ONE DAY IS FOR REST.

A Reasonable Observance of the Sabbath is What is Commanded.

JOY. NOT SADNESS, ENCOURAGED.

Questions to be Answered by Ministers at the Ministerial Association.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM CHURCHES

At the meeting of the Evangelical Alliance on Monday morning, the Rev. George Hodges read a paper on the observance of the Sabbath. The principal point empha-sized was that it is appointed as a day of rest. The sentiments expressed were indorsed by all but one or two who spoke, showing that a long stride forward has been taken in the advocacy of a rational observance of that day. He said:

However, the point which I desire you to notice is that the emphasis was upon rest. God gave a commandment that men should not work forever, but that they should have a little leisure in their lives. God says: "My children, I would not have you work too hard; take a day off once every week, and get a good rest, all of you." This word of fatherly solicitude is very touching. And what a dreadful thing men made out of it, marking out its meaning with such narrow measures that the great, fine, fatherly intention was lost sight of together.

And what a tragic failure men make to-day in the keeping of it. "Six days shalt thou labor," and "six hours a day." I wish had been put into the commandment, "but the seventh is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God. In it thou shalt not do any work." Why there are thousands of men and women in this Christian world to-day who do not know what reat is; they are slaves in a hondars compared with world to-day who do not know what rest is; they are slaves in a bondage compared with which old Egypt was a blessed paradise. They are ground between the upper and the nether millstones, over bours on one side and under pay on the other. One day in seven! No; not one day in seven hundred.

There were certain rabbis who held that when a man waked up on the morning of the Sabhath, he should continue in the attitude in which he found himself, and stir neither hand nor foot till the sun went down. To call this rest is like making a wilderness and calling it which he found himself, and attr helicer hand nor foot till the sun went down. To call this rest is like making a wilderness and calling it peace. No: the best rest is often found in work, in change of work. If we are to make "no manner of work" a literal thing, we shall find ourselves all Sabbath breakers.

Once every week there comes into every well ordered Christian life a day which deserves to hear that name. The hurry, the rush, the noise of the week are all shut out. It is a quiet day. The books, the magazines, the papers which are read every other day are read sparingly on this day. The emphasis is put upon the higher side of life, upon religion.

In the morning and in the evening the church hells ring, and that means the necessity of a choice between the refreshing of a body and the refreshing of a can keep as well as a man. But "I was in the spirit on the Lord's day" said St. John, setting as an example that lifts us above the animals.

The afternoon is sacred to the family. I do The afternoon is sacred to the family. I do not know what Christ would say to some of our Smoday visiting. I am sure He would have disapproved of a good deal of it. Nevertheless Ho has set His seal to the social meaning of the day. Especially in the family, the Lord's day ought to be the weekly festival of household happiness. "Let us rejoice and be glad in it." Let everyone have a happy face on this day. Let the public flower gardens be open in the summer time. Let the railroads take people out into the country under God's clear sky. Let us get all the genuine pleasure we can into this day for everybody.

or everybody. Such a Sunday, such a restful and religious Such a Sunday, such a restful and religious day, ought to be kept in every household, but it is not so kept. The ambitious, the hurries, the frivolities, the bargains of the week crowd in upon it, the transitory is suffered to obscure the eternal. A generation is growing up which is not being taught at home the happiness and help which this day holds. And the wise shake their heads over the fact and see in it a menace both to soul and body, both to church and State. And it does not need any unusual wisdom to see how Christian civilization and the Christian Sunday are bound up together. together.

We, at least, can do our own part. We, at least, can keep the Lord's day in the Lord's

If we sit down at set of sun. And count the things that we have done And, counting, find One self-denying act, one word That eased the heart of him who heard, One giance most kind. That tell like sunshine where it went, Then we may count that day well spent.

But, if through all the livelong day,
We've cased no heart by yea or nay;
If through it all
We ve done no thing that we can trace
That brought the sometime to a face,
No act most small,
That helped some sout, and nothing cost

Ladies of these twin cities "go and do thou likewise."

THE Congregational Church has made rapid strides in Chicago, as seen by the statistics.

AT this season of the year many ministers devote each evening to the preaching of the Word, and that it is not all in vain is proven by the success that attends their work, as is evidenced by the numbers of those who are being added to the church daily. The M. E. Church Dawson, has received 18, Smithton 22, Liver-more 6, Marlboro. Ohio, 15, Bristol 15, Warren, 51, Dell Roy 51, Pleasant Hill 9, New Bethlehem 9, Smithville 18, and many others.

In an interview with Rev. Dr. Talmage, Mr. In an interview with Rev. Dr. Talmage, Mr. Gladstone said: "Talk about questions of the day, there is but one question and that is the gospel. It can and will correct everything needing correction. All the men at the head of great movements are Christian men. During the many years I was in the Cabinet I was brought into association with 60 master minds, and all but five of them were Christians. My only hope for the world is in bringing the human mind into contact with divine revelation."

ENTHURIASM should be tempered with truth, if not always with discretion. Rev. A. T. Pierson, D. D., of Philadelphia, recently said in England that "a remarkable movement has in England that "a remarkable movement has broken our among the young men in Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, which can only be compared in its intensity to a prairie fire, that there are 4,000 students in the colleges of the United States preparing for the mission field." Is it not strange that the press, either religious or secular, has not heard of this mighty blaze that is to sweep the lands for Christ? Good Dr. Pierson, where are these 4,000? Magnum est veritas, et prevelabit?

On Monday morning the Presbyterian ministers will have their monthly "Quiz" meeting, and as the answers given to the questions proposed usually bring out discussion, it is the most profitable meeting of the month. Rev. J. S. Plumer, pastor of the Hazelwood Church, is the master for this month. The following are the queries propounded: First-is a preacher at liberty to criticise from the pulpit, the doctrines or polity of his denomination, and if so, with what limitations to the liberty. and if so, with what limitations to the liberty. To be answered by Rev. Dr. Shrom. Second—Should the doctrine of the endless punishment of the finally impenitent be made prominent in the preaching of the word? Rev. Dr. Sutherland. Third—Was the sacrifice of Christ in any sense a satisfaction of law, or was it only a necessary surrender of divine love in reconciling the sinner to God? Rev. J. F. Patterson. Fourth—Is the envelope system attended with better results in providing for the support of the gospel than the pew rent system? Rev. O. N. Verner. Fifth—Caunot men not professing the true religion be saved, be they never so diligent to frame their lives according to the light of nature and law of that religion they do profess? Rev. Dr. Purves.
