

LADIES' HANDS Stretched From the Spirit Land to Guide a Life. A MAN'S TOES SUSPECTED. Dr. Slade Holds a Successful and Interesting Seance.

CURIOSITY EXHIBITION OF POWER If there is anything more commendable than another, whether in spirit or mortal, it is punctuality, and the spirits were on time yesterday in their appointment with THE DISPATCH reporter and Dr. Slade, in fact all had a celestial time. Notwithstanding the fact that the table was not set until the operation of the Brooks law against the traffic in spirits on Sunday, the reporter again took his 82 bill in hand, with a good stout string attached, and called on Dr. Slade at No. 4 John street, where he is stopping with J. H. Lohmeyer, Secretary of the Spiritualists Society of Allegheny county.

THE DOCTOR IS CLEVER. The suggestion that the doctor is quadrupling through his hands in handling things with his eyes flashed upon the reporter's mind, but if he is so, and manages the experiments by that means, he is certainly phenomenal, for at no time was he caught either with his eyes shut, or with his hands away from the toes, or in the act of performing any of the tricks.

THE SPIRIT OF DR. DAVIS. After the painting red process had been completed, Dr. Slade called upon his familiar spirit, whom he called Dr. Davis, and in a manner prescribed by the average ritual for seating the brethren—with three raps. He was asked whether he thought Dr. Slade a drunkard or not, and he replied that he was written between two slates held close to face, with a somewhat lofty contempt for both grammar and punctuation.

THE SPIRITUAL ANSWERS. All three messages are apparently in different handwriting, and as the reporter's wife did not read either Spanish or French, she was given both, although she is not given, all spirit communications being alike in being charmingly indefinite, it is impossible to say whether the lady correspondents are slow or aloof, to put it in another language. The Senators gracefully remark: "Yo soy de todo corazon, yo hay nada que yo no des por el."

THE REPORTER'S QUESTION. The mystery was certainly deep. Dr. Slade then gave permission to the reporter to ask a question of some dead person, and he wrote a question to a dead child, asking if it remembered a certain incident in its life. The slate was placed beneath the table, the doctor said it must be some spirit that had not been called before, as it found difficulty in answering, but when the reply came it read:

A PARK AMONG PARKS Is What Mrs. Schenley's Generous Donation Should Result In. NATURE HAS BEEN BOUNTIFUL, AND THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS CAN SUPPLY THE DOLLARS AND THE ART.

PLEASANT WEATHER AREA. Some of the Abandoned River Signal Stations to be Restored. The cheerful information that the beautiful weather of yesterday is to continue for several days was given out at the Signal Service Bureau last night. The temperature was 46 at 8 o'clock in the morning, but it rained somewhat later in the day. The rainfall of the night before was fifty-three hundredths of an inch, and at 3 o'clock there was a change of feet in the rivers. The indications are that there will be a scant rainfall tomorrow, probably 7 or 8 feet.

DEAD BEFORE THE STOVE. Mrs. O'Rourke, Living in the West End, Found in Her Kitchen. Mrs. Ann O'Rourke, a woman about 60 years old, was found dead in her kitchen, before the stove, at noon yesterday. She lived in a two-story frame house on Wabash avenue, near Independence street, West End. The police, who were called by the woman's death notified Dr. T. M. Bynal, who examined the body. The woman had been dead a very short time. The doctor thought the cause of death was neuralgia.

A SEEMON TO MECHANICS. Rev. R. F. Farrar Preaches to the Southside Presbyterian Church. Rev. R. F. Farrar, of the Southside Presbyterian Church, preached to the Southside Council of the American Mechanics at his church yesterday morning, taking for his text: "They that sow in tears, shall reap in joy." Mr. Farrar referred to the breaking of the chains of Babylonian captivity, and said it was the outcome of a sowing in tears. He exhorted the mechanics to sowing in tears, and to sowing in joy.

HEBREW HISTORY. Mr. Scheinman Delivers an Interesting Lecture on the Subject. The first of a series of lectures was given yesterday afternoon before the Young Men's Hebrew Debating Society at their rooms, 348 Fifth street, by Mr. J. G. Scheinman. The subject was, "A Glance at Hebrew History Since the Dispersion." Mr. Scheinman took up his subject, beginning with the 7th of the present era, and referred to the revolt against the Romans under the leadership of Barcochba, who proclaimed himself the messiah of the prophets. He then referred to the establishment of the celebrated school of Rishonim and Babylonians from whence sprang the stupendous mass of literature known as the Talmud. The acquisition of wealth and influence by the Hebrews for several centuries previous to the development of Christianity; the cause of the intellectual and physical isolation of the nation for centuries following; their subsequent suffering and persecutions under the Roman Empire, and their expulsion from England, France and Spain were touched upon.
