WEATHER TOO SOFT

For Very Rapid Progress by the State Ship Canal Commission.

SIX SURVEYORS TO START OUT

As Soon as the Usual Spring Dampness Has

Had Its Day and Gone. A VALUABLE COLLECTION OF DATA

The Pennsylvania Ship Canal Commission met yesterday forenoon, in their regular monthly session, in the office of the commission, in the Penn building. Chairman Wood, Messra. Roberts, Shellenberger and Goodwin were present. In the absence of Secretary Brewer, of Erie, who has been unable to attend the last two meetings, Colonel T. P. Roberts was elected temporary secretary.

The work of the commission is not as far advanced as it was thought one month ago it would be by this time. It had been expected that the engineers would be able to be out on their field work. Unfortunately the weather has been such, Mr. Goodwin reported, that it was found imof the summit level. As it is water after which the commission is seeking, the proposed line runs through wet and marshy grounds. The soft weather renders it impossible for engineers to work in such places. One of the members of the commission said that it would probably be necessary to postpone the field work until after the usual wet season of the spring. The commissioners expressed regret over this fact. VALUABLE DATA COMPILED. Both Mr. Goodwin and Colonel Roberts, the e gineers of the commission, reported progress in the collection of data from previous surveys and examinations made for railway and other purposes, which will prove of value in the final compilation of a report. With the assistance of this data the new surveys, which will be required, may not occupy more than a The engineering corps will be composed of about six surveyors. Mr. Goodwin will have active charge of the work at the northern end, and Colonel Roberts at the southern end of the It has been decided, as soon as the Ohio river

It has been decided, as soon as the Ohio river falls to a suitable stage, to make a survey between Davis Island dam and Beaver. No continuous survey of this portion of the river has been made since 1838, and since then there have been many changes in the river.

Colonel Roberts amounced that he had received from Colonel William E. Merrill, the United States Engineer, the maps of the Allegheny river from Franklin to Pittsburg, made by the Government many years ago. It may not, therefore, be necessary to survey that portion of the river. tion of the river.

Messra. Roberts and Goodwin will shortly go to Harrisburg to consult a number of old maps which are in the possession of the State, KEEPING WITHIN THE LIMIT. One of the members of the commission said yesterday: "The commission is desirous of making as exhaustive a report as possible on the engineering features of the country, and have reason to believe that they will get through their work in a manner satisfactory to themselves and the public, without exceeding the means allotted for the purpose." Although the commission has been at work Although the commission has been at work for several months—las made a tour of the route and has collected many maps and much interesting information, its expenses have been very small. Out of the $10,000 appropriation which is in the hands of the State Treasurer only "a couple hundred dollars," as one of the commissioner's put it, has been expended.

THERE'S LUCK IN LEISURE.

An Adage Occasions ly True as Demonstrated " n Real Estate Sale. H. B. Smithson sold at auction yesterday No. 97 First avenue, 35x90 feet, with a three-story brick warehouse, for Charles W. Scovel, trustee of the estate of John W. Butler, deand price paid $14,505. This property was sold some time ago for $12,000, but there was a jar of some kind among those interested, and the sale was not ratified, though $12,000 was considered a fair price. The hitch was just worth $2,305 to the estate. The property rents for $1,000 a

By the terms of the sale two-thirds of the purchase is to be paid down and the remainder to remain a lien on the property, the interest thereon to be paid the widow during her life and principal at her death.

DR. HARTMAN.

LA GRIPPE. As Explained in Dr Hartman's Famous Locture on That Subject-History of Four gers and Treatment-Reported for the Public Press-What Does the Term La Grippe Meant La Grippe is a French term, which, translated into English, is "the influenzs," and translated into German is "die einfluss-krankheit." The epidemic which is at present prostrating so many people in all parts of the civilized world is not a new disease, but an old one. The French name, which has been in use wherever French is spoken for many years, has been for the first time introduced into this country, and many eople mistake a new name for a new dis ease. The uncommon prevalence of the present epidemic marks an important event in the history of the disease. Thousands people in high and low station have died of it, and still its virulence continues, showing no sign of improvement.

I have been acquainted with La Grippe, or epidemic influenza, many years. The first time I ever had any personal knowledge of this disease was in 1847, while yet a boy studying medicine. My study of it at that time was so thorough and careful that 13 years afterward (1860), when a terrible epidemic of it swept over the country, I at once recognized it, and was able to successfully cope with it. It was ten years before it possible to make the surveys which made its appearance again—the famous are desired, especially in the neighborhood epidemic of 1870. It was at this time it was first called "Russian Influenza," because of the fact that it originated in Russia and spread rapidly over the Asiatic and Euro-pean countries before it was noticed in this country. Twenty years had elapsed before the present epidemic (originating in Russia > across the Atlantic with it. SYMPTOMS. Each epidemic presents exactly the same symptoms. First, a "tired-out" feeling, gen-eral lassitude, cold feet and hands. Second, aching of the bones, transient, fleeting pains throughout the whole body. Third, chilly sensations, from indistinct, creeping rigors in slight cases, to pronounced chilis in more severe ones. Fourth, fever, with temperature ranging from 102 to 104 degrees Fahrenheit. Fifth, congestion of the eyes, lining membrane of the nose; sometimes throat and bronchial tubes. Sixth, profuse sweating occurs in some cases, especially after the disease has run a few days. Seventh, sneezing, and less frequently coughing are among the earliest symptoms. Eighth, usually an intense frontal headache, which ontinues more or less during the whole course of the disease. Ninth, aching and oreness of the muscles of the whole body. Each case presents slight variations, de pendent on age, condition of health, etc. During such an epidemic as this one the slightest indisposition should be at once attended to, as a few doses of the proper rem-edy at the start will do more than weeks of reatment after it fastens itself on the sys-DANGERS. La grippe is not a very fatal disease, al-though many die of it during the course of an epidemic. The chief danger which is to be feared is the low and weakened state it produces, giving a chance for other diseases to set in and finish the work. Pneumonia, consumption, congestion of the lungs and brain, acute rheumatism, typhoid sever and typhoid malaria are all frequent followers of La Grippe. However, different observers may account for it, the fact remains that every epidemic brings with it a fearful death

There are three distinct theories as to the cause of La Grippe or Russian influenza. Each theory has advocates and defenders of equal ability as medical writers. First, that it is caused by climatic influences only, and is but a modified cold. Second, that it is the result of minute organisms or spores which float in the atmosphere and is taken into the system by breathing them in. Third, that it is through both these causes combined that the system becomes affected by unfavorable weather, which so changes the blood as to enable spores to thrive in the body, which enable spores to thrive in the body, which in a perfectly healthy body could do no I am inclined to the latter theory furnishing the best explanation of all the acts. First, we have to have unusually bad weather, by which many people are partly overcome; and second, bacili, or disease germs, which are capable of causing the disease, but which are resisted by all who are in excellent health. If this is true, it would seem a wise thing during such an epidemic to take some invigorating tonic to guard against depressed states of health, which invite these disease germs to enter the body to set up their terri-ble work. Pe-ru-na exactly meets this emergency. It tones up the circulation, gives vigor to resist unhealthy weather, and stimulates the appetite and digestion. It furnishes the human body temporary assistance to tide it over a dangerous quagmire into which so many fall. TREATMENT. I have long since passed through what may be called the experiment stage of the doctor's history. In the beginning of my medical career I, like many other physicians, used many drugs, but experience gradually taught me which the reliable tew were. Since the epidemic of La Grippe of 1860 I have used invariably in the treatment of La Grippe Pe-ru-na. This remedy so exactly meets all the symptoms of La Grippe that it is folly to lose any time in experimenting with other remedies.

At the appearance of the first symptoms treatment should be begun at once, and keep strictly to the house for a lew days. No treatment, however effectual it may be, will always prevent quite a long siege with this disease, but no other medicinal treatment is necessary than Pe-ru-na. The directions. as they are given on the bottle, are more applicable to chronic diseases, and it is advisable, during the acute stage of the disease, to take smaller doses, but oftener. I would direct a teaspoonful of Pe-ru-na every hour for adults, and a correspondingly less dose for children. During the night, if the patients are quietly sleeping, it is not my cus-tom to wake them to take medicine, but if restless Pe-ru-na should be given regularly the whole twenty-four hours. The recovery is generally slow, even in slight cases. For many days the patient will complain of weak-ness, slight headache, want of appetite, etc. Pe-ru-na should be taken until the recovery is complete, but after the fever has subsided and the acute stage is past it is better to take it according to the directions on the bottle. Beet tea, mutton broth, and milk should be freely given according to the preference of the patient. People who have had La Grippe, the acute stage having passed and their recovery has come to a standstill, as is frequently the case, will Deposits of $1 and upward received and find in Pe-ru-na exactly the remedy that is suited to their case. It invigorates the whole system, restores the appetite, and produces natural sleep. Even after pneumonia or consumption has begun to develop it is not too late to expect a perfect cure from Pe-ru-na without any other treatment whatever. Many physicians are using it extensively in their prac-tice; at the same time a vast number of people are buying it at the drugstores and treating themselves, and the result is, if there is another remedy the equal of Peru-na for La Grippe, it is unknown to me. Whenever the bowels are constipated some good laxative should be used to regulate them, for it is highly important that the secretions should be kept active during the attack to rid the system of the accumulated poisons. I have found Man-a-lin to be the best is native for the purpose I have ever used, although it may be that there are others that would do as well. The reason I prefer Man-a-lin is that it produces a natural passage and does not gripe or purge as so many laxatives do, for it is very unfortunate to do anything to weaken the victim of this prostrating disease. With Peru-na and Man-a-lin at hand I feel pericetly able to cope with this disease in all stages and degrees of severity, and now that these reme-dies are in reach of all, with directions as to their use, I do not see why each family cannot protect itself against La Grippe and all
