

BREATHED ITS LAST.

The Pennsylvania Legislature Adjourns Finally on the Appointed Day.

SCENES AT THE CLOSE.

The Usual Farewells and Presents to the Officers.

WHAT ALLEGHENY MEMBERS DID.

A Complete Record of the Legislators Attended and Effected by Local Members of Both Branches—Touching Scenes in House and Senate During the Farewell Tableaux—The Gifts and Who Received Them—Representative's many Business Resolved for the Last Time—It Makes the Usual Bill—The Clerk's Vision of Life After Adjournment.

After an all-night session full of hurrying to clean up the calendar as far as possible, the Pennsylvania Legislature adjourned at noon yesterday. The usual scenes were witnessed at the parting of the two big families who have passed the winter together, and now scatter for a couple of years at least—many of them never to see each other again. A resume of the work of the session is in place, and his herewith given.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. HARRISBURG, May 9.—The session of 1888 of the Pennsylvania Legislature became a reminiscence at noon to-day. Both houses were crowded with the families and friends of members and everybody pined.

The bill making election day a legal holiday was killed in the Senate. The committee favored it, but didn't care a rap for Senator Lines' bill making the first Monday in each September a legal holiday in Philadelphia.

Other Bills That Failed are the labor bills, and the labor men are feeling sore. They felt confident early in the session that they would secure several bills, because the brother of the Republican Chairman of the Senate, the Hon. J. W. Knickerbocker, had introduced a bill to amend the law relating to the Knights of Labor Legislative Committee.

Other Bills That Failed are the labor bills, and the labor men are feeling sore. They felt confident early in the session that they would secure several bills, because the brother of the Republican Chairman of the Senate, the Hon. J. W. Knickerbocker, had introduced a bill to amend the law relating to the Knights of Labor Legislative Committee.

Other Bills That Failed are the labor bills, and the labor men are feeling sore. They felt confident early in the session that they would secure several bills, because the brother of the Republican Chairman of the Senate, the Hon. J. W. Knickerbocker, had introduced a bill to amend the law relating to the Knights of Labor Legislative Committee.

Other Bills That Failed are the labor bills, and the labor men are feeling sore. They felt confident early in the session that they would secure several bills, because the brother of the Republican Chairman of the Senate, the Hon. J. W. Knickerbocker, had introduced a bill to amend the law relating to the Knights of Labor Legislative Committee.

Other Bills That Failed are the labor bills, and the labor men are feeling sore. They felt confident early in the session that they would secure several bills, because the brother of the Republican Chairman of the Senate, the Hon. J. W. Knickerbocker, had introduced a bill to amend the law relating to the Knights of Labor Legislative Committee.

Other Bills That Failed are the labor bills, and the labor men are feeling sore. They felt confident early in the session that they would secure several bills, because the brother of the Republican Chairman of the Senate, the Hon. J. W. Knickerbocker, had introduced a bill to amend the law relating to the Knights of Labor Legislative Committee.

A MODERN MARTYR.

Father Damien, Missionary to the Hawaiian Leper Settlement, DIES FROM THE DREAD DISEASE.

A Life of Rare Self-Sacrifice and True Christian Devotion.

SPENT AMONG LOATHSOME PARIAHS.

One of the Greatest Heros in the World's History.

His Act His Post.

The world has lost a hero. Father Damien, who volunteered as a missionary to the leper settlement at Molokai, one of the Sandwich Islands, is dead.

His noble sacrifice for the sake of the suffering and afflicted, and his heroic death, has made his name known to all eyes and hearts.

He was a true Christian, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

He was a true missionary, and his work was a blessing to all who were afflicted with the dread disease. He was a true friend, and his love was a comfort to all who were in need of it.

He was a true man, and his life was a lesson to all who read of it. He was a true hero, and his death was a martyr's death.

TEN WERE KILLED.

Two Hungarian Laborers Cause the Death of a Half Score of Miners—Crushed by a Falling Car—Hard Work to Recover the Bodies.

PORTVILLE, May 9.—At Kaska this evening, two Hungarian laborers, while ascending the shaft, had reached a height of about 15 feet from the bottom when an empty car was pushed over the top of the shaft by two Hungarian laborers.

The car, together with the men, fell with awful momentum, shattering it to splinters and instantly killing every one of the occupants.

The names of the victims are: Michael Boyle, assistant inside foreman; Hugh Jones, Patrick McDonald, George Pender, John Moore, Frank Strakovich, John Moore, Albert Dwyer, Edward Kurts and Stephen Matson. The cage, with the ten victims, was buried into the "sump," a hole at the bottom of the shaft, where the water from the workings accumulates.

The mine is operated by the Alliance Coal Company. It is an old working and the shaft is 500 feet deep.

It was not his turn to ascend, but he exchanged with a young man named Honnoluli, who was in the mine, and who was the brother-in-law of Mrs. Putahivah, who, with Ames Katch, was murdered about a year ago by Pietro Williams, the Italian miner.

He was the intended husband of Miss Katch. All the other victims of the accident were single men.

SHAMROCK AND THISTLE. The Scotch-Irish Convention Elects Hubert Benser as President.

COLUMBIA, TENN., May 9.—The second day of the Scotch-Irish Congress shows a large increase in visitors from a distance. At 11 o'clock the congress was again opened.

Dr. J. H. Conroy, of Knoxville, was introduced by President Johnston. By way of illustration of his inability to give a complete history of the Scotch-Irish, he told of his own experience in the matter.

He said that he had received a letter of congratulation from the white residents of Honolulu, chiefly Protestants, to the effect that they were glad to hear that the Scotch-Irish were so successful in their efforts to secure the repeal of the laws which put up with the little house.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

The first glimpse of Kalaupapa, the chief leper village, might lead a stranger to believe that he was entering a paradise. It is bordered by neat whitewashed cottages, with gardens of bright flowers and clusters of green trees and shrubs.

The leper settlement on Molokai, the scene of Father Damien's labor, is out of the hands of the Government, and is now almost inaccessible. To this spot is expatriated every Hawaiian who is found to have the taint of leprosy, and there they are kept in a place called Kalaupapa.

THE LION OF PERU.

A Large, Fashionable and Enthusiastic Audience Applaud the WORK OF PITTSBURG TALENT.

The Librettist and Composer Called Before a VERY SUCCESSFUL FIRST NIGHT.

Outline of the Opera Composed by Dr. E. A. Wood and Leonard Wales.

Pittsburg can now point with pride to the fact that she can evolve something more artistic than the usual opera.

"The Lion of Peru," an opera composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

WHAT! a native Pittsburg opera? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

Can any good come out of Nazareth? Well, one must not be too fastidious. The opera was composed by two of her talented sons, was presented to a fashionable and discriminating audience, and secured a success.

J. FISH, PHILOSOPHER.

Will Walk Out of the Prison at Auburn a Free Man, To-Morrow.

HIS LAST HOURS IN HIS CELL.

He Makes a Will, Bids Good-by to His Murderer Acquaintances, and in Speaking of His Trouble, Names Fred Ward and the Grange.

This is the last day of Marine Bank Squire J. Fish's confinement in Auburn prison. He passed yesterday in bidding good-by to prison acquaintances and giving them his New York address, with his autograph—once a valuable affair, but now that of a poor man. He also made his will, leaving all his prison trinkets to his fellow inmate.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) AUBURN, N. Y., May 9.—James D. Fish, ex-President of the Marine Bank of New York City, will do the last day of his sentence for the murder of Sheriff Sheridan at Auburn prison, to-morrow. He will be released from the prison Saturday morning, and will take the 10:40 train from this city for New York. He will be accompanied by his daughter, Miss Anna Fish, who removed to this city shortly after her father came here and who has been here ever since, cherishing the old man by his daily visits to him in the prison.

Fish is preparing for the great change, but he is doing it coolly. There is no sign of the nervousness which has marked the termination of his imprisonment. If ever a man took his punishment like a philosopher Mr. Fish is that man. When he entered the prison it was with a determination to accept the fate bravely about his own dishonour like a man.

HE HAS NEVER COMPLAINED and has not tried to impress the world outside the prison, through the newspapers, that he was an innocent man. He boycotted the newspapers and the press, and he has been at the prison and sought to interview him they were in every case met with the simple statement that he was a prisoner of the law. It has been learned, however, through persons in the prison who had gained his confidence, that he has been very much about his own dishonour like a man.

He has never complained and has not tried to impress the world outside the prison, through the newspapers, that he was an innocent man. He boycotted the newspapers and the press, and he has been at the prison and sought to interview him they were in every case met with the simple statement that he was a prisoner of the law. It has been learned, however, through persons in the prison who had gained his confidence, that he has been very much about his own dishonour like a man.

He has never complained and has not tried to impress the world outside the prison, through the newspapers, that he was an innocent man. He boycotted the newspapers and the press, and he has been at the prison and sought to interview him they were in every case met with the simple statement that he was a prisoner of the law. It has been learned, however, through persons in the prison who had gained his confidence, that he has been very much about his own dishonour like a man.

He has never complained and has not tried to impress the world outside the prison, through the newspapers, that he was an innocent man. He boycotted the newspapers and the press, and he has been at the prison and sought to interview him they were in every case met with the simple statement that he was a prisoner of the law. It has been learned, however, through persons in the prison who had gained his confidence, that he has been very much about his own dishonour like a man.

He has never complained and has not tried to impress the world outside the prison, through the newspapers, that he was an innocent man. He boycotted the newspapers and the press, and he has been at the prison and sought to interview him they were in every case met with the simple statement that he was a prisoner of the law. It has been learned, however, through persons in the prison who had gained his confidence, that he has been very much about his own dishonour like a man.

He has never complained and has not tried to impress the world outside the prison, through the newspapers, that he was an innocent man. He boycotted the newspapers and the press, and he has been at the prison and sought to interview him they were in every case met with the simple statement that he was a prisoner of the law. It has been learned, however, through persons in the prison who had gained his confidence, that he has been very much about his own dishonour like a man.

He has never complained and has not tried to impress the world outside the prison, through the newspapers, that he was an innocent man. He boycotted the newspapers and the press, and he has been at the prison and sought to interview him they were in every case met with the simple statement that he was a prisoner of the law. It has been learned, however, through persons in the prison who had gained his confidence, that he has been very much about his own dishonour like a man.

He has never complained and has not tried to impress the world outside the prison, through the newspapers, that he was an innocent man. He boycotted the newspapers and the press, and he has been at the prison and sought to interview him they were in every case met with the simple statement that he was a prisoner of the law. It has been learned, however, through persons in the prison