On cross-examination the witness said some of the excluded had been before the the church to get their suito de fe. The charge "disorderly," Mr. Herbert said, con-sisted in members absenting themselves from church. He said a council could not be called unless the church agreed to it, but if the church refused, then the association might withdraw the hand of fellowship. In such case Mr. Herbert didnot know whether the church might be called a regular Bay such case Mr. Herbert did not know whether the church might be called a regular Bap-tist church, but as tor himself he proposed to be a regular Baptist. He had doubts whether a church could in all cases kick successfully against the association. HISOOCE HAD THE PREFERENCE. Thornton Dyer also wanted to know, as a condition precedent to testifying, whether he had been regularly subpensed and was told to go on, as he was in the trap. He said the Lord's supper was not adminis-tared by Bes Perse according to the trap. He said the Lord's supper was not administered by Rev. Pryor according to regular Baptist usage, but according to the New Testament direction. He said Hiscock's turn to Pittsburg and complete his work Manual was taken as authority in "bard cases," instead of the New Testament. Frank Churchwell could not say, for his "life," why these people were excluded only on hearsay. He was present when some of the members were excluded, and seemed to think it was the ready-one-two-three fire order. The witness is still a member of the church, as well as Mr. Herbert, but he says he does not commune regularly as predobaptists and other kinds of believers are allowed to partake.

Rev. J. H. Pryor was recalled, and said that Mrs. Frances Gilbert was not now a member of the church. He denied that he had advised her not to attend the hearing before Commissioner Clark yesterday. Mesars. Prescott and Bros and their clients, however, shook their heads significantly, and hinted that Sister Gilbert would be present at the pext hearing or something would be heard drop. this week, but active operation is postponed until next week.
