

DECLARED OFF.

An Agent of the English Brewery Syndicate SAYS IT WILL NOT PAN OUT.

New Yorkers and J. O'Reilly Hold a Secret Conference.

THE PITTSBURGH AGENT DENIES IT.

Brewer Eberhardt Emphatically States he Will Not Sell.

SOME VERY MYSTERIOUS MOVEMENTS.

Pierre and James Naser, the two New York agents of the much talked of English brewery syndicate, were in the city yesterday.

He said: "It has all fallen through. We couldn't come to terms."

He was asked for the reasons, but wouldn't talk further, but reiterated his former statement, and said J. O'Reilly was at all about it.

Later the reporter made himself known and finding Pierre Naser and two others taking a drink of coffee at a small table in the library, he asked Pierre about the statement made by Naser.

PIERRE REFUSED TO TALK.

He said at first that if Naser said so, he must know what he is talking about.

With much more he is talking about. Taking another talk he said there was no change in the state of the deal.

At last Pierre urged the reporter not to say anything at all about the whole matter, saying it would only be wrong.

Mr. O'Reilly denied later that the deal was at all about it.

BEFORE THE SYNDICATE.

In London, who were expected to send over their experts about September 25, when the whole thing would be made public.

In relation to the meeting said to have been held yesterday between local brewers and representatives of the English syndicate, William Eberhardt said last night:

BEETHY COLLEGE.

Meeting of Trustees and Annual Dinner Held in This City.

The trustees of Bethany College, West Virginia, met at the Y. M. C. A. rooms shortly after noon yesterday.

After the meeting the party took dinner, with a few friends, at the Seventh Avenue Hotel.

MAHARNEK IN JAIL.

The Ex-Sheriff Charged With Embezzlement.

Chief of Police Kirschler, of Allegheny, yesterday received a telegram from the chief of the Cleveland police asking him to arrest Dr. Maharnek, the "Little Dutch Doctor," who figured in the late penitentiary investigation.

ANOTHER SHOOTING CASE.

Ella Lewis, a Colored Woman, Attempts to Shoot Her Husband.

At 7 o'clock last evening Apela Lewis, of Myrtleland street, East Liberty, rushed into the Nineteenth ward station house and swore out a warrant for his wife's arrest.

THE M'KEESPORT SPEAK-EASIES.

A Hearing Before Alderman Gripp in the County Prosecutions.

The hearing in the case of R. S. McKeesport, a number of proprietors of McKeesport speak-easies, was held before Magistrate Gripp yesterday afternoon.

THE TRANSFER MADE.

The stock of the Ninth street bridge was transferred to the Pleasant Valley syndicate yesterday.

WANT MORE LICENSES.

The Brewers' Association Meet—They Claim Too Close Restriction Causes Illegal Liqueur Selling.

A meeting of the representatives of the various breweries in Allegheny county was held yesterday afternoon in the regular assembly room on Fourth avenue.

There were 12 representatives present of the 15 breweries of the county, and they passed a resolution which will be presented to the Court to-day, stating that the understanding of the Brooks law, as far as they knew it, was that any good citizen who applied for a license would be granted one.

The selling which is said to be so prevalent was condemned, although the reduction from 2,700 licenses to about 300 in the county, was regarded as an encouragement rather than a stoppage of the illegal business.

The result of the sale showed that the Pittsburgh breweries suffered from the results of the Brooks law as enforced, for the reason that the home brewers refused to sell to places which were running contrary to law, and the outside firms made capital out of the position without paying a cent license.

The argument was advanced that people who wished to live in accordance with the law were compelled to sell without license in defiance to public opinion in places where the law was not enforced.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

There is not one member of the assembly who expects any change in the number before next May. At that time, however, they look for a large accession to the number of licensed saloons and a great decrease in the speak-easy industry.

With much more other arguments of equal strength the brewers will present their case to the courts this week, asking on behalf of the retail dealers for an increase in the number of licenses.

TO BOYCOTT CHINESE.

A Labor Movement to Drive the Laundrymen from This City.

IT MAY SWEEP OVER THE COUNTRY.

Six New Flint Glass Houses Put Into Operation This Fall.

OTHER INTERESTING LABOR ITEMS.

It was rumored around labor headquarters yesterday afternoon that a movement was on foot to boycott Chinese laundries throughout the two cities.

The movement probably had its inception from the action of the members of the Cigar-makers' International Union No. 107, at Erie, who passed a resolution several weeks ago imposing a fine of $5 upon any member of the union who patronized the Chinese.

The other unions are taking the matter up, and they threaten to exterminate the Chinese in that city. Already the influence of the boycott is being felt, and several of the Mongolians have removed from the town.

In Pittsburgh alone there are 68 Chinese laundries, which give employment to 684 men. Their business is constantly increasing, and a great portion of it comes from wage-workers who are members of labor organizations.

By passing union laws against the laundries it is expected that they will be driven out of the business, and the latter taken up by Americans.

COCKMAKERS TAKE NO ACTION.

A meeting of the Pittsburgh cockmakers was held last night in Labor Hall. It was expected that they would take some action in the matter and carry out the idea of Eric Brethren, but after the meeting they stated they had done nothing about it.

THE MURDERER'S WIFE.

William A. Smith, murderer of a woman, was at a Feast at a Saloon.

About 1:30 yesterday morning William A. Smith killed his wife by shooting her through the head at their residence, 124 Fulton street. The shot was fired while Mrs. Smith was sleeping and the bullet struck her on the left temple.

The murder was a most deliberate one. Smith had been quarreling with his wife for some time, and he had been drinking heavily.

He was removed to Mercy Hospital, and his wounds pronounced not dangerous, the one in the head making only a slight scratch.

Dr. J. G. McCandless yesterday afternoon visited the woman at the morgue. The ball which struck her on the left temple, split on the bone and was found in two pieces lodged in the skull.

It was impossible last evening to find who was behind the boycott movement here, but it is probable that the Trades Council may take some action in the matter.

SCARCITY OF LABOR.

The Building of New Glass Houses Will Deplete the Market—Five or Six Started This Fall—Where They Are.

A representative of the new flint glass house at Findlay, O., was in the city several days ago engaging men to go to work in the factory at that place.

Five or six new houses will be in operation this fall, and when they are all under way there will be a scarcity of flint workers in the labor market.

Secretary Dillon stated yesterday that they could supply men for the new factories, but after this has been done there will be no available workers in the market until some young men have been educated in the business.

The new factory at Findlay will be under the management of "Goff" Keeler, formerly of the Southside, and it is expected they will be ready to start this fall.

They will run a 12-foot furnace and give employment to about 180 men. They will make chimneys and iron mold was exclusively.

The new prescription house at California, Pa., is almost ready and will start up September 25. John Aub, formerly manager at Wightman's house, on the Southside, will be in charge of the new work.

The new tableware house at Greensburg will be ready to start in November. This is the old plant of the Brilliant Glass Company, at Brilliant, O. They will move all their machinery to Greensburg.

Robert B. Jeffries, of No. 406 Butler street, holds only a Government cigar manufacturing license. By an error in the DISPATCH yesterday he was placed among those who took out liquor licenses.

A BRAKEMAN named Klingensmith, while coupling cars at Thirty-sixth street, had his arm caught between the bumpers and badly crushed. It is feared it will be necessary to amputate it.

GUY GRIFFIN and John Carey had a little quarrel. Griffin is claimed, however, to have been under the bar with a brick. He is now in jail, charged with aggravated assault and battery.

THE CITY EMPLOYEES will shortly be comforted with their monthly pay. The fire bureaus and markets will be paid off to-day; the police to-morrow and streets and sewers on Monday.

INSPECTOR McALEESE made an information yesterday against Carrie Winfield, colored, for being drunk on Ross street which will be closed up.

NEAPOLE SEAMINE is charged with the larceny of a suit of clothes belonging to Jacob Beck. Seamine was sent to jail in default of bail.

SQUIRE SAMUEL FIELDS, of McKeesport, was used yesterday for forcibly ejecting W. A. Challenger, Esq., from the office of the city clerk. It is feared it will be necessary to amputate it.

RESTAURANTS report a decreasing business. Our wives have returned home to do the cooking.

JAMES GREEN was sent up for 30 days for kicking Officer Maxwell's dog into the gutter.

JOHN WARD, an old Panhandle conductor, died at Mansfield yesterday of consumption.

THE LOUISVILLE BRIDGE.

Heavy Coal Operators Discuss the Pending Negotiations.

A meeting of the representatives of the largest coal concerns on the Monongahela river met yesterday in the office of the Pittsburgh and Southern Coal Company.

The object of the meeting was to consider the action of the Louisville bridge company in issuing a call for selling out to the Eastern syndicate. An informal talk was held about the latter, but nothing was done.

The negotiations, it was stated, are still going on, but number of operators are afraid the deal will not be closed. Walton & Co. have not yet reorganized their company, pending the negotiations with the syndicate.

ADVERTISING FOR MEN.

Master Horse Shoers Will Make an Effort to Break the Strike.

The master horse shoers of this city are determined not to shirk the demands of their men, and are now about to make an attempt to break the strike.

They have had inserted in another column an advertisement for 75 horse shoes daily, and they will pay them from $15.00 to $20.00 per week. They met last night, and again refused the advance in pay and reduction of Saturday hours.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

WHY THEY ARE BLACK.

Rev. Cesar A. Taylor Delivers a Lecture on the Colored Race.

PROOF BIBLICAL AND SCIENTIFIC, Showing That the Caucasian is a Brother to the African.

A NEW THEORY ON FLAT NOSES.

Rev. C. A. Taylor, Secretary to the Colored Republican Organization, of New York, lectured last night at the Avery Mission Church, Allegheny.

The subject of the discourse was "The Negro Race; Why It Differs from the Whites; Places in Color and Outward Appearance."

Rev. G. V. Holliday took the chair, and briefly introduced the lecturer to his audience. Mr. Taylor said that he first spoke on his subject under two heads: First as to the negro race being of common parentage with the whites, and, secondly, as to the scientific causes why the negroes gradually changed from their original color to their present hue.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of the children of Canaan into Africa. He enlarged upon the fact that so many of the mighty men of old, with whose name and fame the world is familiar, were of the cursed race of Canaan.

THE CAUCASIAN RACE were in the habit of villifying, and often, of persecuting, the negro, justifying such actions on the ground that the two peoples are not of common origin.

THE REVEREND LECTURER then proceeded to describe the gradual migration of