SHEARERS WILL NOT WASH FLEECE

Washington County Sheep Said to be Not of an Inferior Breed.

A BANQUET CONCLUDES THE MEETING

chair, and J. C. McNarey was secretary.

Owing to the gathering being a postponed meeting, the attendance was not as large as comes from their knowledge of the fact that it would otherwise would have been. There were about 40 delegates present from Pennin the country.

new register of the sheep produced by each breeder. This volume was to include the in October after the animals are counted.

A request was received from a number of of them have been driven from Pittsburg, and to-day there is not a single one of them into the association, and requesting that their flocks be examined. The members of the association did not take kindly to the appli-cation. The rules are that any persons coming into the association must first secure some of the Delaine merino sheep and breed them.

SHEPHERDS DEFEND THEIR SHEEP. An article published in the Michigan Farmer came in for a great amount of condemnation. It contained a speech delivered by R. Gibbons, at Rochester, N. Y., before the New York Sheep Breeders' Association. In the speech, Mr. Gibbons made an attack on the Delaine Mr. Gibbons made an attack on the Delaine breed of sheep, saying that the stock was inferior. It was decided to reply to the speech and deny the charge. Secretary McNarey thought it probable that Mr. Gibbons had been deceived by having other sheep palmed off on him as Delaines. The secretary said that a number of breeders throughout the country ware representing themselves as members of the National Delaine Association, and breeders of Delaine sheep. Those breeders were impostors and abould be prosecuted.

Mr. Orr, editor of the Stockman of Pittsburg, who was present at the meeting, made a long speech on the subject, and showed the animus of the attack. The charge was made by Mr. Gibbons, that the published illustrations of the Delaine sheep represented them to be better animals than they really were. A committee of three, composed of President Craighead, Secretary McNarey, and T. E. Orr, was appointed to deny the charges.

retary McNarey and T. E. Orr, was appointed to deny the charges.

James Bell, of Independence, made a motion to abolish the practice of washing sheen. He said the United States Wool Growers' Association had adopted a law prohibiting its members from washing the animals. He stated it is only a question of time until all the wool growers in the country would refuse to wash their wool. A great many growers do not now wash their sheep, as it is injurious to the animals. Buyers force growers who do not wash their sheep to accept a lower price for their wool. If farmers would not wash their animals they would get as good a price as they do now, when the wool as good a price as they do now, when the wool

President Craighead advecated the "un-President Craighead advocated the "na-sashed." He said if sheep were sheared in March the growers would get clean wool and the animals would be benefited. If the wool is slicwed to stay on the sheep until May it gets lirty and the grower is compelled to accept a ower price for it. Others thought it paid to wash the sheep, as they get better prices for the wool. The mannfacturers would rather the wool. The mannfacturers would rather have the wool unwashed on account of having to pay "washed" prices, when the product is but half clean. If there was a universal movenent not to wash the sheep the wool growers

eld in the during hall of the hotel. The room was profusely and tastefully decorated for the ceasion. In the center of the long table at which the hanqueters ast, was the figure of a ram's head with large glided horns. Smilax and flowers were scattered over the figure, making a pretty effect. The menu was a mas-terpiece from the hands of a chef and would ave done credit to a first-class Pittsburg hote !

After discussing the viands for two hours, President Craughead called for speeches. The latter were as follows:

"Those Who Foed Us," A. S. Miller: "The Ministers Who Do the Washing," Dr. W. F. Brown: "Our Wool Growers Who Do the Shearing," A. W. Herriott, of Imperial. "Our Doctors Who Do the Trimming," Dr. T. Allison, of Kittanning, "Our Lawyers Who Do the Fleecing," D. F. Brown, Esq., of Canonsburg, Other speeches were made by W. G. Berry, of Henstonville; R. L. Munt, of Canonsburg, Ullius Le Moyne, of Washington; Gen. Berry, of Honstonville; R. L. Muntz, of Canons-burg; Julius Le Moyne, of Washington; Gen-eral William S. Callaghan, of Canonsburg; Jonathan Allison, of Washington; Dr. J. B. Donaldson, of Canonsburg; T. E. Ort, of Pitts-burg; J. Murray Clerk, Esq., of Canonsburg, and Minor Day, of Washington. It was thought that some action would be taken on the tariff-wool question on account of Congress now being in session. Nothing was done, however, about the matter. In regard to it, President Craighean said: "We are satisfied with the present tariff as we think it is high enough to protect our business. The is high enough to protect our business. The only thing wrong with the law is that it allows waste wool to be imported free. This supposed waste is good weel, and comes into competition with the word sheared in this country. If the customs efficers were a little vigiliant they could make it pay duty, and the American wool growers would receive the benefit of the transaction. The association as an organization does not take action of such matters on account of the members being partisans. To discuss the tariff would lead to trouble, and we try to avoid it, if possible."
