A BRAND NEW CREED

Rev. Dr. Talmage Says is One of the Needs of the Modern Church.

FREEDOM, NOT BONDAGE, WANTED

Some of the Perils That Surround Us in This Life Pointed Out.

A LESSON FROM LAZARUS' LIBERATION

PERFECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR . BROOKLYN, March 2 .- At the Tabernacle this morning the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D. D., said he thought the new Brooklyn Tabernacle would be dedicated in September, and that the idea would be carried out of building the church by subscription to The Christian Herald, of which he has become editor, all the subscriptions up to 150,000 to be paid to Mr. John Wood, Treasurer of the Tabernacle, Fulton street, near Concord, Brooklyn, N. Y. The subject of his discourse was "Revision of Creeds," and he took for his text John xi. 44: "Loose him, and let him go." Dr. Talmage said:

My Bible is, at the place of this text, of the house of Mary and Martha and Lazarus. We dismounted from our horses on the way up from Jordan to the Dead Sea. Bethany was the summer evening retreat of Jesus. After spending the day in the hot almost every evening to the house of his three friends. I think the occupants of that house were orphans, for the father and mother are not mentioned. But the son and two danghters must have inherited property, for it must have been, judging from what I saw of the foundations and the size of the rooms, an opulent home.

Lazarus, the brother, was now the head of the household, and his sisters depended on him and were proud of him, for he was very popular and everybody liked him, and these girls were splendid girls. Martha a firstrate housekeeper, and Mary a spirituelle, somewhat dreamy, but affectionate, and as good a girl as could be found in all Palestine. But one day Lazarus got sick. The sisters were in consternation. Father gone and mother gone, they feel very nervous lest they lose their brother also. Disease did its quick work. How the girls hung over his pillow! Not much sleep about that house, no sleep at all.

THE SORROWS OF THE MASTER.

From the characteristics otherwhere developed, I judge that Martha prepared the medicines and made tempting dishes of food for the poor appetite of the sufferer, but Mary prayed and sobbed. Worse and worse gets Lazarus, until the doctor announces that he can do no more. The shriek that went up from that household when the last breath had been drawn and the two sisters were being led by sympathizers into the adjoining room, all those of us can imagine who have had our own hearts broken. But why was not Jesus there, as He so often had Far away in the country districts preaching, healing other sick, how unfortu-nate that this omnipotent Doctor had not been at that domestic crisis in Bethany.

When at last Jesus arrived in Bethany Lazarus had been buried four days and dis-solution had taken place. In that climate the breathless body disintegrates more rapidly than in ours. If immediately after decease that body had been awakened into life unbelievers might have said that he was only in a comatose state, or in a sort of trance, and by some vigorous manipulation or powerful stimulant vitatity had been renewed. No! Four days dead. At the door of the sepulchre is a crowd of people, but the three most memorable are Jesus, who d with torches we explored it. We ound it all quiet that afternoon of our visit, but the day spoken of in the Bible there was present an excited multitude. I wonder what Jesus will do. He orders the door of the grave removed, and then he begins to descend the steps, Mary and Martha close after him, and the crowd after them. Deeper down into the shadows and deeper! The hot tears of Jesus roll over His cheeks and plash upon the back of his hands. Were ever so many sorrows compressed into so small a space as in that group pressing on down after Christ, all the time bemoaning that He had not come before? Now all the whispering and all the crying and all the sounds of shuffling feet are stopped. It is the silence of expectancy. Death had conquered, but now the vanquisher of death confronted the scene.

LIBERATION OF LAZABUS. Amid the awful hush of the tomb the familiar name which Christ had often had upon His lips in the hospitalities of the vil-lage home came back to His tongue, and with a pathos and an almightiness of which the resurrection of the last day shall be only and comes to the loot of the steps and with great difficulty begins to ascend, for the erements of the tomb are yet on him and his feet are fast and his hands are fast and freed from all those cripplements of his body? I am glad that Christ commanded his complete emancipation, saying: "Loose vou to help remove your grave clothes, and him, and let him go.

The unfortunate thing now is that so many Christians are only half liberated. They have been raised from the death and like Lazarus, hobbling up the stairs of the by beings like the human race in fee Master's command that comes to me and comes to every minister of religion, "Loose him, and let go." First, many are bound hand and foot by religious creeds. Let no the stellar neighborhoods, our physical limman misinterpret me as antagonizing creeds.

I have eight or ten of them; a creed about religion, a creed about art, a creed about soon. A creed is something that a man be- ments and were kept on the limits, The Presbyterian Church is now agitated | the water says to the human race: "Dou't about its creed. Some good men in it are come here or you'll drown." A few thou-for keeping it because it was framed from sand feet up the atmosphere is uninhabitathe belief of John Calvin. Other good men ble, and the atmosphere says to the human in it want revision. I am with neither race: "Don't come up here or you cannot

TIME FOR A NEW CREED. The creed did not hinder us from offering the pardon and the comfort of the Gospel to nell men, and the Westminster Confession has not interested with me one minute. But now that the electric lights have been turned on the imperfections of that creed—and on the imperfections of that creed—and will be asteam boiler, you must look out or you will be a steam boiler, you must look out or you will be a steam boiler, you must look out or you will be a steam boiler, you must look out or you will be a steam boiler, you must look out or you will be a steam boiler, you must look out or you everything that man fashions is imperfect- will be blown up. And pneumonias and let us put the old creed respectfully aside pleurisies and consumptions and apoplexies let us put the old creed respectfully aside and get a brand new one. It is impossible that people who lived hundreds of years ago should fashion an appropriate creed for our times. John Calvin was a great and good man, but he died 326 years ago. The best in. We want to stick to the wet plank 'mid man, but he died 326 years ago. The best centuries of Bible study have come since then, and explorers have done their work, and you might as well have the world go back and stick to what Robert Fulton knew about steamboats and reject the subsequent improvements in navigation; and go back to John Guttenberg, the inventor of the art of printing, and reject all modern newspaper presses, and go back to the west plank 'mid occan while the great ship, 'the City of God,'' of the Celestial line, goes sailing past, and would gladly take us up in a lite boat. My Christian friends, let me tear off your despoi dencies and frights about dissolution. My Lord commands me regarding you, saying: 'Loose him, and let him go.' Heaven is ninety-five per cent better than this world, a thousand per cent better, a million per cent better. Take the gladdest, of signals or the burning of bonfires on the nilltops and reject the magnetic wire, which is the tongue of nations, as to ignore all the exegetes and the philologists and the theologians of the last 326 years and put your head under the sleeve of the gown of a sixteenth century doctor. I could call the names of 20 living Presbyterian ministers of religion who could make a better creed than John Calvin. The nineteenth century ought not to be called to sit at the feet of the sixteenth.

"But," you say, "it is the same old Bible, and John Calvin had that as well as the present student of the Scriptures." Yes; so it is the same old sun in the heavens, but in our time it has gone to making daguerrectypes and photographs. It is the same old water, but in our century it has gone to running steam engines. It is the same old electricity, but in our time it has become a lightning-footed errand boy. So it is the old Bible, but new applications, new uses, new interpretations. You must remember that during the last 300 years words have changed their meaning and some of them now mean more and some less. I do not think that John Calvin believed, as some say he did, in the damnation of infants, although some of the recent hot disputes would seem to imply that there is such a thing as the damnation of infants.

AN AWFUL POSSIBILITY. A man who believes in the damnation of infants himself deserves to lose heaven. I do not think any good man could admit such a possibility. What Christ will do with all the babies in the next world I conclude from what he did with the babies My Bible is, at the place of this text, in Palestine when he hugged them and written all over with lead pencil marks made last December at Bethany on the ruins of the house of Mary and Martha and Lazters officiating at your obsequies, who will have to be cautious so as not to hurt surviv-ing friends. But when the darling children go there are no "is" or "buts" or guesses, We must remember that good John Calvin city of Jerusalem he would come out there | was a logician and a metaphysician and by the proclivities of his nature put some things in an unfortunate way. Logic has its use and metaphysics has its use, but they are and metaphysics has its use, but they are not good at making creeds. A gardener hands you a blooming rose, dewy fresh, but a severe botanist comes to you with a rose and says: "I will show you the structure still have your grave clothes on, get rid of their rose." And he proceeds to take it and says: "I will show you the structure of this rose." And he proceeds to take it apart and pulls off the leaves and he says: let him go."

The only part of my recent journey that the only part of my recent journey that the only part of my recent journey that "There are the petals," and he takes out the anthers and he says: "Just look at the wonderful structure of these floral pillars," and then he cuts the stem to show you the juices of the plant.

So logic or metaphysics takes the aromatic rose of the Christian religion and says: "I will just show you how this rose of religion was fashioned;" and it pulls off of it a piece and says: "That is the human will, and another piece and says: "This is God's will," and another and says: "This is sovereignty," and another piece and says: and hundreds have perished along those reeignty," and another piece and says: This is free agency," this is this and that is that. And while I stand looking at the fragments of the rose pulled apart, one whom the Marys took for a gardener comes in and presents me with a crimson rose red in and presents me with a crimson rose, red as blood, and says: "Inhale the sweetness of this, wear it on your heart and wear it forever." I must confess that I prefer the rose in full bloom to the rose pulled apart. What a time we have had with the dogmatics, the apologetics and the hermeneutics. The defect in some of the creeds is that they try to tell us all about the decrees of God. Now the only human being that was ever competent to handle that subject was Paul, and he would not have been competent had he not been inspired. I believe in the sovereignty of God and I believe in man's free agency, but no one can harmonize the two. It is not necessary that he harmonize

A NEW COURSE OF LIFE. A man who was once called Saul, but afterwards Paul, declared: "This is a faithafterwards Paul, declared: "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chiet." Mark that—"of whom I am chief." "Put down your overcoats and hats, and I will take care of them while you kill Stephen"—so Saul said to the stoners of the first martyr-"I do not care to exert myself much, but 1 was the family friend, and the two bereit sisters. We went into the traditional tomb in December, and it is deep down and dark, and with teaches are expected it. We could recome the control of the witnesses I aid down their clothes are expected it. was Saul." No wonder be said: "Sinners of whom I am the chief."
Christ is used to climbing. He climbed to the top of the temple. He climbed to the top of Mount Olivet. He climbed to the top of Mount Office. He climbed to the climbed to the top of Golgotha. And to the top of the hills and the mountains of your transgression He is ready to climb with pardon for every one of you. The groan of Calvary is mightier than the thunder of Full receipt is offered for all your indebtedness. you to anthem.

Drop the tunes in the minor key and take you to anthem.

Drop the tunes in the minor kev and take the major. Do you think it pleases the Lord for you to be carrying around with you the debris and carcasses of old transgressions? You make me think of some ship that has had a tempestuous time at sea, and now that it proposes another voyage, keeps on its davits the damaged lifeship that has had a tempestuous time at sea, and now that it proposes another voy-age, keeps on its davits the damaged life-boats, and the splinters of a shivered mast, an eche, he cries: "Lazarus! come forth!" and the broken glass of a smashed skylight.

The eyes of the slumberer open and he rises My advice is: clear the decks, overboard with all the damaged rigging, brighten up the salted smokestacks, open a new log book, hanl in the planks, lay out a new course and set sail for beaven. You have the impediments to all his movements are so great that Jesus commands: "Take off these cerements; remove these hindrances; unfasten these grave clothes; loose him and let Have you not sometimes started out in the him go!" Oh, I am so glad that after the rain with your umbrella and you were busy Lord raised Lazarus He went on and commanded the loosening of the cords that bound his teet so that he could walk, and off you still bad your umbrella up, and when the breaking off of the cerement that bound his hands so that he could stretch out his felt silly enough? That is what some of you arms in salutation, and the tearing off of the bandage from around his jaws so that he could speak. What would resurrected life have been to Lazarus if he had not been up. How foolish for us to think that ours burial of sin into spiritual life, but they yet have the grave clothes on them. They are think that all the stars are inhabited, and tomb, bound hand and foot, and the object | and sentiments, and the difference is in lung of this sermon is to help free their body and respiration and heart beat and physical confree their soul, and I shall try to obey the formation, their physical conformation fit cial life, a creed about government, and so very much pent up and had cramped apartlieves, whether it be written or unwritten. most even of our small world is water, and party. breathe." A few miles down the earth is a furnace of fire, and the fire says: "Don't come here or you will burn."

DANGERS ALL AROUND. The caverns of the mountains are full of

brightest, most jubilant days you ever had on earth and compress them all into one hour, and that hour would be a requiem, a fast day, a gloom, a horror as compared with the poorest hour they have had in heaven since its first tower was built or its heaven since its first tower was built or its first gates swung or its first song caroled. "Oh," you say, "that may be true, but I am so afraid of crossing over from this world to the next, and I fear the snapping of the cord between soul and body." Well, all the surgeons and physicians and scientists declare that there is no pang at the parting of the body and soul, and all the seeming restlessness at the closing hour of lite is involuntary and no distress at all. And I agree with the distress at all. And I agree with the doctors, for what they say is confirmed by the fact that persons who were drowned or were submerged until all consciousness de-parted and were afterward resuscitated declare that the sensation of passing into un consciousness was pleasurable rather than distressful. The cage of the body has a door on easy hinges, and when that door of the physical cage opens the soul simply puts out its wings and soars. "But," you say, "I fear to go because the future is so full of mystery." Well, I will tell you how to treat mysteries. The mysteries have ceased bothering me, for I do as the judges of your courts often do. They hear all the argu-ments in the case and then say: "I will take these papers and give you my decision next

THE PHILOSOPHIC VIEW.

So I have heard all the arrangements in regard to the next world, and some things are uncertain and full of mystery, and so I fold up the papers and reserve until the next world my decisions about them. I can there study all the mysteries to better advantage, for the light will be better and my faculties stronger, and I will ask the Christian philosophers, who have had all the advantages of heaven for centuries, to help me, and I may be permitted myself humbly to ask the Lord, and I think there will be only one mystery left, and that will be how one so unworthy as myself got into such an enrap-

I really dreaded, although I did not say much about it beforehand, was the landing at Joppa. That is the port of entrance for the Holy Land, and there are many rocks, and in rough weather people cannot land at all. The boats taking the people from the steamer to the docks must run between reefs that looked to me to be about 50 feet apart, and one mistroke of an oarsman or an unexpected wave has sometimes been fatal, when our Mediterranean steamer dropped anchor near Joppa and we put out for shore in the small boat, the water was as still as though it had been sound asleep 100 years, and we landed as easily as I came on this platform.

Well, your fears have pictured for you an appalling arrival at the end of your voyage life, and they say that the seas will run high and that the breakers will swallow you up, or that if you reach Cansan at all it will be a very rough landing. The very opposite will be true if you have the eternal God for your portion. Your disembarkation for the Promised Land will be as smooth as ours at Palestine last December. Christ will meet you far out at sea and pilot you into complete safety, and you will land with a hosanna on one side of you and a halielujah on the other.

"Land ahead!" its fruits are waving O'er the hills of fadeless green, And the living waters laving Shores where heavenly forms are seen.

Rocks and storms I'll fear no more. When on that eternal shore; Drop the anchor, furl the sail! I am safe within the veil!

day's Closing Quotations. The Clearing House report shows a gain in bank exchanges last week of nearly $3,000,000

There was a moderate discount demand Saturday, which was supplied at 6@7 per cent. All the bank officers spoken to reported an ample supply of funds for business purposes. Manager Chaplin's report of Clearing House operations for the day and week is subjoined:

The banks now hold $2,360,200 in excess of the 25 per cent rule.

The exports of specie from the port of New York last week amounted to $781,054, of which $357,072 was gold and $418,892 silver. The imports of specie at the port of New York last week amounted to $977,293, of which 1974,047 was gold and $3,246 silver.

Money on call at New York Saturday was easy, ranging from 3½ to 5 per cent; last loan, 3½; closed offered at 4. Prime mercantile paper, 5697. Sterling exchange dull but steady at $4.80½ for 60-day bilts and $4.84½ for demand.

Local Securities Active, but Show a Lamentable Absence of Backbone. The selling fever was still uppermost at the stock market Saturday, and all the business transacted was at still further concessions. Street railway shares were conspicuously weak. Pleasant Valley sold down to 24%, and closed at 24 bid. The tractions were in the same boat. The weakness in some of these stocks is said to be due to the dissatisfaction of Eastern holders with the action of Councils in granting holders with the action of Councils in granting privileges to so many competing lines.

The natural gassers also developed further proof of a lack of recuperative power, the only strong feature among them being Chartiers. The demand for it is said to be from the inside. There was an active request for bank stocks, and some of them were higher. Railways about held their own, but electric, the miners and Switch and Signal each dropped a fraction.

Bears Make Another Drive at Rallrone Shares, but Meet Defeat-They Depended Too Much on a Bad Bonk Statement. NEW YORK, March 1.-The stock market was again dull, and after a temporary depression developed a materially stronger tone than it has seen in some days. There was a drive at the list as usual in the early trading, but its results were not of special importance, and as during the week persistent pressure of the bears to force down prices has met with but partial success, the depression to-day was only emporary. The attack this morning was made upon the expectation that the bank reserves would show a falling of about two and one-half millions, but the statement of the loss fell a million short of the amount, and as there had been good buying all along the line at the concessions, the rush to cover after the result was known made a sharp and material rally. Of course the de cline in sterling exchange rates and the flurry in money incident to the disbursements of the 1st of the month were partly responsible for the lowering, these rates gives a promise that there will be receipts of gold from the other side and a consequent improvement of the speciation. the speculation.

The bears were hammering Union Pacific

The bears were hammering Union Pacific to-day by rumors of an unfavorable nature in regard to the annual report, but the foreigners were buyers and heavy covering was done. The bituminous coal stocks were specially weak also in the early dealings, but the rally brought them up again and Tennessee Coal scored a handsome gain, though Colorado Coai was sluggish.

Sugar was the strongest stock and was put up by its friends to catch some stop orders. The remainder of the market was devoid of feature and the market finally closed quiet but strong, generally at a shade better than the opening prices, The final changes are slight fractions as a rule, but Sugar is up 3½ and Tennessee Coal 23%.

and Tennessee Coal 23%. Railroad bonds were duller than usual of ate and the transactions in the two hours of ousiness reached only $372,000. The natural one was generally steady, but all the imporges in quotations are in the directi I lower figures.

SOME SPECIAL LINES.

Bright Prospects for the Spring Millinery Trade Openings.

AN EARLY BOOM THIS SEASON. Quietness in Harness and Sole Leather, but

Quotations Unchanged. HIDES DROOPING, BUT CALPSKINS FIRM

OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, SATURDAY, March 1, 1890. The grand spring opening of our wholesale millinery dealers is announced for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 4 to 6. All signs point to a big time. Our merchants are making extra preparations for a grand display of goods, and there is no doubt that the exhibition will be beyond anything in previous years. Said a representative of one of the leading millinery establishments of the city to-day: "Our trade has opened up unusually early this season. We do not count on doing much business until after the grand March opening, but orders have been coming in for a week or two past beyond all calculations. According to the best information we can obtain there will be a great rush of customers next week to view the prospect o'er, and we will have a finer display of goods than ever before. The mild winter has brought extra demands on flowers, and in fact, on every-thing in millinery lines. The fashion for flowers rages in New York, a condition of things unprecedented at this time of the year."

Harness and Sole Leather.

The active demand for harness leather, which was noted a couple of weeks ago, has subsided, and tanners report a quiet trade for the pas week. The present lull is attributed to the wretched condition of country roads throughout Pittsburg's bailiwick. Prices are susout Pittsburg's bailiwick. Prices are sustained, but no more. Sole leather trade has been more active than harness leather all along until the past week or two. Of late the former has shared in the depression, and oak sole leather is le per pound lower than it was at the opening of February. Hemlock sole leather is barely steady at the old prices.

As Allegheny harness and sole leather are always at a premum in the world's markets there is no doubt that our home tanners will reap the first fruits of the revival in trade, which, from the experience of former years, must be near at hand. When once roads become passable an active movement in leather come passable an active movement in leather is sure. February was a decided improvement on January, especially during the first half of the month, and, though trade has been rather slow the past week, there is little accumulation of stock in the hands of manufacturers.

Following are the latest prices of barnes leather as furnished by James Callery & Co.: No. I extra trace selection, weights 20 to 27 No. B extra trace selection, weights 20 to 27 No. 1 medium selection, weights 17 to 22 No. B medium selection, weights 17 to 22 pounds.

The Hide Market. Markets are very dull, and prices are 1/2 below rates of last week. This is the season of the year when tanners don't care to buy, as nides are poorest in quality at this time by reason of long hair and grubs. The wise tanner who has the wherewith to enable him to carry stock buys heavily in the fall when hides are at their best. Not more than 10 to 15 per cent of those now on the market are free from the ravages of grubs, and all are more or less weighted by the dirt which gathers in the long hair of winter hides. Caliskins suffer from the same cause, but owing to their scarcity are firm at 1/2c higher prices than prevailed a week ago. son of long hair and grubs. The wise tanne

A good aggregate business was transacted, and the influences presented were transacted, and the influences presented were mainly favorable to the interest of holders. A report was received that the duty on wheat in Portugal had been removed, and another that the duty had been reduced 8c per bushel. The duty has been 29% per bushel. A cable report was also received stating that the winter crops in Southern Russia had been ruined, but this must have been exaggerated, for the foreign market would have responded more foreign market would have responded more forcibly than they did to such a piece of news. Indications were for a decrease of about 600,000 bushels in the visible supply. It was reported that a cold wave had extended as far south as New Orleans.

MINNEAPOLIS—The receipts of wheat for the day were 137 cars, with 10 shipped out. Demand active for sample wheat of good milling varieties, and nearly all of this class went off early in the day. Prices were about 16c hicher than yesterday, caused by the strongth in futures and the strong competition among buyers. There was the usual demand for shipping, and few of the orders were filled, as the offerings of suitable qualities were not sufficient to accommodate the entire demand. Local millers took the greater part of the good wheat and with what outside buying there was cleared off the tables early in the session. ARE EVIDENCE That the blood is wrong, and that nature is endeav-oring to throw off the impurities. Nothing is so beneficial in assisting nature as Swift's Specific (S. S. S. It is a simple vegetable compound. Is harmless to the most delicate child, yet it forces the poison to the surface and eliminates it from the blood.

SSS RED I contracted a severe case of blood poison that unfitted me for business for four years. A few bottles of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) cured me.

SCOTT'S

Of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites Of Lime and Soda.

There are emulsions and emulsions, and there is still much skimmed milk and there is still much skimmed milk which masquerades as cream. Try as they will many manufacturers cannot so disguise their cod liver oil as to make it palatable to sensitive stomachs. Scoti's Emulsion of PURE NORWEGIAN CODLIFER OIL, combined with Hypophosphites is almost as palatable as milk. For this reason as well as for the fact of the stimulating qualities of the Hypophosphites, Physicians frequently prescribe it in cases of
