Rev. Joseph Cook Discusses an Important Subject.

MR. BELLAMY IS ROASTED

By the Great Boston Divine, Who Gives His Own Methods of

KEEPING WEALTH DISTRIBUTED

Rev. Joseph Cook yesterday began an interesting and important series of Monday lectures. His prelude was devoted to Bellamy's scheme of nationalism, and his lecture on "Dr. Storrs and the Policy of the American Boards." In the prelude Mr. Cook set forth in detail the arguments of Edward Bellamy in his now famous book, and a list of controverting arguments.

SEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR,1 BOSTON, February 3 .- Joseph Cook's fifteenth season in the Boston Monday lecture ship opened before a large audience in Trement Temple this noon. The lectures will continue for six successive Mondays, and will deal with general subjects, great vital questions in Church and State. To-day's prelude was on Edward Ballamy's nationalism. In it the speaker said:

Two thousand capitalists own more than all the rest of the 65,000,000 of our population. Two hundred and fifty thousand rich men con-trol 75 per cent of the national wealth. The American Republic is therefore practically owned by less than 250,000 persons. If present causes, which produce concentration of capital, continues, this Republic will soon be owned by less than 50,000 men. There is however, no tary wealthy class, and therefore the peril is not so great as it would be under the possibility of an aristocracy. Two thousand own more than all the rest of us, but this does not mean that they own us, for some of the rest of us may yet become part of the 2,000.

A REMEDY IN VOTES. We all have votes. The wealthy are not a close corporation. Change is rapidly shifting the scenes. You are rich, but your sons may be near; you are poor, but your sons may be rich. Therefore, in America, the cause of the poor man is every man's cause, and the cause of the rich man is every man's cause, for the same reason. But it is said that capitalists are Bame reason. But it is said that capitalists are rapidly becoming a clique, and that trusts and monopolies begin to have power to control the Government and to tax the people, indirectly. It may be necessary to curb these trusts by National power: to take staples out of the hands of trusts and put them under National control, but if we begin to do this, how far can we keep the workshop out of politics? Will this not open the way to prodigious political corruption when we have political city political four. If it be true that the rick are growing poorer, yet wages have risen, and the average gain has increased. The rich are richer, but the poorer are better paid. As capital intreases, the capitalist has a smaller and the laborer a larger share in the profits. But the poor grow more intelligent, and their wants increase, and they have more votes.

Of GREAT SIGNIFICANCE.

There is great significance in the question Is nationalism or socialism a probable result of votes among the masses? Shall the organizing rinciple of business be co-operation or compe tition? It is time these questions were answered. What anybody knows everybody should know. Dam back knowledge and at some point there will be a bursting forth that will be deadly. Edward Bellamy's answer has been given in a novel which has had wider reading than any novel of reform since "Uncle Tom's Cabin." With reference to his theories,

First—The plan is complicated, very revolu-tionary, very optimistic, very self-contradictory and visionary. Second—It has elements that are very Chris-Third-The Christianity is in the voluntary on, and not in the compulsory na Where, then, is the line of clearage between the sense and the nonsense of the book? Between voluntary co-operation and compulsory immedia: nationalism? I believe that these scholars who have approved Bellamy's scheme are really co-operation; but I am not a nationalist, because I do not believe in a scheme which reduces also referred to similar when the would be still the province of the similar when the would be still the similar when the would be still the similar when the would be still the similar when the similar whe which reduces labor reform to a single wheel. The four necessary driving wheels of this re-form are self-help, state-help, school-help, church-help. But nationalism, instead of this church-help. But nationalism, instead of this locomotive, reduces all to the whoelbarrow wheel—a very difficult wheel to manage.

Nationalism seems to erect for us a statue with feet of clay, with limbs of iron, with head of brass, leaning upon two broken reeds for crutches, but with a heart of gold. The statue has a cigar in its lips and a wine-cup in its right hand. Even in the twentieth century ladies have to leave the dining room that gentlemen may fill the apartment with snuage.

should not make society set a contrary example. He says: "The people will not permit Government to tell them what they shall eat, Government to tell them what they shall eat, wear or drink." This nationalizes the saloon. Is this statue the angel to lead us into the millenium? I think not. But because the figure has a golden heart, I mean to speak of it with respect. The Bible gives us a golden rule: "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you." But it also gives us an iron rule: "If any man will not work, neither shall be eat." The angel of the millenium will come through the door that opens between these two pillars:

The following difficulties in Mr. Bellamy's A LIST OF DIFFICULTIES.

First-It concentrates national power, of colossal proportions, in the hands of probably less than one-half the present voting population. No one shall vote till he has served in the army and graduated from the industrial schools at 45 years of age.

Second-The parallel which he draws between the operations of trusts and the operations of nationalism has many elements of obscurity. How make the transition from selfishness to unselfishuess?

Third—How will he make provision for the purchase of property now in private hands?
Will the land be nationalized by purchase or by Fourth-It reopens the way to prodigious po-tical corruption. It widens and deepens the grab bag.

Fifth—It does not provide motives sufficient to induce men to work without votes. If unskilled laborers are always paid the same as skilled laborers are always paid the same as skilled laborers may keep up their enthusiness of the same as the skilled insberers may keep up their enthusiness to be guaranteed sustemance, how do you know that the industrious will keep up their industry? Mee are reformed not by machinery, but by sootives, and I do not see where is the result of the union. Loss sums the result of the union. Loss sums the result of the union. Loss sums the grab bag. but by motives, and I do not see where is the industrial motive to drive this engine of nationalism, promotions, honors, badges, will never be sufficient.

Fifth-It is unjust to the skilled. Sixth—It is unjust to the skined.

Sixth—It does not provide for the early description of genius. It holds back men from their special pursuits till after 45 years of age.

Oswego physician. ITS RESPONSIBILITIES.

Seventh-It makes itself responsible for the present generation, and of all that they may choose to bring into the world. This would seem to be the placing of a premium on shift-eliminating drones and criminals Ninth-It forgets that men can be reformed only through individual reform. It ignores the necessity of personal regeneration to social regeneration.

Tenth—It fails to perceive that other ways of throttling trusts exist.
Eleventh—It encourages socialism and communism, by exaggerating the miseries of the munism, by exargerating the miseries of the poor and opening the way to shiftlessness. It is true that we have nationalized the army and navy, the postoffice, and in Germany, the railroads; but as far as we have gone we have succeeded only because we have lad, side by side with this method, that of free competition.

What, then, are the remedies for the unrest of oper time?

of our time? First-Let co-operation be brought into wide practice among workingmen.

Second—Profit-sharing

Third—Governmental restraint of trusts and control over some staples, cautiously tried whenever necessary.

Fifth—Let labor bureaus have an extension

Fifth-Let labor bureaus have an extension of advisory powers.

Sixth-Experiment slowly and cautiously along the line of Germany, in State ownership of railread and telegraph, State aid to the poorest, compulsory insurance, compulsory education. The golden rule and the iron rule will make the two tracks on which the four great wheels already mentioned will drive this labor reform, and in God's good time we shall reach a state that will go beyond the expectations of the Nationalists themselves.

THE PIEST LECTURE.

Mr. Cook's lecture, to-day, was on the topic, Dr. Storrs, and the policy of the American Boards, He said: American Boards. He said:

The axis of urgency on which the whole globe of evangelical religious effort turns is the severe truth that it is never safe for any man to die in his sins. If this axis should be displaced by Congregational or Presbyterian hands, in these days of revision of creeds, we are all displaced. An attempt to alter the position of this axis, and to break it, is one of the most prominent and distressing episodes in the religious history of our time. But it has never been displaced, and it is not likely to be now. It has a Biblical and scientific pose. So great is conscience that the heathen, if they live in rebellion against the light, are, according to the Scriptures, condemned by it, and without excuse. When character becomes morally fixed, probation ended. Therefore, no soul can have more than one decisive probation. Only obstinacy cuts off hope, nut beyond certain limits there is no reversal.

obstinacy cuts of hope, but beyond certain limits there is no reversal. It has been the belief of the church that the period of buman life is decisive of destiny. It is a reason for devout gratitude that evangelical missions are guided by boards and committees who agree that it is not wise to send our missionaries to teach that it may sometime be safe for a man to die in his sins.

THOROUGHLY ORTHODOX. The tone of the great London missionary conference was thoroughly orthodox. There was not a whisper in that conference in support of the erratic hypothesis which has troubled some branches of the American church. The speeches took for granted that missionaries are speeches took for granted that missionaries are to insist on immediate repentance. Since the rising of this body it is safe to assert that the cosmopolitan creed of evangelical Christianity contains the severe Biblical truth that it is never safe for any man to die in his sins.

You are moved by appeals to Christian consciousness; but what Christians do you mean? Any one class or clan or clique? By no means. The cosmopolitan consciousness and consience of those who are at the front of religious effort in evangelism. The signs of the times must be in evangelism. The signs of the times must be seen in the entire sky, and not in some little patch in one denomination or faction of one de-nomination. I appeal to all denominations to support me in saying that the London Confersupport me in saying that the London Conference was correct.

On the battle line between Christianity and paganism denominational position counts for very little. In the presence of the enemy soldiers close up gaps. The objects of missions is not to Presbyterianize or Congregationalize, but to Christianize the world. Anything whatever has a right to preach what it chooses if it will not force the rest of us to foot the bills.

I congratulate all denominations that the oldest missionary board among us has resisted for seven years the most determined efforts to revise out of its creed the doctrine that it is never safe for a man to die in his sins.

A TRIBUTE TO STORES. The well-known Dr. Stores is now President of the American Board, which has an income amounting to $600,000. His celebrated letter of acceptance outlines a policy in harmony with the traditions of the board. What was effected in New York last autumn, making that letter in New York last autums, making that letter the basis of further action, was not a compromise. Des Moines and Springfield both spoke alike, and the Prudential Committee was cautioned to avoid committing the board to the hypothesis of probation after death.

I maintain that the following series of propositions is to be included among the settled things in this controversy:
First—The Prudential Committee of the American Board is to be guided by the commonly received doctrines of the denomination.
Second—This committee has acted on the supposition of the earthly probation. supposition of the earthly probation.
Third—The board recognize this understanding of the Prudential Committee as correct.
Fourth—Future probation is not among com-

Fourth-Future probation is not among commonly received doctrines.

Fifth-There are in the new doctrines elements that are divisive and diversive.

Sixth-The Prudential Committee has condemned the hypothesis.

Seventh-The committee has option, but to refuse commissions to those who have committed themselves to the support of that hypothesis. Page 15 of the committee's report for 1887 proves this.

Eighth-To send out men who are committed to the hypothesis, and under the board, is to commit the board to the hypothesis. The board indorses the committee's position that it has no option in this matter. We are hearing something to-day about theological yardsticks, but it is better to be one of these than a theological blunderbuss. The latter term might not inappropriately be applied to those who claim that the board may send out men committed to an hypothesis, and not thereby committed to an hypothesis, and not thereby committed to an hypothesis, and not thereby commit itself to the hypothesis.

THE TWO OPPOSITES.

approved: but one like Mr. Noyes, who had committed himself to the support of the hypothesis, may not be approved. The line Tenth—Candidates must not teach new doctrines, directly or indirectly.

Eleventh—There must be no evasion or device whereby the hypothesis shall be encouraged. Twelfth—The board is prohibited by the New York action from sending out such candidates, as Dr. Storrs says.

Thirteenth—All possible caution and tender-Indies have to leave the dining room that gentlemen may fill the apartment with smudge.

NOW AND TO COME.

Mrs. Hunt tells that in 27 States there are even now laws requiring scientific instruction in temperance, and great publishing houses are competing with one another to furnish the schools with text books which inculcate total abstinence, not only from alcoholic drinks, but also from narcotics. In the year 2000 Bellamy should not make society set a contrary exhould not make society set as contrary exhould not make the shown in dealing with candidates, and calling that does not carry contracts and calling with candidates, and calling that does not carry contraction to the point of compromise. Is it wise to send must be shown in dealing with candidates, and cell state of compromise. Is it wise to send must be shown in dealing with candidates, and cell substitutes and contraction in the society set as contr

THE CARE NECESSARY.

It is prudent and proper in every sense that a candidate should be questioned somewhat closely before he goes abroad to preach, sup-ported by the funds of the board. What reason could the board possibly have for excluding proper candidates for the foreign field? But to admit this doctrine into the policy of the church is to divide forces and to poison the life of missions. The position of the board is approved sions. The position of the board is approved by the Congregational and other evangelical churches at large. I believe there will be no schism. But if the straight road that runs through Des Moines, Springfield, Boston, New York, is bent into a curve, there will be an explosion in the Congregational body. There are multitudes of us who will not support the board in teaching that it may sometimes be safe for some men to die in their sins.

LEY. The Republican Nominee in Receiving the Indorsement of Mon in Every Line of

The merchants are still coming for-ward with their indorsement of Mr. Gourward with their indorsement of Mr. Gourley, the Republican nominee for Mayor. Men in all lines of business are giving Mr. Gourley their unqualified support.

Chas. Donnelly, of the McClure Coke Works, "I will heartily support Mr. Gourley for Mayor, as I think a better selection could not be made. He is capable and in my judgment has all the qualifications for the place."

Mr. C. P. Tiges of James Lawin & Co. was

Mr. C. P. Tiers, of James Irwin & Co., was found at his office in the Stevenson build-In response to a question Mr. Tiers
"I have known Mr. Gourley tor some time. He is eminently qualified for the position. He has a good education and also experience in public life. The fact that he was re-elected term after term to City Council is sufficient evidence that his record could not be questioned. He is a business man also. Withal I think he would do honor to the office of Mayor." W. S. Brown—Mr. Gourley is a fine gen-tleman. I think he is well qualified, hav-ing business, association and educational abilities. A business man is what we want. There is one thing about Mr. Gourley that I like, and that is that he stands up for what he thinks is right.

A. Cannon, of Smithfield street, said:
"Mr. Gourley is a man of ability. He possesses a great deal more ability than many Mayors the city has elected. I never heard Mayors the city has elected. I never heard anything against his character. He is capable and honest, is well posted in city affairs and will make a good Mayor."

Mr. S. A. Garrison, of Garrison, Williams & Co., Seventh avenue, said: "We are friendly to Mr. Gourley. There is nothing too good for us to say about him. He is a good, conscientious business man, honest and investigated and is one of the best men.

good, conscientious business man, nonest and intelligent, and is one of the best men ever mentioned for Mayor."

Mr. Heard, formerly of Heard, Biber & Easton—I have known Mr. Gourley for some time, and I expect to give him my vote. I consider him eminently qualified

Mr. James Loughridge, No. 623 Smithfield street—I am not a politician, and take no active part in anything of a political character, but I have been a close observer of Mr. Gourley and I consider him a very competent man. In fact he is as good a man as I know for the office. He is as good as can be found. I am a Republican and seldom leave the ranks, except to avoid a bad man. I expect I know Mr. Gourley better than he knows me, as he is a public man, and it is just for that reason that I expect to give him my support.

Dr. G. W. Hieti—I want to see Harry Gourley Mayor. He is a man of ability and integrity, and if elected will undoubtedly conduct an able administration. Our personal relations have always been most friendly, and I will cheerfully accord him a hearty support. He has worked hard and faithfully through many years for the inter-ests of the city as President of Select Coun-cil, without a cent of compensation, and now I consider that he is entitled to the first office he ever asked for, to which there is a salary attached. I will be only too glad to accord Mr. Gourley my humble support, and will do all I can to get my friends to support him.

Senator John C. Newmyer-I know Mr. Gourley's character as a business man better than as a politician, and in that respect it is A No. 1. I think the same is true of him as A No. 1. I think the same is true of him as a politician. If his taking a part in municipal affairs is a crime, then I suppose he is guilty, but I don't think his honor or integrity has ever been impeached. I think it would be better if more men like Mr. Gourley would give more attention to municipal affairs instead of standing aloof and gazing with suspicion on those who have to do the burden of the work. Senator W. F. Auli, of the Denny estate-Gourley is the man for the place. He is respectable, honest and intelligent, and will make an excellent record if elected. Personally, I know of no man I hold in higher esteem than Mr. Gourley.

Thomas Rees, of James Rees & Co., engine builders—Mr. Gourley is qualified for the position to which he aspires. I most heartily indorse him.

E. Lindsay Greer, business man, 87 Water street-Gourley should be elected Mayor. He is a representative business man, and a man in every way qualified to hold the position. I have been acquainted with the gentleman for years and know whereof I speak. My indorsement is given most heartily and I will do what I can to elect him.

George R. Kress. of George R. Kress & Co.—Gourley is the man for the place. He is honest in his dealings with men, and he should be elected. I have a high appreciation of the gentleman's worth, and I have no doubt he will be elected. As a business man I indorse him.

S. A. McClung, Esq., attorney at law—I have known Mr. Gourley for over 30 years past, and consider him a man in every way qualified for the office of Mayor. He is a man of brains and character. What Pittsburg needs is a good Mayor, a man who has the courage of his convictions. He should be a man who has the ability to receive delegations of visitors to our city, and a man who is at all times able to make a speech. He must combine with this a thorough knowledge of city affairs and be a business man. Mr. Gourley comes up to all these requirements and should be elected.

H. C. McKnight, boat dealer, Wood street -Gourley is just the man for the place. He is a gentleman and a thorough-going business man, and I think the business men should elect him, as he is known and re-

THIS WILL BE An Unusually Lively Week KAUFMANNS'

The power of genuine reductions will find a most forcible illustration at our store this week. Our prices, as everybody well knows, are at all times low enough to suit the most economical buyers. But this is an extraordinary occasion. Hence you may look out for extraordinary low prices. Necessity knows no law. Being compelled to close out our winter stock we recognize no law of values. In our endeavor to effect an immediate counter clearing we have than the same qualities are sold for elsewhere. This is no bluff or wildcat scheme, but a sound and sober business offer. Our regular patrons will need no urging to take advantage of this sale. They know from past experiences that our sacrifice sales always are in strict accordance with our newspaper advertisements. It is those people who have never patronized us before that we especially request to come and see us. They will find this sale a far different affair from the usual stereotyped, all cut and dried, mercantile gymnastics character-
