

POPULAR CONCERTS COULD BE HANDILY INSTAURATED.

Popular Concerts could be handily instaurated. The American Patriotic League was organized in New York. It is not by any means uncommon for religious services to be held in theaters, skating rinks, dance halls and saloons, but probably it was never before the case in Pittsburgh that such services were held in a political clubroom.

It is not by any means uncommon for religious services to be held in theaters, skating rinks, dance halls and saloons, but probably it was never before the case in Pittsburgh that such services were held in a political clubroom. People who have lately visited the clubroom of the County Democracy noticed a neat little parlor organ to the right of the President's seat, and wondered very much how it came to be there. Some thought it might be utilized to play the hymns on nights following the Democratic caucus, and others thought President Boyle might be glad to have the music of his life generally and quiet the Democratic tiger when he howled for prey.

Stephen Collins, Superintendent of Mills in this city, and State Vice-Councillor of the J. O. U. A. M. of Pennsylvania, returned yesterday from New York, where he had been attending a meeting of representatives of the various American societies and orders in the United States. The meeting was attended by some of the foremost men in the American movement, men who have given years of thought and work to the subject. Mr. Collins, when interviewed yesterday, said: "There are 41 different organizations in the United States at the present time, all organized for practically the same objects, though varying in many respects. The most important or prime object of all is the restriction of immigration. Some are further identified with the movement to protect and maintain the public school system and prevent any sectarian influence therewith. Some are aroused over the recent movement of foreign capitalists to control many of the leading industries of the country. English traders are purchasing the great flouring mills of Minnesota, the chief breweries of New York State, and the principal tin mines of the West. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. "Twenty-seven alien corporations and individuals own 20,234,000 acres of land—more than all of New England. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. Many of the so-called labor unions are entirely under the control of foreigners.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

FOR CITIZENS ONLY.

THE AMERICAN PATRIOTIC LEAGUE WAS ORGANIZED IN NEW YORK. It is not by any means uncommon for religious services to be held in theaters, skating rinks, dance halls and saloons, but probably it was never before the case in Pittsburgh that such services were held in a political clubroom. People who have lately visited the clubroom of the County Democracy noticed a neat little parlor organ to the right of the President's seat, and wondered very much how it came to be there. Some thought it might be utilized to play the hymns on nights following the Democratic caucus, and others thought President Boyle might be glad to have the music of his life generally and quiet the Democratic tiger when he howled for prey.

Stephen Collins, Superintendent of Mills in this city, and State Vice-Councillor of the J. O. U. A. M. of Pennsylvania, returned yesterday from New York, where he had been attending a meeting of representatives of the various American societies and orders in the United States. The meeting was attended by some of the foremost men in the American movement, men who have given years of thought and work to the subject. Mr. Collins, when interviewed yesterday, said: "There are 41 different organizations in the United States at the present time, all organized for practically the same objects, though varying in many respects. The most important or prime object of all is the restriction of immigration. Some are further identified with the movement to protect and maintain the public school system and prevent any sectarian influence therewith. Some are aroused over the recent movement of foreign capitalists to control many of the leading industries of the country. English traders are purchasing the great flouring mills of Minnesota, the chief breweries of New York State, and the principal tin mines of the West. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. "Twenty-seven alien corporations and individuals own 20,234,000 acres of land—more than all of New England. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. Many of the so-called labor unions are entirely under the control of foreigners.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

IN QUEER PROXIMITY.

Religious Services Held in the Club Room of the County Democracy—No Sunday Speeches. It is not by any means uncommon for religious services to be held in theaters, skating rinks, dance halls and saloons, but probably it was never before the case in Pittsburgh that such services were held in a political clubroom. People who have lately visited the clubroom of the County Democracy noticed a neat little parlor organ to the right of the President's seat, and wondered very much how it came to be there. Some thought it might be utilized to play the hymns on nights following the Democratic caucus, and others thought President Boyle might be glad to have the music of his life generally and quiet the Democratic tiger when he howled for prey.

Stephen Collins, Superintendent of Mills in this city, and State Vice-Councillor of the J. O. U. A. M. of Pennsylvania, returned yesterday from New York, where he had been attending a meeting of representatives of the various American societies and orders in the United States. The meeting was attended by some of the foremost men in the American movement, men who have given years of thought and work to the subject. Mr. Collins, when interviewed yesterday, said: "There are 41 different organizations in the United States at the present time, all organized for practically the same objects, though varying in many respects. The most important or prime object of all is the restriction of immigration. Some are further identified with the movement to protect and maintain the public school system and prevent any sectarian influence therewith. Some are aroused over the recent movement of foreign capitalists to control many of the leading industries of the country. English traders are purchasing the great flouring mills of Minnesota, the chief breweries of New York State, and the principal tin mines of the West. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. "Twenty-seven alien corporations and individuals own 20,234,000 acres of land—more than all of New England. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. Many of the so-called labor unions are entirely under the control of foreigners.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

THAT POST-PRANDIAL.

Remark Made by Andrew Carnegie Booming Grover. Many Local Comments Passed. Set Down as a Compliment Flavored With Scotch Humor. BE THOUGHT LOYAL TO PROTECTION. It is thought that a good, strong bank, governed by correct financial principles, would soon be able to assume a form. The building of the Lawrence Bank in Lawrenceville, Tenn., is a case in point. The building of the Lawrence Bank in Lawrenceville, Tenn., is a case in point. The building of the Lawrence Bank in Lawrenceville, Tenn., is a case in point.

Stephen Collins, Superintendent of Mills in this city, and State Vice-Councillor of the J. O. U. A. M. of Pennsylvania, returned yesterday from New York, where he had been attending a meeting of representatives of the various American societies and orders in the United States. The meeting was attended by some of the foremost men in the American movement, men who have given years of thought and work to the subject. Mr. Collins, when interviewed yesterday, said: "There are 41 different organizations in the United States at the present time, all organized for practically the same objects, though varying in many respects. The most important or prime object of all is the restriction of immigration. Some are further identified with the movement to protect and maintain the public school system and prevent any sectarian influence therewith. Some are aroused over the recent movement of foreign capitalists to control many of the leading industries of the country. English traders are purchasing the great flouring mills of Minnesota, the chief breweries of New York State, and the principal tin mines of the West. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. "Twenty-seven alien corporations and individuals own 20,234,000 acres of land—more than all of New England. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. Many of the so-called labor unions are entirely under the control of foreigners.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

TO SUPPLANT THE BANK.

Against Parochial Schools. Two Meetings to be Held Thursday in Old City Hall. The public and parochial school trouble is about to break out afresh. A public meeting has been called by the National Reform Association, through its President, the Hon. F. B. Brunot, and the Special Secretary, in the fact it is stated that the object of the meeting is for the "defense of the common schools." It will be held in Old City Hall, Thursday, December 19, afternoon and evening.

Stephen Collins, Superintendent of Mills in this city, and State Vice-Councillor of the J. O. U. A. M. of Pennsylvania, returned yesterday from New York, where he had been attending a meeting of representatives of the various American societies and orders in the United States. The meeting was attended by some of the foremost men in the American movement, men who have given years of thought and work to the subject. Mr. Collins, when interviewed yesterday, said: "There are 41 different organizations in the United States at the present time, all organized for practically the same objects, though varying in many respects. The most important or prime object of all is the restriction of immigration. Some are further identified with the movement to protect and maintain the public school system and prevent any sectarian influence therewith. Some are aroused over the recent movement of foreign capitalists to control many of the leading industries of the country. English traders are purchasing the great flouring mills of Minnesota, the chief breweries of New York State, and the principal tin mines of the West. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. "Twenty-seven alien corporations and individuals own 20,234,000 acres of land—more than all of New England. The English are also purchasing many of the large concerns in this country. Many of the so-called labor unions are entirely under the control of foreigners.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

What Pittsburgh's brass musicians can do when harmoniously brought together has been shown at the recent music festival. The possibilities of a successful combination of the local singers were vividly shown at the recent music festival, at which a magnificent chorus handled with consummate ease such powerful and intricate compositions as "Ninth Symphony" excerpts from Wagner's best works; all with marked success. In fact, the Pittsburgh singers scored a great point in succeeding with the "Ninth Symphony" after four months' practice, where the singers of Cincinnati went to pieces after a year's study.

POPULAR PRICES ADVOCATED. "What should be the price of admission to the exhibition building? It should not be more than 25 cents. This would give everybody a chance to hear the music. I would run the concert one week with vocal music, and the next with instrumental music, or perhaps combined occasionally. We would have a season of good local talent and then give a first-class festival.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING. Some Who Travel, Some Who Do Not, and Others Who Talk. Chief J. O. Brown, of the Department of Public Safety, returned yesterday morning from his tour of Washington. He is a regular concert-goer, and he is a regular concert-goer, and he is a regular concert-goer.

EVERY INCH A MAN. Rev. C. E. Locke Delivers Some of the Regales Pertaining to Manhood. Rev. Charles Edward Locke delivered a lecture last evening in the Smithfield Street Church before a large audience, his subject being "Every Inch a Man." He described the qualities required to form the ideal man who should be able to meet the issues of the next 30 years.

THEY ARE BOTH IN JAIL. Result of Cross Suits Brought by Residents of Four-Mile Run. Martin Loftus was committed to jail by Alderman Jones last night, in default of $500 bail, on a charge of committing an assault on Mrs. John Clark.

THE CHINA STORE. CHRISTMAS GIFTS. FRENCH, KENDRICK & CO. 636 SMITHFIELD ST. 667-728