

PARIS IN THE PAST.

Life in the Gay Metropolis During the Merry Monarchy, OVER ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

Swells, Belles, Actors and Actresses of the Last Century. PROMENADES, PRISONS AND PILLORY

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.)

Page to Marie Antoinette. Looked 100 years ago? Thanks to the Musée Illustré, which this week has painted a lot of pictures on the subject, I am able to answer the question in a rambling sort of way, it is true, but which may not be without interest to readers of THE DISPATCH.

Then, as now, the Pont-Neuf was the heart of the capital, the center of movement and circulation, of the flow and ebb not only of inhabitants but of foreigners who came to Paris.

This Châtelet had its cachots or dungeons, in one of which a prisoner was fastened by chains in such a manner that he could neither hold himself upright nor lie down.

HORRIBLE DUNGEONS. This Châtelet had its cachots or dungeons, in one of which a prisoner was fastened by chains in such a manner that he could neither hold himself upright nor lie down.

A Grand Lady in Her Wedding Dress. and where, owing to filtrations of the Seine, his feet were always in the water, and he had for companions toads and reptiles.

The pillory, in full view of the shops, was an octagonal tower topped with an extinguisher-shaped roof, while on a platform stood the machine with iron bolts in which the head and feet of the victim were placed.

FASHIONABLE RESORTS. Then, as now, for that matter, the Palais Royal was the unique spot of its sort on earth, and has often been called "the capital of Paris."

City Soldier of a Century Ago. The boulevards, for more than two centuries the paradise of Parisian loungers, was at that time the favorite rendezvous of the "gens de bien," as were called the promenadeurs.

On the 24th June, 1781, the Grand Opera, then situated in the Palais Royal, was completely destroyed by fire, but under Queen Marie Antoinette's directions, who gave for that purpose some land belonging to her on the boulevard St. Martin, was built a hall within three months under pain of a fine of 200,000 l.

CAFE CONCERTS. The cafes were well patronized, and at their doors a concert was given from 2 p. m. until 11 p. m.

Making life-size photographs direct from life may have been to some photographers, but it is an old process to Pearson, for he has been making them for the last ten years, and in that time he has made thousands of them, so go to him and have one of his 20x24 photos made direct from life of yourself, and you will be sure to be pleased.

THE SUGAR KING'S PLANS.

Class Spreckels Talks About the Trust and His Own Prospects. PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—"I am not in the Sugar Trust, and won't be until my dying day," said Class Spreckels, the sugar king, as he stood in the hall of the Stratford just after his journey from the Pacific Coast.

"It is said, Mr. Spreckels, that you have not yet secured raw sugar for the Philadelphia refinery. Is there anything in that story?" "I have nothing to say to that," was the answer. "That is going a little too far into a man's private business. I see the papers say that we are all right as far as our own black goes. That is correct. We have a vessel here now with a big load of it, and all the rest that is wanted can be had without any difficulty."

George Dixon, 22 Florida street, Elizabeth, N. J. writes: "I have been using Alcock's Porous Plasters for the last five years. Some two years ago, after having been sick for upward of six months with malaria, I found myself with an enlarged spleen, dyspeptic, and constantly troubled with a headache, and my kidneys did not act very well either."

THE SAME GRADE CEMENT AS BEUGHT AT Wholesale in the East at This Price. By taking the whole stock of one of the best manufacturers we got the goods at a figure that will allow us a very small margin to sell them at $1 per yard.

AN AMBITIOUS ORGANIZATION.

A Colored Farmers' Alliance in South Carolina—Its Objects. CHARLESTON, April 27.—The colored folks in Carolina are organizing a Farmers' Alliance. At a meeting in Union county yesterday the organization was effected and officers elected.

The organizer, John D. Norris, said: "It is by no means a political organization. The condition of things and our present situation sets forth to us that our happiness and fortune are not in politics. We have seen so often deceived by political tricksters until our hope in politics is dead."
