The annual meeting of the American Tinned Plate Association will be held Tuesday, January 21, in the office of the organimation in the Lewis block. The business to be transacted will be the reading of reports showing the progress of the agitation for the establishment of a high tariff on tin plate and the election of officers for the ensuing year. A successor to John Jarrett, who was appointed Consul to Birmingham, England, last April, will be chosen. From the office of the association were sent out last night 2,000 circulars. Inclosed in the circulars was a sample of tinned plate made at the Exposition. Each sample was in the form of a sheet of common tin, 3½ by 514 inches. Four hundred and thirteen of them will be sent to the House of Representatives in Washington, and a sample laid on the desk of each Congressman in the House. Samples were also sent to Senators, manufacturers and every person interested in the pro-duction of the article. On each sheet is stamped "Sample of tin plate manufactured at the Pittsburg Exposition, 1889. The only obstacle in our waynow is the difference in the price of labor in this country and that of foreign countries. This difference in wages amounts to about $2.25 per hundred weight of plates. To overcome this difference we have asked Congress to levy a duty on imported tinned plates of $2\(\frac{1}{2}\) cents per pound, and if this is granted we feel sure that within a very short time the $50,000,000 worth of tinned plates, which this country now consumes, will be manufactured at home; and it is hardly necessary to describe to you at length what it means to add $30,000,000 worth of circulating money to our industries.

A DIFFERENCE IN WAGES.

Up to this time the difference in the wages between England and the United States has been pocketed by the foreign manufacturers, their agents and importers, and we feel certain that the price of tinned plates will not be ma-terially advanced over the present prices by terially advanced over the present prices by the additional duty. Tinned plates can be manufactured in this country at the present selling prices, but the fact that the tinned plate industry is not protected, gives the importers and foreign manufacturers the power and the ability to relinquish their profits for a short time and thereby annihilate any manufacturing concern that may attempt to produce tinned plates here; therefore, the additional duty asked for will take the very large profits of the middlemen and but them into the United States Treasury, at the same time protecting the home manufacturers, thus enabling them to build up the industry.

Samples of the lin assumined by averetts

Samples of the in examined by experts were found to be as good and better than any tin made in England. A large amount of the tin was sent to Fleming & Hamil-ton's to be "worked" into household articles. The foreman of the shop said the tin "worked up" better than any English tin he ever handled.

The National Iron Roofers' Association, whose headquarters are in Cincinnati, have also sent out circulars about the coming bill in Congress. They are addressed to the Honorable Senate and House of Representa-

Sheet from and sheet steel coated with the thinnest possible covering of tin or terme (part lead and part tin) will flood our markets and displace the domestic article. The census (1880) gives $505 as it a vargage of wages to each person. Edward Atkinson's theory on the same giving labor $5,600,000 as stated would employ about 11,000 persons. According to Mr. Atkinson's estimate from the raw materials in nature's best to the finished products aggregating $10,600,000 labor production, about 35,000 laborers would be employed.

To Advance Bottle Prices The Association of Flint Bottle Manufacturers met yesterday in the Hotel Anderson. It was stated that they would advance prices, but those present at the meeting said that nothing had been done in this direction yet. It was admitted that an advance would likely take place. Another meeting will be held to-day.

An Association Formed.

The meeting of ax manufacturers continued vesterday at the Hotel Anderson. An association was formed. The object is to consider matters pertaining to the trade from fime to time. Mr. Mann, of New York, Kept by all dealers. stated that they would not try to regulate questions of wages or prices.

It is reported that there is a movement on foot to have all the coal miners join the Federation of Labor. The matter, it is reported, will come up at the convention in Columbus on Tuesday. If it goes through it will put an end to half of the miners strikes in this section.

James Wightman Home.

James Wightman, the window glass manufacturer, arrived home yesterday from the meeting of the national association in Washington. The reports of the convention were published fully in THE DISPATCH. Nothing was done about prices.

John B. Rae, Master Workman of N. D. A. 135, Knights of Labor, was in the city yesterday on his way to the Columbus convention. Although he has an office in the Stevenson building, he has been so busy for the past few weeks that all of his time has been spent in the coke region arranging the trouble there on the new scale.

The Columbus convention will meet on Tuesday. Among the most important mat-ters to come before the miners will be the Tuesday. Among the most important matters to come before the miners will be the cash versus store order system of payments. In speaking of this matter, W. P. De-Armitt, President of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company, said:

"I believe every operator would be glad if the system of company stores was abolished, but one does not want to quit until all do, and I cannot blame them. I am in favor of a rate much to the advantage of the cash operator. Then I believe all would become so and the result would be an advance in the price of coal and in wages, and a healthy condition of affairs. This is what the coming convention should do, and, I trust, will. The miners admit what I have said to be true, and all would be willing to have company stores abolished. The operators are willing, if all do so, and this convention should settle the question.

At the mines where company stores are in existence about twice as many miners are employed as need be. The object of this is to compel about all the miners earned to be consumed by purchases from the company makes at least 20 per cent. Say the operators who have stores pay their men 60 cents per ton; one man can mine about three tons per day and his wages would be $1.95, one-half of which at least goes for purchases at 20 per cent profit. But they employ two men to do one man's work and the result is the miners get $6 cents per day, all of which goes to the miner, and he can, by going to stores where there is competition, save on his purchases.

GOMPERS AND EVANS COMING. They Will Arrive This Morning to Meet

Westinghouse Officials. Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation of Labor and Chris Evans, the Secretary, will arrive in the city via the Pennsylvania Railroad at 7 o'clock this morning. As stated in yesterday's DISPATCH they are coming to try and arrange a satisfactory settlement of the electrical strike. The officials of the Allegheny County Light Company had not heard anything from them yesterday, but said they would be pleased to meet them if they called and requested an interview. Whether there would be any change in the strike or not they could not

STILL DOING BUSINESS.

The Potters' Combination Has Not Gone Up the Spout. Daniel Taylor, general manager of the Chelsea Pottery Company at New Cumberland, W. Va., and an old Pittsburg boy, is in the city. He says the pottery combination has not "gone up the spout" as was reported in telegraphic dispatches from time to time. A meeting of the trust will be held next week, when the organization will be more solidified. Mr. Taylor says there is no trust among the potters, but there is a compact for the protection of the business.

The sheet mills will lose that much of their product from this source alone, and the wage earner $1,500,000 from the pig to the finished product of rooning and siding. A Narrow Escape. The homense volume of water thrown at the fire in the Boyle block, on Thursday night, came near destroying a large stock of fine Everett pianos, stored in the building by Alex Ross, the piano dealer at 137 Federal street. Fortunately the pianos were removed before the water reached them, and still live to adorn the parlor of manya home. It would have been a great misfortune to the lovers of music to have such treasures as the Everett pianos destroyed.

he is just now suffering with a very bad cold. He has had it for about 10 days. He says he does not know whether it is the grip or not, but it is something very mean. It was giving him considerable uncasiness yes-terday. He seared it would interfere with his talking last night, and during the day he sat in his room and devoured dozens of noffensive cough drops.

He did not leave his room except to est his meals, and he kept a good, warm fire burning. During the day he was visited by a great many Grand Army men of this city. The Corporal is a great favorite with the boys, and gave them all a cordial greeting It was the first chance they had secured to talk with him since he was crowded out of the Pension Bureau, and most of them wanted to tell him what they thought of the administration. During the afternoon City Treasurer Denniston and Pension Agent Barclay spent a pleasant hour with the ex-

Corporal Tanner did not care to talk to a reporter about his difficulty with Secretary Noble. He said: "I am not here to air my grievances. Life is too short and too busy. He spoke of his service in the Pension Bureau as "six months in purgatory," and appears to feel greatly relieved by his escape from the cares of office.

In answer to a request for his views in regard to pensions generally, he said: "I favor, first, a disability bill, that will pension a man on account of his disability. We must either do that, regardless of his A DISABILITY BILL. financial circumstances, or if you favor the dependent measure which President Harrison recommended in his message, and which, by the way was all he recommended, then you have the spectacle of forcing men to publish their pauperism to the world over their own affidavit. For myself, I prefer to run the risk of pensioning some men who do not need it rather than to force the great majority of those upon whom disability has come since the war to publish their poverty."

"No matter what my private belief may be I think that when this Government can pay out of its treasury a pension to every man who, years ago, looked toward Mexico and who afterward trod many a bloody field try-ing to disrupt the Union, the Government need not be too squeamish about pensioning the men who saved the Union."

"Do you expect much pension legislation during this session of Congress?"

morning, thinking he will suffer less chance of catching more cold during a day ride. THE CORPORAL'S LECTURE.

At the lecture in the evening Grand Army veterans did not turn out to hear Corporal Tanner in Old City Hall to any great extent. The audience was very small, but as enthusiastic as the number would permit. The President of the Bloomfield Library Association, Mr. Peter Zern, informed the audience that Major Montoeth would introduce the speaker of the evening. In a neat pointed little speech, Major Montooth eulogized Corporal Tanner and predicted a longer life for his name than would be the fate of the names of any of his detractors, and forthwith presented him to the audience.

The subject of the lecture was "The Sad and Grotesque of Army Life." The entire talk revolved upon one axis the debt of gratitude that the United States owes to the veterans who, by their bravery, rescued it in the hour of need. He spoke in glowing terms of the men who forsook everything, and rushed to the front ranks in battle, and eulogized in a far different style the invisible in war and the invincible in peace. He refuted the idea that army life was demoralizing to the virtues of the soldiers, and said he had seen as GRAND CHRISTIAN LIVES and as grand Christian deaths on the battlefield as he had ever seen under more refined environments. He said the nation owed the soldiers an undying, never ending debt of gratitude that could no more be paid than the son could pay his mother for his birth. He said there had never since Christ suf-fered and died on the Cross been such suffering as was enduged in the Rebellion. The American soldier fought for the whole nation, not for glory, for money or for anything selfish.

As to the soldier being paid for his services, he said he was paid at the rate of some ices, he said he was paid at the rate of some 43 cents a day, and put against that 43 cents the dangers and perils of one day in the battle and see how many men would not prefer to take the day off and lose the money. He does not believe it a wise policy for the young and rising generation of the present day in this land of prosperity and plenty to witness the suppliant position in which the old soldier is placed. He thinks it may prejudice them so that if ever their services should be needed in a like cause the enthushould be needed in a like cause the enthusiasm and patriotism will be lacking.

Since the Tuberculosus Congress decided that consumption is due to the presence of the tubercle bacilius the pneumatic cabinet treatment has become the recognized mode of treatment among all progressive and wideawake physicians. The success I have had with this method of treatment during the past three years is simply marvelous. There are scores of people walking the streets of Pittsburg to-day who owe their lives to it, and will cheerfully testify to the fact. Many of them never swallowed a mouthful of medicine during the whole course of treatment, which makes their recovery still more marvelous. By the cabinet treatment antiseptic or germ-destroying sprays are brought into direct contact with the iung tissue, cleansing and applying medicine immediately to the diseased parks. The treatments are not at all unpleasant or hurtful to the weakest patients, I often put my little daughter in the cabinet to strengthen and develop her lungs, as she has had pneumonia twice.

Dr. Sidney Fox, of Brooklyn, N.Y., in Galilard's Medical Monthly for June, 1888, says: "I am familiar with other modes of treatment, having been an interns of two of New York's large hospitals; have seen about all the medicines of the pharmacoposis that are used in lung troubles prescribed; and am also familiar with the injection of cavities with the injection of cavities with the tincture of lodine and other drugs, and in private practice with Borjean's apparatus, inhalers, the oxygen treatment and other methods; but I have discarded all and clung to the cabinet, regarding it as the only instrument ever devised that meets all the requirements for which it was intended."

Prof. J. T. Whittaker, of Cincinnati, says: "I regard it as of inestimable value, and would rather part with any instrument in my office than with my Pneumatic Cabinet."
