

REGULATORS IN JAIL.

Over a Score of West Virginia White Cap Reformers Arrested.

A PREACHER STARTED THE IDEA.

An Ex-Convict Mysteriously Missing and a Reward Offered.

ALL THE NEWS FROM NEAR-BY TOWNS.

BRAXTON C. H., W. VA., March 12.—Twenty-five citizens of this neighborhood have been admitted to bail to answer any indictment which may be found against them by the grand jury for assuming the role of regulators, tearing down eight dwellings and warning the inmates to leave the county.

For a number of years the neighborhood known as "Hickory Wye," about four miles from the town, has been infested by a number of dissolute females. Recently a protracted meeting was held at that neighborhood by Rev. A. B. Cunningham, at which a large number of the citizens professed religion. Cunningham and some of the church members conceived the idea of ridding the community of all bad characters, and accordingly an organization consisting of more than 100 men was formed for the work of purification.

A few days ago the organization got together and made a demand upon the objectionable characters, and gave them 24 hours in which to leave the place, and to the objectionable characters, and gave them 24 hours in which to leave the place, and to the objectionable characters, and gave them 24 hours in which to leave the place.

MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING.

Harder is Suspected and a Reward Has Been Offered.

TIPPON, O., March 12.—Several years ago Frank Fairbanks, of Wood county, stabbed and killed a man named Mahanah in a saloon at the village of Fairbanks. He was arrested for the offense and sent to the penitentiary. About a year ago he was released from the penitentiary on parole. He seemed to shun the place where he was arrested, and he was seen at the village of Fairbanks, Ohio, at 17 miles until late last fall, when he took in a man named Heck and a woman, both notorious characters in Toledo.

TO JUDGE A DIAMOND.

ONE per cent of the purchasers of Diamonds know intrinsic values.

Ninety-nine per cent form relative judgments. Given only a stated price it is impossible for them to detect shades of difference except by critical comparison.

To judge, therefore, between two diamonds in different stores, both should be sent home upon approval, and placed side by side. Precise judgments are then often reversed. Only thus can the finest stones be secured.

A wise caution places little value on the adjectives of the dealer, in view of the absence of any fixed standard of quality. His assurance, "the finest diamond of its size," needs confirmation, first of his experience and then of his merit. A good buyer should be his own judge. We urge upon him the caution of close comparison in small purchases as in large. We will always send diamonds for examination, reference being given.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

For the first time in a great many years the German and French authorities have found something beside hatred of one another that has been actively engaged in hunting down the leaders of the anarchists in their respective cities, with the result of making several arrests and the escape of many others. Many blatant agitators of violence managed to flee for safety to Switzerland, and the consideration of the police of that country is being given to the possibility of already large number of fugitives from England, France and German justice infesting the country.

HOW WILL IT END?

The Alarmist Increase of a Trouble That is Menacing the People of All Classes—It Must Be Stopped, but How?

The number of prominent men and women who have been dying recently is very large and strange to say, nearly every one was the victim of one trouble, namely, pneumonia. We hear of these prominent people because they are prominent, but there are thousands who die of this same dreadful disease suddenly and of whom the world never hears. It is safe to say that during the cold season fully half of all deaths arise from pneumonia.

This is a most mysterious disease. It comes suddenly and works quickly. It must be taken on the start if at all, and any person who feels a tickling in the throat, a tightness of the chest, a dry cough, difficulty in raising or pain in coughing, should beware! That very moment is the time to act, and by stimulating the body, healthily throw off the germs of the disease before they grow. There is only one certain way by which this can be done, viz., by the use of pure stimulants, and it is now generally admitted that Duff's Pure Malt Whisky is the only reliable tonic in which pure whisky is today offered to the public. This grand and pure compound is not a common whisky, but a sure and healthy remedy. It has saved many lives, threatened by pneumonia, checked more consumption and arrested the advance of many other chemical discovery of modern times. Its popularity proves this. Care should be exercised in purchasing only the genuine, and under no circumstances to take a cheap substitute which is declared to be just as good. Take pneumonia in time, for even if it is checked, and taken promptly, it may run into consumption.
