

FACTORY SUPERVISION LAW GROWS VERY SEARCHING. IT HAS SOME GOOD POINTS.

Some, However, Will Likely be Considered Inquisitorial.

INSPECTOR MARTIN READY TO ACT

On the 30th of last May Governor Beaver put his signature to an act that is liable to be reviewed in two ways. Those who believe that a nation's moral gauge is shown in the condition of its highways and in the safeguards it throws around human, not to mention brute, life and comfort, will lean toward praise of the act, while those who believe people should generally be allowed to regulate their own affairs, and who hold that the best government is the least, can scarce be expected to assent to the full scope of the enactment.

The act is one to regulate the employment and provide for the safety of women and children in mercantile industries and manufacturing establishments, provides for the appointment of inspectors to enforce, etc. It provides that no minor shall be employed at labor in any of the industries named for more than 60 hours a week, unless for the purpose of making necessary repairs.

Section 10 prohibits the employment of any child under 12 years in factories, manufacturing or mercantile establishments, and persons employing children must keep a registry of name, birthplace, age and residence of all employees under the age of 16 years, and affidavits made by parent, guardian or other person in charge of the child, if there be no parent or guardian, stating age, date and place of birth, and affidavit to be kept on file by the employer and on tap for inspection when demanded by the inspector or any of his deputies.

Firms employing women or children in the industries named must keep posted in a conspicuous place in every room a printed notice stating hours per day each day of the week required of such persons and where children under 16 years of age are employed, a list of names with their ages and persons employing less than ten of either women or children do not come under the act.

The Factory Inspector's office in Allegheny is three years as a salary of $1,500, with $2,000 for necessary expenses and the power to appoint six deputies, on salaries of $1,000 each, with necessary expenses, and to employ three female, to be known as Deputy Factory Inspectors, their powers of inspection and correction being the same as those of the inspector, though they are subject to his supervision and direction.

WILL SUIT INSURANCE COMPANIES. Section 7 makes it the duty of owner, agent or lessee of any elevator shaft or hoist to cause them to be made secure, to the satisfaction of the inspector, by means of traps or automatic doors, as to close and form a substantial barrier, and to open and close by the action of the elevator either ascending or descending.

Section 8 provides that in cases where dangerous machinery is in use automatic shifters or other mechanical contrivances shall be provided to prevent the starting of pulleys, gearing and being to be provided with proper safeguards, and no minor under 16 years of age allowed to clean machinery while in motion, or to adjust or repair any part of the same.

Owners or superintendents are required to report to the Factory Inspector, in writing, all accidents or injuries which occur in the hours, stating as fully as possible the cause of injury.

In manufacturing establishments employees must be allowed 45 minutes for the noonday meal, but the Factory Inspector or any of his deputies have power in special cases to permit a shorter meal, if it is found that the establishment is in the main entrance of the establishment, and permit to be revivable at any time.

Section 12 provides that the heating, lighting, ventilation or sanitary arrangement of any shop or factory, is such as to be injurious to the health of employees, or means of egress in case of fire, or is otherwise unsafe, or in accordance with all requirements of law, or that belting, shafting, gears, pulleys, belts, cables and machinery are located so as to be dangerous to employees, or not sufficiently guarded, or that the premises are in such a state of disrepair as to be dangerous to employees, or that the premises are in such a state of disrepair as to be dangerous to employees, or that the premises are in such a state of disrepair as to be dangerous to employees.

Section 13 provides that the premises of any factory, workshop or mercantile establishment where persons are employed who are affected by its provisions.

Section 14 provides that the premises of any factory, workshop or mercantile establishment where persons are employed who are affected by its provisions.

Section 15 provides that the premises of any factory, workshop or mercantile establishment where persons are employed who are affected by its provisions.

ARSENAL PARK WON.

Success Attends the Visit of Chief Bigelow to Washington.

LAWRENCEVILLE PEOPLE HAPPY. Surveys and Plans to be Forwarded to the Secretary of War.

POSTMASTER PATRONS' PROJECT

Chief E. M. Bigelow, of the Department of Public Works, returned home from Washington at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. His return was as unexpected as his visit there was brief. He spent only Thursday in the capital. As already detailed in this column, Mr. Bigelow called upon Congressman Dalsell and asked his aid in securing from the Government a donation of a part of the arsenal grounds in Lawrenceville for park purposes.

Mr. Bigelow was evidently very much pleased with the result of his visit. He said that Mr. Dalsell had taken him to the office of the Secretary of War, and that he had been permitted to occupy about an hour of Mr. Proctor's time. The ground which Mr. Bigelow wants for park purposes is that part of the arsenal tract which lies south of Butler street, opposite the grounds occupied by the arsenal buildings. The tract is bounded by Butler, Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets and Penn avenue, and contains a little over 21 acres. Mr. Bigelow represented, and was supported by Mr. Dalsell, that the ground was not needed by the Government. All the property of the Government kept in the buildings on the southern tract can be easily accommodated in the large buildings on the north side of the street. The needs of a park in that section of the city were presented. The Secretary of War, after a careful hearing, said that he would be glad to give the project his approval, provided he could be satisfied that the grounds were not needed by the arsenal. A report from Major McKee on that subject will be awaited before the department will transfer the land.

Mr. Bigelow is confident that Major McKee's recommendation will favor transfer of the ground. The Secretary of War was doubtless influenced in his decision by the statement made to him by Mr. Bigelow. The project for the park which has been circulated and numerously signed in Lawrenceville. That petition has been forwarded to the Secretary of War. It is shown to Mr. Bigelow by his departure for Washington, and his signature to the report and something about his signature to the Secretary.

When the news of Secretary Proctor's action in the Arsenal Park scheme became known in Lawrenceville last night, it created quite a stir. Everybody who was approached in reference to the project of action in the matter spoke in the highest terms of praise about the success of the petitioners. Mr. Samuel Paterson, known to hundreds of people who had heard of Secretary Proctor's action in the matter, was interviewed by the reporter. He said that he was very much pleased with the result of the project.

HE IS IN SYMPATHY.
