HUNGRY FOR MUSIC

A Significant Fact Observed at the Opening of Carnegie Hall.

CROWDS AT THE ORGAN RECITALS.

Indicating a Desire for Frequent High-Class

Organ Concerts. A CRAVING THAT MAY BE GRATIFIED.

Mr. Carnegie's Plans to Provide for Popular Music in the Future.

The grand organ in Carnegie Hall, Allegheny, whose notes were first heard by the public on Tuesday, may often respond hereafter to the plainly evident desire of the people to hear popular music in that monument to the giver's generosity. Mr. Carnegie, it as said, intends to provide for the maintenance of high-class recitals in the future, provided the library building is properly controlled. Sunday recitals are even hinted at as among the possibilities.

As a result of the magnificent success of the Roosevelt grand organ in Carnegie Hall, stable Sweeney with selling eleomargarine, were it is now hinted that Mr. Andrew Carnegie intends to make a permanent provision for the maintenance of high-class organ recitals, always with the proviso that the control of the hall and the organ be placed in the hands of citizens. It is understood that Mr. C. C. Mellor, the Nestor of the Pittsburg organists, is at work upon the details of a plan by which a permanent arrangement | His Wife Says He Took Her Money, and may be made.

Mr. Meilor was seen yesterday afternoon while running his supple fingers over the glittering keyboards of the grand organ and exhibiting the beauties of tone to Mr. Frank Boosevelt, the manufacturer of the instrument, and Mr. Elbert, of Philadelphia, manager of the Philadelphia branch of Mr. Roosevelt's factory. Mr. Mellor was asked if such a movement was projected. He said:

"Well, I am hardly prepared to say just what is expected in regard to the future of the organ. It cannot be doubted that while it was an afterthought the organ is without any doubt the feature of the building. It | Were the New Guests Who West to Riverhas shown that the 'drawing power' of organ music is very great.

CURIOSITY AND APPRECIATION.

"Of course there is an element of curiosity in the matter. But there is genuine musical appreciation here. Look at this crowd"cating at least 500 people listening intently to the music rolling from the organ. "They have had two bours and a half of organ. They have had two bours and a half of organ music, but they stay and hunger for more. And it is assentially the people who have been our audiences yesterday and to-day. This grand instrument is going to prove a musical educator of vast importance if it is properly treated in the fature.

of vast importance if it is properly treated in the future.

"As to Mr. Carnegie's intentions: There is no limit to the good things he will give both Allegheny and Pittsburg—but he wants to see that what he does will be properly appreciated, and I don't think that an unseemly political squabble over the control of this hall and library has been productive of good. The organ should be neard often. Weekly recitals, or possibly two recitals a week, should be given. There should be vocal music or solos by orchestral instruments. The organ is a grand nucleus for concerts. It is here in a public place, and if played by competent organists cannot be injured by use. A new musical era should come into play, and there are many off our citizens who would be rlad to come to the rescue either financially or otherwise. But any mention of what is thought of in connection with the future of the organ would be premature at present owing to the unsettled condition of the question of permanent control. Councilmen should remomber that the active political element of the population is only a portion thereof and that the younger generation will receive far more benefit from this structure than those who are wet. younger generation will receive far more bene-fit from this structure than those who are set-tied in life. Of course I recognize the fact that I am speaking somewhat freely, and as a Pitts-burger and not an Allegbenian. But I am giv-ing voice to the sentiments that are to be heard

"This organ should be played every Sunday afternoon," said a gentleman in the little group of enthusiasts.

In the suit of Graham & Cole against Sarah J. Carson, an action on a contract, a verdict was given yesterday for $59 40 for the plaintiffs.

NOT OUT OF PLACE.

"That may be considered an audacious propo-sition," said Mr. Mellor. "But there is plenty of organ music which might as well be heard in a hall of this nature as in the opening and closing voluntaries in our churches. I must confess that I would like to see the matter gen-confess that I would like to see the matter generally discussed by the public. I cannot assume to speak for Mr. Carnegie, but I imagine that he desires to conform to public sentiment in such plans for the future of the building as he may adopt in the future?

Mr. Frank Roosevell, who came from New York to inspect his organ and the building, had been listening very intently to the foregoing conversation. He said: "Allegheny has what only a few cities in the country possess, a concert organ in a public hall. It is, in this respect, ahead of New York, Boston, Baltimore, St. Louis, Philadelphia, etc., and is only equalled by Chicago and Cincinnati. This instrument is an educator if it is anything, and I sincerely hope that it will be used in the manner productive of the greatest good to the public Mr. Carnegie has so greatly favored. It cannot be heard too often by the public.

"Every reprocipal city in Fredman has a temporary of the contraction of the public."

greatly favored. It cannot be heard too often by the public.

"Every principal city in England has a town hall with a good organ and able organist. The people flock to the Saturday recitals and pay from I penny to sixpence at the door for the support of the recitals. They are great educators. Young people are a great deal better off in a musical atmosphere than at other perhaps questionable amusements. The results of the erection of this building and its equipment are going to be watched very closely. Mr. Carnegie's liberality is sure to be emulated if the Allegheny edifice succeeds as a literary and nusscal educator. It is only a matter of time before Mr. Carnegie's example is followed elsewhere, and structures of similar scope and equipment rise in all our principal cities. It is a grand mission to be accomplished, and Allegheny City can lead a long column of other cities."

MORE RECITALS TO-DAY.

At the close of Mr. Jos. Gittings' very able organ performance last evening at 10 o'clock Mr. C. C. Mellor announced that, by the arrangement of Mr. James R. Scott and the Free Library Commission, it had been decided that the building should be open to-day between the hours of 1 and 10 r. M. Mr. Meilor also stated that at the hours of 230 and 730 organ recitals would be given, although the organists could This allows the public access to the building

Mr. Scott stated that the Free Library will be closed to-night at 9 o'clock, so far as the commission is concerned, until the formal opening a week from to-night at which President Harrison will positively be present. On Friday and Saturday, however, the entire edifice will be open for the concerts and fair under the auspices of the Allegheny General Hospital Ladies' Comthe Allegheny General Hospital Ladies Com-mittee. The chims of the Allegheny General Hospital upon the public are such that the Commission feels that any encouragement that can be given the institution, so far as the Free Library is concerned, is really a public priv-ilege, and thoroughly in sympathy with the purposes of the edifice and its equipment.

TERRIBLE VOLCANO ERUPTIONS. Inhabitants of a Japanese Town Rush From

PITTSBURG

Their Homes in Confusion. SAN FRANCISCO, February 12 - The steamer Gaelio has arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama. Japanese advices give the following details of one of the most terrible volcanic eruptions in the recent history of Japan: Mount Zoo, near the town of Fukuyama, in the Bingo district, commenced to rumble at 8 o'clock on the evening of January 16. This continued two hours, followed by a short cessation, during which period the inhabitants of the neighboring villages rushed away from their homes in great confusion. Soon the top of the mountain was lifted off. There was a din equal to a dynamite explosion and sand and stones were beloned forth falling in the neighborhood of Fukuyama, where smoke and fire were also blown by the wind.

At the entrance of the town the ground was covered with sand and earth to a depth of over a foot. Stones and earth also fell at Midsunomimiura, a village six miles away.
Only one man lost his life, but some stock was killed and 55 houses were destroyed.
The total loss entailed by the eruption is estimated at neatly $3,500,000.
