How Mr. Herrington Came Without Papers from Ohio.

THE BABBS CASE BEGINS.

Hearing Postponed Until Further Evidence is Secured.

BABBS RELEASED ON $3,000 BAIL.

Mary Sullivan Had an Affecting Interview With Her Mother.

SHE HANKERS TO SMOKE CIGARETTES

Perhaps the most amusing feature, if not the only one in connection with the Scottdale case, was the arrest of Walter Herrington yesterday by Detective Phil Demmel. The detective had been chasing his man to and fro for three days without catching up, but leaving a good description with the Youngstown police and instructions how to act, he started for New Castle on Friday afternoon. Herrington's friends kept him posted, and of course he headed at once for Youngstown, where he was arrested upon his arrival by the Ohio officers. He entered several protests, but was locked up.

Demmel changed his train and starting back to Youngstown arrived soon after his quarry. Harrington showed fight and said he would not leave the State of Ohio unless the proper papers were procured. Demmel tried to persuade him to forego the formality so as to save time, but in vain, although shown that it was only a question of a day or two when he would be compelled to return. Phil Demmel was at his wits' end when with a clang and a rush of gamins laughing and shouting, the Youngstown patrol wagon turned the corner. In it was a Hungarian prisoner howling drunk and most belligerently inclined.

PHIL'S BRIGHT IDEA WORKED.

A bright thought struck Phil. He turned to the Chief of Police and said: "Put that tellow in the cell with Herrington." It was done, and, although the baseballist protested, the demonstrative Hungarian was given him for a room mate. The Hungarian rather took a fancy to his companion, and, instead of fighting, began to caress him, which was even more repugnant to his feelings than hostilities would have proved.

After ten minutes Demmel sent an officer in to say that he was starting back to Pennsylvania for the necessary extradition papers, when Herrington begged as a favor to go also rather than stand another hour of the Hungarian's society. Demmel took his man, and had him in Pittsburg in time for the hearing vesterday atternoon.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Magistrate McKenna ascended the judgment seat to hear the case of Frank Hill, Florence Donaldson, Laura Bailey, Walter Harring-ton, Jacob A. Babbs and Minnie Fleming multifariously charged with the misusing of May Sullivan, of Scottdale. The crowd was a composite one, being made up of all classes of people, from grave to gay, among which were three lawyers.

THE LAWYERS CONSULTED.

It was soon evident that there wouldn't be any hearing, as the lawyers were powwowing, and some of the people in interest wanted to catch the first train to McKeesport to be in time to see the boat race, and it was finally announced that the case would be continued until next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when some witnesses, said to be important and non est yesterday, are expected to be on hand.

Laura Bailey and Florence Donaldson furnished bail in $1,000 each, Daniel Wei-gold becoming their bondsman. Minnte Fleming was bailed by her father, George Shupe, of Scottdale, for $1,000. Babbs not being allowed to give bail before the aiderman was taken into court, and there en-tered bail in $3,000, W. N. Porter bondsman. Hill and Harrington were unable to turnish bail and were committed HE MADE BABBS SOUTEM.

The manner in which District Attorney Porter drew out Babbs, the jeweler, yester-day, was somewhat entertaining to all but the witness. He acknowledged being on the bonds of the postmaster, Collector and four or five other bonded officials of Scottdale, in all to the amount of $30,000 or $40,-000, while he had not over 50 per cent of that amount in real property.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan visited their daugh-

As a further evidence of how seemingly hopeless the case of May Sullivan is, Matron Brennen stated last night that she has commenced to smoke cigarettes. After the trial she will most probably be sent to Morganza.

On Monday workmen will commence on the brickwork of the new Wylie avenue cable car house. The building will be 400 feet long, and in it will be the eastern loop of the cable. The engineer in charge of con-struction now expects to have the road in operation by November 1.

SOME VALUABLE POINTERS.

Dr. English Shows How Cable Cars and Electric Lights Improve the Health-A Paper on City Hygiene.

In enumerating "some of the hygienic advantages of modern city buildings, with special reference to the respiratory organs," in a paper read before the State Sanitary Convention, Dr. W. T. English says among other things that a casual view of our streets, alleys and courts reveals an advance in street paving, Belgian block substituted for cobble stones on the streets and concrete or asphalt on alleys and courts.

He quotes Rudolph Hering, who says that one horse can draw as much weight on an asphalt pavement as would require two horses on Belgian block and seven and fourfifth horses on cobble stone. Township Road Supervisors ought to hunt up the authorities, and "when found make a note on't," but Dr. English is more concerned with the subject in a sanitary view. He urges the Belgian block and asphalt on account of hygienic considerations. Streets so paved are more easily cleansed. The air contamination is reduced, dust decreased and the streets are largely cleansed by rainfall.

Dr. English also finds that cable and electric railways in Pittsburg and Allegheny, when completed, will remove 4,000 rses from the streets, and the absence of offal incident to such a herd of animals, exnumerable constitute only a small portion of the benefits. halations of effluvia, dust, gas and odors in-

On the reduction of oxygen waste by the use of electric lights instead of gas, the doctor finds that the 10,000 street lamps of Pittsburg and Allegheny represent an oxygen waste that would supply a city of 35,000 or 40,000 inhabitants, and the grand total of oxygen waste saved indoors and outdoors or streets in husiness. indoors and outdoors or streets, in business houses and printing offices, factories, etc., by electric lighting in these two cities, he finds enough to supply a city of 115,000

He quotes from Dr. Haller and Kriell, of Germany, to prove that inhalation of super-heated air is destructive of bacilli, and finds that the use of natural gas in baking the air of public assembly rooms, after the departure of the audience, is valuable for the destruction of micro-organisms and the rendering of the air aseptic, after which the temperature may be permitted to decline to

He indorses the proposition that in all cities there should be provided homes, or hospitals, tor consumptives. When deemed advisable the rooms could be heated beyond the temperature of 105 degrees Fahrenheit, at which bacilli perish, and when thought necessary the patient could be advised to inhale for some time the air at the same alti-tude which would render the lungs aseptic. In 1883 the relative death rate in Pittsburg from consumption was nearly 12 per In five years preceding 1889 it never reached more than the average of 9.96 per

On the whole Dr. English believes that with cleanliness, electric lighting, etc., the cities are improving in both physical and mental health, and that Farr's law of density, which assumes that "The nearer men live to each other the shorter their lives, may be reversed by statistics of luture cities. It is in large cities that the greatest progress has been made in hygienie requirements, and in small cities the proportionate death rate is the largest. .

School Marm is Alleged to Have Whipped a Boy Brutally.

Yesterday afternoon George Pottleson, ged 8 years, was taken to the office of the Anti-Cruelty Society by his parents, who live in Noblestown, on the Panhaudle road. The parents complained that a school teacher named Lizzie Clark had badly abused the boy, and alleged that she had beaten him with a rattan upon the back and legs and over the face. Great welts were down the child's back and on his forehead and cheeks.

One of the School Board, a Dr. Taylor, is alleged to have taken on himself the in-vestigation of the boy's behavior. The whipping was given the boy three days ago, ecause he denied throwing a dog over the banisters at the school. Superintende. t Dean will take the case in hands at once.

Various Lodges Have Been Appealed to for Contributions.

HIS STERLING WORTH RECOGNIZED

The enduring character of the Masonic work done by the late Geter C. Shidle during his lifetime leads to its proper perpetuation at the hands of the Masonic fraternity of Western Pennsylvania. For years Mr. Shidle's keen interest in and great familiarity with all branches of Masonic progress made him an important factor, not only in the growth of the order, but in the scope of its extension in fields of abstruse lore. Aside from his Masonic achievements, Mr. Shidle's personality enleared him especially to his brethren of the evel and square. A circular has recently been issued indicating that there is a strong desire to impart tangible shape to a memorial of Mr. Shidle's worth as a man and a Mason, What form the memorial will assume has not yet been decided upon, but it will be undoubtedly something of a Masonic nature. The appended circular explains itselt:

Western Pennsylvania; BRETHREN-At a meeting composed of mem bers of the different lodges in this vicinity, held in Freemasons' Hall, June 12, 1889, for the purpose of considering the propriety of secur-ing a suitable memorial of our late D. After a thorough discussion of the subject, the fol-lowing resolution was unanimously adopted:

SUBSCRIPTIONS ASKED FOR. In compliance with the object for which this commission has been created, we now ask the secretaries of the different lodges interested, to place this circular in the hands of each member of their respective lodges, and request that they make their subscriptions direct to their secretaries, and that he keep an accurate list of all contributors, as it is, desired to have a complete list by name and number of lodge, to be deposited as a part of this testimonial

In response to the above quite a sum of money has been received, and a meeting of commission will shortly be held to decide upon the character of the memorial. ## TEARING DOWN THE STACK.

A Lightning Rod Was Pinced on it by the Aid of a Kite.

Jones & Laughin yesterday begun work on the demolition of the boiler stack, in the old department of their puddle mill in Brownstown. The stack was one of the first things built by the company, when they located their small mill where the present extensive works now stand.

The stack is built of brick, 140 feet high and about 40 feet square at the bottom When it was erected, there was no provi sion made to put a lightning rod on it After the scaffolding had been torn down, this mistake was discovered and there appeared no way to remedy it. An enterprising lightning rod agent came along and undertook to do the work by the aid of a kite. He secured a large "flyer" and attached a light rope to it. This he circled around the top of the stack until he made it fast. He then attached a larger rope to the small one, and after considerable also got it up. Finally a block and tackle were hoisted up and by this means, the agent hauled himself to the top. A light scaffolding was begun and the rod was soon placed in position. The stack will not be rebuilt as the battery of boilers has been

He sought and obtained admittance to the most disinterestedly charitable of all institutions, that of the Little Sisters of the Poor, where he was kindly treated.

He, however, disliked to be an object of charity, and going out into the rural distriet he hired out to a farmer for $1 per week and lodging. During nearly five years he succeeded in saving a little over as many dollars, when lately, hearing that his family was living in Cincinnati, he made the application above referred to in order to get means to see and bid his cruel and unnatural wife and children farewell before he seeks rest in death. He was given the assistance asked.

CALLED DOWN FOR CRUELTY.

The Story That Kriozesck Fell From an Ap-ple Tree and Broke His Nock Not Credited-His Death a Mystery. Coroner McDowell yesterday afternoon went to McKeesport and concluded the investigation into the cause of the death of Joseph Kriozrsek, who died under suspicious circumstances last Monday. Kriozrsek was found in his room in his boarding house Sunday in an unconscious condition. He died on Monday, and a post mortem examination showed that his neck was broken.

nation showed that his neck was broken.

John Rykeosezsioki, the boarding house keeper, and Anton Gesponski and Joseph Merlensky, the roommates of Kriograck, were placed under arrest by the Coroner. A large number of witnesses were examined yesterday, but no light was thrown on the manner in which Kriograck received his injury. The statement of one of his roommates that the three had been out drinking Saturday night, and that Kriograck fell from an apple tree while they were getting some fruit, did not receive much credenes from the jury. The verdict rendered was to the effect that Kriograck came to his death from violence received at a time and place unknown to the jury.

John Rykeosezsioki, the boarding house keeper, and Anton Gesponski and Joseph Merlensky were released, but were censured for cruet and inhuman treatment in allowing Kriograck to lie on the floor of his room from Saturday night to Sunday afternoon without receiving any attention.
