Railroad Projects That Will Help Us Capture South American Trade.

Millions of money are lying idle in the United States for want of promising investments. Capitalists have not yet fully appreciated the field to the south of us in the sister republic, but the tide is now setting in. Some enterprises are already projected and they are the precursors of colossal ones that will surely follow.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, February 15.—"There are millions of money lying untouched in New York City for want of confidence in the investments that are daily offered. There are more millions throughout the country in the same predicament. Capitalists have not yet fully appreciated the field to the south of us in the sister republic, but the tide is now setting in. Some enterprises are already projected and they are the precursors of colossal ones that will surely follow.

Henry Claws, the great banker, said this the other day, and as usual Henry Claws was right. The condition of the savings banks of the country shows the truth of the statement—the quickness with which capital springs forth to meet and sustain worthy enterprises emphasizes the fact. The great manufacturing industries that year ago were increasing industry and growing wealth are today in quiet and almost unnoticed progress keeping up with the general welfare of the country. But the big dividends they are once lavished upon their stockholders are no longer visible in their bank accounts.

The productive capacity of the factories of the country has increased and the market is a home market. In six months, say the statisticians, we can manufacture enough to supply the entire United States for a year. That is why the Pan-American Congress has assembled. There are, of course, other reasons which led to the gathering of these Spanish-American statesmen and our own delegates to consider how closer and better relations, commercial as well as friendly, could be established between the United States and our neighbors of the great southern portion of the continent, but the main point at issue is where the great surplus of our factories and our manufacturing plants for export can find a favorable market. This is really the object of the Pan-American Congress in so far as the United States are concerned. The Spanish-American nations want cheap and serviceable goods. We are their nearest neighbors. We have the goods, and what we desire is an opportunity to deal with them.

ALEXANDER SHEPHERD'S EXAMPLE.

Everybody in this country knows or has read about ex-Governor Alexander Shepherd, of Washington, D. C., a great, heavy, big-brained, business-like man, who changed the National Capital from a mud town to one of the magnificent creations of the world. Lay aside the question as to how it was done, and it is probably will continue to be a subject of discussion for years to come. He went away from Washington broke and almost without a dollar. He disappeared from public view. He was poor and his career had ended. So his critics declared. Had it? Well, no, not exactly. The other day he came back from his self-imposed exile. Where had he been, everybody asked—and the answer came back—Mexico. What had he done? Nothing more than thousands of other energetic men like him could have accomplished. He had made a new fortune. There was no doubt of his statements. They were backed up in a way that made men look toward Mexico and Spanish America as the haven of their financial hopes. It had opened a new phase of consideration for our American capitalists. So some of them sent down an agent to the Mexican capital, and the New York bankers, who are bright and considerate and well advised, are now looking to a great bank in the metropolis of the sister republic where some of the latest surplus money of the country can find profitable investment.

AN INVESTMENT IN CHIAPAS.

The United States is ready to pour its thousands and millions into Mexico and South America provided the promise of return is neither vague nor unsatisfactory. There was a notable investment in the Congress in the States last month. He was a bright, intelligent, well-informed and wide-minded gentleman. His name was Manuel Ramirez Yarela. It will be remembered by our Government which carried 1,500,000 acres of land in the State of Chiapas, Mexico. An American company formed for such purpose took hold of the matter, investigated it, found it as represented, and today the stock of the company formed for the development of the land, the planting of coffee, rubber, etc. is among the investments sought after on the markets of the financial centers throughout the country.

They are talking of building a big railroad in South America. Well, why not? It would connect the railways of the United States by way of any of the routes through Mexico with the richest fields for commercial enterprise ever opened to the business men of this country. It will be built, and if American capital stays out, foreign capital will step in. The present plans for the road that is to run from the City of Mexico to the heart of the Spanish American portion of the continent may never be realized, but something like them will soon be worked into practical accord with the idea of business men.

PROCESSES OF THE Isthmus.

People have been talking about the Panama Canal and the Nicaragua Canal and the ship railroad of the late Captain Eads for these many years. There is a haze of sort of ideas that the Panama schism, that the Nicaragua Canal is not as certain of being built as its projectors would like, and that the ship railroad was buried with Captain Eads. All this may be true, but other projects are springing up to replace them. Here is a syndicate starting to build a railroad right through from the Gulf to the Pacific. They start at the little town of Frontera and run down through the richest and best lands in Mexico, right into the heart of the immensely valuable mahogany forests of Chiapas, and striking the States of Tabasco and Oaxaca, make the port of Tonala on the Pacific. With this line built—and they are building it with American and English capital—the problem of shortening the way between the Pacific Ocean and the Southern States of this country may be said to be solved.

WE would not believe that hundreds, if not thousands, of Americans are thinking seriously of seeking new homes in Mexico and Spanish America. It is a fact. Only the other day in New York there was organized a company for the purpose of locating sugar and rubber plantations in this same State of Chiapas, and locating there about 1,000 with tools and implements and capital sufficient to sustain them in their first struggle for homes and wealth. Will these men succeed? Why not? The lands are untouched by the hands of the tiller—the mahogany forests when cut and transported to a market would promptly pay all the expenses of the enterprise, and Yankee pluck and energy will soon find a way to carry the valuable woods to the market. Do you know what a mahogany tree is worth at the stump? Why, halian had also been subjected to cruel flogging. They were constantly in dread of similar torture to that inflicted upon Madam Sigida.

STRENGTH AMERICAN FAMILIES

RUTHLESS RUSSIANS.

Mr. Stjepiak was asked whether he thought the case, in view of the fact that these exceptional horrors at Kara had been made public, would interfere to mitigate the severity of the punishment in the case of political convicts. He replied that he thought it not unlikely that the publication of the facts would force the superior officials of Russia to take some notice of the affair. But, he said, the flogging and all the other brutalities were entirely due to the direct orders of the central government at St. Petersburg, and the Ministry of the Interior was therefore directly responsible for the renewal of corporal punishment of political prisoners.

EVEN WORSE TO COME.

George Kennan Thinks That Further Atrocities Will Be Committed.

CHICAGO, February 15.—A telegram confirming the recent wholesale outrages on the persons of political prisoners at the mines of Kara, Siberia, was shown to George Kennan. It stated that Madame Sigida had been flogged to death, Marie Kaluzhaya, Marya Karalefskaya and Madam Samiritskaya having committed themselves on hearing of Madame Sigida's fate, and that the brother of the first-named unfortunate had committed suicide from grief.

"Such news," said Mr. Kennan, his face mantling with indignation, "is enough to make a man's blood boil. It has been reserved for the closing years of the nineteenth century to witness this crowning consummation of Russian barbarity, the flogging of helpless and unprotected women. Well may we ask ourselves, standing here in Liberty's chosen land, how civilized nations suffer such things to be.

ALREADY BEYOND BELIEF.

"Of Madam Sigida, the principal victim in this tragedy, I know little, as she was sent from St. Petersburg to the mines of Kara after I left Russia, in 1886. I believe, however, that she was sentenced to a long term some time in the early part of 1887. It is appalling to think that the poor creature was deliberately flogged to death, though it would take, perhaps, but a moderate infliction of the knot in the case of a feeble and debilitated falling woman.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY FALLING ROCK.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., February 15.—William Hoy, foreman at Bridge No. 6, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, was crushed to death this afternoon by falling rock. The remains will be forwarded to the unfortunate man's home at Mountville, Lancaster county, to-morrow.

PENSIONS.

WASHINGTON, February 15.—It is reported on good authority to-day that James P. Sayres, Esq., counsel for George Clark, one of the McCauland murderers who is under sentence to be hanged on February 26, is in receipt of a letter from Governor Beaver, in which the latter states that no further reprieve will be granted to the condemned man.

PRELUDING 10,000 BARRELS OF OIL.

WASHINGTON, February 15.—The Brown-Agnew well No. 1 has produced 10,000 barrels of the golden fluid and is still pouring out at the rate of six barrels an hour. Its output has not been diminished by the coming in of its near neighbor No. 2.

WHY IS IT NECESSARY TO RAISE A CORRUPTION FUND OF $100,000 TO ELECT GOURLAY MAYOR?

How is this money to be got back, and you may be sure it will be recovered in some way or other? Gourley is wanted on the Board of Awards, which will select contractors for over $1,000,000. Why is he not wanted on the board. The one is an honest man and the other is what? Who do the taxpayers suppose the ring wants on the board, the honest man or the rascal? Does it want Judge Bailey or H. I. Gourley?

PREVIOUS reports allude to the suicide of others besides those mentioned. It is possible that among these may be Anna Paylova, a girl who lived at the house of Mrs. Praskovia Ivanofskaya and Taisiana Lebedeva, also school teachers, and all young women, who were at the mines of Kara when it visited them. It is highly probable that these women, highly educated and of a sensitive temperament, shocked beyond measure at the appalling finale of the brutal treatment to which their sister consented had been subjected, have committed suicide, in addition to the other two mentioned in the dispatch, Madame Karalefskaya and Madame Samiritskaya.

UNDoubtedly TRUE.

"I have but little doubt that the reports of this unfortunate lady having committed self-destruction are true. Poor thing. What had she to live for? The story of her little girl, who lived at Kiev with relatives all this time, is peculiarly pathetic. She received letters which this child wrote to her parents during the same, eloquent of the keen distress the little one feels at her enforced separation from her natural protectors.

SEE IT IS ALSO reported that the men at the Kara mines have broken out in revolt. This statement confirms, in my mind, the whole story, for, while the mines to which the men are sent are somewhat remote from these where the female exiles are consigned, yet it would be impossible to prevent the news of this outrage reaching them.

ALL DESPERATE MEN.

They were all desperate men, sentenced for life or for long terms, and would no doubt have fearlessly opposed themselves to the rifles of the soldiers with their bare hands or with such rude weapons as they were allowed to possess. It is this class of men who head the periodical hunger-strikes, where, in consequence of inhuman treatment, prisoners have been brought to think that they would as soon die as live and set about deliberately to better their condition by starving themselves to death until their demands are complied with.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of this disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best result in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidsen, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Dalton, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. Chandler, Junction, Va.

Governor Beaver, It is Held, Will Not Interfere Further in Clark's Case.

WASHINGTON, February 15.—It is reported on good authority to-day that James P. Y. M. C. A. Convention at Zanesville.

ZANESVILLE, O., February 15.—At the convention of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city to-day $4,500 was raised for expenses of the State Executive Committee in defraying the expenses of carrying on an extending the work. An effort will be made to swell the amount to $5,000. Invitations were extended for the next meeting of the State Convention by Springfield and Akron.
