Samuel Andrews, Samuel D. Warmcastle and George Letsche were, on motion of William Flinn made permanent secretaries. C. L. Magee then offered a resolu-tion to the effect that a committee of five be appointed to confer with a similar committee from each of the other conventions, Controller and Treasurer to prepare resolutions, and that all resolu-tions be referred to that committee without iebate. The resolution was adopted and the mmittee was appointed, C. L. Magee, G. P. Letsche, A. C. Robertson and William Flinn being named by the Chairman. They retired to meet with the other committees from the different conventions. Major A. M. Brown, from the Twentieth ward, then made a very stirring address, in which he reviewed the history of the Re-publican party, incidentally glancing at the four years interregnum in which the tariff reform heresy was brought to the front, and advanced the cause of the workingman's tomes and cities backward. This was their only reform, and that reform relegated the party favoring it into "innocuous desue-

He is an intelligent citizen, sound to the core, and has never faltered in his work for the Republican party. By his life as we know it, and his fitness as we also know it, there is none dare say he is not entitled to it without challenge. The orphan boy, strong and hearty, the youth, honest and steadfast, and the man, true and loyal, that is worthy of this nomina-tion is Henry 1. Gourley." The City Hall seldom re-echoed more hearty applause than that which greeted the presentation of Henry I. Gourley's name. The cheers chased each other out into the reception room, up through the hole cut in the ceiling for the passage of the big bell to its position, and resounding through the tower, announced to the Pittsbarg public that a Mayor had been nominated and indorsed as a winner.

The nomination was seconded by Conneil, man R. B. Carnahan in an address which exhaustivel; reviewed the duties and privileges of the office of Mayor, showing how much above the former position of a police magistrate it now stands. The honors and dignities could sit upon no man more gracefully than Henry I. Gourley, the gentleman whose nomination Mr. Carnahan seconded.

Chairman Lambie then announced that Henry I. Gourley was the Republican nominee for Mayor of Pittsburg by a unanimous vote of the city's representatives in convention assembled. This was received with tumultuous applause, and Messrs. Matthews, Warmcastle and Brown were app committee to acquaint Mr. Gourley with the fact of his nomination. Upon the return of the committee with the candidate a most enthusiastic reception was accorded him, three cheers and a tiger being one of the minor features of the proceedings.

and Major Denniston responded in the most touching manner on being introduced to the committee. He said he was glad that he had been successful in making the unpleasant task of paying taxes as easy as possible, as was shown by his repeated renomination. The cost now to collect the three millions of Pittsburg's taxes is but $1,600 more than it was 15 years ago. More room, however, he said, would be required for the office, and he proposed to recommend that more room be allowed for the convenience of tax payers. He concluded by thanking them again for the honor done him and the confidence reposed in him and said he proposed to do ali in his power to merit the coufidence in the future, as had been his endeavor in the past. The Major and his delegates then ad-

Western Avenue People Object to an Electric Railway Line. MEETING CALLED FOR A PROTEST.

Stockholders in the Company Divided as obstructions in the way, Mr. Nimick could to Motive Power. not give them the privilege to cross his

INTERESTED MEN ASK FOR A MEARING

The people living along the line of the proposed Pittsburg, Allegheny and Man chester Railway are very much opposed to the construction of an electric line on Western avenue.

An informal meeting of a number of interested citizens was held on Monday evening at the residence of Mr. Samuel Wertheimer, and a general meeting to take place in the Fifth ward schoolhouse is on the card for this evening. Mr. Herbert Du Puy states that the principal reason for the proposed remonstrance s the very general uneasiness that is felt regarding the electric system as at present aanipulated. People along the line object to the posts and wires, not only on account of their unsightly appearance, but because of the danger that is liable to be lurking in them, not only to themselves, but to members of their families, particularly to children, who may accidentally touch electrically-charged posts or broken wires. The company claims that, as they will only use 400 volts, there will be no danger. "As men and animals have been killed instantly," he says, "by currents of half that power, their statement is not regarded as being absolutely correct.

THE FINAL FIGHT.

"At the meeting to-night it is proposed to show, by a public expression, the opinion of the citizens in general on the subject. If the majority favor electricity, that will be the last of the matter. If they are opposed to it, we will fight the matter for all it is worth. We will send a remonstrance to Councils. If they do not give it the consideration we think it is entitled to, we will carry the matter to court. Attorneys have already been consulted, and they as-sure us that we can readily stay the company's proceeding, if for no other reason than the damage the erection of ugly posts will cause to property." Several other gentlemen, who are prominently identified with the movement, among them Messrs. William Pickersgill, Phillip Reymer, George A. Kelly and others, were spoken to in reference to the matter. In each case they coincided with Mr. DuPuy's opinion, with the exception of Mr. Kelly, who is not opposed to the electric motor but prefers a cable line until a more perfec system is discovered in the manipulation of the other power. A LITTLE TOO HASTY.

On the other hand, some of the stockholders of the company state that the citizens are making considerable fuss over a matter which has not as yet been decided upon, as the electric idea is meeting with considerable opposition among the share-holders themselves. This objection is headed by Messrs. Joshua Rhodes and George B. Hill, two of the largest stock-holders. The first named makes a statement that he favors a cable line, having decided opposition to electricity as a motor in its present shape, and will oppose it whenever brought forward at a meeting of motive could not cause the wounds found upon him. The matter will be investigated the company, which has not been done as yet. He suggests that it would be as well yet. He suggests that it would be as well for the citizens who are getting up remon-strances to postpone operations until the matter has been definitely decided by the by the police. He thinks the man was mur-

The experiment on a small scale referred to as having taken taken place in New York, was of considerable extent, as they there replaced 50,000 cells of battery with dynamos. That was ten years ago. Two years ago when they out-grew the old plant, they replaced it with a new one of a capacity probably equal to 200,000 cells. The currents are only used on the main lines. Pittsburg went a step further by intro-ducing machines not only for main lines, but for local instruments and city service as well, thus covering every branch of the tolegraph service. The Chicago electricians spent some time at the Pittsburg office getting pointers on the subject before they commenced work on their own plant."

INCREASED TRAVEL ON THE P. R. R.

Attributed to Cold and Draughty Street

Traffic on the local trains of the P. R. R. has increased very much in the past week or so. Railroad men are of the opinion that this is caused by the objection most people have to riding in street cars in cold weather. The ever opening doors and their generally crowded condition is a very uncomfortable experience to those who are fond of comfort. It is also believed in some quarters that this flection of traffic from the cable lines to the Pennsylvania road has had the effect of hurrying the Citizens' line into reducing their fares some time before originally intended.

PITTSBURG, Wednesday, January 29, 1890,

It is hard to tell whether the people or the

MR. GOURLEY'S SPEECH.

Mr. Gourley, upon being introduced to the convention, said :

Permit me to express to you my sincere feel-ing of gratitude for the honor you have this of gratitude for the honor you have ing conferred upon me, by your actio innously re-electing me as the candida unanimously re-electing me as the candidate of the Republican party for the office of Mayor of this city. In the event of your nomination being indorsed and ratified by the people at the election on the likh day of February. I shall endeavor to discharge the duties intrusted to my keeping in such a manner as to reflect no discredit upon you, upon the people of this great city or upon myself. Pittsburg is not only one of the great cities of our own country, but in her special line of industries, she is one of the noted cities of the world.

world. The Chief Magistracy of such a city is a

The Chief Magistracy of such a city is a dignified and houserable position, worthy of the noblest ambition, and meriting the best judg-ment and conscientious effort of man. He who accepts such a position, if he be a thoughtful man, cannot but feel that as the official repre-sentative of 250,000 people he assumes grave re-sponsibilities, and has thrown upon him im-portant duties which he cannot evade and from which he dare not shrink. I can only say that if elected, whatever abil-ity I may possess will be exerced with integrity of purpose for the best interests of the city, and for the welfare of all her people. Through the favorable conditions by which nature has surrounded her. together with the enterprise, industry and labor of her people, the past his-surrounded her, together with the enterprise, industry and labor of her people, the past his-tory of Pittsburg has been characterized by marvelous prosperity and growth. Her future is propitious: and if those who make and con-dition her legislation, and those who execute her laws and administer public office are wise and prudent, economical and efficient, the coming years will witness a progress far surcoming years will witness a progress far sur-passing that which has marked her past career.

REDUCING A DEBT.

Almost $1,100,000 (equal to a 6-mill tax) of the money at present raised by taxation is required to pay the interest on and provide, by requirements of law, for the various sinking funds of a bonded indebtedness incurred by the municipality 20 years ago, through the improvement of streets and the building of water works, This debt is being rapidly reduced, and will in a few years, by wise legislation and economica management of the city government, be en tirely extinguished. Relieved from this burde they exclude maked. There en arrow this burden which the people have been carrying for more than half a century, the tax levy of the city ought not to exceed 7 or 8 mills on the dollar. Upon Councils and the Mayor of the city rests the responsibility of shaping legislation in such a manner as to confine taxation to the lowest possible figure consistent with good govern-ment and efficient management of public af-

irs. Every thoughtful citizen is in favor of good Every thoughtful cilizen is in favor of good government. The merchant, the banker, the manufacturer, the bandred thousand working people, whose sweat and toil have contributed so largely to the prosperity and growth of Pitts-hurg, want good government. They want judicious legislation stamped by the convic-tions of their representatives. They want honest execution of law, economical and capable administration of public office.

CHEERED FOR GOURLEY.

This address was received with the most voci erous applause ever heard in Pittsburg, and "three cheers for Gourley, the next Mayor of Pittsburg," was responded to with a hearty good will. The Committee on Resolutions then reported the following as the platform of the campaign. It was whispered around the corridors of City Hall that there was more or less disagreement in the committee meeting on the free bridge question, which Councilman Andrew Robtion to cover the expense. This was objected to by C. L. Magee, whose views prevailed ; and again, when Mr. Robertson jected to any supplemental thanks to Mrs. Schenley for her gift to the city, his suggestions were squelched by the same man The resolutions adopted were as follows :

The resolutions adopted where as follows: The Republicans of the city of Pittsburg, in convontion assembled, declare: That the policy of the present city govern-ment and the officers by whom it is admin-istered are worthy of the respect and confi-dence of all her citizens. President Elkins, in speaking of the cut vesterday said: "The reduction was not made because the Citizens' line reduced their fare. We have long had such a move in contemplation, and we did it, because we thought the public demanded it. We are always willing to accommodate the people. Hereafter the ticket system will be abandoned. There will be no rates less than 5 cents. I don't think the earnings of the road will be affected. The increase in travel will more than make up for the reduction in rates.

Taking these state-ments in their order will you be good enough to produce your authority to the effect that I "advised" you to "pro rata" the amount of money "according to loss." Again, your distribution was certainly not "made after, the second payment by the General Relief Fund Committee," as the second payment is now only begun. The first Liberty would be reduced to 5 cents.

In addition to these printed statements Mr. D. W. I emphasize this portion of your letter and the conversation with Mr. Suke, asking your especial attention to the exact terms in which your appeal is clothed. There is an ambiguity about them, and it was in good faith and solely for "the re-lief of the homeless and needy victims." as well as of others "filled with sorrow and hamen-tation," that the Relief Committee, of Pitts-burg, sent you on July 1 $5,000. You may judge, therefore, of our astonishment in looking over the list of names and the amount paid by your committee to find that out of 42 cases "relieved" nine received a triffe over $4,000 of the $5,000 sent. The first payment made by the Flood Relief Committee began under Judge Cummings on Thursday, July 18, and was not finished until near the middle of August. You got your money on July 1. Why did you wait until after a pay-ment was made by the commission before dis-tributing what you had? We were told that you were in "direful distress." Now you say that the money sent you to meet this wretched-ness was beld until after a payment was made by the commission. Suppose our committee held its regular weekly meeting last night at 41 Fifth avenue. Nothing but routine business was transacted. As intimated a few days ago Mr. J. W.
