WAS IT ALL A TRAP?

Forger Wood Told a Witness That the Ballot-Box Contract Was

A SCHEME TO CATCH FORAKER.

Some Lively Testimony Before the Investigating Committee.

CHAIRMAN HADDEN AGAIN ON THE RACK

ister to Russia.

The President Appoints Charles Emery Smith Min

Before the Ohio Ballot-Box Investigating Committee vesterday a witness testified that Wood had told him that the lorged contract was part of a plan to annihilate Foraker. Lewis Hadden was recalled and said that the ex-Governor knew that he paid money to Mrs. Wood. Senators McPherson and Stockbridge denied ever signing any such document.

WASHINGTON, February 10 .- Another evidence of Forger Wood's capacity for prevarication was produced to-day. According to one witness he stated that the contract was a trap for Governor Foraker. John L. Pfau, of Cincinnati, told of a conversation he had with Wood after his release from prison. Wood had remarked that nobody whose name was on the paper had had him arrested, and that he had to stand the brunt of the whole business. In answer to witness Wood had said that Governor Foraker and Mr. Halstead believed the paper to be genuine. Witness told this to Mr. Halstead, who said of course he believed so.

Wood had further said to witness that they were contented with Governor Foraker and never expected to trap him any more and that they never expected to trap Halstead. Wood said that he had been made the innocent tool to trap Foraker. He did not say who had used him as a tool, but when wit-ness suggested John R. McLean and T. C. Campbell he acknowledged that he was not

TO CATCH FORAKER.

To Mr. Turner witness said he believed that Wood's exact words were: "To catch Foraker." Wood had outlined the plan to be to have Foraker publish the paper, then come out and prove it to be a forgery and crush Foraker. Wood said he didn't see that until the thing was over, and he was the innocent tool, for he had no intention of helping to annihilate Foraker.

In answer to further questioning on the point by Mr. Turner and Mr. Wilson witness said his understanding of the matter was that Wood had failed to get an original paper from Mr. McLean, and then drawn up a forged copy from memory, which he had supplied to Governor Foraker, Mr. McLean knew this (so witness gathered from what Wood said) and was just waiting for Governor Foraker to use it to expose the forgery.

Lewis M. Hadden was recalled for crossexamination. To Mr. Grosvenor he said that on June 28 he had told Governor Foraker that he believed this was written evidence that Campbel', Butterworth and McKinley were financially interested in the ballot-box bill; had not testified before as to his visit to Mrs. Wood because he had not

BATHER AN INSINUATION.

There were gentlemen at the table who knew he had paid Mrs. Wood money, and he expected to be examined about it. had slipped his memory at the time, but the evening of the day he testified before the committee he recalled it, and told Mr. Kurts that he was surprised that he had not been questioned on that point. Governor Foraker knew of it. He had expected the examination to be continued the next day, but the committee had adjourned for two

The witness was about to explain that he had no motive to conceal payments of money to Mrs. Wood, but Mr. Grosvenor cut him off on the ground that his statement was not responsive to the question. This led to a little spat between Mr. Grosvenor and the Chairman, who insisted that the witness had a right to make his statement. The com-mittee was appealed to and finally Mr. Groevenor was allowed to proceed with the cross-examination. He asked if the statement by a responsible man, while the Republican party was demoralized by the publication of the retraction, that he had seen an original paper a year before would not have stopped the stampede.

The witness replied that in his judgment it would not, for after Mr. Halstead had manfully admitted that the paper was a forcery, no matter how many genuine ar-ticles he published, he could not make people believe them.

SOMEWHAT CONTRADICTORY. Mr. Grosvenor referred to Mr. Halstead's statement that Hadden had told him he knew nothing about the paper. Witness told his version of the interview. Mr. Halstead had expressed his conviction that the paper was a forgery, and asked witness to paper was a forgery, and asked witness to tell him where the paper came from. Wit-ness repeated what Wood had told him, which Mr. Halstead said agreed with what he had learned. Mr. Halstead had not asked about any other paper, and witness did not volunteer a statement for the reason that he wanted to be governed by the views of Governor Forsker and the other men he had spoken with. His acquaintance with Mr. Halstead had been very slight. That was one of the reasons why he did not feel like opening up to Mr. Halstead, who had always been hostile to him.

It might have been wise to have told Mr. Halstead that he had an important fact bearing on the paper about which he wished bearing on the paper about which he wished to consult Gov. Foraker. But he was dumfounded and upset through being pulled out of bed at a late hour and being told that the paper was a forgery. Witness had believed it to be genuine to that time, T. C. Campbell's paper being the strongest corroborative evidence. Mr. Grosvenor wished to know why witness remained either for to know why witness remained silent for four weeks and let the crash come. He re-plied that Gov. Foraker and other people

SOME SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY. Among the witnesses to-day was Senator Stockbridge, of Michigan. He was shown the forced paper and denied having signed it or knowing anything about a ballot-box bill or contract. He added that the forged signature of his name was not a good imitation of his true signature. Senator McPherson of New Jersey, the part witnesses. son, of New Jersey, the next witness, said he had a number of occupations, but had no ballot-box industry among them. He also knew nothing of the forged paper and de-clared his signature a bold forgery and a base one at that.

The witness, having referred to the ballotbox matter as a conspiracy, Mr. Turner saked if he knew anything of a conspiracy in that connection. He replied that when a gentleman had abundant opportunity to ascertain the falsity of such a charge, but hastened instead to give it to the world, it might be regarded as a conspiracy. Gov-ernor Foraker inquired if it would not de-pend on the circumstances under which the paper had been procured and the apparent proof to support its character.

Senator McPherson replied that as the paper, if genuine, would degrade and ruin public men, and properly so, they should have been consulted when it was possible to do so by traveling 400 or 500 miles. His first impulse on reading the publication had been to have every man confronted with it

FORAKER'S QUESTION. Governor Foraker-Hadn't you better do that yet, Senator? The courts are still Senator McPherson-I don't know. Halstend got down in the dirt and rolled over in his humiliation and attempted to remedy the wrong, which changed the situation somewhat James W. O'Neill, of Lebanon, O., testified as to a conversation he had with Mr. Halstead respecting the forgery, when the latter said he was not the man between the millstones; that he was disposed to hang the paper up in the window so that everybody might see it. Witness was convinced that Mr. Halstead believed the paper to be genwine. When witness called attention to Senator Sherman's denial, Mr. Halstead replied that he would not mention any Republican names, but he hoped, for reasons that went beyond State lines, and were not as broad as the nation itself, that the gentle-men would not deny the genuineness of their signatures. Representative Morey, of Ohio, testified that he had told Mr. Halstead that he doubted the genuineness of James E. Campbell's signature. Mr. Halstead had in-sisted that the signatures were all right and had shown him the photographic copy of the paper to convince him, besides referring to "contract 1,000" as an ably drawn docu-ment. The collateral facts, Mr. Halstead argued, established the genuineness of Campbell's signature. However, if it ap-peared otherwise, his plain duty would be to make the truth known. In the end he convinced witness that the paper was

THE MAN FOR RUSSIA.

Charles Emory Smith Nominated as Minister by President Harrison-He Will Undoubtedly be Confirmed in Due Time.

WASHINGTON, February 10 .- Charles Emory Smith, of the Philadelphia Press, was to-day nominated by President Harrison as Minister to Russia, This, rt will be remembered, is the mission to which Mr. Halstead was appointed but not confirmed, Mr. Smith was born n Mansfield, onn., Februry 18, 1842. Seven years ater he remov ed with his parents to Albany, N. Y. Here h was educated in the public schools, and at the Albany Academy, graduating from the latter in 1858. During the next six months, before entering college, when he was only 16 years of age, he wrote leading articles for the Albany Evening Transcript. In 1861 Mr. Smith was graduated from the Shenectady University. He was appointed to the staff of General Rathbone, and for two years was engaged in the work of reeruiting and organizing volunteers for the war. This post he exchanged for one in the faculty of his old school, the Albany Academy, but in 1869 he finally left the scholastic for the journalistic world, becoming editor of the Albany Express. In 1871 he was President of the State Press Association, and delivered the annual address at its meeting.

For six successive years he served as delegate to the Republican State Convention. In 1879 he was selected as Temporary and Permanent President, and was Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions in each of the other years, excepting 1877, when Roscoe Conkling held that post and Mr Smith was the secretary. He was also delegate to the National Republican Convention at Cinciunati in 1876, and as New York member of the Committee on Resolutions a large por-tion of the platform was drafted by his peq. In March of the year of 1879, Mr. Smith removed to Philadelphia, and took charge of the Press, with which he has since been connected. There is no doubt that the pres-ent nomination will be duly confirmed. The Sloux Reservation Opened. WASHINGTON, February 10 .- The President has signed the proclamation opening the Sioux reservation in South Dakota. He has also issued an order establishing land offices at Pierre and Chamberlain. De Not Like the Law.

WASHINGTON, February 10 .- In the Senate to-day among the petitions presented and referred was one from the Indianapolis. Board of Trade asking for the total repeal of the inter-State commerce act.

Central Standard Time Adopted. CINCINNATI, February 10 .- The ordinance making Central Standard time the legal criterion instead of meridian time was to-day approved by the Mayor and the Board of Public Affairs, and now only awaits ten days' advertising until it goes into effect. ## Rheumatism

BEING due to the presence of urio D acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony: -

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months, and am pleased to state that it has effected a complete cure. I have since had no return of the disease."—Mrs. B. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th st., New York.

"One year ago I was taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."—Mrs. L. A.
