

KONG HA FA TSOI.

A Chinese Entertainment at the Second Presbyterian Church.

NEW YEAR'S DAY IS CELEBRATED,

According to John Chinaman's Idea of Having a Good Time,

WITH MUSIC, FEASTING AND SINGING

"Kong Ha Fa Tsoi!" Don't for a moment imagine that this is the literal spelling of a railroad brakeman's pronunciation of the words: "Passengers will please remain seated, etc." It is, in plain, everyday Chinese, "Happy New Year!" The Chinese spring it upon their unfriendly countrymen one day in the year. Yesterday was that day, and the Chinese class of the Second Presbyterian Sunday school celebrated the occasion last evening at the Second Church by a display of their knowledge of bad English, worse music and excellent eating.

The class conducted the entire entertainment, except that Mr. Edwin S. Gray introduced them and a stalwart police officer took tickets. A group of them stood tittering about the door of the church, and acted as ushers. They can talk more in one minute than a school girl can in two, and that is making a bold assertion. As ushers they are a success. They have not lost sight of the wiles of a charming American girl, however, than he could cut off his cue. These dear creatures got the front seats, and the remainder of the audience wandered about at their own sweet will.

WIDE OPEN.

The entertainment was opened by singing. Rev. E. R. Donehoo led in prayer. Lee Johnston then made a short address, in which he welcomed the guests, and thanked the instructors of the school for their kindness. A young little Chinaman sat the door stood on one leg all the time, fearing he would blunder. At the close he went out and hugged himself. Lee Haw read a scripture lesson and Qong Wha Hi and Lee Haw sang as a duet. Come to the Savior.

Lee Haw made his first appearance in public as a reader. He was not altogether a success, as he forgot his lesson. He took the whole matter as a joke, however, and commenced to grin so audibly that he had to leave the stage. Applause was plentiful, but Qong had enough of it. The nervous man at the door was disappointed, but admitted the success of Chin Yung and Lee Haw's duet.

Chee read a scripture lesson. Yee Dook, Lee Haw, Chin Yeng and Qong Wha Hi are the names of the members of the Chinese quartet. They sang "Bringing in the Sheaves."

DON'T WANT PRESENTS.

The Citizens of Edgewood, Being Opposed to Their Supervisor's Liberality, Refuse to Renominate Him.

There was a lively breeze over the nomination of Supervisor of Streets in Squirrel township, last Saturday night, at a meeting of the citizens held in Wilkinsburg.

Mr. A. T. Rowand has been the Supervisor of Streets during the last year, but the citizens of Edgewood are apparently satisfied, for they have nominated Mr. J. C. Livingston.

One of the gentlemen who was present at the meeting Saturday night said that a resolution was passed to "Dissolve the Association."
