WOES OF A FAT MAN.

Sir Marcus Goodwillie, of the World's Museum, Vows Vengeance.

HIS VERSION OF THE LATE ROW.

Miss Zola Ayers, His Wife, Says That She Didn't Break the House Rules.

HOW THE UNPLEASANTNESS OCCURRED

It was Sabbath in the dime museum, and a holy calm pervaded the entire establishment, except the cage of monkeys, the quadrumana performing what Captain Wishart would call worldly employment and generally demeaning themselves in secular and boisterous manner. This was much to the regret of the estimable female with thin legs, who sat on a crossbar and mildly rebuked them for their antics. The wild and woolly Westerners had thrown off their sombreros and their spowls, and were studying a publication by Mr. Fox, possibly Fox's Book of Martyrs. The little demon whose habitat is a glass cylinder of water and dances up and down in obedience to an electric current, lay at the bottom of the jar exhausted, and looking as if he had been painting things red or Saturday.

But the sentiments of the day found little echo in the capacious bossom of J. Hanson Craig, the champion iat man, who had the honor of knighthood conferred upon him under the title of Sir Marcus Goodwillie, by Mr. Kohl, of Kohl & Middleton, Chicago. Mr. Kohl assumed the authority of conferring knighthood on account of his descent from "Old King Cole, the Merry Old Soul," so famed in song. The story of the trouble in the World's Museum on Friday night has been told already in THE DISPATCH, but not the in-dividual wrongs of the good old Sir Knight of Falstaffian proportions, who claims that bis wife has been insulted by the manager's statement that he did not know whether they were married or not, and accusing her of talking to the patrons of the museum in violation of the rules.

A PLEASING WOMAN.

Mrs. M. J. F. Craig known on the stage as Miss Zola Ayers, is well formed and tall, and a pleasing conversationalist, which may possibly account for her objection to be stricted in that art. She indignantly repudiates any attempt at mashing or flirtaon, the exercise of her powers of charming outside of the domestic circle being restricted to her snakes.

Her version of the affair is that she is a Daughter of Rebecca, ber husband being a ast Grand of the I. O. O. F., and a Mr. Carroll, of the West End, seeing her badge, made a fraternal motion of recognition to which she responded. She says she had ardly time to say a few words when a copy of the rules of the house was thrust under er view by the manager, and, being nearsighted, she could not see what they were, d was ordered down from her platform as already reported. She can see no reason in equity or law why the traternal links so fanitiar to all could not be fashioned of makes as of sausages, and proposed to assert her rights and dispense sisterly greetings even as Rebecca of old dispensed refreshment from the well. Manager H. M. Scott stated his objections to his exhibits catching the grip in this or any other manner, and insists upon no conversation being held with the patrons by the freaks, except of the briefest possible character, and those on information only. He does not secede one inch from his posi-tion, and claims that, while the wife broke the rules, the husband broke his contract in leaving the hall before the performance

HE IS GOING TO LAW.

The 907 pounds of avoirdupois, as per advertisements, with the handle to his name, is determined that he shall test in the taw courts both the financial offers made him by the museum treas rer and the style of etiquette peculiar to maseum circles. He will have not only his numerous pounds of flesh, but also the monetary consideration therefor, and says he will fight it out on that line if it takes all summer. He gives as his reason for leaving the hall that he felt a nervous fit coming on, to which he is subject, from having rushes of blood to the head, and was a raid he might create a stampede if he remained, and so left to obtain medical treatment. He also claims that when he went to collect his salary for being the heaviest man on earth, he was affered $110.85, instead of $140, and not only had the former sum a string to it, but a club back of it, which he claims only the inter-vention of the giant of the combination prevented coming in contact with his head, which already decorated with a piece of sil-ver, a sort of family plate, as it were, from collision with a set of brass knuckles. Preferring not to take salary with club sauce. e gentleman who sustained the heavy part in the tracedy withdrew, and is now breathng Blackstone and vengeance.

PRESENT REVELATION.

Elder Devere Muintains That God Has Not Censed to Spenk to Men. The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was addressed vesterday forenoon, in their hall at No. 81 Fourth avenue, by Elder L. R. Devore. There was an attendance of about 50 persons. The elder spoke upon "Continued Revelation," defending the doctrine of the Church that God reveals Himself to men in this day as He did in former ages. He insisted that God was unchangeable, and that men need revelation now. He took up various texts which Christians quote in support of their theory that revelation ended with St. John and he endeavored to show that the texts did not warrant the conclusion. He then referred to other texts to support his position:

the twenty-ninth chapter of Isaiah; Ezekiel xxxvii. 15-28; Revelation xiv. 6 and 7. He said that the Scriptures abound with proof that God would speak to men in "the latter days," which, he held, are now at hand. The latter kingdom, he said, would be similar to the earlier, with apostles and prophets. This was in defense of the prophecies of Joseph Smith.

"The result of the present reorganization," said the elder, "will be the gathering of the saints back to Jerusalem. That gathering is going on at the present time. Jerusalem will be rebuilt in glory, never to be destroyed. It will be the seat of an independent kingdom. Christ will be more arrived. pendent kingdom. Christ will come again in person, and reign on the earth a thousand years. Then will take place the resurrection of the righteous, but the wicked will not live until the thousand years be ended."

FATHER SHEEDY'S SCHOOL

It Will be Formally Opened February 12-

Governor Beaver, Revs. McCrory and McAllister and Others to be Invited-A Souvenir Giving a History of the Church. Rev. Father Sheedy, pastor of St. Mary of Mercy Church, has changed the date of the opening of his parochial school to February 12. It was intended several weeks ago to have the event celebrated on Washington's Birthday-the 22d. On account of that day falling on Saturday, and also because the American Mechanics will have a demonstration on that day, it was thought best to make the change. A well-known layman who will take part in the demonstration remarked yesterday that the two shows could not be held on the same day, and for that reason Father Sheedy changed the date. The building will be finished sooner than the pastor expected. As was stated in THE DISPATCH several weeks age Bishop Phelan will conduct the ceremony. Within a few days Father Sheedy will send out invitations to all the prominent city officials to take part in the opening. An invitation will also be sent to Governor Beaver, and he will be asked to be on hand and make an address. It is stated that invitations will also be sent to Revs. McCrorv and McAllister and Messrs. Baldwin, Hanna and others | gabela river has other sources of pollution. who opposed Father Sheedy in the First ward school matter. A number of the prominent officers of the Jr. O. U. A. M. will

The opening ceremonies will last several days. The affair will be something more than an ordinary school opening on account of the structure being the finest parochial building in the State. The building is on Penn avenue between Second and Third streets. It is three stories high, built of pressed brick with rough stone trimmings. The present Catholic school population of the ward is about 250 and the new building will accommodate over 300 children. On the first floor are three large school rooms with wrap closets, etc. A large library which will be open during the evening, will also be located on the first floor. Father Sheedy purchased nearly the entire stock of a bookstore which was being sold out, to rooms are well ventilated and supplied with light. The floors are hard wood, and the ceilings of of The Dispatch upon the water question handsomely painted corrugated iron. Each room and all the hallways have combination gas fixtures. Electricity will be used for artificial light, but in case of accident the gas can also be used. On the second floor are three more large school rooms furnished the same as below. On the third is a hall which will seat over 600 people. It is 110 feet long by 30 feet wide, and the same as below. On the third is it would find ample proof by sampling some of the water supplied to the Twenty-sixth, Twenty-fourth, Thirty-first, Thirtyacoustic properties are so perfect that a whisper can almost be heard at the other On the top of the building, on the Penn avenue side, will be a handsome gothic cross. Heavy plate glass windows, do-nated by A. F. Kim, will be put in the vestibule doors. In the cellar is the steam-heating apparatus to heat the building, closets, etc. A bowling alley for the boys will also be put in, and as soon as the build-ward to put in their time in the evenings. The chairs, etc., will be of the very best Father Sheedy is now at work on a souvenir to be given away at the opening. It will contain a history of the parish church and school, and everything pertaining to the rules and regulations of the church. It will also contain a list of the names of the contributors to the fund for the erection of the church Father Sheedy says: "Within the present limits of the parish was offered to Almighty God the first Christian act of worship held in Western Pennsylvania. A Catholic chapel existed at Forr Duquesne during the period of the French occupation from 1754 to 1758. The holy sacrifice of the mass was regularly celebrated and the sacraments administered by the resident chaplain to the French forces and their Indian allies, for the French forces and their Indian allies, for the most part Catholic, during these years.

With the fall of the fort in 1758, the chapel disappeared for a time. However, during the years that elapsed between the French evacuation and the erection of the first Catholic church in Pittsburg, services were held in the parish by missionaries on their way to and from the West. When St. Paul's Cathedral was built the parish boundaries embraced the present congregation of St. Mary of Mercy. Not until November 20, 1868, was the congregation formally organized.

About the middle of that year the lease to a piece of property on First street with the chapel was "Our Lady of Consolation." In the following year an addition was put to the building and the reconstructed chapal was dedicated April 11, 1859. A resident pastor was appointed in the same year. In May, 1879, the Ames Methodist Episcopal Church corner Third avenue and Ferry street was purchased. It was reconstructed and dedicated September 24, 1876.

Was recombed was established in 1868. The rooms on the second story of the old chapel on First street were utilized for school purposes. At first lay teachers were employed, but after a few years, the Sisters of Mercy took charge. About a year ago it was found that the old building was unsafe and a change had to be made. The property upon which the new school stands was purchased in January, 1889, at a cost of $9,000. In July the work on the new building was commenced. The building cost about $15,000 to complete it.

Run Schindery? SOUTHSIDE PEOPLE WANT TO KNOW

A very brilliant scum reflecting the prismatic hues of the rainbow, and an alluvial deposit, one-eighth of an inch in depth, was the product of a quart of Monongahela river water drawn upon Friday at 11 P. M. and inspected on Saturday at 8 A. M. This gave an indication of what the water is, and yet the citizens complain that Councils do not move in the matter. A Southside medical man said vesterday:

"Certainly that schindery should be taken away, the cases of symotic diseases on Beck's Run and close by showing its disease-breeding tendency; but the Monon-Any river with a natural course of water is supposed to purify itself in 21 miles. The ongahela river is slack watered up to Brownsville, and no claritying current can be brought into requisition. There are also some 65,000 inhabitants from the influent pipe to McKeesport, only 16 miles away, whose vaults drain into a slack-watered river, and the teapots, coffee pots and soup pots of the Southside residents.

OTHER THINGS TO BLAME. "Of course the schindery may be regarded as a sort of finishing touch, putting perhaps the scums upon the water or the disease germs in suspension, but a case of typhoid or scarlet fever at Braddock, Homestead, Duquesne or McKeesport is just as likely to be repeated at Mount Washington as it would be at Mills' station." a bookstore which was being sold out, to furnish books for the library. All the ward, who has done all he could to get a ceilings of of THE DISPATCH upon the water question was right, and a meeting of the committee would take place before another week would roll by. He said he saw the necessity of action in the matter every day when he turned a tap to draw water for his store or house use, and that any person who doubted second, or in fact to any of the Southside wards. It was possible that the committee on a subject which affects over 75,000 people, who are driven to wells sunk in made ground, which, loose as it is, allowed all kinds of matter to percolate through it, or to take the sewage from Beck's Run, Homestead, Braddock, Port Perry, Duquesne and McKeesport, with other places between them which contribute their mite to the Monongahela Company's effort to spread disease.
