Ruled for the Present by the Supremacy of Irish Politics.

THE WRONGS HEAPED ON O'BRIEN

Quite a Revival of Interest in the Parnell Commissi Inquiry.

Irish politics has ruled the roost in England and Erin the past week. The brutal treatment of William O'Brien has had its natural effect. Sympathy for his cause is daily growing. A great outdoor indignation meeting will be held at Hyde Park to-day. A ringing resolution has been prepared for passage. Tories were unable to mold the meeting at Sheffield to suit their ends. A revival of interest is noted in the Parnell Commission inquiry.

[BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.] LONDON, February 9 .- [Copyright.]-Polities this week has been entirely Irish. The brutal treatment of William O'Brien has forcibly impressed the English masses with the general subject of the treatment of political prisoners in Irish prisons, and as this was the object, O'Brien, in the course he tollowed at Clonmel, has reason to congratulate himself upon the immense advantage the Irish cause has gained. Not a day passes without hundreds of indignation meetings scattered all over the country, the proceedings at which are recorded in the briefest possible manner, but fill columns in the newspapers every morning.

The movement will culminate to-morrow in the great outdoor demonstration of the London Liberals and anti-Coercionists generally, which will be held in Hyde Park. The meeting will be emphatically a democratic gathering. It has been organized entirely by the workingmen, and the speakers will be all workingmen or politicians who enjoy their entire confidence. So enormous is the gathering expected to be that no fewer than 12 platforms will be erected in order that the various speakers may be well heard.

WHAT WILL BE RESOLVED. The Tories are not fond of outdoor demonstrations. As they do not lend themselves to packing, it is therefore safe to prophesy that the resolution, which will be moved at all the platforms simultaneously, will be carried unanimously. It condemns the brutal police coercion in Ireland, protests against the uncivilized treatment of politiprisoners in the Irish jails, and demands the release of Irish patriots whose only erime is exercising the ordinary rights of free speech, and calls upon the Liberal eaders to make a determined attack on the inhuman methods of the Tory Government. A very remarkable outdoor meeting was held at Sheffield on Wednesday, at which not fewer than 20,000 workingmen were sent. The local Tory leaders and their followers arranged to be present and defeat the proposed resolution of sympathy with the Irish political prisoners. So confident were they of defeating it that a telegram was dispatched to Lord Salisbury, informing him that the workingmen of Sheffield, in meeting assembled, had expressed their approval of his policy in Ireland. Salisbury promptly wired a message of thanks, and must have been considerably mortified the next morning when he read in the newspapers, Tory and Liberal alike, that the resolution referred to had been carried by a ority of at least 2 to 1.

ANOTHUR DISTRICT FLOPS. Following close upon this Tory finsco came the news that the elections for the dis-trict represented in Parliament by Lord Hartington had resulted in the return of all the Liberal candidates. This is a very unexpected and emphatic notice to quit to his Lordship, and already it is reported that the Tory whips are looking about for a sale constituency willing to be honored by the rene-

Mr. Gladstone has continued to enjoy himself thoroughly at Naples. To-day he leaves for Amalfi, where he will stay until the 14th and then go to Cannes, returning thence to London. He will be here, as you have already been informed, in time for the opening of Parliament, and he will resume his legislative tabors immensely improved in health and looking ten years younger. There has been this week a decided re-vival of public interest in the proceedings of the special commission. To the British mind there is always something fascinating shout an informer, and the attraction by s irresistible when he takes the form of a dashing, fairly good-looking military fel-low in the prime of life. Major Le Caron has therefore performed to full houses since he has been on the stage. Society dames went to court and ogled him, and there eemed a reasonable prospect that he would soon become

ONE OF THE LIONS of aristocratic drawingrooms, but Sir Charles Bussell spoiled LeCaron's chances by extracting from him the admission that in his early wouth he had pursued the unomantic calling of a clerk in a drygoods store, and in later years the scarcely less presaie vocation of a chemist. London society can olerate a cowboy and worship rum-sodden tings of a ten-acre lot on the west coast of Africa, but it draws a line at drygoods and lrugs-unless and until the seller has made fortune or acquired a title not less in rank han a Baronet. LeCaron is believed to be the Times' most mportant witness, and the Tory writers and stators, unwisely precipitate and recklessly ontemptuous of court, have been calling pon the people of England to take note of he wickedness of the Irish members, as roved by the informer's evidence. The sading society newspaper ever proclaims hat LeCaron has proved Parnell and his olleagues guilty of subsidizing the Queen's nemies, by consequence of high treason, and shricks aloud for their prompt punish-

The Tories would have been wiser, and ertainly less ridiculous, had they awaited he result of Sir Charles Russell's crossxamination, which has already taken the ing out of LeCaron's malignant evidence and bids fair to transform it entirely into aluable testimony in favor of the Irish con-interesting Talk About Pittsburg by Professor B. C. Jillison-Wonderful Action of Rivers-Terrific Upheavals an Obsolete Legend of Days Long Past. A quiet little scientific talk, somewhat echnical, but certainly most interesting, was given by Prof. B. C. Jillison, Ph. D., M. D., in University Hall, yesterday after noon, upon "Home Geology." This title sounds somewhat heavy and abstruse, but the gentleman made his ideas so plain, and used such every-day but ap propriate language, that he was understood

He started out with the intention of explaining the fundamental thought now accepted by geologists as true, that the great changes of hills, mountains and valleys were not made, as was at first supposed, by tremendous upheavals and convulsions, but by the slow process during ages and ages of time of certain actions and forces that are going on now, slowly, quietly, but with force and effect equal to that which has iowered a plane for Pittsburg and allowed the surrounding hills to stand hundreds of teet above. Said the professor:

This is due entirely to river action. Just im magine a smooth broad plain with a perfectly straight ditch dug through it. Then allow a little rill to run through and note the result in time. Here a leaf will divert the current but a trifle, still, no matter how small the digres sion, it will be felt on the opposite bank. There a pebble will turn the current and in time you will find that formerly straight ditch just as crooked as any stream. Just imagine then what power could be exercised by a river, and, as the brook that winds about the old Swisshelm home is a beautiful illustration of one so the Mississippi river is a splendid illustration

THE RAIN DOES IT ALL. The rivers about Pittsburg are but brooks on a large scale, with the effect multiplied in proportion. Geology recognizes no time. We pay no attention to cataclasms, for time only is required to affect mighty changes. These changes are due to nothing in the world but

At one time the ground about here was all one marshy plane, overgrown with enormous ferns and coniferous trees that formed our magnificent Pittsburg vein of coal, that has not, I verily believe, an equal in all the world for burning and ease in mining. A man can take a pick over his shoulder and go to any of the surrounding hills and dig out a bucketful

We see layers of rock about us on every side, with each layer at the same level, no matter the valleys between. This can lead us to but one conclusion—that is, at one time rocks were piled where this city now stands 400 feet above our heads. You may ask what great convul-sion of nature did this. No convulsion at all. It was done simply by drops of water. What has become of this land carried away by the rivers can easily be explained. Take the delta of the Mississippi river as an example. The mud or sediment deposited at the delta in

EQUAL TO A SOLID BLOCK 272 feet high and one mile square. How much then would it amount to in 100 years, or 10,000 years. At one time the Allegheny river ran 200 feet high above Allegheny City. I have traced the course of this river of ages ago, as can be plainly shown by the hills about it, and sometimes it deflects almost miles from its present times it deflects almost miles from its present course. The bottom of that river rested on the present top of Troy Hill. Then the deflection can easily be traced up the river by a graceful bend instead of by the present abrupt curve. Oakland is now right on the place that river used to mass over, and so it is up and down the rivers, their effects in forming levels and cutting in the hills may easily be traced.

Liberal applause was given this speaker by the good sized andience present and E.

by the good sized audience present, and E. G. Matson, M. D., then, by the means of charts and explanation, showed the intricaries of the human stomach and explained its action in disposing of food.

A Bill to Compel Fire Insurance Companies to Pay the Insured

Where the Property is Entirely Destroyed by the Flames.

THE FACE VALUE OF POLICIES

CONDEMNED MURDERER REPRIEVED.

Meat Bill.

The Grangers Still Working Hard for Their Dresse

The bill to compel the payment of the face value of policies on property totally destroyed by fire is agitating the insurance companies. The legislators take the ground that if the companies take premiums for any amount they should be held responsible for that sum in the event of fire. The execution of George Clark, the condemned murderer, has been postponed for six weeks to give the Supreme Court time to act on his appeal.

TPROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

HARRISBURG, February 9 .- On Wednesday the Insurance Committee of the House will give a hearing to representatives of fire insurance companies who want to tell how wrong it is for the Legislature to pass a law compelling these companies to pay the face value of a policy on property totally destroved by fire.

There is a pronounced and unmistakable feeling, however, among members of the House of Representatives that the bill ought to go through, and that if an insurance company doesn't want to pay the full face of a policy, it shouldn't receive premiums on it. Some members say they would be satisfied with a law that would compel a return of the premiums on the difference between the unpaid value and the face of the policy during the time it has been in force, but they are quite ready to support the present bill. WOULD SOON LEARN.

Others say the bill as it stands suits them perfectly, and that the insurance agent should know what he is doing when he insures a property. If he does not, they say, his company will get rid of him after a few

Such members of the House as Representative Brooks, on the Republican side, and Representative Wherry, on the Democratic side, are ardent supporters of the measure, and the opinion of each has great weight with his party associates in the House. If necessary they will make a strong fight for If the insurance companies defeat the bill, they will have to do it in the Senate, where good measures frequently fail, and to which the House often sends bad measures it would like to see knocked out, but is afraid to kill for reasons of its own.

in Clarion county, and is now representing his county in the Legislature for the second While talking on the subject this after noon he cited a number of cases that had come within his own knowledge, in which, after a farmer had stated the value of the property he desired insured, the agent had er suaded him it was too low a figure and induced him to raise it. Invariably, when the property burned down, the insurance adjuster who came to settle up reduced the figure to something like the original estimate of the farmer, who was thus out the premium on the value inflated into the property by the agent. Others knew of similar cases and told about them with the result of strengthening each other's resolve to demand the measure as it now stands.

PREHISTORIC PIONEERS.

A State Archeological Survey to be Made in the Interest of the Mound Builders.

IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. 1 HARRISBURG, February 9 .- Dr. Hindenach, of Bucks county, who is one of the most cultured and intelligent members of the House, is taking great interest in a bill to provide for a State Archæological Survey, which he has been successful in having favorably reported from the Committee on Geological Survey after a hard fight. It is not generally known that in at least four counties of Pennsylvania evidence exists of the presence of the prehistoric man, or the mound-builders. In Fayette, Lycoming, Bucks and Monroe there can now be found, and in tolerable preservation, the traces of the caves, and stone implements of the race which preceded the Indian. Dr. Hindenach's bill makes an appropriation of a few thousand dollars to defray the expense of compiling a State work containing scription of these ancient ruins, with lithographic views, and also of the remaining races of Indian life in the State.

Dr. Hindenach says in Durham township, Bucks county, there is a prehistoric cave divided into several rooms. It is situated near an iron furnace and is gradually being destroyed by the ore digging. He is anxious that the Historical Society should lend a helping hand in securing the passage of In this connection it can also stated that Senator Harlan has a bill which has likewise run the gauntlet of the committee making an appropriation of $3,600 for a collection of the birds and animals of the State. This sum is to include the entire cost of the work, which is to be completed within two years.

IN NO HURRY.

The Senate is Not Auxious for an Early Adjournment.

TEROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT, 1 HARRISBURG, February 9 .- A change has come over the spirit of the legislative dream of adjournment, and the Senate is understood to be the cause of it. Last session, when a time of adjournment was fixed, the House refused to recede from the date, and permitted 150 Senate bills to fail for want of action. The Senate wants it understood this time that it isn't in any hurry, and unless something happens the ession will be a long one.

WHO DEFEATED THE GRANGERS' BILL?

Quay Blamed With Working Against It-Magee Favored It. IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. ?

HARRISBURG, February 9.-The Harrisburg correspondent of the Philadelphia Bulletin says this of the defeat of the grangers' meat bill: It was not until Thursday that Mr. Taggart, who was handling the resolution, gave up the contest and admitted that he was beaten. Even then lie held on to the slender thread of hope that something would turn up to swing the sentiment around to the side of the bill. The resolution lacked 23 votes, and there were The resolution lacked 23 votes, and there were fr absentees. Had there been a full vote it is probable that the grangers would have been able to have crowed over the victory.

Their leaders are terribly sore over the defeat, and are disposed to lay the blame upon the shoulders of the State Republican leaders. Senator Quay is being freely quoted as having disapproved the bill, and the solid vote of Phiadelphia's members in the negative seems to give color to the report. Chris Magee, upon the other hand, was in favor of it, and the Aliegheny members almost to a man voted in favor of placing the bill upon the calendar. The statements can be reliably made, however, that the vote of yesterday was not a fair test of the strength of the measure, and that even had it passed the House it would have been checked in the Senate, where its constitutionality was seriously questioned by the lawvers of that in the Senate, where its constitutionality was seriously questioned by the lawyers of that body. The Pennsylvania Railroad held en-tirely aloof from the bill.

STILL IN THE RING.

The Grangers Continue to Agitate Their Dressed Ment Bill.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] HARRISBURG, February 9.-The grangers are not yet dead, and have not given up their meat bill. One that is a counterpart of Representative Taggart's measure was reported negatively this week from the Judiciary General Committee, and an effort will be made to place it on the calendar.

The intention seems to be to keep the members dodging. Many of them are placed in a very delicate position, and have received strong petitions from their constitu-ents on each side. Counties which have large manufacturing or mining, as well as agricultural populations, naturally divide on the subject, and legislators who represent such constituencies find themselves between satan and the sea, with no woods in

MIKE ON THE STAND.

Me Now Says That He Only Fired at the Ground and the Air-He Completely Breaks Down-The Other Fiends Captured in Italy.

WILKESBARRE, February 9.—At the trial of Red Nosed Mike to-day, the bloodstained murderer took the stand. His story was the narration of one of the most terrible crimes ever executed by human hands. His bearing on the stand at times was indicative of that bravado and confidence that must have belonged to his guilty heart from the start, but when in his story he came to the shooting of the two innocent men he completely broke down.

His swarthy complexion became pale as death and bitter tears coursed in a steady stream down his cheeks. His voice was choked. It was a complete break which the House often sends bad measures it would like to see knocked out, but is afraid to kill for reasons of its own.

The wiles of insurance agents in the country districts was a topic dwelt on this afternoon by Judge Brinker, of Claron, to an interested andignes of members who have hurry and help us we will kill you.' I then raised my gun and fired four or five shots in the air. This is all I did."

He denied shooting at McClure or Flanagan, and also said he did not shoot the horse. On being questioned as to whether he had heard that statement in his confession which was read in court last night, he replied: "Yes, sir: but there are a very few words in it that I did not say. The reason I made a statement to Captain Linden was because he had promised to help me, and I

At 5:30 o'clock both sides rested and the court adjourned until 7 o'clock this evening, when the attorneys proceeded with the argument, which lasted several hours. It is learned this afternoon that the accomplices of Red Nosed Mike—Beverino and Villeli -have been captured in Italy. A private dispatch to that effect is known to have reached the attorney for the prosecution and Captain Linden. The prisoners are to be brought here as soon as possible.

HOUSE-CLEANING SALE

Since our inauguration of this sale there has been a continuous and brisk demand for our finest grades of Men's Suits and Overcoats, leaving on our counters altogether too many regular $15, $16 and $17 garments. But no matter what the former price may have been or what the actual value is, we now invite you to come in and take the one-among these superior Suits and Overcoats-that you like the best for the small sum of $7 50. No man, who'll need a Suit or Overcoat between now and next June, should fail to grasp this rare chance and profit by these splendid values and (almost) give-away prices.

GENTLEMEN, WHEN YOU CAN BUY

A warm Ulster for $7 50, worth over $15;

A Dress Suit for $7 50, worth over $15;

A Business Suit for $7 50, worth over $15:

A Dress Overcoat for $7 50, worth over $15: Any one of which is well made, honest through and through, and is as good every way as many clothiers will sell during the coming week from $15 to $18. Don't you think that Now's a pretty good time for you to buy? There's many a man wearing a shabby Suit and a still shabbier Overcoat who, if they'd take the time to drop in and look at these bargain wonders, would go home dressed up in a manner that would rather pleasantly surprise their better half! You know that the best and most desirable'll be the first to go! Why not, then, come to-

HERE'S ANOTHER STARTLER!

TWO and

-WILL BUY YOUR CHOICE THIS WEEK FROM-3,000 Boys' Suits and Overcoats, Worth $4 50, $5 and $5 50.

Our spring stock of Juvenile Clothing will soon commence to arrive, and, unless we succeed in emptying our counters of present goods, we'll be at a loss to know where to display the new styles. Our stock of $4 50, $5 and $5 50 garments being especially large we have cut them down in proportion. PARENTS, WHEN YOU CAN BUY

A Boy's fine Overcoat for $2 50, worth $4 50; A Child's nobby Overcoat for $2 50, worth $4 50 A Boy's handsome Suit for $2 50, worth $4 50;

A beautiful Kilt Suit for $2 50, worth $4 50; the same identical goods which other houses now sell at the reduced (?) price of $5 or $6, doesn't it seem to you as if this were the proper time to fit out the youngsters? Your boy may not now be in need of a new Suit (or Overcoat), but it won't be long, no doubt, before he will, and, then, you'll have to pay far more than present prices. So, why not make your purchase now? It will pay you to attend this sale, if you live 50 or 100 miles away from the city.
