BURNT HIS FINGERS.

An Alleged Speak-Easy Keeper Fined for Talking to Witnesses.

SOLOMON'S SENTENCE IS QUOTED By Judge Ewing in a Case of Theft by Boy

MINOR ITEMS FROM THE COURT HOUSE

Theatrical Managers.

A sensation was created in the Criminal Court vesterday. John Henry Husmann, to of the Twenty-first ward, was arrested in the grand jury waiting room and fined $100 for contempt of court by Judge Ewing. Husmann was charged by Constable Campbell with selling liquor without a license. The case was to have come before the grand jury yesterday. Shortly before noon the prosecutor in the case informed Assistant District Attorney Haymaker that Husmann was in the grand jury waiting room and was talking to the witnesses for the prosecution. Mr. faymaker told Husmann to leave the place. In the afternoon Husmann was again found in the room talking to the witnesses in the case. He was told to go away, and Tipstave O'Brien nal Court room.

At 4 o'clock he was called up before Judge Ewing. Mr. Havmaker and Officer O'Brien related what had occurred. Constable Campbell also said that Husmann had talked to him about the case, and said he would see his lawyer and have it put off for three months.

Judge Ewing asked Husmann what he had to say. He replied that he did not know he was doing wrong. He thought he could go into the room and listen to the testimony the same as in a courtroom. fusmann persisted that he was ignorant of any wrong.

In his cross bill John W. Taylor, Jr., states that his father carried on the business and was assisted by his brother James. James assisted him in his affairs, and often acted as agent for him and received money to invest for his brother. He, bowever, without the knowledge or consent of John W. Taylor, invested the money in the joint names of John W. Taylor and himself, of which John W. was always left in ignorance. Among the investments so made verre $23,460 U. S. 4 per cent bonds; $10,000 dejoist in the City Savings Hank, and other investments—in all, $46,500. After the death of John W. Taylor James Taylor denied the facts and claimed the half which is now claimed by his executors. John W. Taylor, Jr., asks that it he decreed that James Taylor held the bonds, etc., as trustee for John W. Taylor, and that the defendants account for and pay over to him In his cross bill John W. Taylor, Jr., states he same, and be enjoined from selling them,

SCLOMON'S SENTENCE OUOTED. Judge Ewing Refers to the Scrup of Bible

History, in the Criminal Court, In the Criminal Court yesterday two boys named James O'Leary, 14 years old, and Oscar Peterson, 17 years old, plead guilty to a charge of larceny preferred by George White, of Mc-Keesport. The evidence showed that the boys had established a theater in a cellar, and they had established a theater in a cellar, and they purloined the tools in order to help fit out the place of numeround. Judge Ewing remarked that the case was one wherein Solomon's sentence should be remem-bered. He then sent O Leary to Morganza and Peterson to the workhouse for 30 days. Mich-ael Mullen, Robert Sullivan and Robert Kelley were found not guilty.

CARRIED INTO COURT.

Some of the Eviction Cases Taken to Higher Tribunnl.

Etiza Ferrick and seven others yesterday filed certioraris taking into court the cases against them before Alderman McMasters. They were occupants of houses adjoining Graff, Bennett & Co.'s mill, in the Thirty-third ward, and when it was desired to add improvements by Alderman McMasters at the suit of W. H. Stauffer, agent for F. N. Hoffstot, trustee.

TWO MORE DIVORCES.

One Husband and One Wife Want to be Released From Their Partners. Two new libels for divorce were entered yesterday. Thomas McKinsey wants to be di-Mercer is mentioned in connection with the case. They were married in December, 1883. Laura B. Sawyer petitions for a divorce from her husband, Edward A. Sawyer. The petitioner alleges that they were married in 1863, and that her husband abused her and has been too familiar with Julia Davis.
