Trouble Between the K. of L. and the Federation.

GOMPERS MAY GET INTO IT.

The Homestead Men Deny That They Are Now on a Strike.

8-HOUR MASS MEETING TO-NIGHT.

Glassblowers' Delegates Instructed on the Campbell Matter.

YESTERDAY'S GRIND OF THE LABOR MILL

There is trouble in the Trades Council over a matter which President Gompers, of the Federation of Labor, may have to take hold of before he leaves the city. The Knights of Labor have been charged with organizing men who the Federation men struck against, and there is a war brewing between the officers of the two labor organisations. A meeting of the Trades Building League was held last night, when the matter was discussed. The subject also caused heated remarks in the Trades Council meeting Saturday evening, and may lead to the withdrawal of some of the delegates.

About two months ago the walking delegate of that part of the building trades, Mr. J. C. Beck, ordered a strike among the tile cutters and slate roofers employed by W. H. Aiken and Scott White, of this

About a week ago, it is claimed by some of the strikers, President Joseph L. Evans, of the Trades Council, organized the men then at work in the two shops, and against whom the Federation men struck. The men formed a local assembly, and a charter was applied for through District Assembly No. 3, of this city. The new local was asked to send delegates to the Trades Council, which they did, and the men appeared at the meeting Saturday night. When they presented their credentials other representatives at the meeting protested against the men being admitted, claiming that they had refused to join their respective trades they had refused to join their respective trades unions. The newly-organized men stated that their reason for not joining was that the Federation men were "floaters" and not residents of the city. They came here when they could make more money in this city than they could anywhere else and were a detriment to the trade. The Federation men denied that this was the case. They stated that nearly all of them were permanent residents of this city, and were as good union men as could be found anywhere in the country.

MR. BOSS REFUSES TO INTERFERE. Walking Delegate Beck went to Master Workman Ross, of the district, and asked the latter to protest against the charter being make the celebration a partisan affair. On the issued. Mr. Ross stated that he had nothing to do with the matter, although he is at the head of the Knights in this city. The delegate then went to President Evans of the Trade then went to President Evans, of the Trade Council, but got no satisfaction there either. A conference between the council of the Building Trades' League, Walking Delegate Beck and President Evans, of the Trades' Council, will be held to-morrow evening to setculty. Resolutions have been put in shape for presentation at the meeting to protest against the charter being issued to the most local assembly. It is stated that the firms by whom the men were employed were instrumental in having them organized. When the strike was ordered the union contractors of the city withdrew their patronage from the firms and the latter lost considerable money. It is stated that they wanted all their men to t is stated that they wanted all their men to It is stated that they wanted all their men to be organized and by getting them into the Knights of Labor hoped that they would get back the trade they had lost. The matter has been brought to the attention of President Gompers, who will be asked to give an opinion on the complicated question.

A STRIKE MAY COME.

But There is Now No Excitement or Anything Final at Homestend-One Man Who Thinks There Won't be Trouble.

The members of the Amalgamated Association at Homestead are still solidly opposed to the sliding scale which the Carnegies propose to have to go into effect on June 15. A prominent member of the Amalgamated Association said to a reporter: "We'are all still firm in our de-termination not to sign the scale. In fact, the time for signing is now past, and it has not been

When asked what would be the result if the manufacturers should be just as determined that it should be signed, he said:

"We cannot tell until the repairs have been made and the works put in operation. It will be at least three weeks yet before the mill will be Do you think a strike would be the result if started."

"Do you think a strike would be the result if the manufacturers, insist upon the signing of the new scale?" the reporter asked.

"I cannot answer that question, as I cannot speak for the whole organization; but 'bis I can say, the sliding scale is not satisfactory to one person to my knowledge. On the other hand, every person is perfectly satisfied with the old minimum scale. Should the sliding scale go into effect it would reduce the wages of the workmen fully 25 per cent."

Another workman spoken to by the reporter, said: "When the works are started, about three weeks hence, that act will decide the question whether the scale will be adopted. At present there is not one member of the association who will size, and therefore the committees appointed by the members will not, even were they so inclined. The old scale is good enough for us. It is my opinion that a strike will take place before the scale is good enough for us. It is my opinion that a strike will take place before the scale is not much chance of a strike. There is no justice in the new scale. There might be if stool blooms remained at a uniform price, of say $25, and if they should go up to $2 or $28 we would be the winners. But should the price fall to $22 or $25 do we lose, and there is more chance of the price falling than rising."

Several others spoken to said that it was their opinion the new scale would never be signed by the Homestead steel workers. All, with one exception, gave it as their opinion that a strike would be the immediate result after the starting oi the works if the proprietors should try to force the adoption of the sliding scale. The matter is taked of very quietly by the employes. It is causing no excitement whatever, even if the time for putting the works in operation is drawing near. The only excitement on the streets of the town yesterday was occasioned by the street parade of the converters of No. 2 mill, who town yesterday was occasioned by the street parade of the converters of No. 2 mill, who

The Amalgamated Men Wrangling With Jones & Laughlius' and Oliver's. At the headquarters of the Amalgamated association of Iron and Steel Workers yester Association of Iron and Steel Workers yester-day a number of new scales for the ensuing year were received signed by different manu-facturers. Secretary Martin officially an-nounced the following: Keystone Holling Mill Company, of Pittsburg. Their works are on Second avenue, beyond Soho; P. L. Kimberly

In the afternoon Jones & Laughlins sent for the mill committee, and were in consultation with them all afternoon. The various committees employed in Oliver Bros. & Phillips' mills were also holding a conference with the firm. President Weshe was at the meeting in Jones & Laughlins' office, but until 6 o'clock had not received the firm's signature to a scale. The conference at Olivers' was very animated, and the meeting was the second one the committee has already held with the members of the firm. The first was held Saturday, and the concessions asked then were again requested yesterday. The men were asked to accept a reduction of 50 cents per ton on billets, but they wouldn't listen to the proposition. At the convention the price for rolling ten-inch plates was reduced from 80 to 72 cents. The firm wanted a still further reduction, and also wanted to reduce the price of making small angles. The men were would concede nothing, and the firm will probably sign the scale by the last of the week. In that event they will start their immense plants on Monday next. In the Tenth street puddle mill some repairs are needed on the engine, and it will require three days' time to make them.

HAVING A HIGH TIME.

Allegheny Officers Arrest Roysterers Who Had a Private Speak-Easy. Yesterday about noon Officers Snyder and Alexander, of Allegheny, noticed a half-dozen men on a pier of the Ft. Wayne railroad bridge regaling themselves with a lot of beer, having three kegs on tap at one time. They were all more or less intoxicated and were creating considerable drunken tumult.

After drinking the beer they rowed to a After drinking the beer they rowed to a shanty boat at the foot of Madison avenue where they continued their noise and the two officers concluded to arrest them. The men saw them coming and tried to get away, two of them succeeding by jumping in a skiff and pulling to Pittsburg. The others were caught and sent to the lockup where they gave their names as George Taylor, James Smith, Wm. Kelly, John Wilson and David Powers.

The two men who got away jeered the officers and taunted them as they rowed out at a safe distance.

He stated that express to Chicago last night. He stated that he was going to meet Senators Dawes, Manderson, Stockbridge, Morgan, Jones, Pratt and Wolcutt, and proceed with them to Alaska to investigate the reports of immorality among the traders and the Indians of the Territory. It has been stated that the latter sold their squaws to the traders for a plug of cocked hat chewing tobacco and a gallon of very poor "red eye." The trip is supposed to be a junketing tour that will cost thousands of dollars; but then the Senators will be thoroughly rested for the laborious duties of the next session.

Dora' Steplin Not Discovered, but the 'Squire is Seeking, With

FORTY-THREE WARRANTS FOR HER

James, the Lawyer, Asserts There Are No Grounds for Charges.

IT MAY END IN A QUIET COMPROMISE

When 'Souire Hartman was called upon at his office last night and asked for further information in regard to the Steplin abduction case, the Alderman was very indignant.

"Somebody is trying to spoil this case," he said, "and I am not going to say any more about the whole thing, except this. I have issued 43 warrants for the apprehension of the girl, Dora Steplin, and given them into the hands of all the police officers and private detectives of the Southside. All of these men are following different clews all over the city, and I believe that we will get some results by to-morrow. I have every reason to think, therefore, that another examination will take place by Wednesday night. Until then everything has to be left as it is." "Has any information been made against this man 'James?' " "Yes, I have the sworn information here, and the charge is very serious, but I am not going to show it to you. Somebody has been tampering with my docket, and I am not going to let another man see it.

JAMES BEING WATCHED.

"But you may rest assured of one point; a soon as we have ascertained the whereabouts of Dora Steplin, Mr. James will be arrested. I have laid my plans in such a manner that there is no escape for him. I have a special officer engaged to watch him and his every footstep, and the officer can arrest him at any moment."
"But then you must have a warrant for

"Not necessarily. In a case of this kind where a very serious matter is involved, an officer can make an arrest without being armed officer can make an arrest without being armed with the formality of a warrant. But pshaw! He is not the only man!" continued the Alderman. "I tell you there are several more men involved in this business besides Mr. James, but they will all be caught at the proper time; they will not get away, I give you my word for that. They are all lawyers of course."

"The 'Squire also told THE DISPATCH reporter the name of the lawyer, but, until some official action is taken, that name is, and must be, withheld.

A gentleman who made a visit at the home of Mrs. Barbara Steplin, and who had a conversation with that lady, stated last night that he felt pretty certain the mother knows where her daughter is, and he also inferred that somebody might yet be induced to compromise the case.

WHAT THE LAWYER SAYS. THE DISPATCH reporter also called at the residence of "James," the lawyer, who lives on the East side of the Allegheny river, some miles up. During a conversation with that gentleman earlier in the day, it is alleged, he admitted that he had written several letters to Dora, signed "James." He also admitted that the girl had lived with him, as a domestic serv-ant at his home, for two weeks. He strongly repudiated the idea, however, that there were any grounds for zerious charges against him, and last night, at his home, he concluded by

"As far as I know there have not been any charges made against me as yet, and if any newspaper publishes my name in connection with the case—which, I have been told will be done—then I will hold that newspaper responsible."

AGENT DEAN LOCATES HER.

Hidden Girl. Agent Dean, of the Society for the Preven-tion of Cruelty to Children, has taken up the Dora Steplin case independently of Alderman Hartman. He has employed a woman as a de-Hartman. He has employed a woman as a detective to aid him in the case. Mr. Dean thinks they have located the girl but will not give the locality definitely. He says he feels sure she is in a house in one of the suburbs. Yesterday the woman detective approached the house in question and as she did so saw a girl answering the description of Dora disappear around the corner of the porch. Mr. Dean thinks the girl has received instructions to keep out of the way when strangers come near the house. He thinks he will be able to locate her positively by this evening.

WHAT WILL THEY DO?

The Life of a Spenk-Ensy Proprietor Not a Peculiarly Happy One. Proprietors of "speak-easies" who fear the may get their names registered in Agent McCall's books, if they pay the United States special tax, are between the devil and deep water. They reason this way: If McCall and the United States deputies have missed them they may make port safely. If caught by either the other is liable to put in an appear-ance also, and they will get a box on each ear. ance also, and they will get a box on each ear. While no steps toward prosecution have been taken by the Internal Revenue Collector, people who are supposed to be selling liquor have been invited into the captain's office and nearly a score have done so, and settled their bill there, among them some proprietors of disreputable houses. The officials do not trouble themselves with infractions of the State law. Their books are open for inspection, but they do not aid in prosecuting violators. As the penalty for selling without United States license is $100 to $5,000 fine and 30 days to 2 years imprisonment, it doesn't pay to fool with Uncle Sam unless your illicit business is very profitable and you don't mind being locked up.

Taking it long and broad most "speak-easy" proprietors will reason that they may as well be hung for a sheep as a lamb, for the procuring of a license from the United States would not save them in a State prosecution, and the getting of it would only tend to expose a flank to the local enemy.

SOME REMARKABLE BIDDING.

All Sorts of Bids for Boring Artesian Wells in the Parks.

At a meeting of the Allegheny Committee on Parks last evening bids were opened for bor-ing the artesian wells that it is proposed to put down in the parks. They varied considerably, some of them being for the entire four wells complete, others for just the boring, by the foot or by the whole, and some were for casing and pumps only. The bids ran all the way from 29 cents to $1 50 for the boring alone, and the same discrepancy characterized the bids for the equipment. One bidder proposed to put down two wells at $1 each, and two at $375 down two wells at El each, and two at $375 each. The J. M. Gusky Company and Strasburger and Joseph agreed to bear the expense of putting down two wells, and altogether the matter appeared to be so jumbled that it was all left to a sub-committee. Contracts were let for the construction of the Department of Public Comfort and Workshop. The resolution for a site for the Thomas A. Armstrong monument was held over.

Found Her Child. Mrs. Rhodes, the mother of the 5-year-old girl whose body was found at Beaver the day after the Johnstown flood, recognized the picture of the child yesterday at the Ladies' Relief Committee at the new Exposition building. She stated that the child's name was Minnie, and she, with two other children belonging to her, were drowned.

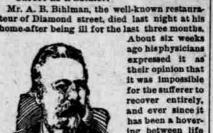

Allegheny Gambling Ordinance Tabled. The Police Committee of Allegheny met last night, took up the Mayor's ordinance relating to disorderly conduct cases, gambling and begging, and laid it on the table. This is the second ordinance of the kind that has been smilarly disposed of this year. Chief Kirschle was authorized to employ 20 extra officers or July 4.

Alleged Highwaymen Arrested. Detectives Murphy and Johnston arres illiam Knoeple, Frank Snyder and Lewis Phillips yesterday on suspicion of having beer the parties who robbed William Ray of $42 Sat urday afternoon in the Allegbeny parks.

A. B. BIHLMAN DEAD.

He Succumbs at Last After a Long Sickne -A Brief Sketch of a Busy Life-His Career as a Soldier. Mr. A. B. Bihlman, the well-known restaur has been in this country for nearly 40 years and for over 30 years he has been prominently identified with the restaurant business of this city. He was prominently connected with all the best known German societies, and among his compatriota he was looked upon as one of their representative men in Western Pennsylvania. But in his business he also came in contact with the best business and commercial men of Pittsburg, Germans as well as hosts of others, and all who new him held him in very high regard. Mr. Bihlman was born in Kroetzingen Baden, Germany, where his father was a shoe naker. When the boy had grown up his father made him an apprentice in his trade, and after he had become proficient he left his father's home to travel, in the same manner as most nome to travel, in the same manner as most young German tradesmen do. In other words, he went "Auf die Walz." During this tour of traveling, which was all done on foot, he went to Paris, and there he obtained employment in a restaurant, where he learned the catering business.

In 1848, at the outbreak of the Revolution, he returned to Baden, where he entered a volunteer corps to fight against the Prussians. The corps was a part of the Baden Revolutionary Army, and young Bihlman distinguished himself to such an extent that he was made cap-

Army, and young Bihlman distinguished himself to such an extent that he was made captain of a company.

But his youthful daring in the front against the enemy brought him always into danger, and he was at last taken prisoner and transported to the Prussian fortress at Rastatt. However, a man like Bihlman was not afraid, even behind prison walls, and his courageous spirit could not be daunted. He at last escaped from the place in a very miraculous manner, and fied. He luckily got out of the country, and, succeeding in gaining a scaport, immediately embarked for America.

He came at once to Pittsburg and, after awhile, obtained a position as engineer on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad. But railroading did not suit him long, and he returned to the city to open a restaurant. His first venture was on Penn avenue, near Twelfth street. From here he went to open the "Volkshalle," on Eleventh, an old hostelry, which used to be known as Freeman's Hall. After that he moved to the Atlantic Garden on Diamond street.

He had not been in Pittsburg very long when he was married to a young lady who came from his native town in Baden. Mr. Bihlman leaves several grown-up children. Two of his sons have for some time been at the helm of his fine business on Diamond street.

He was one of the oldest members of the Frohsinn Singing Society, a member of the Central Turnverein and also of Jefferson Lodge, F. and A. M.

The disbursements amounted to $74,-844 28, an increase of $6,349 74 over the previous year. The expenses are for such things as clerk hire, letter carriers and postmaster's salary. The report also gives the number of letters dispatched, both in the city and to other places.* There are very few decreases in any part of the postoffice's business.

AS TO THE CAMPBELL CHARGES. Green Sottle Blowers Instruct Their Del gates How to Act About Them. A special meeting of L. A. 8111, Knights of Labor, green bottle blowers, was held yester-day in Labor Hall. The object was to instruct the delegates who are going to the convention of District Assembly 142, to be held at Atlantic City on the 10th inst., how to vote on certain questions. They were given especial instructions in regard to the charges made against President James Campbell, of the Window Glass Workers' Association, for alleged violation of the contract labor laws. The matter will be acted upon at the convention, and will also be presented by the District to the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor, to be held in Atlanta, in October. This will make it a national affair, and the General Assembly will national affair, and the General Assembly will be made take cognizance of the charges. Another meeting of L. A. 6ill will be held Friday ovening, when the delegates will be more fully instructed.

President Campbell returned yesterday from Washington, where he is reported to have gone to see Secretary Windom in regard to the charges preferred against him by Attorney Brennan, of this city. He would not state the result of his interview, and would not say that ne had been to see the Secretary at all.

SEARCHING A GRETNA GREEN. Young People to Go Where Marriage Li-

"Judge Cummins, one of the Commissioners, will be the resident officer at the place. He will move his family to Cresson, and will be at Johnstown every day. He has sent out blanks asking for information and after they have been filled we will pay out the relief funds. In the blanks each signer is asked to give the number of members in his or her family, how much real estate they owned and the valuation of it, how much bousehold goods the family had on hand and what it was worth, the occupation of the head of the family and the wages received, etc., etc. His estimate of the losses will be referred to the commission, and this will form a basis for the distribution of relief funds. Hearings will be granted people to make better claims. There will be no star chamber sessions; everything will be public.

THE JUNIATA PLOOD. "The people of this city need to be enlightened upon what damage was done outside of Johnstown by the floods. The condition of the people in the Juniata and Susquehanna Val-leys was deplorable. The devastation along the bottom farming lands was greater than anyone in this section of the State has any idea of. All the crops were ruined but the most damage done was the farms were "scoured."
The heavy logs and trees being washed along the ground just scooped the loam off, leaving the bare clay. From Tyrone to the mouth of the Juniata river and to Harrisburg there was terrible destruction. At Lewistown houses were swept away and everything or

Their Cases Mast Come in the Way of Re-

Nome surprise was manifested in legal circles last night at the ruling of Judge Stowe in the matter of the reversed decisions of Judge White. Judge Stowe directed the bottlers to re-present their cases on Wednesday upon the same basis as the wholesalers in appealed cases, whereas there had been a supposition that, under the ruling of the State Supreme Court, all that the bottlers had to do was to present themselves and their money and receive their hemselves and their money and receive their icenses. But the bottlers who were refused licenses. But the bottlers who were refused license are unmistakably upon the same legal plane as the wholesalers, both branches of the trade coming under the terms of the lengthy decision filed in the Pollard case. The opinion written by Judge Parson devotes only a few lines to the Harris et al. bottlers' cases, saying simply that the cases on appeal are reversed upon the general grounds in the elaborate opinion handed down in the Pollard case.

J. Bowman Sweitzer, of the Supreme Court Prothonotary's office, stated last night that there is no mittimus or mandamus having a bearing on the case outside of the formal opinion of the Court, which arrived yesterday morning, and was made the basis of Judge Stowe's ruling.

It seems, therefore, that there is no royal road to fortune for the bottlers, who must take the regular course of procedure in the matter of rehearings before the Court of Quarter Sessions.

He Had a Pittsburg Bride. A young woman from Pittsburg who married a Cincinnatian has been left penniless and alone in the city of Large Hogs. John Alexander, who kept a restaurant at No. 199 Plum street, is being anxiously looked for by the Cincinnati police. A month since he came to Pittsburg, got married and returned home, and immediately commenced to run bills right and left and pocket the proceeds of his business. The climax came last Saturday when he levanted.

FIRST IN THIRTY YEARS.

Fourth Avenue Baptlet Church-A Very Interesting Service Last Night. Last night, for the first time in 30 years, the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church found itself called upon to ordain a minister in connection with its pastoral work. The person ordained was William Ward West, of the class of '89 was William Ward West, of the class of '89 of Rochester Theological Seminary, as assistant pastor. A council of churches of the Pittsburg Baptist Association was held to consider the propriety of setting him apart to the work of the gospel ministry. The council met at 3 P. M. and elected Rev. A. J. Bonsall, of Rochester, Moderator, and Prof. J. F. Carey Secretary.

Secretary.

Mr. West passed a creditable examination Mr. West passed a creditable examination, and at 7:20 o'clock the ordination services took place in the church. Rev. D. E. Richards, of Sharpsburg, read the scripture lesson, and Prof. Leroy Stephens. President of Mt. Pleasant Institute, led in prayer. Rev. D. R. Davis, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, preached the ordination sermon, from Ephesians it., 12-13, Rev. J. W. Riddle delivered the charge to the church, and Rev. A. J. Bonsall the charge to the candidate. The candidate then kneit by the side of the pulpit in the spacious chancel, and was surrounded by all the ordaned ministers present, led by the pastor, Rev. H. B. Grose, who placed their right hands on his head, while Rev. J. K. Cramer, of the Thirty-seventh Street Baptist Church, offered up a fervent prayer of ordination. The hand of fellowship, on behalf of the council, association and church, was then extended by Rev. J. M. Scott, of Sewickley.

The newly-made minister of the gospel, Rev. William Ward West, pronounced the benediction, after which he received the congratulations of many warm friends. Mr. West will have charge of the chapel of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church at Linden Grove.
