Mr. O'Brien Expresses His Views Freely on the Witness Stand.

OPEN WARFARE IS NOT MURDER.

A Sensation Caused by Some of His Very Frank Utterances.

CONGRATULATING THE IRISH LEADER

LONDON, May 23.-Mr. Gladstone was present at the session of the Parnell Commission to-day. The cross-examination of Mr. William O'Brien was continued by Attorney General Webster. Mr. O'Brien declared that United Ireland, his paper, worked according to constitutional methods, and advocated nothing but peaceful means to attain the end sought by the Irish Parliamentary party.

He admitted writing an article which had been printed in United Ireland in which it was stated that Queen Victoria was only known in Ireland by her scarcely decently disguised hatred of Ireland and by her inordinate salary. He also admitted having written another article declaring that Earl Spencer would be the last strong Englishman who would attempt to rule Ireland by barbarism, paid perjury, butchery and the use of the sacred rope.

FRANK ADMISSIONS.

He admitted the authorship also of an article declaring that the Chairman of the committee selected to receive the Prince of Wales on the occasion of his visit to Ireland would be hunted from public life. At this point Mr. O'Brien became excited, and vehemently exclaimed: "He has been, and, rather than to allow Englishmen to be de-ceived by a show of sham loyalty, I am resolved to tell them the truth."

Continuing, Mr. O'Brien said that he personally had never spoken disrespectfully or offensively about the Prince of Wales. No people, he declared, ever suffered more for loyalty than Irishmen, and none profited more by their protestations of loyalty than the people who oppressed them. If it was clear that England wouldn't satisfy the as-pirations of Ireland, and if there was any rational chance of success, an attempt should be made to rebel. He declared that the London papers were more responsible for the actions of the dynamite party than was either Finerty or Ford. But for the views those papers had expressed £1,000 would not have been collected in America for the use of the dyna-

THEN AND NOW.

Referring to the articles concerning the Queen and the Prince of Wales, previously mentioned in his testimony, Mr. O'Brien said they were justified at the time they were written, but were not justified in the present state of the relations between Enpresent state of the relations between En-gland and Ireland. The articles were not intended to calm the people's objections to British rule, as then administered. He thought British rule hateful then, and he thought it hateful now.

The Parnellites, when the visit of the Prince of Wales was under discussion by the authorities, passed a resolution advising the people that the visit was not intended for party purposes and should not be made the occasion for trouble. This action of the Parnellites resulted in creating a feeling of almness in public opinion.

The Prince of Wales was allowed to pass throughout Ireland untroubled until the Times published articles declaring that his visit had crushed the power of Mr. Parnell.

It was then thought desperalely necessary to show Englishmen that this was a mistake and that the Prince's visit was being used to strike down the Irish cause. HE WAS EXASPERATED.

Mr. O'Brien explained that when he de the speech in which he used the words: "We are in a state of civil war, tempered by a scarcity of free arms," he was exasperated by his expulsion from the House of Commons, and spoke under intense feeling caused by the fearful hatred displayed by the majority of the House of Commons against the Irish members of that body. He declared that if any people ever had the light to make the Light people than had that right to rebel the Irish people then had that right, if there was a chance of success. Attorney General Webster interrupted the witness at this point, saying: "You only objected to rebellion because it was hope

Mr. O'Brien-In the circumstances of the time, unquestionably. Violent language could not have further inflamed the people's minds against England. Their minds had become like a lightning conductor when the air is charged with electricity.

THEY WERE JUSTIFIED.

Mr. O'Brien justified certain articles writ-ten by him, and printed in United Ireland, to illustrate the brutal argument that be-cause the English people numbered 30,000,-000 and the Irish people 4,000,000 the English people were entitled to do as they liked. Attorney General Webster quoted from an article in United Ireland: "Allan Larkin and O'Brien honored by their Chi-cago kindred," and asked the witness whether it reierred to the Manchester murderers. Mr. O'Brien replied: "Not murderers, but men engaged in open warrare, who shot policeman by accident."
The Attorney General—The shooting at the police in a van at Manchester was legitimate warfare?

Mr. O'Brien-It was not criminal. Men who openly take risks to release their comrades are no more murderers than anybody here. They acted from the highest and noblest motives.

PROCEEDINGS INTERRUPTED. Attoney General Webster, holding up a paper: "Do you see the heading, 'Alien Larkin and O'Brien honored by their Chicago kindred." Mr. O'Brien—Yes, and the article was written by me. The proceedings were here interrupted by cries of "Hear, hear." Attorney General Webster -Why those hears?

Presiding Justice Hannen threatened that if order was not maintained he would have the courtroom cleared. He said he understood that Mr. O'Brien did not consider the shooting at Manchester murder, but he wished to remind him that the Court did so

Mr. O'Brien said he and Mr. Redmond invited Mr. Ford to be present at the Chicago Convention. As a proof of the change in the feeling wrought by Mr. Gladstone, Mr. O'Brien cited the fact that Mr. Ford seemed to regret his former views and appeared to be harmless. This concluded Mr. O'Brien's testimony.

Forged Letters. LONDON, May 23 .- A deputation from various Irish municipal bodies to-day presented to Mr. Parnell an address congratulating him upon his success in disproving before the commission the many calumnies that had been heaped upon him. Mr. Parnell replied that he was sure the trish municipal authorities would continue to use municipal authorities would continue to use their privileges, not for the purpose of dis-integration of the Empire, nor for upsetting the authority of the Queen, but for obtain-ing the realization of their legitimate aspi-

He had never doubted that the falsity of the forged letters would ultimately be shown. He would rather have gone to his grave with the stigma of the letters upon him than have submitted his country to the

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE

-IS THE-

PRICE OF LIBERTY."

Constant supervision is the price of success. As seasonable prunings are to a tres, so are constant reductions to success in drygoods. Two times a year we cut off all surplus; fifty-two times each year we reinspect our work; fifty-two times a year we have a sale with special offerings in our seventy-five departments. Our famous low prices have made our names renowned, and thus from day to day renown increases be-
