NEW WICKETS, PIER AND SPAN.

A Coffer Dam in Which Johnstown Bodies May Turn Up Sunday.

POSSIBILITY OF LOW WATER SOON

Considerable uneasiness has prevailed among rivermen for the past few days in regard to the reported unsatisfactory condition of affairs at the Davis Island dam. It was considered advisable, owing to the repeated blockades occasioned by floating timber and other debris, to make several important alterations in the dam's construction this season. This necessitated the building of a coffer dam, which had almost been completed, when the rising water, occasioned by the Johnstown flood, swept away the entire lower portion, entailing a loss of upward of $2,000, and delaying the more important work of repairs. A force of 63 men are now at work restoring the wrecked portion, and expect to complete it by next Saturday. On Sunday the inclosure will be pumped out and work upon the improvements at once be resumed. It is proposed to remove 13 wickets from the center of the dam, and substitute what is known as the "bear trap" chute, which is composed of two heavy leaves, something on the plan of a sluice door.

HOW IT WILL OPERATE.

When the other portion of the dam is elewated the increased pressure of the water passing beneath the leaves will cause them to rise to the proper position, and join at the top like the letter A. When the dam is lowered, and the pressure consequently exhausted, their own weight will cause them to fall to the river bottom. It is confidently expected by Mr. William Martin, resident engineer at the works, that this will do away with many of the difficulties formerly experienced in keeping the dam in proper condition. It will also remove a great strain from the wickets, thereby rendering continual repairs unnecessary. A new stone pier will be constructed and the old one on the Davis Island side extended. When completed the old pier near the center of the river will be removed-a most decided improvement-making the new span 760 feet. Mr. Martin expects to have the alterations completed in about four weeks, when the dam will be raised. It is proposed by the Government to build another dam across the channel between Davis and Neville islands, work upon Davis and Nevrile Islands, work upon which has already commenced. During the low water stage a large amount of water is lost in the upper channel, which, by the dam, will be forced into the main, thereby affording grant realief to the lock affording great relief to the lock.

AN INSTRUCTIVE INTERVIEW.

In reply to a question as to the immediate In reply to a question as to the immediate danger of very low water Mr. Martin said: I do expect any trouble from low water at present; but of course I cannot say we won't have it. This is the season of the year to ex-pect lowering rivers, and it may come every day. As you see, we are working with all pos-tible speed to complete remains and confidently

We did not try to save anything; we cut the beits on the engine and ran. I am seriously afraid that when we pump out the water inside the cofferdam, we shall find one or more bodies of the found methods but here are carload of wheat donated by the citizens of Abilene, Kan., for the relief of the suffer-ers for $356 82. To-day's total contribu-tions, including the above item, only amounted to $368. Approximate measurements of the great spot make it about 35,000 miles in diameter, or 300,000,000 square miles in area. As this is one of the years of the area. As this is one of the years of the minimum sun spots, so large a spot usually creates considerable interest. However, during the minimum sun spot period there are from time to time spots occuring on the sun, so that to astronomers this is no sur-prise. Were it more active we might no-tion superior and the superior and t

Were it more active we might no-tice some electrical results, as has been no-ticed frequently when large active spots were on the sun, but when last ob-served this spot was rather docile, and there is little fear of any dire results coming to earthly inhabitants from t. The more frequency of 1850 was immersally results coming to earthly inhabitants from it. The great spot of 1885 was immensely larger than this one, and there have been many recorded much larger and more in-teresting in structure, but many telescopes have studied this spot, perhaps, because of the long absence of any of so large a size. During the time of maxima, i. e., when sun spots are most frequent, it is more rare to find the sun spotless than it is now."

GOING INTO DETAILS.

Accountant Gray's Statement of the Disbursement of the Johnstown Money.

Colonel Gray, of this city, who had charge of the State accounting department at Johnstown, has completed his report of the moneys expended, and will mail it to the Auditor General in a day or so: The ac-counts were opened on June 12 and closed July 8. During that time a grand total of $248,935 is accounted for on the State books. Of this amount $174,761 is credited to the State department and $74,173 to the relief fund. A bill from Hamilton, Lemmon, Arnold & Co. for $10,542 for coffins is not included in the statement, as it is not yet decided whether it should be paid by the State or from the relief fund. Colonel Gray nimself thinks it should come from the relief fund. In the same period, according to Colonel Gray account a remoding to Colonel

This book well says: The great district of Pennsylvania, for the development of the Scotch Irish character, in its energies, esterprise, religious and moral principles, as well as educational tendencies and usefulness, was Southwestern Pennsyl-vania. The first sottlements by the whites in Pennsylvania, west of the Allegheny mountains, on lands bordering on the Ohio, Monon-gahela, Youghiogheny, and Allegheny rivers and their tributaries, were shortly before and after Braddock's defeat in 1755 These were chiefly under grants or permits from the Government'or authorities of the colony of Virginia, which claimed the country on the settlers in the neighborhood of Fort Pitt, by the permission of George Croghan, Super-intendent of Indian Affairs, and those who had settled on the main roads leading across the mountains to Fort Pitt, by permits from the commanders and other officers of the army, for the convenience of the army, inscinlorcements and usplies, were exempt from the penalties of the law and the requisitions of the public mariters.
