

MARGARINE IN HOC, Over One Hundred Butter Sellers Caught Up

AND WILL BE PROSECUTED. The Commission Merchants' Association Gets in Its Work.

PROMINENT DEALERS ARRESTED. Complete Exposure of Trade Secrets and Enormous Profits.

ABUSE OF A LAWYER AND DETECTIVES. A sensation of the liveliest sort was un-earched yesterday, and all by the simplest and mildest question in the world: "Is there anything new to-day?"

The unexpected answer to this question—addressed to William Yost, Esq., the well-known Diamond street lawyer—was that most certainly there was something new to-day, and that the news related to a decided sensation in an oleomargarine way, and that this news affected many prominent business houses and the people at large, as it concerns two of the most vital issues in this life—a man's pocketbook and his stomach.

"Yes," said Mr. Yost, "there is something new to-day, and, as a starter, I would remark that we have now nearly 100 cases of oleomargarine selling on hand, and ready to try at any moment."

"You remember," continued the gentleman, "about November 23, all the papers published a sort of proclamation, signed by the leading merchants of the two cities, saying that the selling of butter or oleomargarine was a matter of course, no attention was paid to this proclamation, as they shortly afterward ascertained, and, about December 1, they put affairs into my hands, with full freedom of action to detect these sellers, as they had reason to believe the law was utterly disregarded. A committee was also appointed to take charge of the matter and to raise a fund for the purpose of prosecuting the cases and in a short while five times the amount of money necessary was subscribed."

"THE WAY IT WAS DONE." "Would you care to tell how you managed to ferret out so many cases in such a short while?"

"Well, it's scarcely proper to give away one's methods, but the evidence is all in, and no harm will result from any publication, but, on the contrary, I think a great deal of good will result in showing these people and their business up to our people, who have suffered and been victimized for so long owing to this fraudulent business."

"I want to work at once and employed six men as detectives to look up these dealers and secure samples of their goods. We did intend to bring suits before the last grand jury, but it met such a sudden and pathetic death through an overdose of court opinion that we held our cases back for this jury; and I am glad we did, for these jurors are mostly honest farmers, and they are certainly calculated to know butter when they see it. Inasmuch as we couldn't do anything until the next grand jury, we turned our attention to gathering in more cases, with butting around nearly 100 cases, gathered from all over Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and in many of the surrounding towns; but many of the cases, of course, come from the Pittsburgh and Allegheny market places. We have already entered suits in 20 cases, some of them to-day. In regard to the other cases, we have not yet decided exactly whom or how many we will sue."

"IT IS VERY SEVERE." "What is the penalty for this illegal selling?"

"The law has been printed often enough. The act of 1887, in its two sections, makes one, the arresting party can have an offender indicted and fined; and, in aggravated cases the Court has been imposing fines of $200 with 20 days in jail. For instance, C. A. Watson has just come out of jail after serving 20 days and paying $200 fine, besides $50 costs." Attorney Yost then continued, as follows:

"The colored residents of the Twelfth ward have expressed their determination to run an independent ticket, and will hold a meeting next Thursday to name their candidates. The dissatisfaction is said to have arisen from the Republicans' failure to endorse a man named Allen for Constable, and the move is taken to show the strength of his colored vote in the ward. It is also alleged that it is a move of the Democrats to alienate the colored vote from its usual channel."

A GREAT FLOUR MILLER. Charles A. Pillsbury, of the Northwest, Passes Through the City. Charles A. Pillsbury, the great flour miller of the Northwest, passed through the city last night on his way home from the East. He said the wheat crop was very short and flour would advance in price to a very high figure.

HE RECEIVED A MESSAGE AT THE STATION to the effect that good flour had advanced 25 cents per barrel in Minneapolis during the day. In regard to the Flour Trust he said it was "busted" before it was formed.

HE HAD TOO MANY WATCHES. Charles Schreiner was taken to jail yesterday on a charge of having stolen three gold watches, valued at $100, from Henry McCain, of Tarentum.

THE BULLDOGS SHOULD HAVE COME FORWARD at the Proper Time. Coroner McDowell said yesterday, in reference to the denouncement of the Builders' Exchange, that his investigation was a fair one, if the builders knew anything about the material used, they should have said so at the proper time. The jury, he says, were intelligent and responsible men.

A LEARNED ACADEMY. Pittsburgh May Soon Have a Grand School of Arts and Sciences.

PREPARATORY STEPS BEING MADE. An Interesting Session of the Microscopical Society.

THE WONDERS OF THE UNSEEN WORLD. In all probability within a year's time this city will have an Academy of Sciences similar to such institutions as have been in existence in Philadelphia, New York, Boston and other large cities for many years.

It has every opportunity for forming one which will equal in size, wealth and learning the greatest in the country, and all that is necessary is to form the union. The Engineers' Society has already appointed a committee to confer with such other committees that may be appointed with such an end in view.

At the meeting of the Iron City Microscopical Society in their rooms in Library Hill last evening, Messrs. Mellor, Clay and Melnor were appointed as a committee to represent the society. Should the academy be formed it will include such societies as the two above mentioned, the Botanical Society, the Photographers' Association and others.

BIG AND COMPREHENSIVE. A large hall will be secured and a room assigned to each society, which will be known as a section of the Academy of Sciences.

Mr. C. S. Melnor had on exhibition last evening a slide which was a few bacilli, tubercular, the germs of the disease of consumption. In his remarks upon the exhibit he said the slide was obtained from Dr. W. H. Webb, of the University of Pennsylvania, of Philadelphia, who obtained it from a patient in that city. She had been spending the summer at the various resorts along the Atlantic sea coast. When she returned to the city in the autumn she developed the disease. The cause of her sickness could not be learned from any outward symptoms. The family physician called in Dr. Webb, who was also called in by a friend of her illness. One day he noticed her cough and deposit a substance in her handkerchief. He secured the handkerchief later and DISCOVERED A HARD SUBSTANCE the size of a pin head. On examination he discovered the bacillus tubercularis, and informed the physician that the girl was suffering with the disease. The unfortunate young lady died before the time had expired.

Dr. Webb sent one of the slides to his friend Mr. Melnor. He also sent a letter, but the gentleman had forgotten to bring it. It was the most rapid case of consumption on record, and proves the germ theory of the disease, and that consumption is not hereditary.

Dr. W. J. Holland gave an interesting account of his trip to Japan, and exhibited a number of photographs which he had collected during his sojourn in that country. Among the specimens he exhibited was a line stentor, a trumpet-shaped animal which is found in the water which we drink, by Prof. W. S. Jackson, of the P. C. H. S. Mr. W. J. Prentice exhibited some Allegheny river water, containing several varieties of forcillate, diatoms and worms.

Dr. Logan exhibited some diatoms obtained from an artesian well at Cambridge, Me. At the business meeting of the society the Entertainment Committee reported that a soiree would be held in Old City Hall on the evening of April 12.

THE TENTH CONVENTION. An Important Session of Royal Templars Being Held at McKeesport. The tenth annual convention of the Grand Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, of Pennsylvania, was held at McKeesport yesterday. Almost 100 delegates were present, and the public has been using the latter part of the long they don't know the difference. We will give them some chemical tests, however, that will be by one of the most of the stuff come from

"Mostly from the West; and by the way, here is a sample letter received by our detectives in Indiana to a dealer in butter. You see, our head honcho, Mr. C. A. Watson, has been indicted for selling adulterated butter, and, in aggravated cases the Court has been imposing fines of $200 with 20 days in jail. For instance, C. A. Watson has just come out of jail after serving 20 days and paying $200 fine, besides $50 costs." Attorney Yost then continued, as follows:

BREWERS TO FIGHT IT. Allegheny County Men of Hops on Their Pilgrimage to Discover THE DEADLY DOSE FOR PROHIB.

A Great Volume of Literature, Appealing to Every Votant Citizen, SO AS TO COUNTERACT COLD WATER.

About a dozen brewers of this city left yesterday for Philadelphia to attend the annual meeting of the State Brewers' Association to be held at that place on Friday and Saturday. The party was composed of Edward J. Fraumenheim, L. Vilcek, Samuel Wainwright, John Walters, Joseph Bruning, Herrman Straub, J. W. Nasser, Chris Bauerlein and Frank Ober.

The convention will be the most important that has been held since the formation of the Brewers' Association. After the transaction of routine business and the election of officers the question of what part the brewers shall take in the coming special election will come up for consideration. It is expected that a programme of work will be outlined in the different sections of the State and a strong effort will be made to stem the tide of public opinion in favor of the Constitutional amendment. Several of the brewers here will agitate the question of sending out speakers to stump the State and also upon the matter of the prohibition speakers. Others are in favor of putting thousands of DOLLARS IN LITERATURE to be sent to every voter in the State. There is no question but that something will be done, and thousands of dollars will be spent to defeat the proposed amendment. Mr. Edward Fraumenheim, of the firm of Fraumenheim & Vilcek, the Iron City brewer, said yesterday:

"In answer to the question of what part the brewers will take in the coming election on the Constitutional amendment, I cannot say definitely, but you can rest assured we will fight it from every quarter. If the election is held next week the State is a strong probability that we would be defeated. As it will not be held for months the voters will have time to think the matter over and carefully consider what they intend doing. All the popular sentiment that is now sweeping over the country will die out long before the time for voting comes. There is a great difference between absolute prohibition and local option. The prohibitionists think that because a certain party will vote for prohibition, that party will vote for prohibition. This has been found not to be the case. Thousands of people will vote for local option who would not vote for prohibition. The reason for this is that a man would rather have a saloon right near him where his sons will be tempted into it. These people will vote for 'no liquor' right in their immediate vicinity, but they will not vote for prohibition. It is a great mistake to think that the business out of the State entirely they will look at the matter in a serious light, and

THE INAUGURATION. Passenger Agent Smith Making the Final Arrangements. E. D. Smith, Division Passenger Agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, returned home yesterday morning from Washington where he went to make the final arrangements for the accommodation of the people who will go to attend the inauguration.

The sleeping cars will be put under sheds near Seventh street. Up to date the company has made arrangements for the accommodation of 85 sleepers. These will house over 3,000 people. While the sleepers are in Washington the electric railway will run case every 15 minutes and all night to convey the people to the heart of the city, about one mile distant.

In speaking of his trip Mr. Smith said: "To say that the people of Washington are getting ready for the inauguration is saying something sarcastic. They are ready. It is three weeks before the inauguration ceremony, and the people are getting ready for it. The sleeping cars will be put under sheds near Seventh street. Up to date the company has made arrangements for the accommodation of 85 sleepers. These will house over 3,000 people. A MYSTERIOUS MEETING. That Was Held by the Y. M. C. A. at Lawrenceville Last Night. Over 100 young men gathered in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at Lawrenceville last evening in attendance at the "mysterious meeting," which has been the topic of conversation for some time. An excellent literary and musical entertainment constituted part of the evening session. About 200 members attended, and the program was a long and interesting one. The association is very active and will probably have no difficulty.

A LARGE AFFAIR. The Masquerade Party of the Mark Twain Club a Success. The Mark Twain Club and Gun Club gave their annual masquerade party at the Grand Central Hall on Penn. avenue last evening. The affair was the largest of the kind that has been held in this city for many years. The costumes were varied, some pretty, some ordinary, and some humorous. There were the usual number of Topsy, school girls, Indians, etc.

LOWER IRON ORE RATES. A Meeting to be Held in New York for This Purpose To-day. C. S. Wight, General Freight Agent of the Baltimore and Ohio road, J. N. McCullough, Second Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and William Stewart, General Freight Agent of the same company, went to New York last night to attend a joint meeting of the Central Traffic Association and Frank Line Association committees at that place to-day.
