He owns the property on Third avenue abutting the lot bought vesterday, and if he was frontage on both streets."

"What does he propose to do with it?" "I am not advised, but think his object is speculation, as it is the opinion of many that, owing to the scarcity of business sites on the main thoroughfares, values on the side streets will enhance."

The occupant of the property, a woman, was the next best budder to Mr. McKelvy, and, it is said, she was prepared to pay more for it than it brought, but the auctioneer was too quick

One of the most beneficent results of modern invention is the fact that it has opened up new avocations for women, and given opportunity for the development of talent that has hitherto been confined to very narrow grooves. Fifty years ago when a woman was unfortunate enough to be obliged to fight the battle of life alone, about the only thing she could do was to eke out a miserable existence by teaching eke out a miserable existence by teaching school, being tyrannized over the while by the school "committee" and subjected to the inexpressible humiliation of "boarding around."

But modern inventions have widened her field and produced to each produced the committee of $1,200 a barrel. and rendered it possible for her to be independ-ent—to not only make a living, but to con mand ent—to not only make a living, but to con mand such salary as will cause her to really take an interest in her work, and not regard it merely leum Exchange. as a make-shift until some fellow comes along who will be good enough to marry her. Telephones and typewriters, by the use of which about 500 women in Pittsburg are supporting themselves in comfort, have done more to broaden the sphere of the "weaker half of creation and enable them to be self-supporting than all the laws in the statute books for that purpose. The inventor has so far proved the

is not a ray of sunshine to light his path. If all men were like him the cars would rust on the track, ships lie listless in port and commerce sink into a state of chronic stagnation. It must be admitted, however, that such men are necessary and fill their proper place; they often check wild ventures and act as a sort of regulator to the more sanguine, and since it is always safe to prophesy failure, they generally have reputations as truth tellers,

When business becomes slack, and when it becomes necessary to economize in the matter of salaries, the first question that employers ask themselves is: "Who can best be spared?" The barnacles, the shirks, the makeshifts, somebody's proteges, somebody's nephews, and especially somebody's good-for-nothing. Young men, please remember that these are not the ones who are called for when responsible positions are to be filled. Would you like to know the probabilities of your getting such a position! A Dull Market With Selling Orders in the Mejority. The stock market was dull and unprofitable yesterday to all interested in it. The only sale was 100 shares of Electric at 48-a slight concession. The rest of the list showed very little. if any, changes, but there was a feeling of weakness all through.

There seems to be more selling than buying orders. This encourages investors to hold off in the hope of lower prices. So long as this condition exists there can be nothing like a permanent advance. The very fact that selling orders are in the majority precludes the idea.

The estimated value of the land is not less than $1,000 per acre. At the back of the movement for making it a suburban town are such wellknown citizens as Congressman Dalzell, W. W. O'Neil, J. W. Miller and Attorney Christie. A property holder on the island who produces large amounts of garden stoff for our markets was seen this morning, and gave his views as follows:

large amounts of garden stuff for our markets was seen this morning, and gave his views as follows:

The proposition of the syndicate, through their attorneys, Christis & Miller, is that the island shall be laid out in lots of a quarter of an acre each, to be sold on condition that a dwelling costing not less than $6,000 shall be built on the lot. The syndicate is to receive 10 per cent for its trouble and expense in putting the land into market and another 10 per cent is to be devoted to the building of railroad through the length of the lisiand, with $6 feet reserved for that purpose. This 20 per cent is to be paid out of the first sales, letting the land owners in for their share later on. It is proposed to connect the Neville Island Rallway with the Pittsburg and Lake Erie by a bridge at the north point of the island. The largest owners on the island are J. H. Pittock and J. H. Hamilton, who have in the neighborhood of 60 acres each. What the outcome of the meeting to-morrow may be, will be hard to tell. It looks now as if there would be a hitch. The property on the north end of the island is much more valuable than at the south end. The syndicate gives the assurance that the garden farms will be undisturted for a season or two.

In connection with this proposed new real estate deal down the Ohio, there is some very interesting local history going back to Revolutionary times. Neville Island received its name from its first owner, General Neville, who was famous in his day as the representative of Uncle Sam against the winsky insurrectiouists, and before that time had done good service for God and his native land in the War of the Revolution. He was the ancester of the Craigs and Nevilles who figured so largely in the history of this city, and whose families are still represented in the persons of some of our present prominent citizens. The island was originally given by the Government to a patriot whose works follow him. Times have changed since the Nevilles and Craigs went duck hunting on the island in the became strong and advanced %c, held steadily and closed about 1/c higher than yesterday. The early weakness was attributed to the reported increase on the ocean and possibly to the mild weather here, the predicted cold wave not materializing. Advices from San Francisco The result was that offerings were quite free and the market ruled easy. Later a steady advance of %@%c followed which was due partly to a rumor of a large line of wheat being taken to a rumor of a large line of wheat being taken at Baltimore for export, but possibly as much to some short covering. A good many operators got short on the decline. One trader bought 2,000,000 bushels for May delivery, Considerable wheat was also bought on long account.

Corn—A fair speculative business was transacted, the market ruling quite active and weak early in the session, after which it became more quiet and firmer. The selling was quite general early, especially of May and July, which received the most attention. The general impression is that there will be a cut in rates from the West in the near future, which no doubt induced considerable short selling. The sharp recovery after the early decline was due to the purchases of a large local speculator, more particularly July. The market opened a shade over the closing prices of yesterday, was weak and sold off 1400cc, rallied and ruled firm, and closed a shade better than yesterday.

Baby a Solid Rash

Ugly, painful, blotched, malicious. No rest by day, no peace by night. Doctors and all

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old, was attacked with a virulent, mailgnant skin disease. All ordinary remedles failing, we called our family physician, who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched and malicious. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the Cuticura Remedies. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion, your valuable remedites saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred.

Last year he was worse than ever, being covered with scabs from the top of his hend to his feet, and continually growing worse, although he had been treated by two physicians. As a last resort. I determined to try the CUTICURA ARMEDIES; they did all that I could wish. The humor rapidly disappeared, leaving the skin fair and smooth, and performing a thorough cure.
