. A reporter asked Vice President Stone for a copy of it this afternoon. Mr. Stone said that the document referred to was no part of the agreement, but was a letter to Mr. Ripley, the general manager of the Burlington road, and that a copy of it had been given to the strikers, as it showed the spirit in which the agreement was to be carried out. The letter reads as follows: CHICAGO, January 4, 1892.

Mr. E. P. Ripley, General Manager: DEAR SIR:—The object of this letter is to define the construction which I was directed to give to the Committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, who have been in conference with us to-day, and which was explained to them, and they have declared the settlement.

It is important that no questions should arise as to the good faith of the company, and it is our desire and intention that there should be no opportunity for such questions. As to the meaning of the word "available," I desire to say that when it becomes necessary to employ men outside of the company, the care must be taken to consider all the qualifications that go to make up availability, including the man's age, his health, his family surroundings and rules. In short, that the very best men are to be selected, regardless of personal relations or prejudices for or against any man or class of men.

I should like to be fully understood that the company does not desire to pursue those who have been employed, and while such men can be re-employed, and we cannot give letters in that regard, we should continue to give the animosities of the conflict after it is over, or interfere to prevent the employment of such men elsewhere. Yours truly, HENRY B. STONE.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.—CHARLESTON, W. VA., January 10.—The rule against Secretary of State Walker requiring him to show cause why a writ of mandamus should not issue requiring him to lay before the Legislature the vote cast in Kanawha county for Governor as it had been certified to him, was argued this morning, and was quashed. Counsel for General Goff immediately made a second application for a writ of mandamus, and the court, which was granted, returnable by Secretary of State Walker at 2:30 this afternoon. This morning the Supreme Court granted a writ of mandamus against Judge Gehring, compelling him from going on with the mandamus against the Secretary of State. The time set for the argument of this matter before the Supreme Court has been fixed for 3 o'clock to-morrow, and in the meantime matters will remain in status quo.

The vote of Kanawha gives a majority of 106 in the State, but without it Fleming has a majority of over 1,400, and it is the duty of the Legislature to go into joint session and declare the result of the election as soon as the two Houses are organized. In the Senate this afternoon the usual filibustering tactics were carried out, and shortly after 4 o'clock it adjourned until 2 o'clock to-morrow, apparently as far from organizing as ever.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneezes, sneezes, sneezes, the acid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic form, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations also heavily affected, small and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE manifests itself in permanent and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of FERRIC SOLVENT and an IMPROVED INHALER, all in the name of loyalty. Let the patriotic committee be set to work at once to that arrangement may be completed. Request ministers to announce it from their pulpits and the children of the public schools be invited to attend, free and open for all, and make this day a great day, not only for this year, but for every year, for the sake of the children of the Sons of Veterans and Union soldiers."
