

A GRAND PANORAMA

Unfolded to a Tourist in the Mountains of Connemara.

IRISH BIRDS AND POSIES.

Mid-Winter Beauties of Land and Air Poetically Described.

A RARE MOUNTAIN FLOWER FOUND

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.)

LIFDEN, IRELAND.

February 4.—A grand panorama of the Highlands of Connemara two unexpectedly winsome objects of study to the walker, aside from the grandeur of scenery and the quaintness of the peasantry, presented themselves with that rare delight which all travelers experience from a sense of personal discovery.

THE TWELVE PINS.

These, the Twelve Pins of Bunnabola form the most remarkable single group of mountains in the Connemara range.

A MOUNTAIN FLOWER.

But of all the rare surprises in mid-winter mountain flowers was that one experienced during my last morning in the Highlands.

AN IRISH MOUNTAIN FLOWER.

Maiden sweet of wild Bunnabola. Reddish blue; with skirts of red; Broiden sweeping from its head; Broiden sweeping from its head; Broiden sweeping from its head.

Back to Work.

Rev. Mr. Hunkins of the Convicts' Aid Society, who has gone to Sing Sing to look after two discharged prisoners—Aren't you glad to get out again?

PAIDOR'S BOX OF EVILS.

Never contained a worse one than malaria. It is the pest of the nineteenth century cure cannot but thank his lucky fate that his destiny has been cast under Cere's prosperous reign.

THE EPICURE'S DELIGHT.

Added to the luxurious display of the athletic and beautiful, the more matter of fact vegetable comes into prominence. Ripe tomatoes, egg plant, green peas, corn, etc., make up the menu.

THE NEW SOUTH.

Pallas Athene is guarding the undertakers of this enterprise, and the resource and attractions of Florida are being shown and studied to the advantage of Florida's future.

A GOOD CONSCIENCE

Is Something That Must Be Carefully Trained and Guarded.

RIGHT AND WRONG ARE RELATIVE

Terms Which Change in Accordance With Circumstances.

A TIME WHEN SLAVERY WAS PROPER

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

HE question is, how to keep the conscience?

That is, how to keep it right and true. This curious conscience of ours, which seems to distinguish so inadequately between right and wrong.

(WRITTEN FOR THE DISPATCH.)

At the beginning, for example, slavery was right. It was an act of benevolence. It was a distinct advantage to the old fashion of killing all the natives before a time of war.

ART NOTES AND GOSSIP.

A NUMBER of pictures from the School of Art have been placed, on exhibition at Boyl's.

Mrs. D. B. WALKLEY is engaged upon some water-color studies from sketches made during his visit to Italy.

MR. JOHN J. HAMMER has had possession of Mayer's window with a display of water-color sketches and some more finished work in oil, two notable examples being a painting, noted in our columns, by listening to an obsequious—shall be saved. Keep thy conscience with all diligence, for out are the issues of life-enslaving. GEORGE HODGES.

MR. GEORGE HETZEL is now painting mid-winter scenes in the Highlands of Connemara. He is well known to our readers, and like many other artists, he is also engaged upon works to be sent to some of the exhibitions which take place in London. He is also engaged upon a picture of a young man, which he has just finished. He is also engaged upon a picture of a young man, which he has just finished.
