n Great Deal. The nomination of H. I. Gourley for Mayor by the Republican convention is rat-ified by the business men of Pittsburg. Wherever a reporter went yesterday there was nothing but words of indorsement and commendation. Some of these, which will be quite as gratifying to the candidate as any other, come from men who do not ordinarily interest themselves in local elections. A few, indicating the general drift of sentiment, are appended: General Fitzhugh, of Shoenberger & Co.,

He would make a Mayor of credit to the city, for he is a man of good habits, stands well morally and in business circles. Gourley is based upon an acquaintanceship of many years."

Mr. George W. Dilworth, of Dilworth Bros., said: "What we know about Mr. Gourley is sufficient to warrant the statement that he is a man of ability and capable of handling our growing city. He surely ought to know the wants of our city, and is worthy of our strongest indorsement."

W. J. Lewis, of the Linden Steel Works, was engaged when the reporter called, but in answer to a note of inquiry answered:

"In answer to your questions asking my opinion of Mr. H. I. Gourley as a suitable person for the position of Mayor, I take pleasure in saying that I have known of considerable of Mr. Gourley's public life and have known of his excellent reputation for a great many years, and I take great

Mr. John Dimling, of Market street—"Mr. Gourley is the suitable man for the office. Knowing as much about city affairs as he does, having been connected so many years in Councils, is a sufficient guarantee of his fitness for the position. There lies dead in Nicholasville, Ky, a man than whom none is better known in Kentucky—the Rev. Stephen Noland, who died suddenly yesterday. He was an evangelist, and claimed that he had divine visitations from Jesus Christ, who appeared to him in bodily form three times. He gave a full account over his signature in his paper, the Central Methodist for the strange meetings, and described the conversations in full. Many members of his church—the Methodist South—so revered him the past few years, and it requires a man of large ideas to give direction to its affairs. He has had extended experience in Councils, and, therefore, has no narrow, contracted ideas of the needs of such a city as ours. If elected, I am sure he will be a credit to the people.

"I am glad of a chance to speak in Mr. Gourley's favor. I have known him for 20 years, and have always esteemed him very highly. I first became acquainted with him while principal of the Grant school, and I found him very thorough in intimately in the past 12 years, and have had opportunities enough to warrant me in saying he is a man of more than ordinary abilities, and I only hope that he will have a chance to exercise that ability for the next three years as Mayor of Pittsburg. I know him to be a man of honor, and have had numerous opportunities of finding this out. I know, too, that he has a will of his own, and nobody can persuade him to do any-thing if he does not conscientiously believe that it is right to do it."

Mr. Harry Paul, of Metcalf, Paul & Co. President of the Americus Club: "Mr. Gourley is a gentleman whom we esteem, and believe he will make us a Mayor in every sense of the word. It is my opinion that he will be a surprise to some people and make his mark in the office. He is ambitious, and I believe would make a high record for intelligent and efficient service. So far as qualifications are concerned surely a man who has conducted himself so well in the 12 years he was in Council is qualified in every way for the office of Mayor. They can't bring anything against him. All this so-called ring business is foolishness. BABY FARMING EXPOSED.

The Mansfield Case on Trial Before Judge Single-Employment Agents Prosecuted by the Police Bureau-Miner Interesting

Court Notes. The most important trial in Judge Slagle's court yesterday was that against Mrs. Matilda Metler and her mother, Mrs. Quillan for operating a baby farm in Mansfield. The case was brought on by the investigation of Superintendent Dean, of the Anti-Cruelty Society. He charged the women with willful neglect of some half a dozen children in their care, ranging in age from a few weeks to 1 and 2 years.

Mrs. Quillan is a woman of about 50 years and was led into the court room in an appar-ently very feeble condition, in company with her daughter. Some dozen chairs in the court ently very feeble condition, in company with her daughter. Some dozen chairs in the court room were occupied by the lady managers of the Humane Society, some of whom were prepared to testify for the defense in opposition to the rival society, as represented by Mr. Dean.

Mr. Dean took the stand and told of what he had seen at the house of Mrs. Quillan. Mrs. Metler lived some distance away, and the bables were exchanged at times from one house to the other. He found a half dozen bables at both places, none of them healthy, and, in fact, puny, weak and sickly, some of them covered with sores and evidently ill-fed.

Mrs. Adams was the next witness called. She lived a short distance from Mrs. Quillan's. On the l4th of last April she had taken a baby from Mrs. Quillau at the latter's request. She sent her daughter after it, but had she seen it before, she would not have taken it. It was cove-ed with sores all over the body and head. It was about 4 or 5 months old and was very poor. It weighed $\frac{1}{2}$ pounds and 2 ounces, and after she had kept it and doctored it, the sores were all cleared off it, and in seven weeks and two days the baby weighed 16 pounds. In her opinion the child had been neglected, and its bad condition had been brought about by washing the sores with lye and letting it lay down too much. She took the baby because Mrs. Quillan asked her to, saying there was trouble between two societies and she had to put some of the babies away. Cross-examination only, brought out more positive statements from her in regard to the management of the place and she was allowed to go.

Mrs. Ziegler said she had left her 6 months, old baby in Mrs. Quillan's charge, while she herself was living out as a domestic in Mansheld, and her husband had gone to his home in Germany. After being at Mrs. Quillan's for five or six weeks, it was taken to Mrs. Metler's sand found it nearly dead from what she said was starvation and neglect. It was wasted away to a skeleton almost, and had been a big, solid child, weighing at le

EMPLOYMENT AGENTS.

The Prosecution by Inspector McAlees Agninst Walters and Grabsky. The case of conspiracy against H. H. Walters and Charles Grabsky, brought by Inspector McAleese, was concluded yesterday and given to the jury, but up to the time of closing court they had not rendered a verdict. The defend-ants were alleged to have planned to take money from applicants for positions on pretext of securing them employment. Walters has an office on Smithfield street, and so far as he is Grabsky, however, had made the office his headquarters, and had taken divers sums from several people on procuring them work, none of which materialized. from several people on procuring them work, none of which materialized.

Mr. Walters had some of the best-known business men of the city to prove his good character, and when put on the stand said Grabsky had gone to his office and begged money. He gave him 25 cents on two occasions and 10 cents at two other times, but not for any services rendered. Grabsky also had some two or three witnesses to prove character, but none of them knew him longer than for a few months.

Judge Slagle reviewed the testimony in his charge, and said the act of taking money was not conspiracy. To find a verdict of guilty as indicted, conspiracy of two or more persons must be shown. The jury must determine if the evidence so showed it.
