PITTSBURG IS ON THE LIST.

Manager Hanlon and the Local Team Return From Indianapolis.

GENERAL BASEBALL NEWS OF THE DAY

Sensational details are published relative to the new baseball organization that is alleged to supplant the National League. It is stated that Pittsburg is on the list. The local ball team returned from Indianapolis, and Manager Hanlon talked interestingly. There were some exciting Sunday ball

CHICAGO, September 22.—Buying and selling of baseball players "for revenue only," happily, it appears, will end with this season, and the men dealing in that kind of "merchandise" may have to seek new employment, when the individual members of each of the eight ball clubs become stockholders and commence to "play ball" in earnest instead of for an alleged pennant. A morning paper says:

The transfer work is to be done by the Brotherhood of Professional Buseball Play ers, of which John M. Ward, shortstop o the New York club, is President; Dennis Brouthers, first baseman of the Boston team, is Vice President, and Timothy J. Keefe, the New York club's great pitcher, is Secretary. Most of the details have been arranged, and remain but to be carried out after the end of the present playing season and before the beginning of that of 1890. Every man in the League clubs of 1889, with the exception of half a dozen, among which Anson, Williamson and Burns are notable examples, is a member of the Brotherhood, and sworn to stand by the new scheme. Its outlines are as follows: THE NEW ASSOCIATION.

United Business Association.
It is to be made up of eight clubs, as follows: Boston, New York, Brooklyn. Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Buffale, Chicago. Of hese two are new clubs and not in the present National League. They are Brooklyn and Buffalo. The present Indianapolis team is to be dropped bodily for Brooklyn, where Assoby the audition of Rowe, White and Myers ate of Indianapolis.

In each city local capitalists are to operat the teams formed and placed there by the Brotherhood, giving a bond of $25,000 for the erformance of their part of the work. Albert Johnson is the Cleveland capitalist, and hi nctive participation in the deal as a mission ary caused him to be mistaken for its national and Ir has no national head at this time ou side of the officers of the Brotherhood, Th ociation's officials are to be elected this fall. | Baltis SALABIES GUARANTEED

The players are guaranteed, their salaries at the 1888 rate for 1890 and a share of the profits. All expenses and receipts are to be pooled for the general benefit, and gate receipts divided couplly between the clubs. The first $10,000 profit is to go into prizes to be distribu among the clubs as playing prizes, $5,000 to first, $2,500 to second, $1,500 to third, $1,000 to fourth. Of the first $80,000 after this, $10,000 goes to the capitalists, $10,000 to those of each club. The next $80,000 goes to the players, and all other profits are pooled half and half. Each player shares equally with the others.

Each club is to be governed by a board made up of 6 men, 4 capitalists and 4 players, and the main body by a senate of 16 each club.

St. Louis, September 22.—The Cincinnatis

having 2 representatives, 1 a player and the other a capitalist. EACH CLUB'S STOCK. Each club is stocked for $20,000, half of which fication and reserve rules go with the present management, but the 1889, or classification figures, are taken as the bass for 1890.

Score cards and general privileges are to be considered as profits and pooled as such. The Association is to make and sell its own ball. Nearly all the work of rearing the fabric as it stands to-day has been done at Cleveland this summer. The papers were sent to each League club and signed by the players. Auson, Burns and Williamson have not signed the Chicago agreement. In each city capitalists are at work over grounds and plans for next season. Here is a list which shows the magnitude of the scheme and the class of men in it:

The features of the game were Hamilton's batting and tares of the game were Hamilton's batting and base running, and a running catch by Ehret in left field. Score: complete its list. All the 15 men are on the agreement, and their plan is to engage Tom Loftus to manage them. Competent men will be engaged at various other points. The men figure that it will be to their interest to manage themselves and a general sur-veillance will be kept up by the members of each team on their fellows. A man's interest cach team on their relieve. A man's interest in the Association will be continued assioning as be is a member of it. For had work he will be released and his share turned over to his suc-cessor. A structure to last forever is to be reared by the Brotherhood.

PROFITS AND LOSSES.

The profits and losses being pooled, a general pooling of interests and players must follow, All extra men employed, except at intervals under the present state of affairs, will be utilised under the new plan, and extra talent put where it will do the most good. The Association as it stands to-day has no head. As soon as the season closes, a meeting will be held at as the season closes, a meeting will be held at New York, at which laws for the governance of the new body will be framed, officers elected and the machinery of the Association set in motion. The present idea of the leaders in the movement is to elect A. G. Mills, formerly of Chicago and now of New York, who succeeded W. A. Hulbert as President of the League in 1882. Mr. Mills is President of the Association of American Arthetes, and is decayly interested of American Athletes, and is deeply interested in the baseball deal.

HOW MATTERS STAND TO-DAY. So the great baseball stands to-day. The players are united and present a strong case. They number about 120. The League club owners, practically eight men, say: "Let us go to fighting at once. We can beat you. If you new men, cut down the prices and see how smoothly your craft will sail in rough water." The League men do not know, however, how broad the movement among the players is. They expect that only part of each team will go out. In this they are mistaken. The Brotherhood has some 180 members. All are "in with this play" and in all the eight League clubs, not ten men will be lett.

In connection with this story it may be said go out. In this they are mistaken. The Brother-hood has some 120 members. All are "in with this play" and in all the eight League clubs, not that the Brotherhood figures and estimates are all the result of calculations and figures made by players appointed for the purpose in each League town last spring. There was talk last June of a general strike in the League cities before the morning game July 4, as a means of forcing the club managers to wipe out the grievances about which the Brotherhood had complained. Each chapter of the Brotherhood had complained. Each chapter of the Brotherhood—each League club is a chapter in itself—voted on the question of "strike" or "reorganization" on the plan outlined above, and laid before the Brotherhood early in the year.

IT WAS DISCUSSED BEFORE. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of reorganization. This serves to show how long the plan has been discussed by the Brother-hood. The first inkling of it got out through the 'leaking' of some parties in Indianapolis to whom Al Johnson had told the scheme's outline. But the "leakers" mixed up the details. Those given above are absolutely correct.

The League men say: "If the Brotherhood has any grievances, we are ready to discuss and remove them."

The Brotherhood leaders say: "It is too late,
We have been deceived before and will not be

we have been deceived before and will not be again."

The Brotherhood is at this time negotiating with the players in the American Association, and a plan of non-interference will probably be agreed to. The Brotherhood will then say to the American Association clubs: "Keep out of this fight and we'll leave your players alone. If you do not we'll take them."

Among the plans of the Association is the adoption of the double umpire system and the formation of a staff of umpires, including Gaffney, Ferguson, McQuaid, John Kelly, Knight, Lynch and two others.

Complains About the Score Manager Leng, of the Our Boys ball club. called at this office last night and denied that the score made up by C. P. THE HOOSIERS HUSTLING.

Manager Glasscock Corrallug All the Pitchers He Can Lay Hands on-Pittsburg Disappointed the People of Hooslerdem, but They

Are Waiting to Get Even With Boston and the Giants. [CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, September 22.-The local nthusiasts who have been, up to this time feeling very confident that the Hoosiers would not only beat Pittsburg out in the League race, but would head Cleveland off also, are not so happy and sanguine as they were before the final series with the "Allies" commenced. It was thought that the home team would certainly get two of the three games played, but the shoe was on the other foot when the battle was ver, and as a result the Hoosiers are prac tically tied with the Pittsburg team. They have a very rough road to travel during the coming week. New York and Boston will be ere in the order named, and as is well known both of these teams are after "blood" and will make a bold effort to down the Hoosiers.

Heretofore Boston has been rather an easy nark for the local men, but the club is not re garded as a snap by any means. Getzein i garded as a snap by any means. Getzein is himself again, however, and the club is now in much better shape than it has been for a month or more. Of late the management has been securing pitchers from all directions, and it looks now as if the club will have at least seven men for that department within a week or two. It has five now and there are two counties to hear from men for that department within a week or two. It has five now and there are two counties to hear from.

While in Chicago last week Manager Glasscock signed Fanning, who has been a member of the Davenport club up until recently. He was with Buffalo last season and a part of this. Fanning did splendid work with Davenport, and it was on his record made in that club that the local management signed him. He was in the box against Pittsburg yesterday, but was injured early in the game and had no chance to show what he can do. He will be retained, however, and given another trial. Young Fee, who was secured in the East while the club was in Washington, has pitched two games that lead the management to think that he is going to be a lammer. He is a big, muscular fellow, with great speed and fairly good command of the ball.

While in Beston Manager Glasscock had a talk with Burkett, of the Worcester club, and it is understood he, too, is to join the Hoosiers within a few days. Glasscock has been watching this young man for some time, and thinks that he will develop into a good one. He is left-handed, and is a rattling base runner, strong batter and a clever player in all respects. I think the scheme is to give Burkett a trial in some of the coming games, and if he shows up well he well besigned for next season. Pitcher Shreve, who was released by the Hoosiers in the spring and went to Detroit, shows up well he well be signed for next season. Pitcher Shreve, who was released by the Hoosiers in the spring and went to Detroit, came back to Indianapolis to-day, and it is not improbable that he, too, will help the local team out. He was always effective against New York, and it is likely he will pitch in one or two of the series with that team. It is understood that Detroit could not reserve Shreve under the terms of his contract, and that he refuses to play there again. He wants to come back to Indianapolis. It is the evident intention of the local management to get every pitcher in sight, hoping to find a "phenom" or two for next season. President Brush is out again with a positive statement that the Hoosiers will be in the League in 1890.

MANAGER HANLON EXPLAINS.

He Shows Where McQuald Was Wrong -Opinions About Maul.

home baseball players returned fro Indianapolis last evening looking weary enough for their short trip. They arrived at the Baltimore and Ohio depot, and hurried away to the other side of the river without delay. Manager Hanlon took time to talk a little about baseball affairs, and the little difference between himself and Umpire McOnaid at Indianapolis. The manager said: "McQuaid was wrong, and he owned it up to me on Friday. The trouble arose concerning Bassett, who had three strikes called on him, and he allowed the next ball to hit him. Staley Miller had changed the signs on him, and he was fooled. He ought to have been out according to rule, but McQuaid gave him his base. I came in from the field and pointed out to the umpire that he was wrong. This was the second time he had made a mistake and I argued strongly He ordered me out of the game and fined me $10. However, on Friday when I went to show him the rules he said he had made a mistake. He also allowed Denny and Glasscock to run to second base to coach a man from there. He did not even reprimand them until I spoke, and then he fined Denny $5." Miller had changed the signs on him and he

them until I spoke, and then he fined Denny $6."

Regarding the local club, Manager Hanlon said: "Maul will certainly pitch against the Washingtons this week. Sowders is not in form at present and is too unreliable. I think Maul can become an excellent pitcher if he will only put his heart into his work. He knows now that he has nothing to depend on but pitching, as his batting is not good enough to keep him in the field. He has all the curves necessary, and all that he requires is a good heart. I really believe that after he pitches a few games he will be looked upon as one of our best men. At any rate, we'll try him. I don't think we'll have time to try Jones and Hess." Either Galvin or Staley will face the Senators to-day, and Ferson or Keefe will be in the bex for the visitors.

JOHNSON CONFIRMS IT. Says the New Baseball Scheme

Sure Go. Sr. Louis, September 22.-Will Johnson, the street railway magnate of this city whose name has been connected with the schemes of the Base Ball Brotherhood, has just returned from New York.

"Some of the players have seen fit to talk," said he, "and although I was sworn to secrecy some time ago, I guess there is no longer any effort at concealment. To begin with, let me tell you that every player in the League, with the single exception of Anson, has signed an agreement to join in the movement, Anson, as I said, is the only recalcitrant, and he is an old horse who will be led to the stable next year, so that his absence will not be felt. Every one of the others has signed a pledge to stand one of the others has signed a pledge to stand by this agreement.

"With all the details in view, I am free to say that I believe the Brotherhood will prove a success from the start. Besides furnishing the best ball in the country, the players will have the sympathy of the people with them. No man living that I know of feels friendly to the League bosses. This selling and trading of players, as though they were so many cattle, is all wrong, and the time has come when the players must take the buil by the horns and do something for themselves." something for themselves."

Will Johnson is one of the best business men in the West, and his acquaintance among the professional players is general. He socially is friendly with all the League players.

A Rather Serious Charge. PHILADELPHIA, September 22.-After to day's game at Gloucester, Manager Barnie of Baltimore, accused the Athletic officials of passing people through a side gate, receiving their money and making no return for it. The Athletic people admit that $2 was received in that way, but deny that they had any attention

FOUGHT FOR BLOOD

THE PITTSBURG DISPATCH, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 23.

Billy Bissell and Jack Ryan Have a Desperate Fistic Battle.

THE LAWRENCEVILLE MAN WINS. About Two Hundred Pittsburgers Witness

the Sunday Morning Fight. J. L. SULLIVAN'S BACKER IN TROUBLE,

Journey. There was a desperate prize fight not far from the city between Billy Bissell and Jack Ryan, two Pittsburgers. Bissell

teeth out and was arrested.

A Well-Known Bicyclist Undertakes to Ride a Long

There was something like an old-time prize fight several miles down the Panhandle Railroad early yesterday morning. The principals were Billy Bissell, of Lawrence ville, and Jack Ryan, of the Southside. They fought at eatch-weight to a finish with small gloves, Queensberry rules, for a purse of $150. The ring, which was one of 16 feet, was formed in a shed, and fully 200 people witnessed the battle. The contest was a desperate one, and Ryan was knocked out in the eighth round by a terrific blow on the jugular. The principals accompanied by their seconds left the city about 9:30 Saturday night and reached the battle ground about midnight.

About two hours later the contest started amid considerable excitement. Ryan had scarcely a friend in the crowd, and a local light pugilist volunteered to second him. When the principals entered the ring there was a big contrast between them. Bissell weighed about 160 younds and was young and

Ryan, who is something of a fistic veteran. looked in poor condition, and only scaled 145 pounds. While he looked a little weary he seemed confident, however, and when the referee called time he was the first to rush from his corner.

At the call of time for the first round scarce ly a word could be heard. Ryan seemed anxious to get into the middle of the ring and Bissell was also eager to get to work. They sparred around considerably and Ryan at once gave proof that he knew how to use his hands Bissell became impatient and led off his blow, falling short. Ryan tried to get home, but was also a little short. They both went at it then hammer and tongs and as a windup to the round Bissell landed his right heavily on Ryan's ear. Ryan went to his corner considerably

The second round was lively enough to de light the spectators. Both men kept in the center of the ring and thumped away at each other right and left. Bissell was much quicker and stronger than Ryan and the latter

GOT THE LION'S SHARE of the punishment. However, both fighters received strong doses, and they were soon cov-ered with blood. The round, which was of the give-and-take kind, wound up by Ryan receiving another heavy blow on the left ear which knocked nim down.

The third round was in many respects similar to the second. Ryan was evidently losing strength, but he stuck to his man gamely. Bisstrength, but he stuck to his man gamely. Bissell also looked somewhat tired. They battered away at each, however, like demons, and science seemed to be discarded. Ryan began to "keep out of the way" a little toward the close of the round, and just before time was called he landed a swinging blow on Bissell's neck and Bissell went down.

The fighters were now a sorry sight and were getting weak. Bissell's left eye was closing fast and blood was flowing copiously from his nose and mouth. Ryan was even more battered than Bissell as he had a big gash on his torchead above his left eye, and he was bleeding at the nose profusely. His hody was also a mass of bruises, and altogether there was plenty of evidence of the severity of the encounter. The fourth round was therefore tame compared to fourth round was therefore tame compared to the previous ones, as each man sparred for wind. What blows were delivered were not

A VERY LIVELY ROUND.

The fifth round was another lively be. The contestants had gotten their second wind, and they at once resorted to the hammer and tongs process of punishment. Bissell's superior strength here began to tell perceptibly, and he punished the little old fellow terribly. Ryan responded, but with little effect, and was nearly exhausted when time was called.

Ryan kept out of harm's way in the sixth round, and only tried for "long blows." He managed this very well, and recovered his wind wonderfully during the round. He came up with renewed vigor in the seventh, and showed so much fighting ability that at one time he looked like a winner. During the round he returned all Bissell's blows with good interest, and when the round finished he was every bit as good as his big opponent.

Ryan started out well in the eighth and last round. He struck out viciously, knocking him senseless. This ended the battle, as Ryan was unable to respond to the call of time. A collection was made for him, and about $20 were realized.

A Giant Asks for Sullivan's Backers and Loses Three Teeth.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 NEW YORK, September 22.—Before the good people of this town had finished their slumbers this morning there was a violent commotion at the northeast corner of Forty-second street and Sixth avenue. A few minutes before 6 o'clock a giant had passed in through the side entrance a giant had passed in through the side entrance to Jim Wakely's "art gallery." Some moments passed and then there was a sound of quarreling voices, followed by violent noises that much resembled the charge of a wild bull week in 1888: against a brick wall. Immediately thereafter the side door was again opened and the afore-sail giant tumbled out on the sidewalk in a bloody and much disheveled condition. He was followed by the redoubtable Wakely himwas lollowed by the feedbacker was ylim-self. The prostrate giant picked himself up and started at a rapid gait up Sixth avenue vowing that he would have Wakely arrested. Wakely and Bluett, the giant, were escorted to the Yorkville police court by Roundsman

White.
Bluett made a sensation in court by fishing three bloody teeth out of his pocket and declaring that they had been firmly rooted in his jaws before Wakely had disturbed their foundations. As the two men stood together Wakely looked like a mere pigmy beside Bluett, Wakely admitted that Bluett had been in his saloon and also that he had thrashed him. "He came into the place this morning drunk," said Wakely. "He swaggered around and said, I am looking for a man in here to lick.' Somebody asked him whom he was looking for and he said, 'Wakely.' I said, 'I'm right here, and you get out.' He would not go, so I drove him out."

He alleged that Bluett had given him plenty of provocation. He asked for an opportunity to produce witnesses, and Judge Murray held him in $500 bail for examination. No questions were asked about the violation of the excise law in having the saloon open.

Another Missourl Prize Fight Nearly Has a Fatal Termination. KANSAS CITY, September 22.—A fight with hard gloves, Marquis of Queensberry rules, occurred this morning between Martin Durkin, of Kansas City, and Frank Neal, of St. Louis. The battle ground was on the island in the TO USE A MILLSTONE AS A MONUMENT.

Missouri river, which is under the jurisdiction of the United States. Purse $200 and the gate receipts. Durkin stripped at 148, Neal at 140 pounds. From start to finish Neal had the best of the fight, although he could not get in a knock-out blow. Blood began to flow in the econd round, when Neal got in a smasher on second round, when Neal got in a smasher on Durkin's nose and was given first knock-down. From then on the St. Louis boy found his on-ponent's head with ease and batted him about the ring as he pleased, drawing blood at every blow.

It looked once as if the St. Louis tragedy would be repeated. They punched, kicked and slugged each other without regard to rules or the decisions of the referee. Neal got Durfin in his corner against the ropes, and bend ing his opponent's back almost double over the ropes, he struck him with all his might severa times in the face. The crowd became excited when Neal refused to break away, and finally some of them pulled the ropes down and dragged the St. Louis man off his victim. Durkin's seconds claimed the fight on a foul, but it was not allowed. The referee declared

St. Louis, September 22.-President Von der Ahe, Hon. John J. O'Neill, Judge Scott and Captain Comiskey left for Cincinnati to-night to attend the American Association meeting that has been called to settle the Brooklyn-St. Louis trouble. St. Louis will present a claim to the games of Saturday and Sunday. It will be shown that the game of Saturday was won, and that Goldsmith absolutely refused to call it, though it was nitch dark. Regarding the game of Sunday, affidavits of Milligan and McCarthy will be submitted which show that these players were as-aulted on the grounds Saturday, and at Ridgewood during a Sunday game in the spring.

Ringewood during a Sunday game in the spring.

They refused to go to the grounds and suffer any more assaults. Affidavits will also be produced to show that Kerins was in dead earnest when he said that O'Brien offered him $100 and a chance to umpire in the world series if the Brooklyns won. He spoke earnestly to several players of the Browns and others. After the return of Von der Ahe a meeting of the Board of Directors of the St. Louis club will be held to investigate players. Chamberlain, Latham and Kill will be investigated.

N. S. Hopkins yesterday killed his wife and mother- in-law at their home in Phillipsburg. Jealousy was the cause of the deed. He then attempted suicide, and is now in a precarious condition.

INPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. PHILLIPSBURG, CENTER COUNTY, September 22.-Great excitement prevails in this city to-day as a result of a terrible tragedy enacted this morning. Several years ago W. S. Hopkins, a young carpenter of Rochester, N. Y., came to this city and became infatuated with Miss Maggie Wighaman, a fair and beautiful young ady, and after a short courtship they were married. The union proved an unhappy one in some respects and jealousies rose Hopkins blaming his young wife with being untrue to him.

Not long ago he had some trouble with ome of the immediate family of his wife, when he was arrested on a charge of assault and was placed under bail. For some days past Hopkins has been away from this place, stopping at Houtzdale and Osceola, two towns within a few miles of here, but last towns within a few miles of here, but last night came back and lurked around town, his wife, it appears, not knowing of his presence. Last night at a late hour it is supposed he secreted himself in the cellar of his late home, where his wife stayed. At 10 o'clock this morning he entered the house, went upstairs, and shot and instantly killed Mrs. Wighaman, his mother-in-law. When he came down to the kitchen he fired a shot, almost instantly killing his wife, who was at the time washing the break/ast dishes. He then ran out of the house on to the street, informed several persons that he had shot and killed his wife and mother-in-law.

He went to A. H. Allport's livery stabl and, raising the same revolver he had used to kill his wife and mother-in-law above to kill his wife and mother-in-law above his head, fired two shots, both striking and glancing from his skull instead of entering his brain, as was intended. One of the glancing balls struck and entered the door, which has been viewed by hundreds of curious people to-day. The murderer was taken into custody and now lies in a pre-carlous condition from the wounds made by his own hands. He is very weak from loss of blood. The physicians think he will survive. The following letters were found upon him: upon him: HOUTZDALE, PA., September 21

AND THEN HIMSELF.

HOUTZDALE, PA., September 21.

I have written many statements on what I am going to do. Most of the people in Philipsburg say I have been hounded to get me out of the way so Edward Hughes and dear Eddie Goldricks, the cracker agent, can have their own way. I want my body sent to Bert Hopkins, 27 Stone street, Rochester, N. Y. I hope we will both reach heaven. Good bye, all. I am in Osceola now on my way. Whoever comes in my way when I meet Maggie will go down with her. ALL PREMEDITATED.

SATURDAY, September 21. To-night is my time. If everything is all right. Mind my words. I want my body sent home just as I fall. I hate to do a crime like this, but they have hounded me around until I am stirred to it.

Dunnivant, a poor but respectable paper carrier, became acquainted with the daughter of a millionaire quainted with the daughter of a millionaire living on Dearborn avenue, who, becoming aware of the intimacy of the young couple and having more lofty ideas as to the future of his daughter, with unlimited confidence in the power of the almighty deliar, employed city detectives to fix some criminal charge upon his daughter's poor but honest admirer that would send him to State's prison. This was accomplished with the aid of a self-confessed thief, who pleaded guilty to an alleged burglary and swore that Dunnivant was a partner thereto. Though both were sentenced at the same time, by the same judge and for the same term of imprisonment, this agent of the detectives was liberated after a two weeks visit to the Bridewell, while the innocent victim is yet in the State's prison. We respectfully insist, that inasmuch as it is publicly stated that all the facts in this case are known to J. J. West, ex-editor of the Times, James Bonfield, ex-inspector of Police, and H. H. Gross, attorney, and as it is privately asserted that every live newspaper man in town is familiar with its details, we deem it your duty to bring it to the scrutiny of the grand jury that justice may be done, either by clearing the reputation of the millionaire whose name must eventually become public, or by punishing him and liberating his victim.

The John Wesley Chapel, on Arthur street, near Wylie avenue, erected through the instrumentality of Rev. Jehn Holliday for the colored Methodists, has just undergone a complete renovation. The auditorium presents a most pleasing contrast from its late condition. The walls have been frescoed a light brown color with dark border. The celling is a mass of bright colors, worked in exquisite design. The rostrum and altar have been newly fixed. The seats have been made more comfortable by being cushloned and painted. The Sonday school room, class rooms and hall have also been prettily painted. The decoration cost about $1,000.
