A SHORT LINE TO THE WINDY CITY.

May be a Bluff to Porce Extension of the Cleveland and Western.

ONE OF THOMAS M. KING'S PET HOBBIES

Vice President Thomas M. King always had a hobby to build a road from Akron to Chicago Junction. When the Valley road was purchased by the Baltimore and Ohio, Mr. King had in view his pet scheme. It looks now as if his plans will be material-

A few days ago, at Columbus, the Akron and Chicago Junction Railroad Company was incorporated. The incorporators are officials of the Valley road, J. B. Caven, General Passenger and Freight Agent; General Superintendent J. T. Johnston; General Agent Thornburg, and M. R. Dickey and E. J. Estep, General Counsel. Messrs. Caven and Johnston formerly lived in Pittsburg, and are well known here.

The incorporation of this company means the immediate construction of a line from Akron to Chicago Junction. It will doubtless be built on what is known as the Ag-new route, which was surveyed several years

IT WILL BE PUSHED.

General Agent Thornburg will have charge of the work, and it will be finished this year. The length of the line will be 68 miles, making the present route from Pittsburg to Chicago, by way of the P. & W. and B. & O. much shorter. way of the P. & W. and B. & O. much shorter. The distance at present from Akron to Chicago Junction, over the Wheeling and Lake Eric and a small branch of the B. & O., is S miles. The Cleveland and Western road from Delphos to Carey, a distance of 56 miles, is owned by William Semple, Jr., and James D. Callery. It connects at Delphos with the Pittsburg, Toledo and Kansas City road, making a through line to St. Louis. To make the Cleveland and Western efficient it must be extended to Akron, where it would connect with the land and Western efficient it must be extended to Akron, where it would connect with the Pittsburg and Western. The road was bought by Messrs, Callery and Semple for speculative purposes, and they are willing to sell to the highest hidder. It is claimed that both the Baltimore and Ohio and Pittsburg and Western are after the road, when the fact is that it doesn't make much difference to the other which one buys. In either case the road would have to be extended to Akron to make it valuable, and then it would give the Pittsburg and Western a through short line from Pittsburg to St. Louis.

Some local railroad men think that the St. Louis.

Some local railroad men think that the scheme of the R. & O, to build a road from Akron to Chicago Junction is only a bluff to scare Messra. Semple and Callery into making the desired extension. As these men are friendly to the P. & W., the latter people think they can make first-class traffic arrangements with the new road.

KNOWS NAUGHT OF IT.

When James D. Callery was asked yesterday if the B. & O. had made overtures for his road he declined to answer the question. He said he didn't know anything about an alleged conference held at the Duquesno Club. He had heard that the B. & C. intended to build a line from Akros to Chicago Junction, but he didn't know anything further about it.

Charles O. Scull, general passenger agent of the R. & O. Railroad, was in the city yesterday on his way to Cincinnati to attend a meeting of the heads of passenger departments of the ferent railroads, to arrange tourists' rates for next summer.

Mr. Scull, when questioned about the deal now pending between the R. & O. and P. & W. roads, said he knew nothing about it, but if the latter road did pass into the possession of the line he represents, he thought it would be to the benefit of the P. & W. as well as to the shippers of this city. In regard to the meeting between the representatives of the two lines in the fluquesne Club on Saturday, he said about three-fourths of the stuff was incorrect. He says they have a through line now from Chicago to the scaboard, and the acquisition in this respect would be of little benefit to them.

A GREAT BENEFIT. The greatest benefit to be derived from an arrangement between the two roads would be the shortening of the distance between Pittaburg and the Baltimore and Ohio's Western terminals. It would give them a more direct south to Chicago and the lakes from this city.

It would shorten the distance over the Baltimore and Ohio to Chicago about 55 or 70 miles. They would go over the Pittsburg and Western to Akron, from there they would go over the mew line now being built by Messrs, Semple and Callery from Akron to Chicago Jucction. From the latter point they will use their own line into Chicago. This route would be practically a low grade road, and would be as short as the Fort Wayne.

Mr. Scull was asked what they proposed to do in regard to the Second Avenne Electric Street Railway, taking away their suburban business between Glenwood and this city. He said:

We do not propose to do anything. If the Street Railway Company takes the business, let them. We cannot do anything to prevent them. It would not pay us to put on a fast train service, and if we tried to do it the expense would be more than the revenue. In overy city where a cable or electric line has paralleled a railroad the latter has suffered. Do what we would we could not hold the business."

THE ARMOURS' ABATTOIR.

A Strong Bellef That the Great Chlenge Batchers Will Come to Pittsburg-Significant Movements at Kast Liberty-Ice-Making a Possibility.

Armour Brothers, of Chicago, are re-ported to have purchased Hayborn row, at WHY THE STOCK WAS TAKEN BACK the East Liberty stockyards, and Beckett's brickyard, between Dallas and Torrens stations. The purchases are said to be made with intent to build a large abattoir and ice and packing house. It is thought they will also make ice for themselves. The work of tearing down houses and sheds has been commenced, and the buildings are expected to be completed by July 1.

This will make things lively in the vicinity of the stock yards and will probably bring shekels to the commission dealers, but it doesn't make it appear as though the stock yards were to be moved several miles out the road as once moved several miles out the road as once talked.

At the outset, when a tour of inquiry was made, the report seemed quite ganzy. About the East End Hotel there had been talk heard but no one spoken to professed to have any definite knowledge. Inquiry was made of E. McCall & Co., but the man in the office said he hadn't heard anything about it. Mr. James Loughry was the first man found who seemed to have any definite knowledge of the matter. He said he had heard so much of it that he supposed it was true, and the fact that the tenants of the row in question had been notified to vacate seemed like pretty good evidence that something was in the wind. The row in question, or at least a part of it, was once a church, which was reconstructed.

Some say it was given ont some time ago that the Pennsylvania Railway Company wanted to use the ground, and hence the notice to the tenants to quit, but, said one man. "There is something afoot, and I shouldn't wonder if the Armours are interested. It might be a good thing, perhaps, for the railway company."
For some reason or other there was a cavernous variences, about the whole matter that nous vagueness about the whole matter that was hard to understand, for if the Pennsylwas hard to understand, for if the Fennsyi-vanis Railroad Company and the Armours want to start an abattoir on the property of the former it isn't likely any power strong enough to say them "nay" will interfere, provided no nuisance is committed. There was consider-able hog killing done in this city at one time, but that was before the business was concen-trated at a few points in the West.

BEARING GOOD FRUIT.

Fruitful Result of the Southeide Hospital's Committee Work-The Merits of the Institution Acknowledged by Liberal Contributions-The Donors.

The Southside Hospital is in a fair way toward having all the financial backing it wants, the circulars sent out by gentlemen interested in that institution having been productive of the very best results. It was about the first of January that the circulars were mailed to all the business firms on that side of the river, and the appeal was made known to thousands of men employed in the various mills and factories over there. Everybody became interested, not only the manufact urer and business man, but the mechanic and professional man, churches, schools and society organizations.

Contributions have been coming in from time to time, and bereafter, now that the work has been started, a collector in the person of Mr. Gordon Stewart will canvass the entire Soutn-side district, making daily calls on everybody for the purpose of receiving what they have se-cured from either employes or friends for the object in view. Up to yesterday Mr. Stewart had received $823.80, all contributed since January I.

AN OLD OBLIGATION.

The Chartiers Valley Gas Company's Difficulty Explained.

Stockholders Adopt Precautionary Measures

for the Future. REDUCTION IN THE CAPITAL STOCK

The stockholders of the Chartiers Valley Gas Company held an important meeting at their office, corner of Fourth avenue and Wood street, vesterday afternoon. It was s special meeting called for the purpose of nearing the report of the auditing committee. At the annual meeting held a few weeks ago the reports of the officers failed to fully satisfy the stockholders. William B. Scalfe raised a question on the purchase of about 1,000 shares of stock at a price largely in advance of the market. Neither President Chambers nor Secretary Tener could explain the matter satisfactorily, and the auditing committee was instructed to examine the books of the company, and prepare a detailed statement of receipts and ex-This committee consisted of James Camp-This committee consisted of James Campbell, Charles O. Smith and C. F. Klopfer. It seems, however, that the stockholders were dissatisfied with the prospects of an accurate report, and a petition was quietly circulated among them, asking the directors to increase the committee. But before the petition was presented, the directors heard of the movement and added the names of Robert Wardrop and Charles H. Scott.

INTENSE INTEREST IN IT. The attendance at yesterday's meeting was larger than at the annual meeting, more than 100 stockholders being present. There was in-tense interest manifested in the proceedings. It had been reported in the morning that if the Auditing Committee would prove incapable of straightening matters out to the entire satisfaction of everyone, an effort would be made to bring an end to the arrangement with the Philadelphia Company, and to repudiate the bond issues

Philadelphia Company, and to repudiate the bond issues.

Mr. Ncott, of the committee, read the report. It was to the effect that the whole trouble originated through an old obligation of the company. A sale of 1,400 shares of stock had been made to the agents and the money was received for the stock, with the explicit understanding that the agents were to be protected in their effort to resell. The agents found that there was 1,016 shares they could not sell and the project was given up. This found that there was 1.016 shares they could not sell and the project was given up. This stock was returned to the company when the market was over $80. That was in 1888, but the company only paid off the money in 1889. That explains why the stock cost the company $83 in 1888, when the market was but $53 in 1889. The report was accepted unanimously. A recommendation of the committee that the 10,000 shares of treasury stock be retired, was also adopted. This reduces the capital stock of the company to $3,000,000 instead of $4,000,000, as heretofore. The lesser amount only will be subject to dividends in the future. The stockholders took precautionary steps to avoid stockholders took precautionary steps to avoid any entanglements in the future by requesting the directors to give quarterly statements of the receipts and expenditures of the company in the luture. They desire to know more frequently what the company is doing. MORE ECONOMY. Another economical measure has been adopted. John H. Dalzell, who formerly was the treasurer of the company, has retired. The offices of the secretary and treasurer have been merged into one, and F. J. Tener, the former secretary, elected to the position. Mr. Dalzell is still a member of the board of directors.

The stockholders of the company who were so disheartened at not receiving a dividend in January naturally felt very much encouraged after yesterday's meeting. It was reported that the receipts for January will be about $12,000 in excess of January of last year, and President Chambers stated that the prospects for a dividend in April are very good, and if the receipts continue as at present he assured the ceipts continue as at present he assured the stockholders he would adverate a dividend at
