

GREAT AS THE GAS.

And Chartiers Bonds are Satisfactorily Placed.

A NEGOTIATOR'S REPORT

To a Joint Meeting of Chartiers and Philadelphia Directors.

MOST OF THE SECURITIES GO EAST,

Though Some of Them Are Taken by Pittsburghers With Faith.

A CHAT WITH MR. HUSLEY ABOUT IT

The directors of the Chartiers Valley and the Philadelphia Gas Companies held a joint meeting yesterday to ratify the bonds issued by the Chartiers Valley. The meeting was entirely informal, and the business was soon transacted.

Mr. J. P. Husley, representing the Eastern syndicate of bankers, was present at the meeting. Mr. Husley, in an interview at the Duquesne last night, said:

"The Philadelphia bankers are satisfied that natural gas is not going to give out for years to come, and after this fact had been demonstrated to them, they had no hesitancy about assuming the bonded indebtedness of the Chartiers Valley Company.

Most of the $1,000,000 issued in bonds was taken by Eastern bankers.

"I spent a few days examining the gas territory about here some time ago. I visited the various fields, and, in a short time, was convinced that there is plenty of gas and there is no danger of it giving out.

"The Philadelphia bankers are satisfied that natural gas is not going to give out for years to come, and after this fact had been demonstrated to them, they had no hesitancy about assuming the bonded indebtedness of the Chartiers Valley Company.

"The Philadelphia Company to-day has more gas than ever before. The demand is increasing, but the supply seems inexhaustible. Money, therefore, put into gas is bound to be a safe investment.

"The Chartiers Valley Company has spent a good deal of money in laying pipes, developing fields, etc. I think, with its indebtedness bonded, the company is sure to make money in the future. The bankers I represent are perfectly satisfied to take the bonds, and the contracts were talked over to-day.

"Mr. Schmeizer was very happy when he reported that Pittsburghers did not appreciate the advantages which gas gives them, and that they had little faith in the supply here. When Mr. Husley was in the city looking into the gas interests Mr. Schmeizer said he was afraid his report to the syndicate of bankers might be adverse; but when it appeared that they were so surprised. It was much more favorable than he ever dreamed it possibly might be, and increased his faith in the gas business.

"Mr. Schmeizer thought it was right for Pittsburghers to jump at every straw to show that the supply of gas is failing. He admitted that the supply was often taxed to the limit on cold days when the wind were blowing; but they were continually putting new wells on the lines, and trying to remedy this evil.

OVERCOME BY THE HEAT.

Two Mill Workers Prostrated and Had to Be Removed to Their Homes.

The sudden and intense heat yesterday was severely felt in all the mills along the Penn avenue district. In many cases the men were compelled to cease work.

Richard Johnson, one of the oldest employees of Carnegie's Thirty-third street mill, was overcome and had to be removed to his home in the Seventeenth ward. His condition is very serious. John Keefe, employed at Shoenberger's mill, was also overcome by the heat.

The men state that if the warm weather continues they will have to adopt the rules resorted to in the summer period; that of doubling up on heats.

At about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon an old man named Burtley, who resides on Bunnell street, was found lying in the rear of the First German United Evangelical Protestant Church, corner of Church alley and Ohio street, Allegheny. The man was in an unconscious condition, and it was supposed that he was suffering from the effect of the heat. He was removed to his home in a patrol wagon.

PETER WALTER'S SUCCESSOR.

C. C. Hax Nominated by the Fourth Ward Republicans for Council.

The Republicans of the Fourth ward, Allegheny, met last night for the purpose of nominating a successor in Allegheny Common Council to the late Peter Walter, Jr. John Fielding was chosen Chairman and Hugh Kennedy Secretary. Mr. C. C. Hax was unanimously nominated. A motion was passed giving him the support of the Republicans of the ward.

A committee composed of Messrs. John C. Hesel, William Kennedy, Andrew Lytle, W. S. Stauffer and Adam Henry, was appointed to draft resolutions upon the death of Mr. Walter.

The election will take place on Thursday, the 25th inst.

SHERIDAN'S SINS.

He is Reported to Have Robbed Others Besides the Opera Singer.

The police officials yesterday received a letter from Alderman David A. Wheeling, who stated that he had seen the item in the newspapers about William Sheridan's arrest here for the robbery of a number of Lydia Thompson's company, and he took occasion to state that Sheridan was known as Wheeling as a professional thief and burglar, and had recently been arrested there for robbing the actress Kelly of $50, but was discharged because Kelly refused to prosecute.

In connection with Sheridan's case, Miss Lou Redden, of the Lydia Thompson company, acting under advice of Detective Coulson, will enter suit to-day against Sheridan, and he will be re-arrested as soon as his present sentence expires.

As Alleged Blackboard Arrested.

William Collier was committed to jail yesterday, in default of $500 bail, for being before Alderman Porter on Monday, to answer a charge of beating his wife, Mary Collier.

Mr. Campbell said at once that places could be found for all of the men thrown out of the subject where they could secure work.

IT IS MAJOR DABNEY.

While looking for a Minor Position He Got a Large Pension.

A telegram from Washington, published in THE DISPATCH yesterday morning, announced that T. S. Dabney, of this city, had been granted a pension of $30 per month, with arrears amounting to about $5,000.

The gentleman in question is Major Dabney, who was at one time connected with the St. Charles Hotel, but who is now a confederate.

During the Cleveland administration, he says, he filed his application for a pension; but a cousin of his, who was in the Medical Bureau, had the papers held back.

When the pension was elected Dabney applied for a position as watchman in one of the departments at Washington. He went to the capital, and was prosecuting his claim for the position, when he was rewarded with the pension.

President Campbell, of the Window Workers, Tries to Quit.

The members here read and were not willing to accept it.

THE MEMBERS WON'T PERMIT IT.

Finkerton Detectives Hired to Avoid Trouble at Duquesne.

ALL THE MEN ARE NOW ON A STRIKE

President James Campbell, of the Window Glass Workers' Association, has been making a determined effort to resign his position. He presented a resignation to the council, dated March 23, which was considered at the meeting on the following Monday.

As soon as it was read it was thrown into the waste basket. It was not thought necessary to take any action on the matter, as the members here read and were not willing to accept it.

Mr. Campbell was absent from the city at the time, and upon hearing the result, promptly prepared another resignation. He then sent out a call for a meeting of the assembly, and made it a "red letter" call. This means that all members should attend as an important matter would be considered.

There was a full attendance, and the resignation was read, but was not discussed. The question was called, and not a vote was cast in favor of accepting it.

JUST THE REVERSE.

A report circulated yesterday that an attempt was being made to force Mr. Campbell out of the organization on account of the part he took in the importation of the foreign glassworkers that arrived in this city last Saturday.

This is denied by the officials of the Glassworkers' Union, who say that the subject was not mentioned at any of the meetings of the association.

When a DISPATCH reporter called at the office of the Window Glass Workers' Union yesterday, he was cordially received, but President Campbell had nothing to say regarding his resignation. He would neither say that he had or had not resigned. He said: "You can say that I have, or that I have not, and I will not contradict the statement." While he was being questioned Secretary George Calk said he would talk to the subject on the subject of Campbell's resignation.

"Mr. Campbell resigned his position last Monday. The resignation was dated March 23, and was handed to me by his son on March 25. He was absent from the city at the time on business for the organization. I had to present it to the council; but it was promptly thrown away. When Mr. Campbell returned to the city and learned the result of the matter, he promptly issued a red letter call for a meeting of the assembly for last Friday night. At this meeting he presented his resignation, and it was unanimously rejected. There is no trouble in our organization."

SEEMED TO SANCTION IT. Mr. Campbell heard the above, and as he did not contradict any statement made, he certainly sanctioned all that was said. When Secretary Calk concluded his remarks, Mr. Campbell said:

"If our trade had been like some trades, we could have turned in conchushers, coke-drawers, street car drivers and other workmen, and would have done so, as men were needed. We have control of apprentices, and it we have made a mistake, it is nobody's business, as we alone will suffer."

"If we could have put pumpkin huskers to work making window glass we would have sent them to Jeannette. I will not say that I had anything to do with the importation of the foreign glass workers; but will say that men are needed in this country, and there are not enough to fill the positions. The public can draw their own inference from my remarks. The intimation that I had anything to do with the importation of these men had nothing to do with my resignation. It was presented before it was known here that foreigners were coming here to work. The matter was never mentioned to me."

"I have been President of this union since I have become President of this union. There is no trouble in the country. There is not a blackboard factory on this side of the river. If there was, I would send the members to accept my resignation. The union is in good financial shape, and I ask to retire from the Presidency. I will now remain in charge, as they have refused so positively to accept my resignation."

At this moment a telegram was received from Bowling Green, stating that the glass factory had been burned down, and asking if the men could obtain positions elsewhere.

Mr. Campbell said at once that places could be found for all of the men thrown out of the subject where they could secure work.

The project was then changed to tank furnaces, and the statement of ex-President Isaac Cline, the predecessor of Mr. Campbell, was read, and he emphatically denied the statement, and said:

"I have here a report of the condition of affairs in Bowling Green. There are 17 tanks in operation there, which is an increase of five since I was there a year ago."

A LOGICAL CONCLUSION.

"They would not build new tanks if they were not a success. In England one firm has 14 tanks. A 60-ton tank furnace in this city would produce more glass than the 72-ton tank at Jeannette, because they work seven days a week in Europe, and the glass workers here will not work on 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon."

The meeting last Monday morning, the furnace system could be any more of a failure than the manufacture of glass in England. In 1887 a company of "experts" located a factory at Ft. Scott and failed."

This was a stab, evidently, at ex-President Cline, who was a member of the company.

A meeting of L. A. 300 was held last night, but no special business was transacted. Of course the condition of affairs was discussed, but nothing was done.

It was learned at the close of the meeting that the men had a proposition had been made to withdraw from the Universal Federation of Window Glass Workers. At the last meeting a resolution was adopted to the effect that such action would be injurious to the organization.

PINKERTON MEN CALLED.

They Aim to Suppress Trouble at the Allegheny Bessemer Steel Works—All the Men Are Now Out on a Strike.

A number of Pinkerton detectives landed at Duquesne early yesterday morning and took charge of the works of the Allegheny Bessemer Steel Company. The men who were working at once came out on a strike and the mill is closed.

The men in the converting, blooming and rolling departments have been on a strike for a week, while the blacksmiths, machinists, engineers and others have been at work. All came out yesterday when it was learned that an attempt was to be made to intimidate the men.

The millmen are not organized, but claim the effect of such action would be injurious to the organization.

We started the mill eight weeks ago, and thought the company would treat us right.

ALL IN ONE CHURCH.

Commemorative Union Services Held in St. Andrew's Episcopal.

The much discussed doctrine of Christian unity was practically supported in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, on Ninth street, yesterday afternoon. The services were in commemoration of the three hours of agony suffered by Christ on the cross. The opening prayers were offered by Rev. Mr. Thompson, of St. James' Episcopal Church.

A PRACTICAL DEMONSTRATION

Of the Much Discussed Doctrine of Christian Unity Given.

The Rev. Dr. White, of St. Andrew's, made a few introductory remarks, in which he said that the afternoon services were in practical demonstration of the doctrine of Christian unity. The gathering together of ministers from almost every Protestant denomination, and their common worship of the great Jesus, who died on the cross many centuries ago, would do more toward bringing His followers together than any other show means. These services tended to show that the spirit of unity is common among Christians, and during the afternoon they were literally "together at the foot of the cross."

The seven sentences uttered by Jesus while on the cross furnished texts for the short address made.

GREAT FORGIVENESS. Rev. Dr. E. P. Cowan, of the Third Presbyterian Church, took as his text the words, "Father forgive them, they know not what they do." He spoke of the great pardon asked by Jesus for those who were crucifying Him, and drew the lesson that this pardon is still as freely extended.

Rev. Dr. McMillan, of the Second U. P. Church, Allegheny, chose as his text the words, "Verily I say to thee, to-day shalt thou be with me in Paradise." He spoke of the words of Christ to the thief on the cross, and drew the lesson that this pardon is still as freely extended.

THEY INSIST ON PROMPTNESS. The Salesmen Say That All Clothing Stores Must Close on Time.

A special meeting of Salesmen's Assembly 4907, K. of L., was held last night to take action on the charges of infraction of agreement by a Smithfield street clothing firm, given in this column.

It is alleged that that firm have kept their stores open during the past week later than 6 o'clock, which is a violation of the agreement entered into, and that the proprietor conducts the night business without the aid of his clerks.

Dr. Meek, pastor of the Central Episcopal Church, Allegheny, chose as his text the two words "I thirst." His address was very interesting, and of a high literary tone.

THE WORTHY FOREMAN WILL COME. Master Workman Ross, of D. A. 3, K. of L., received a letter yesterday stating that the new worthy Foreman of the order, Morris L. Wheat, of Iowa, will be in the city for the first time on Monday.

THE THIRD SAYING, "Behold thy mother," was treated upon by Rev. Dr. Sproul, of the Reformed Presbyterian Church. He spoke of the great grief of the mother, and her agony as she knelt at the foot of the cross.

Rev. Mr. Mackay, of St. Peter's, spoke upon his last words on the cross: "Father, Thy hands have not been broken." He spoke of the climax of the divine tragedy and the tremendous sacrifice made by Christ furnished the material for his eloquent discourses.

Rev. Mr. Maxwell, of the Trinity Church, concluded the services with prayers and a benediction.

THE MUSICAL PART OF THE SERVICE WAS WELL RENDERED. Several of the most beautiful portions of the oratorios, "Calvary," by Spohr, and "The Crucifixion," by Stainer, were rendered with fine effect and feeling.

Good Friday was also generally observed in Allegheny, and the churches of the city were crowded with worshippers.

THEY EMPHATIC PROTEST. The Mayor, Controller, et al, Talk of a Loss of $250,000 to the City.

A special telegram from Harrisburg last night said: Governor Beaver-day received telegrams from Mayor McCallin, Controller Morrow, City Attorney Moreland, Superintendent Bigelow and Delinquent Tax Collector Ford, remonstrating against Senator Newmyer's bill for the renewal of municipal bonds every five years. The bill, though it passed the Senate some time ago and the House yesterday, had not reached the Governor to-day. When it does, he will give a hearing to interested persons.

It is claimed Pittsburgh will lose $250,000 on Penn avenue improvements in renewing liens, if the bill becomes a law. On Monday a motion will be made in the House to recall the bill from the Governor.

SUNDAY TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.

The temperance meeting at Washington Hall, Beaver avenue, Allegheny, Sunday afternoon, will be addressed by Senator M. Lewis. His subject will be "Home versus Saloon."

How the Election of the Dalzell Republican Club Resulted.

The annual election of officers of the Dalzell Republican Club was held at the club room, in Swissvale, Thursday night, and resulted in the election of J. K. Aikins, President; Hon. Marsh and Fred W. Edwards as members of the Executive Committee for two years.

The meeting was largely attended and considerable interest was taken in the selection of officers, several slates being broken. The meeting closed at 10:30 P. M., after which the members sat down to a sumptuous spread; the good things opened up the wit, and a very pleasant time was spent in speech making, singing, etc. The club now has a membership of 150, a comfortable and neatly-appointed club room, and is an assured success.

The club will be presented with a handsome banner, the gift of several of its members on the second Thursday in May.

THE MITIGATION ENDS.
