A REVIEW OF SPORTS.

Something About the Prom-

doubt, that is, if we take it on paper. In practical work, however, it won't be wide of the mark to say that it will do greater things than did the team of 1888. There calls small stakes. Paddy-mith and Daly each is still great uncertainty as to how the team will be made up. Rumors are again current about Rowe and White coming here. One authority states that a deal is going on by which the players are to receive part of their purchase money. If this can be satisfactorily arranged they will play here. There is another view of the matter. If they cannot secure a portion of their advance money they will probbly not secure their releases, and in that event they will not be allowed to play with any club except Pittsburg. It does not seem reasonable to think that the Buffalo club can keep two nanagers, or even one, at the salary that Rowe and White would receive here. To hold out for a principle is heroic, but it very often does not fit in with the practical affairs of life. However, if the players named come here, then we may expect a few important changes in the

The Promising Men.

During the last few days we have had ample opportunity to judge of the work of the 'young uns" of the team. So far the tests have been exceedingly pleasant and encouraging. Nichols, the outfielder, has shown up' to great ad-vantage, and he appears to be well worth keeping. In the past the club has had many experiments in retaining young players merely for what they might turn out to be. It seems to me that in no instance has there been a more promising youth in the local team than Nich-To be sure, he may be a failure, and a rank one at that, but what I contend is there is nothing like failure about him at present. He seems to possess all the essentials of a successful ball player. He has that dash, energy, intelligence, ambition and aptitude that charac-terize good men. And Maul has done well so far. Probably a more attraction leading and any rate if Jackson does not win he will soon far. Probably a more attractive-looking young sink into obscurity. fellow, as far as a ball player is concerned, would be hard to find. In watching Maul's movements a critic would be hard to convince that he would not develop into a good player. It is true that he has not made the progress expected of him, but so far this season he has done well. I wouldn't be surmanently from the ring, and that nothing will prised, however, to see Albert disposed of. It enable test. In the few games he has played, however, he has displayed some excel-lent qualities. He is remarkably quick, but his nervousness has evidently bothered him con-siderably. This last named fault he will get over. Hustling among League people will soon strengthen up his nerves, and then we will like ly have another short stop who will rank among the first-class people. Altogether the team has a very encouraging outlook both as regards the old and young players, The pitchers will assuredly get better than they are now. Some good steady work will make Morris, Conway and Galvin each more effective. Staley seems to be better than he was last year; he certainly

Spaiding's Opinious.

Since the return of the "Globe trotters" President Spalding has made many interesting statements. Among them he has expressed his views on one or two questions that are of importance to the League. I refer to the quesnons of the rule relating to the balls and strikes, 12-month contracts for players and the employment of players in saloons. President Spalding is opposed to the new rule of four balls and three strikes. He prefers four strikes and five balls, with the pitcher moved back a few feet. Had Mr. Spalding been at the meet-ing of the National League he would have ading of the National Learne he would have advocated this change, and it might have been adopted. However, it is safe to say that the matter will be rediscussed at the next Learne meeting. League members will then be better able to judge as to the merits and demerits of the present rule. So far as it has been tested it does not appear that the batter is going to be benefited very much, and the great object was to increase the batting. President Spalding's notion about signing players for 12 months is not new by any means. It ever any question had two good sides to it this one has. I fear that when an attempt is made to sign players from year's sides to it this one has. I fear that when an attempt is made to sign players from year's end to year so have to be under contract all the year will be receive a proportionate increase of salary' and how far will the power of dictation of the club officials extend?

Ball Players and Saloons. It does seem to me that many of the League magnates are disposed to make very big eneroachments on the individual rights of the players. Most assuredly we all know that the intentions of these magnates are good; they want to put the morality of the players on a pure and safe basis. President Spalding efinitely states that next year he will make definitely states that next year he will make efforts to have a League raie to the effect that no League ball players be employed in the saloon business during the winter. This is drawing the line pretty strong, but whether it will make drunken ball players sober is another matter. As a rule, bartenders are a very sober class of people; in fact, a bartender cannot well be retained as such if he is a drunkard. It might be as well, in fact it would be better, were a rule passed prohibiting ball players from going into a saloon at all between January land December 31. If a ball player is disposed to drink during the winter he will do it whether he is employed in a saloon or not, and if he does not deployed in a saloon or not, and if he does not de-sire to drink, being employed in a saloon will be no more tempting than running round the city with friends who do drink. But I would like to know why there is such a desire to our-tail individual liberty in view of the classifica-tion of salary rule. That rule provides that players be punished for bad moral conduct.

Searle and O'Conner. Last week I said that William O'Connor would likely be willing to row Searle, the Australian. During this week an understanding has been arrived at between the two scullers to the effect that they will row for the world's championship on the Thames, England, in Sep-tember next. Searle, according to present ar-rangements, will be in England some time in all goes well and the race takes place, it will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting that has been seen for years. To a very great extent both O'Copnor and Searle are unknown quantities. We have, of course, some idea of C'Ucanor, but nothing absolutely definite. About Searie we know nothing, except that he has defeated certain men in Australia in a certain time. This gives no correct idea as to how Searie compares with our first-class men. These features will certainly tend to make the proposed tree well certainly tend to make the step, has been taken in the proposed battle be tween Sullivan and Kilrain. The entire stakes have been put up, and a final stakeholder selected. Both parties readily agreed to Mr. Cridge as the man to hold the money, and probably a better man could not have been selected for the position. However, I am one of that party who believes that the proposed battle is not by any means certain yet. I will never beheve that Sullivan will be in condition to fight, or that there is a bona fide stake behind him until he is in the ring. There are numerous ways by which at a many reasons why the Sullivan party should play a game of "blind" by putting up the final deposit. Now that all the stake money is up Kiliran cannot do other than return from Eagland before long. This will upset his arrangements in England and make the Sullivan party should play a game of "blind" by putting up the final deposit. Now that all the stake money is up Kiliran cannot do other than return from Eagland before long. This will upset his arrangements in England and make the Sullivan party to withdraw irom the contest without a reasonable or an apparently reasonable or an apparently reasonable of an apparently reasonable to a say that has a sa rival to that of R. K. Fox, would be that sullivan and the sullivan must with Kilirain. The latter is a stayer, at least he has proved himself better in that respect than Sullivan John L may be somewhat stronger than Kilirain, but he will not last as long. Kilirain in my way of thinking is a better ring ractician than Sullivan and it seems safe to say that Mallivan and it seems safe to say that Mallivan will not be in even such a good condition at the date of the proposed hattle in France Sullivan will not be in even such a good condition at the date of the proposed hattle is was when he fought Mitchell. The was a few years and heavy were more confident. The eight clubs seem to be better, generally speaking, than last year. Of course Cleveland is not as strong as Detroit was, but the balance of them appear to be stronger than they were. Our team has had a reasonable try during the last few weeks, but it would be unfair to form any estimate of the team's merits on the work done. That the club is considerably better than it was last year no one will doubt, that is, if we elected for the position. However, I am one of that party who believes that the proposed battle is not by any means certain yet. I will

Flying Somewhat High.

Jack McAuliffe has once more declared himwant to fight him for $1,000 a side and the championship, but John cannot condescend to championship, but John cannot condescend to enter the ring under $2,500 a side. He has, however, stooped to say that if the California Athletic Club will offer a purse of $3,000, he will fight for $1,000 a side in addition. All this seems ridiculous, so much so that any man who claims to be a champion and refuses to fight for the title and $1,000 a side, should be compelled to forfeit it at once. McAniiffe's performance against Meyer certainly coes not warrant him in entertaining such high notions. However, if McAuliffe crosses the Atlantic and meets Carney, he will be accommodated with as big a stake as he wishes.

Another Big Champion.

Australia is making more rapid progress in almost all branches of sport than any other country. During recent years its natives jumped wonderfully to the front in aquatics, foot racing and cricket playing. Pugilism seems to have been the art in which they have been most backward. However, they are apparently waking up on that point and in a short time we will have their only champion heavy-weight, Mr. Slavin. The latter and his friends claim that Peter Jackson is not champion of Australia and that he has repeatedly refused to light Slavin for the title. Slavin has, in ring to fight Slavin for the title. Slavin has, in ring parlance, laid everybodyout in that fara-way country and is now on the track of big Peter Jackson. It seems to be with Australia's puglists as with her rowers, we have nothing by which we can definitely measure them. Slawin recently polished off Jack Barke, but Burke is nothing like a first-class man Jackson has defeated two or three big Americans, but nobody will contend that they were front rank men. However, the very fact that such men as Jackson and Slavin are aspiring to down the best men in the world shows that Australia is coming to the front in puglism. Jackson apparently has an easy years of their life. There is considerable force in what Dominick says, and it might do many young aspirants for pugilistic fame great good if they would think the matter over.

The Pool Bill Muddle.

The friends of the poolselling bill have almost killed it. There is strong hope that it will become a law next week, but that will be as much because of good luck as good manage-ment. In its earlier stages some of its overardent advocates simply advocated it too much and stirred up the church members who otherwise would have allowed it to pass on unno-ticed by them. Other friends of the bill, that is those friends outside the Legislature, have been exceedingly indifferent about its for-

Anything like a reasonable amount of energy would have carried it. Altogether it is killed. Those who need it most will be the principal parties to blame.

Holden's Last Victory.

The victory of Holden over Harry Bittle on Saturday night proves the former to be some-thing out of the ordinary as a featherweight thing out of the ordinary as a featherweight puglist. Of course Bittle is not the best in the world, but he is a useful and plucky little fellow. At any rate such men as Weir, Murphy and Warren can no longer refuse to meet Holden. I never have mach faith in Warren's meeting anybody, but the probabilities are that he'll get all he wants if he ever tackles Holden in a bonafide battle. One of the three named, however, will accommodate Holden shortly.

WILLIAM C. SPEAKMAN, of North Versailles township, yesterday filed a petition ask-ing that his wife, Rose Ella Speakman, who has become insane, be committed to Dixmont. He stated that he was unable to care for her, and wanted her committed as a charge of the county. After hearing the case Judge Magee granted the petition. JUDGE ACHESON, of the United States District Court, yesterday rendered a decision in the cross snits between the owners of the steamboats City of Chartiers and the Tillie for dam-sizes resulting from a collision, for which each held that the other was responsible. The Til-lie was held to be at fault, and judgment was ordered in favor of the City of Chartiers for $120 21.

THE attorneys for the prosecution in the case of A. B. Starr filed a bill of particulars yester-day, in which they state that they expect to prove that Superintendent Starr issued an order forbidding bell-ringing or blowing of whistles on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad within the limits of Allegheny City, and by reason of which flarriet Weyman and John M. Culp lost their lives. JUDGE EWING yesterday banded down an opinion in the equity suit of C. G. Dixon against William McClure, Frank Freyvogie, Peter Quinn and the Duquesne National Bank for the recovery of money embezzied by Quinn and lost at gambling. The Court sustained the legal decision, and ordered the bill to be dismissed at Mr. Dixon's cost. The Judge in-timated very strongly that both McClure and Freyvogle faisified in their testimony.

MRS. BARBARA DIRALL yesterday filed an answer to the petition of Humane Agent O'Brien, presented in the Orphan's Court, al-leging that she maintained her three young leging that she maintained her three young children in a disorderly house. Mrs. Dirall denies nearly all the allegations against her, and asserts that she loves her children and has labored hard to keep her children clean, comfortable and happy, and has sent them to school and provided well for them. She asks that the proceedings be dismissed. The case will be heard next Friday.

JUDGE ACHESON, of the United States Dis. trict Court, yesterday handed down an opinion in the case of T. M. Jenkins & Co. against the steamers Barnard and James Gilmore. The suit was for damage to a fleet of towboats, caused by the Barnard grounding her tow on a bar at Wheeling Island, the James Gilmore bar at wheeling issand, the James climore afterward running into the tow. Judge Acheson decided that the accident was due to bad management of the Barnard, also holding the James Gilmore culpable. The amount claimed was $773 90. The James Gilmore was ordered to pay $50 and one-fourth the cost of the suit, and the Barnard to pay the balance.
