THE RIVER BRIDGES

What Captains Wood and Bryant Accomplished at Washington.

APPEAL TO THE WAR DEPARTMENT that make laws for this polyglot Com-

Vigorous Protest Against the Obstruction of Navigation.

RELAEF RIVERMEN HOPE TO SECURE gations with 244,000 members.

Captain John A. Wood, of this city, and Mr. J. W. Bryant, of New Orleans, returned to the city yesterday from Washington, where they went to file a protest with the Secretary of War against the delay in the repairs of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie bridge at Beaver.

Secretary Proctor was not in Washington, being in New England with the American International Congress delegates. The visitors called upon the acting secretary, General Schofield, and presented to him the bridge resolutions adopted by the National Board of Steam Navigation, photographic views of the Beaver and Wheeling bridges, and a written statement of the grievances of the river operators against the ridge builders.

The river men complain of the tardiness with which the work on the Beaver bridge is being done. Mr. Bryant said: "It seems almost as if the contractors were dragging the work along for the express purpose of obstructing navigation.

General Schofield declined to express any opinion as to what could be done, but promised that the War Department would afford all the relief in its power. The mat-ter will be referred to Colonel Merrill, at Cincinnati, the engineer in charge of the Ohio river. On his report of the condition of affairs the department will act.

COULDN'T WAIT FOR PROCTOR.

Secretary Proctor is expected to return to Washington to-morrow, but Messra. Wood & Bryant were unable to wait until that time. The delegates met a number of the principal river operators at the office of John A. Wood & Son yesterday fornoon, and reported to them what had been done. Mr. Bryant said to a reporter for THE DISPATCH: "An appeal to the Secretary of War is the only action practicable for us. The work on the Beaver bridge has been authorized by a special act of Congress, and it is doubtful if it could be stopped by the courts. It the river men would appea to the courts for an injunction or writ of mandamus it would be incumbent on them will be unable to take advantage of it. Besides that, it would cost a great deal of money to prosecute legal action. The rail-roads employ their attorneys by the year, and like nothing better than to get a man into court and wear him out by legal delays. ago placed an order for 150 guitars. This lot has just been received and can be seen at Kiebers' music store, No. 506 Wood

A FINE OF ONLY $500.

We were to secure the aid of the Attorney General of the United States. He could obtain the infliction of a penalty on the rail-road company of only $500 a month. The company could pay that for one month, and proceed right along to continue the obstruc-tion. What would a railroad company care what would a railroad company care proceed right along to continue the obstruc-tion. What would a railroad company care for a fine of $500 a month in such a work? There is, thus, no practicable relief for us under the law.

"The Secretary of War cannot, I suppose, take any summary action either to stop or expedite the work. About the only thing which we hope for him to do is to

The convention which meets to-morrow in the First English Lutheran Church, Grant street, is* made up of delegates from nine synods. These decide upon the interests of the Council's foreign mission in India, the extensive home mission work carried on all over the country, and such doctrinal matters as may be referred to it by the Synods. While the chief interest will center about the mission work, much discussion will be provoked by the question as to whether, and under what circumstances, Lutheran elergymen may affiliate in the pulpit with brethren of other denominations. The opening of the convention will take place at 10:30 to-morrow with the full litur-gical service and the holy communion. Rev. Joseph A. Seiss, D. D., of the Church of the Holy Communion, Philadelphia, a well-known author and a man of remarkable eloquence, will preach the sermon. The business sessions will begin in the afternoon, and the evenings will be devoted to public exercises in the interests of mis-sions. The Sunday morning service will be made notable by the consecration of a re-production of Thorwaldsen's "Angel of Baptism" as a memorial to the late Rev. Dr. Charles P. Krauth, one of the most dis-tinguished leaders in the Lutheran Church.

It is the gift of a well-known citizen and is Another important religious event to-day is the Methodist Episcopal Conference, which convenes at Emory M. E. Church in the East End. Nearly 100 ministers had arrived in the city last night. Most of them were housed in the East End. Bishop Cyrus Foss was among them. He will preside at the deliberations of the body. Conference represents 40,000 people and con-gregations presided over by 175 pastors in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia. It will open at 9 A. M. to-day with sacra-ment. Committees will meet in the afternoon. In the evening will be celebrated the anniversary of the Conference Historical Society. Rev. William Lynch will deliver the address.

A CLEVER JOB DONE WITHOUT DELAY

The last car for East Liberty had rattled away from Oakland at 33 minutes past mid-night yesterday morning. The big engine that operates the cable running from Oakland power house to the Washington street power house slowed down gradually and finally ceased its mighty pulsations. But J. W. WALLACE, 6121 Penn avenue. Superintendent Davis did not allow the engineer and firemen to leave their posts of MCALLISTER & SHEIBLER, 6th av. & Atwood st the cable endless, and attached to the wheel could be seen the weight of many tons, which allows the cable an elastic play and yet keeps it so steadily under control as to prevent undue looseness of motion. A huge spool, ten feet through, wound with many thicknesses of new cable, was poised upon a spindle awaiting the commencement of the night's work. At last Superintendent Davis said "Cut it, boys," and two brawny men, armed with a tremendous pair of shears, commenced cutting the cable at a place between where two sets of vises clamped the cable to prevent the weight from running away. THE CABLES UNITED.

The strands of wire finally parted, and an expert splicer defly united one end of the old cable with the end projecting from the spool containing the new cable. Then a lever was arranged upon the spindle of the The cable being played out too speedily. A gang of workmen passed the other severed end of the old cable around a windlass. All was ready, and the word was given by WANTED-IMMEDIATELY-1 GOOD TOBY KLOUSE. oct-24 All was ready, and the word was given to start the engine. It commenced to revolve very slowly; the spool also moved, and the spliced joint of the old and the new cable glided out into the darkness on its journey of 20,000 feet before it would reappear in the power house. The usual journey of the cable is performed in 11 minutes, but there was plenty of time, and if was deemed best to move with deliberation on account of the innumerable curves between Oakland and Washington street, as well as the extra-ordinary gradient of the Fifth svenue hill

ABOUND IN 48 MINUTES.

Meanwhile a man was watching closely Meanwhile a man was watching closely the cable that came in from the street. In 48 minutes from the time the joint left the power-house the lookout should to the engineer that it had got around. The engine was stopped, and the long coils of old cable lying on the floor indicated that the old cable had been superseded. The new cable was laid. The ends were again put into claums and within two hours the put into clamps and within two hours the splice was so neatly made that even an expert would have been puzzled to tell where the joint had been made. Then a huge pan of coal tar mixed with raw linseed oil was placed near the grip vault, and several journeys were performed by the cable in order to allow of a thorough bath in the murky liquid. At each round trip the speed was increased, thus giving the cable a thorough test. By this time it was about time to start road company. I think that a communica-tion from him would have effect, because the railroad people have many reasons for cultivating the good will of the War De-partment. The work abart to be done on the beiden

'The work about to be done on the bridge of the Wheeling and Lake Eric Railroad at Wheeling will If the intentions of the contractors are carried out, be a serious obstruction to navigation. They are preparing to close the right hand span channel, which is the channel used by boats and tows. They will leave the central span open, but just below that there is an island, so close to the bridge, that vessels with tows have not room to make around to the right of the island.' The river men are determined to file pro-test upon protest with the War Department giving our club members a magnificent upuntil some relief is secured.

The Wonder at the Exposition

There is nothing remarkable to see a pyramid of bottles piled on high, nor in-deed anything wonderful to know that they contain Klein's "Silver Age" Rye. Yet, withal, come when you will, you can see crowds of onlookers standing in front of his display wondering why such respectable and well-known physicians and superintendants of hospitals recommend so highly this particular brand of rye whisky. To these we would say: Ask those who have used it. Get the truth from those who have been benefited by it. Do not mind petty sayings of would-be competitors. You will not find many of them who will speak well of an article that leads them all. It is use-less to attempt to humbug the public. Merit is the only thing that will bring suc-cess. Physicians and others indorse it because they know its worth. Ask your druggist for it. It is pure; it is old; it is reliable it is pulatable; it is cheap, only $1 50 per ful standard quart. Our wines, and other well known brands of rye whiskies, we will sell cheap as the cheapest, and will send them neatly packed to anywhere in the country. for complete catalogue and price list, and be assured of fair and honest dealing.
