Isn't That Better.

What's the use of naming prices? of a great splutter over an "enormous money worth" Most gigantic values ever offered!

Do you believe it? Does it sound like a safe speech that you're likely to find made good? Does it give you any idea of reasonable and solid value?

It's nothing but a whoop-up, ki-yi style of talk to get you to a store by giving you the impression that good clothing is selling at one-quarter its value.

We know a better way than that. We manufacture all our clothing. We deal directly with the wearer, knocking off quite a number of profits, and put our prices down the lowest we can.

On that account our materials can be depended on, and our workmanship, as well as the justness of the prices.

With all that the clothing must be seen as well as the prices. It's the only way to be sure. We expect to get your trade by a strict comparison of our goods and prices.
