PHILADELPHIA-Flour dull and i yet reached, and hardly a fair gauge of the market, as the transaction involved some special features. The average quotation is from $22 50 to $23 50-the outside for January delivery, indicating a still higher range of values during the early months of next year. Manufactured iron is very firm at former quotations, but as it is cheaper in proportion than metal, an advance is looked for along in January. Steel rails hold all the ground they have gained during the season, and the demand for them is so great that the mills are behind in their orders at least three months. They are quoted at about $84 for heavy sections, with a hardening tendency. Every furnace and mill is full of business, and quick deliveries are next to impossible. The outlook for next year is good for the heaviest trade ever known in the country. The demand being for actual consumption, and no accumulation of stocks, there is no probability of overproduction for two or three years. Under present conditions, the subsidence of the remarkable activity in England and other PHILADELPHIA-Flour dull and in buyers' European countries, would have no immediate effect upon the American market except, perhaps, to check the upward movement in prices. There will be no cessation of activity until the demand is supplied, and as it is increasing and becoming more important every day, there is

NEW YORK, December 12 .- The dealings in the railroad list in the stock market to-day were smaller than for any full day for some time past, and the fluctuations were on the same limited scale, the apathy of the traders making a market which, without the co-opera-tion of the bears, would have been as devoid of feature as on any day in midsummer. Money ruled easy at from 436 per cent, but ontside of the few purchases by London there was no dis-position to buy, and the bears being still wary of selling the general list, again confined their operations to a few stocks which they found vulnerable. There was some buying of Western Union in the early portion of the day, which looked like covering of shorts, and on which the stock covering of shorts, and on which the stock moved up and reached fractionally better figures than on yesterday, but the demand was soon satisfied and the stock sank back into duliness and moved with the rest of the list. New England, Missouri Pacific and St. Paul were the only stocks of the regular list, other than Western Union, to show any animation, and the first named sagged off slowly through-out the day, but its extreme fluctuation was only 36 per cent.
