

RELYING ON MAGEE,

Adjutant General Hastings Bids Defiance to Quay and Cameron.

BOTH SENATORS FOR DELAMATER

And are Now Meeting With Annoying and Unexpected Complications

IN CARRYING OUT THEIR PLANS.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. HARRISBURG, December 11.—Strategic movements preliminary to the coming battle for the Governorship are lively and significant just now, and will probably soon result, either in a practical surrender of the field to Delamater, or a factional fight, the result of which cannot be foreseen.

THE SENATORS FOR DELAMATER. The correspondent of THE DISPATCH has positive information that upon the occasion of the visit of Senator Delamater and Chairman Andrews at Washington a week or so ago, the Senator had the final assurance of Senators Quay and Cameron that he would receive their support, and that at the proper time, their preference would be plainly made known.

THE DISPATCH'S informant asserts that Delamater and Andrews were able to show that the former was far in advance of all competitors in popularity and numerical strength of delegates elected and to be elected, and that the full, free and formal endorsement of the candidacy of the statesman from Crawford county was given previous to the final separation.

IN spite of the knowledge of this fact the Adjutant General has declared himself a candidate, and the fight therefore became merry. Hastings has great confidence in his own popularity, and believes that he is able to win, with or without the support of Senator Quay and Cameron.

THE DELAMATER FRIENDS. In the light of the knowledge of this fact the Adjutant General has declared himself a candidate, and the fight therefore became merry. Hastings has great confidence in his own popularity, and believes that he is able to win, with or without the support of Senator Quay and Cameron.
