A TALK WITH M'KEAN.

The Cleveland Shortstop Tells About His Contracts.

HE IS OUT FOR THE MONEY

The Local League Ball Club Won't Journey Down South.

ABOUT ROWE AND WHITE'S CLUB

E. J. McKean, the Cleveland ball player, is in the city and explains his actions in signing two contracts. The local League club will remain at home and practice. The Buffalo club has withdrawn from the International Association after losing money.

E. J. McKean, the well-known shortstop of the Cleveland National League club, arrived in the city yesterday and registered at the Hotel Anderson. McKean has been prominently before the baseball public ately as a contract jumper, he having signed a new League and subsequently appended his name to a National League document. A few days ago it was reported that he had repudiated his National League agreement and again returned to the Brothergood fold, but he denies this. He talked very nterestingly on the question yesterday to a epresentative of THE DISPATCH. During a one conversation be said:

A FEW POINTS EXPLAINED. I am not here on any baseball business, but eling man. About my case? Well, I am not in a very comfortable position, but I have certainly not agreed to go back to the Brotherhood. I wish this to be made very clear. I know that reports were circulated to the effect that I had sade requests to be taken back, but those reports were false. I was with At Johnson when the news of Ward's victory in court was received in Cleveland. We then talked about my going back, but nothing definite was done; in fact, we did not talk in a business way at all. I the party that would pay me the most money. I subsequently took my two contracts to rominent lawyer, and after examining them he told me that the new League contract was binding, while the other was not. He said that cording to the Brotherhood contract I could make the Cleveland new club keep me the en-

Not so with the old Cleveland club, said the lawyer: its contract is not by any means binding after the player has signed it. Well, I cannot say where I will play this season. I have not made up my mind as to what club will be successful and which will pay me the most money. I am free to confess that I am in a very uncomfortable position. I don't know how Miller and others feel, but I don't like it. One is a kind of terrors. kind of target for everybody to make a kind of target for everybody to make a mark of."

McKean continued: "The prospects of the Brotherhood are exceedingly bright since the New York club failed to secure an injunction against Ward, At Cleveland it is now all Brotherhood, and heretofore it was all the old League. The Brotherhood's chances seem to be extremely good, and all the deserters, I understand, want to be back. I haven't any idea as to what I'll do yet. Salary will have about everything to do with me."

McKean went on to say that there would be some good ball players in Cleveland this season. Both clubs, he argued, will be good ones. He may leave for home this evening.

BUFFALO WITHDRAWS.

Rows and White's Team Leave the International After Losing Money.

SEPECTAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH . BUFFALO, February 11 .- The Buffalo Baseball Club is out of the International Association, having failed to put up the $1,000 guarantee. The franchise was retained until new to enable Buffalo to dispose of several players not wanted for this year's Players' team, and thus

This year's team is substantially owned by men as backed the nine last year. They are Rowe and White, ex-Sheriff Frank Gilbert, Superior Court Clerk Moses Shire and Charles Fitzgerald. These gentlemen have pursued the policy of withholding news from all the local reporters, and since Jack Rowe went to California about all the news the Buffale papers have been able to get has leaked out through other channels. The cittle last year lost about $2,000, and it was expected this would be recovered by the sale of Lehane, Reidy, Collins, Hamburg, Andrus, Shepard, Flynn and Dealy. Lehane is understood to be sold to Columbus, but he has not signed and cannot be found. None of the others have been sold so far as can be learned here, and, as they were practically anybody's property winout buying after to-day, in case Buffalo fauled to put up the guarantee, it is not believed that any of them have been bought. ale papers have been able to get has leaked out through other channels. Manager Hecker Tells Why the Southern Journey is Abandoned.

Manager Hecker visited the old League ball grounds yesterday morning. He found the park in tolerably fair condition, but some little improvements will be made in the stands and The manager Secretary Scandrett and Presi dent Nimick had a long talk about the proposed Southern trip, and finally it was conposed Southern trip, and finally it was conclined to have no trip at all. Manager Hecker said: "The team will remain at home and fill up all the dates until the championship season opens. There will, therefore, be plenty of exhibition games. Louisville, Columbus, Erie and some Canadian clubs have written for dates. Many of our players will begin to report next month, and I think we will get an excelent team into first-class congition. The exlent team into first-class cond pense of a Southern trip with 21 men would outwelgh all benefits."

Cleveland Will Have Nothing to Do With the Detroit Club.

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. CLEVELAND, February 11.-There is nothing in the New York story that a consolidation of the Cleveland and Detroit clubs is to take the Cleveland and Detroit clubs is to take place, part of the games to be played in each city. In fact, the officials of the local club say that they have heard nothing of it, except as the rumor was repeated to them to-night.

"We will not run a half-and-half organization," said Secretary Hawley. "It will be simply Cleveland or nothing. We have sold a large number of season tickets, calling for every game of the League series, and we expect our patrons to see every one of these games without taking a boat to Detroit to do so."

Macalester won all the money. He beat Dr. Knapp in the series by 423 to 387 birds. Macalester won all three matches, and proved himself to be one of the greatest live bird shots for money in the country. It is generally conceded by old sportsmen that few of the old timers, man given credit for being money shooters, could have equaled this score.

Dr. Knapp had $5,000 of his own money on the match, while Mr. Macalester was backed by a syndicate, and this may have had something to do with Dr. Knapp's loss of heart. Mr. Macalester made some beautiful shots in the last half of the "race," and Dr. Knapp's supporters declared that Mr. Macalester was by odd, the greatest wing shot, either amateur or FRIEND BILLIE-Your letter received to-night. and it finds me in the best of health. Billie, it would be a joyful meeting for us both if we could get together as we have often done before, but it unot be. So let it be as it is. I am altogethe a different man; I have found peace and hope for my soul; I have looked for pardon from a higher my soul; I have looked for pardon from a higher place than this earth, and I have found it. I am reconciled to my fate and will meet it like a man, for I have nothing more to live for. All my hopes were blighted over a year ago, and it is needless to mention names. Billie, I do hope you can get a chance to come and see me before the 20th, for I would like to see you and have a talk over old times. Of course, I have done an awful crime, but I was driven to it; but nevertheless I wasn't justified in killing either of them; that is where I made the sad mistake; you know all the rest, and for that reason I don't care to live. I prefer to die, and then I will be out of my troubles. My casket came to-day, and i will soon see it; be put in it and go to rest. The county don't bury me: my brother will pay sal. I will be taken home to be burled alongside of my father, brothers and sisters. Billie, I hope from the bottom of my heart that you and yours will prosper and that you will live happy and content; don't fall into the snare that I did.

You will read his and my statements after I am gone. We are both unfortunate men, but we will die game. My eyesight is failing me day by day. It is the close confinement that is the cause of it. I have to guess half what I write, as I can't see the lines. Give my regards to the boys and tell them you got a letter from me. Tell them how I feel; that I am prepared to die. His plan was unique. He took a $1 silver certificate and by means of powerful acids and fine pen work the large figure "one" on the reverse side was split into two "tens," and the intermediate portion was transformed into a scroll. On the other side the "one" over the representation of the silver dollar was obliterated, and "ten" substitu-ted, but the "S" was left off the dollar. The ted, but the "S" was left off the dollar. Miss Bertha Wright, the Ryangelist, Hit With a Stone but Not in Any Danger.

A riot took place at Hull, opposite Ot tawa, last evening, which proves to be quite an enlargement over its predecessor of the week before. Miss Bertha Wright and her evangelists brought on the trouble by visiting the place in opposition to protests.

OTTAWA, ONT., February 11.-There was a riot to-night at Hull City, just across the river from here. It was an enlargement of the riot which took place there last week Miss Bertha Wright and ber evangelists had announced that they were going over there to-night. Members of the Young Men's Christian Association and others had offered to go over with the Evangelists and in fact had offered an escort of 1,000 men. Miss Wright, bowever, fearing trouble, asked them to stay away. Hull was in a state of excitement all the afternoon, and about 7 o'clock 600 or 700 men and boys had assembled there. They paraded through the streets, and had entire possession of the town. The Chief of Police tried to harangue the mob, but could not get a hearing. Alderman Joshua Wright tried to make a speech, but the crowd attacked him and bent him severely.

ARMED WITH GUNS, STICKS AND STONES. The crowd soon increased in numbers until it was over 1,000 strong, and was armed with guns, sticks and stones. The men marched along shouting and singing. The Evangelists and their escorts left the building in a body and marched forward resource. lutely. The mob on perceiving them in-creased their yells.

A WOMAN AMONG THEM. Miss Wright was injured by a stone, but not seriously. H. Walters was hit in the temple with a stone and also received a wound in the back.
