IFROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

SHAMOKIN, February 11 .- There was a strange unanimity in the menu cards of all Shamokin hotels to-day. They each led off with bean soup, and bean soup was served three times during the day. To-day the meetings were full of solid business. When Department Commander Stewart's gavel fell at 9:30 A. M. the Opera House stage was occupied by veteran dignitaries from various parts of the State.

Major E. A. Montooth was there, flanked by Chill Hazzard, who is still in the field for Lieutenant Governor. General Alger, of Michigan, the National Commander, did not arrive until after noon.

The strength of this department of the Grand Army has increased 17 posts and 2,783 comrades during the year just closed, making the grand total 569 posts with 44,613 comrades. Two posts had disbanded during

COMBADES GONE BEFORE.

The mortuary list for the year contains Samuel Harper, Past Senior Vice Com-mander W. R. Jones, Past Junior Vice Commander George R. Hart, and Past Com-mander-in-Chief John F. Hartranft, each of mander-in-Cole John F. Blaffrant, each of which was briefly eulogized in Commander Stewart's report. The calamities at Johnstown and other points in the State are treated at considerable length. A relief fund of $23,000 was collected, of which the Department of Pennsylvania contributed

The Women's Relief Corps and the ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic are complimented for the work accomplished and the status of the Boldiers and Bailors' and the status of the Soldiers and Sailors' Home at Erie, the Memorial Home and the Soldiers' Orphan school given, showing a satisfactory condition of their affairs. Upon the subject of legislation the act making it unlawful for anyone not a member using the G. A. R. badge and the appropriation of $50,000 for a free war library was referred to and it was stated that the G. A. R. would be expected to make $5,000. maise $5,000.

DENNISTON IS CHOSEN.

Major Joseph F. Denniston, of Pittsburg, was elected Department Commander. He was nominated by W. J. Patterson, of J. C. Huil Post 157, of Pittsburg. Mr. Patterson spoke for ten minutes, giving a brief account of Major Denniston's civil and military career. The nomination was seconded by G. Harry Davis, of Philadelphia, who paid the Major a flattering compliment on behalf of the Quaker City, speaking of the sterling qualities of past commanders who came from the Natural Gas city. Major Dennis-ton came forward and in a few words accepted the high office, promising to fill its duties to the best of his ability.

An enormous crowd filled the Opera House to-night to participate in the campfire. General Alger, of Michigan, got considerable appliance when he entered upon the stage, but, when the brass band came out, it got more, and finally Chill Haznard, eidedly a greater reception, than either the brass band or Alger HAZZARD AS A HUMORIST.

Hazzard was master of ceremonies this evening, and he sustained his reputation as a humorist finely. Introducing each speaker, he told some story about him which generally turned out to be false. The result was that, before the night was over, the speakers all combined to get even with Chill, General Alger's speech, as delivered, was very tame. He said that the claim of Pennsylvania soldiers that they put down the rebellion met him at every turn. It reminded him of the little girl who had heard her father boast so much of his war record that finally after hearing him tell the story 50 times, she asked: "Papa, did anyone help you to put down the rebellion?" However, the General admitted that the Pennsylvania department is now the banner division of the Grand Army.

A SPECIFIC DENIAL. He denied that the Grand Army was a United States Treasury wrecker, but said the Government could place the whole treasury in the hands of the order and it would be guarded as sacredly as was the trust given them in the days of 1861. The soldier must have his just dues, and he is now asking the Government for them in tones that cannot be mistaken.

Then a little later, General Gobin, of Lebanon county, in a speech full of rousing war memories, set the audience ablaze when wheeling around and pointing first southward, and then at General Alger, he said: "On the hilltops of Shamokin you could almost hear the cannons of Gettysburg. Alger was there, and he there led a charge, riding behind Custer and yelling, 'Come on, you wolverines, come,' and it was this same Alger who discovered that in Phil Sheridan which raised him from a a quartermaster to the leader of men that he became. Aye, that was honor enough for a life time."

A GENUINE OVATION.

Then the ovation for Alger came. It was a little tardy, but it was grand. Continuing General Gobin referred to the cry so often heard among young men that the old soldier is wanting too much. He ably defended the rights of the veterans, and demanded pensions unstinted.

Mrs. Annie Whittenmyer, the famous army nurse, and now head of the Woman's Relief Corps of Pennsylvania, as well as late President of the National Relief Corps, made a statement of the founding by the women's corps this year of a State Home at Brookville for old soldiers and their wives. They bought the house as it stands, furnished elegantly throughout, with 40 acres surrounding. There had been a proposition to take down the costly lace curtains, but she prevented it, saying that the men who had looked through the smoke of battle, now had the right to look through lace cur-tains. Beside this big enterprise the State women have spent this year $15,000 in gen-

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND STRONG The national corps which Mrs. Whitten myer represents now numbers nearly 100,000 members, and before the close of the year will have at its command $1,000,000 for concluded Mrs. Whittenmyer.

Rev. Colonel Danks, of Pittsburg, was called out for a song. A hundred voices yelled out for "The Blue." He sang it to them in his rich tenor, and every stanza won him an ovation. He had to give in to Major Montooth modestly sat with the boys during the evening, and Major Denniston was not present at all, remaining at his hotel on account of the cold. During the afternoon State Chaplain Sayers and Seulor Vice Commander Oster, of Shamo-kin, were elected by acclamation. In all other offices several ballots had to be taken, and the result will not be abnounced before to-morrow. It is believed, however, that James Hunter, of Pitisburg, made the riffic all right for Council of Administration. No SOUTHSIDE REALTY DEALS.

Iwo Lots on the Corner of Twelfih and Car-The Old Crystal Gines Works Sold-Place.

The claim made by the Southside to be treated with consideration is making itself more and more apparent every day. Report after report chronicling the incorporation of new inclines, electric railways, etc., follow each other in close succession.

Yesterday was no exception to the rule, for it marks the transfer of two large blocks of real estate. The first was the sale of two lots on the corner of Twelfth and Carson streets, which were given considerable notice some time ago on account of a report that they had been sold to a large clothing concern of the city to be used as a branch house on that side of the river. It is hardly necessary to say that the report was untrue, although some manner of negotiations were on foot at the time, which fell through for some reason or other. How-

And attacks of la grippe, typhus fever. scariet fever or diphtheria, the patient recovers strength slowly, as the system is weak and, debilitated, and the blood poisoned by the ravages of the disease. What is needed is a good re-liable tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has just the elements of strength for the body, and vitality and richness for the blood which bring back robust health, Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the weak strong. "After recovering from a prolonged sickness with diptharia and needing something to with diphtheria, and needing something to build me up. I took two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I felt good results from the first dose. It seemed to go from the top of my head to the ends of my toes. I know Hood's Sarsa-parilla is a good thing." G. H. STRATTON, Druggist, Westfield, Mass.

fell through for some reason or other. However, in the present case a real genuine transfer of the property has taken place, and Mr. Joseph Ploger, at present doing business on Carson street, near Thirteenth, is the purchaser. The price paid was $25,000, on which Mr. Ploger might have been the gamer to the extent of at least a couple of thousand dollars before nightfall last night had he fell inclined to dispose of his bargain so soon.

Mr. Ploger is very elated over the deal, as he feels certain that he has struck a hure piece of luck in the accumulation of the property referred to. He is not disposed to refune any good offer of a retransferral, but if it is not forthcoming within a reasonable time he will tear down the frame buildings now occupying the property and erect a fine business block instead, which may include office flats, sadly needed at present by the Southside.

Regarding the other deal in realty, it was reported last evening that a syndicate had purchased the old crystal glass works property on Washington, between Sixteenth and Sevententh streets, for some purpose which could not be learned. Investigation developed the fact that the syndicate in question was composed of three well-known business men of the not be learned. Investigation developed the fact that the syndicate in question was composed of three well-known business men of the Southside—John Musser, John Siebert and C. E. Succop. An attempt was made to see the first two gentlemen, but without success. C. E. Succop rather knocked the wind out of the syndicate idea by declaring that he was the only one interested; that he had purchased the property as a pure real estate speculation, intending to cut the property up into building lots, and erect brick dwellings of about six rooms each to be sold at a very reasonable rate. He also states that he is already making arrangements for about a half dozen of these houses to be erected immediately. If he succeeds in disposing of them, he will fill out the plan with attructures of the same kind. The price paid for the property by Mr. Succop was $21,000.
