A FINISHED EDIFICE.

Walker, H. S. Fleming and G. W. Snaman. By mutual consent the practical superintendence of the erection of the building devolved on the energetic chairman of the committee, Mr. James B. Scott. How well the task has been accomplished can readily be seen. Architects of national rep-utation who have visited and inspected the edifice say that it is one of the cheapest as well as one of the best constructed buildings in the country. None but the best ma-terials have been used, but careful contract-ing and absence of any delay have been re-sponsible for the early completion of the work in such satisfactory manner and style.

practicality was accomplished only by the exercise of much patience and hard work. Excavation for the foundations was com-menced September 12, 1887, and the building, when formally opened next Tuesday, will have been in course of construction two years, five months and one day, a record few buildings of like size and architectural pretensions can duplicate.

SOME DIFFICULT DETAILS. At the last meeting of the Carnegie Free Library Commission, held two weeks ago last Friday, the following named gentlemen were present: Messrs. James B. Scott, Adam Ammon, John Walker, Thomas A. Parke, Arthur Kennedy, George W. Suaman and Arthur Kennedy, George W. Suaman and Marthur Kennedy, George W Ammon, John Walker, Thomas A. Parke, Arthur Kennedy, George W. Suaman and Charles Davis, consulting engineer. Mr. Phipps was absent in Egypt. Since former meetings death had removed Hon. R. C. Gray and Hon. Hugh S. Fleming.

Mr. Adam Ammon had become a member strument, the interest evoked by them will of the commission in the stead of Hon. Hugh S. Fleming. The commission visited every portion of the building, and were lavish in their praise of the exquisite structure. Secretary Kennedy was requested to draw up an appropriate and formal vote of thanks to Mr. James B. Scott for his "daily devotion to the duties devolving upon him as super-intendent of the construction of the magnificent edifice." Aside from this formal ap-preciation, Mr. Scott came in for the heartily-expressed personal congratulations of his associates upon the commission.

MATERIAL AND APPEARANCE. The exterior of the building is of granite from the Fox Island quarries, of Maine. The straight columns and pointed arches of the architecture are palpably Romanesque. One of the finest examples of that style of architecture ever erected is the tower, which rears its pointed turret 100 feet aloft. The graceful finials and capitals crown a series of small columns which are very symmetrical in appearance. The deep arches of the entire building, worked out both in windows and doorways, are very strong in effect. From an architectural standpoint, there are really two buildings. A view of the Library front rather obscures the Carnegie Hall front, which is not just to the latter, but unavoidable under the circum-stances. Views of both the Library and the hall are therefore given, to present a satisfactory idea of this handsome edifice. The grand entrance of Carnegie Hall is approached by a flight of steps 40 teet in width, rising gradually to the vestibule level. Heavy pillars support the gabled front of the hall, which is a fine example of UTILITY ALL ABOUND. At the side of the hall is a stone promenade, at the side of which carriages can discharge freight, 'air or otherwise, At the rear of Carnegie Hall is a depressed area, more for use than ornament. Books for the library can be conveyed through the rear and the basement and stage entrance of the hall are reached by easy steps.

The Federal street front is flanked by the tower. Jutting out several feet is the arched cotrance of the library. The sidereal ex-tent is broken in monotony by rows of arched windows and by a gable front forming the end of the Federal street elevation. Two Moorish towers are features of the library frontage. Around the entire building is a terraced wall, erected as an afterthought, but in perfect barmony with the enclosed building. Externally, no more graceful building can be seen in the United States. So ingeniously do the various tions of the building conform to each other that the blending of tower, columns, arches and gables is perfect. Not one feature of the exterior is extraneous, nor does any-marble stairway leads to the art rooms and the scientific ball, the former above the book magazines and the latter above the reading room. Directly in front of the visitor are the doors leading into the library. This section of the building is divided into nine separate rooms, viz., the reception room, reading room, ladies' reading room, bibliographic room, inner office and repair room, librarian's room, magazine No. 1, magazine No. 2 and heretor. The reception room is the bird luvatory. The reception room is the chief glory of the building and is a notable example of refined art. The floor is in an irregular mosaic of white marble tint with a heavy black mosaic border. In the center is a circular pattern in reddish tint with arabesque designs surrounding the did ceremonies. The route from the palace words worked in mosaic "Carnegie Free to the cemetery was lined with troops, and Library." The tint of the walls is a rich due military honors were paid to the delight brown and the dimensions of the ceased. The hearse was drawn by eight room, 36x40, are imposing enough to make the height of 26 harmonize. Facing the entrance is the enormous chimney in ancient terra cotta style. In the middle of its broad surface is the strongly drawn picture of Andrew Carnegie, the contribution of the members of the commission to the attractions of the building.

NICE CONTRASTS OF COLOR. Five feet below the ceiling level, running around three sides of the room, is a series of serrated arches forming a colonnade, the contrast in color between the tints of the arches and the wall being very pleasing. Each arch encloses a chocolate brown panel, upon which appears the private mark of every noted American publisher, ancient and modern. They are a study for an enthusiast. At the base of the colonuade is a lacquered band of pale blue. On this appear the names of distinguished American authors representative of all fields of literature. The names are as follows:

Auduben, Bancroft, Bryant, Cary, Channing, Cooper, Edwards, Emerson, Franklin, Fuller, Hodge, Hawthorne, Holmes, Irving, Long-fellow, Motley, Parker, Prescott, Sigourney, Silliman, Story, Stowe, Taylor, Thoreau, and lastly Whitsler.

.The band of blue where it crosses the chimney bears the following sentiment: "Choose Your Author as You Choose a The huge skylight is a departur from the original plans, and was designed by Mr. James B. Scott. Arabesques of curled and twisted iron work radiate from a graceful central figure, and over these are laid squares of ground glass.

PERFECT LIGHTS AND SHADES.

As a decoration of the ceiling the success perfect and the diffusion of light is admirable. Symmetrical pillars on the right upbeld an arch of immense sweep separating the reception room from the general read-ing room. It is 40x48, and is furnished with heavy oaken tables and comfortable chairs, and the provision for artificial and natural light is ample and well-considered Another wide archway leads to the ladies' reading room, a small copy of the general room. The floor space is 21x40. The excellence of these arrangements for the com-tort of the reading public will be seen at a glance. The bibliographic room is a pla apartment approached through piliars at the left of the reception room. It is 55x25, and its future uses depend largely upon the glits of engravings, etc.

The magazines are 50x25 each, and so arranged as to economize space. There is room for 150,000 volumes. A system of incandescent lights is so arranged as to allow of noving the globes to any desired portion The inner office will be used for unpacking books, etc. The librarian's office is a small apartment through which it is possible to reach Carnegie Hall, but as a general thing the entrance will not be accessible. At the rear of the chimney is a completely appointed lavatory.

WHAT CARNEGIE HALL IS LIKE. Music Hall, or "Carnegie Hall," is 59x 78 feet in not floor space, with a vestibule 36x20, and a stage 22x59. The gallery extends almost to the stage on either side, and is built on the cantilever system. At the rear the gallery runs back to the front of the hall. The ceiling is 40 feet high at the apex of the gradual arch, and the tracery patterns on the walls merges into the plain general tint with charming effect. Not one of the 1,110 seats but is available, one seat being absolutely as good as another. The acousties are admirable. The grand organ has been fully described in these columns, and will prove an unending source of de-light to the thousands who will visit the building. Remarkable among the embellish-ments of the hall's interior are the huge chandeliers, especially designed for the building. They are of banded iron twisted work in such satisfactory manner and style.

The sketch plans of Paul J. Pelz, were admirable in theory; but their reduction to practicality was accountly but their reduction to

AN AWFUL MISTAKE

Brukeman Lenves a Switch Open, Causing a Frightful Wreck-One Man Killed and Four Injured-Northern Central Trains Completely Blockaded.

HARRISBURG, February 9 .- An open switch caused a wreck on the Northern Central, near this city, this afternoon. At meso long, had begun to affect my lungs, and they pained me very much, especially when I coughed or raised up the offensive discharge shead of the Pacific express due ahead of the Pacific express due here at 3 o'clock, had orders to lay upon the siding until the passenger train had passed. The rear brakeman of the first section left the switch open, think-ing the second section would follow, but instead it ran in upon another switch. fore the brakeman could remedy his mis-take the passenger train rounded a curve and dashed into the locomotive of the second freight train, which had ran upon the siding to a point opposite the open switch. All day the track has been blocked by the twisted and broken rails and demolished locomotives.

A fireman named Morton, of Baltimore, was the only one killed. He was fireman on the express train. Isaac Stormer, the engineer of the express, and Jacob S. Vagel, engineer of the second freight, are seriously hurt, but will probably recover. The express messengers, Captain J. A. McCahen and J. H. Pownall, of Harrisburg, were injured but not express. jured, but not seriously. Several others were scratched and bruised. The negligent brakeman disappeared after the accident.

AN OLD MAN'S AWFUL CRIME.

A Septungenerian Fatally Shoots His Son and His Daughter-in-law. MIAMI, MAN., February 9 .- Last night staff, and from the press of the Pittsburg Photo-Engraving Com-pany. It is a handsome example of typographical art, The Illustrations are of particular excellence, and the general getterrible double tragedy occurred here, John Morton and his wife, aged respectively 52 and 54 years, being shot in cold blood by Morton's father, aged 75, who was residing with them. John Morton was absent from his home yesterday, and during his absence the old man and Mrs. Morton had some angry words, which ended by Morton striking his daughter-in-law with a piece of wood. On the son's return he rebuked the old man for his actions, where-upon the father said: "Do you see that rifle?

I want you to take it down and shoot me or I will shoot you." The old man then took down the rifle, went outside and fired through the window, nstantly killing his son, the bullet entering his heart. The hired man ran to a neighbor for assistance, and during his absence Mrs. Morton was shot in the abdomen by Morton. She only lived for an hour. The old man does not deny the crime and says he did it intentionally.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing beyond all other human enjoyments. To pur-chase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

THAT TERRIBLE GRIPPE.

What It Really is Explained by One of the An Imbecile Child Scalded to Death While Best Informed Men in America. in the Bath-An Inmate, Instead of The president of one of the leading New York the Proper Attendant, As-Medical Colleges, in conversation with the writer the other evening, said:

Medical Colleges, in conversation with the writer the other evening, said:

"La Grippe,' the Buselan influenza, that has caused so much talk, is a more severe affliction than people usually think. It arises mysteriously and appears to have its origin in the atmosphere. The last time it visited America was in 1803, and it came then, as now, from Asia. The name 'influenza' comes from the suggestion that the malady was due to the 'influences' of the heavenly bodies, but more modern science has discovered that it is due to the changes in the electrical conditions. Whatever may be the cause, it is a strong congestion of the blood vessels and nucous membrane, principally in the head and throat, and nothing but strong stimulants will check this congestion and keep the blood actively circulating. For this purpose I know of nothing better than pure whiskey, and I believe Duffy's Pure Malt to be the, best and purest whiskey known to the world.

"Formerly this influenza was said to precede an epidemic of the plague, and the person who was about to be taken with the latter, had, as a preliminary, a fit of sneezing. Now it precedes a worse epidemic than the plague, namely, the terrible poeumonia. Its Deginning is slight, but its ending is often terrible. Pains in the limbs, back, chest and head; a sore throat and lack of appetite; copious discharge at the nose; these are some of the symptoms of this dread disease. Upon the slightest approach of any of these symptoms, a nervous feeling, or lassitude, resort should be had to apure whiskey, which is the only certain means of breaking un this epidemic before it secures a hold upon the system or check it when it has become started. Care should be taken, however, to secure only that which is pure, as the article above named certainly is." caused by allowing an inmate to bathe Miss

Cured by the physicians of the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute, 323 Penn avenue, "Hundreds of people in Pittsburg have told how wonderfully they have been cured by the physicians of the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute at 323 Penn ave., and I feel it my duty to state my case. My catarrh, which had troubled bronchial tubes, that I found it often difficult to breathe, I coughed more or less both day and night. It would often hurt me to breathe, my breath became short, and I felt a tight oppressive feeling in my lungs, I often felt a pain in my left side. My food would sour on my stomach, giving me a full, uncomfortable feeling after eating, with belching of gas. My hands and feet were cold and clammy. I could not walk any distance, or up a hill without getting out of breath. I had many other aches and pains and also suffered from those diseases peculia: to women. In fact, I grew weaker and weaker until I felt as if I did not care whether I lived or died, as I would be an invalid the remainder of my life. I tried several doctors, but I found no relief. Reading of so many cures made by the physicians of the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute, and which seemed similar to mine, I took three months' treatment from these specialists. The resul. is I now feel like a new woman, I have gained 25 pounds in flesh; my work does not seem a burden to me as it used to, and I feel well and strong. I shall be glad to tell anyone further what these physicians have done for me. I live on Lemington ave., near Lincoln ave., East Liberty, this city." MRS, ELIZA SMITH. Itation free to all. # W.M.LAIRDS MAMMOTH BARGAIN SALE

ENLARGEMENT.

AND ALL MUST GO THIS TIME.

Our Market street retail stores have been tested to their utmost capacity during the past six months. This unusual pressure necessitates an enlargement before the spring trade sets in, and store 410 Market street, adjoining our present quarters, has been secured.

The natural result, viz.: being in the hands of Carpenters, Painters and others leads to dust, confusion and spoiling of

A Bargain Sale is the outlet to which we resort. The goods shall be moved if prices can do it. Notwithstanding the low prices, our goods will be guaranteed in regard to wearing qualities and satisfaction to the

We might fill a whole paper with enumeration of prices, and description of our mammoth stock, as it embraces everything desirable in footwear, aggregating in wholesale and retail,

$150,000. No matter what you desire just now,

BOOTS, SHOES, SLIPPERS, RUBBERS

or anything in our line, we guarantee you a great saving of time and money, besides satisfying you that we mean everything we say.

THE VALUE OF MONEY

You don't know it, unless you attend Kaufmanns' Counter Clearing of Winter Goods. No event of this nature of modern times can compare at all with this truly marvelous offering. Time and again have Kaufmanns' regaled their patrons with rare and good bargains, but they all pale into insignificance before the unheard of reductions just made. Take Overcoats, for instance. Why the prices have been cut and slashed to the very core, affording every patron a saving of at least 50 per

WE WANT THE LADIES TO COME

The ladies, than whom none understands and appreciates a bargain better, are especially invited to call and see how we have cut down the prices of Cloaks.

Newmarkets, Wraps, Jackets, Shawls, etc. We don't propose to carry a single garment over, but start the next season with a stock entirely new. Present losses, therefore, cannot be considered. What's left of our excellent stock of English Seal Plush garments will now go at just half price. Oh, we mean business, and if you but have the slightest inclination to save money, we shall have a rushing trade all week.

A : GOOD CHANGE

Did you note the change we have made on our first floor? Heretofore a part of the :: Furnishing Goods department has been at the left, as you entered; the other part at the right. The entire department will now be found at your right, as you enter, while the Hat department has been moved to the left. The improvement is an excellent one, and, together with various other alterations we made, now gives us better facilities than ever before for serving our customers comfortably and promptly. The Neckwear department, which has been alloted a space twice its former size, now abounds in beautiful novelties for the coming spring season. See sample display of Neckwear in

THOSE LADIES' JERSEY SUITS.

We would again impress upon you the fact that we have the sole agency for these goods in Western Pennsylvania and that they cannot be found in any other house in either city. We sell them at $2 75 and $4, at which prices they are the best and cheapest, as well as the most fashionable Ladies' Suits ever offered anywhere. We also have Misses' sizes. Mail Orders promptly attended to.
