Only Themselves to Blame.

But whatever may be the consequence of the ten-club arrangement, the old magnates are alone responsible for it. They went into the matter in broad daylight and with their eyes open. On this point President Brush, of Indianapolis, speaking the other day, said that he warned the magnates of the difficulties of ten clubs when Cincinnati and Brooklyn were be-ing admitted. At the time of that meeting the clubs when Cincinnati and Brookiyn were being domitted. At the time of that meeting the graduatited. At the time of that meeting the fing admitted. . . . The Longue Schedule.

I haven't much time nor have I much space to talk about the National League schedule. It is before us all in all its strangeness, for it will look strange to old League patrons. I think many of us will be surprised to find that the opening date is not until April 25. It is understood that to find that the opening date is not until April 25. It is understood that the new League's opening day will be on April 21, and we all, or aimest all expected that 'oth organizations would open their season on that data. The opening date of the old League would seem to it the ord League and Friend of mine, who met him in New York a few days ago, tells me that he is completely bloated and is drinking heavily every day. He has been doing this for months This will tell its tale by and by. Of course bu-row that on the sate day and Indian polis. That is not a bad arrangement. Pitts-burg also has a good time in store for July i pro Brooklyn is scheduled here that day, and Pitteburg is assigned to Boston on Decoration Day, so that on these two popular holidays the local club is well taken care of. But there is a feature about the new schedule which may be ments, will each play four games. The new League club and an old League club arrange ments, will each play four games. ored man jour rounds and he succeeded, despite the efforts of Jackson to knock him out. Some reports of the context go on to say that Lam-bert had a triffe the better of Jackson. At any rate Lambert not only received the $100 but was carried in triumph by his friends out of the hall to where the wine could go round. Now, whether Lambert did best Jackson or not I don't know, but we have the undisputed fact that Lambert was in front of Jackson the entire four rounds and thereby won the $100. In dealing with contexts of this kind we should always be careful because it does not follow that if a man cannot knock another out in four rounds he is not a good puglist; nor does it follow always that he who is not knocked out is anything like a good man. I am not at all ready to believe that Lambert is anywhere near the class of Jackson, no more than I am ready to believe that Lambert is as good a man as Kilrain. But the Jackson-Lam-bert afair only strengthens me in an opinion which I have once or twice expressed in these bert affair only strengtbens me in an opinion which I have once or twice expressed in these columns, viz: that Jackson is much inferior to Sullivan. With Sullivan in condition how many three-minute rounds would Gus Lambert stand in front of him? Sullivan's past record in the knocking out business tells us that Lam-bert's appearance would be brief indeed. And boxing three-minute rounds is Jackson's forte; that according to his own statement is his best work. But he is not a strong enough hitter to be in the same class of three-minute round con-testants as Sullivan, indeed, the latter in this respect is a class by himself. Where a man like Jackson would deliver blow after blow which would probably at best wind an op-ponent, Sullivan would knock that opponent clean off his feet. I don't believe that in a give contest Jackson could hurt Sullivan. At any rate the Lambert episode has given us to understand that Jackson is not the tremendous hitter that he was at first given out to be. This will encourage the belief that Slavin is a superior man to Jackson; a belief, by the way, in which at present I am inclined to share.

Sallivan and Slavin.

We have heard nothing definite from the Sullivan party regarding the challenge issued in behalf of Slavin by his Australian backers behalf of Slavin by his Australian backers The challenge undoubtedly was an honest one, no doubt prompted by the honest belief that Slavin is a superior puglist to Sullivan. As to the comparative merits of the two men I have nothing to say at present, because, I am free to confess, I don't know sufficient about Slavin. Were the pair to meet on a stage or platform, with gloves and under Queensberry rules, most certainly I would plump for Sullivan as a winner. But it is another matter with Sullivan when he is in a prize ring. However, I don't think that Bullivan will meet anybody in a first-class battle for a long time to come. He is not living the life that insures a good physical condition by any means. A friend of mine, who me th him in New York a few days ago, tells me that he is completely bloated and is drinking heartly every day. He has been doing this for months. This will tell its tale by and by. Of course Sul-livan is a remarkable man in physique, but continued abuse will have its revenge some day. And when it comes it may come very suddenly and just at a time when it is wanted least. Sullivan may not fight this year. PRINGLE. hurdle handicap of 1,000 sovereigns, by sub-scription of 5 sovereigns each, two miles, over eight flights of hurdles; 54 subscribers, 25 of whom pay 5 sovereigns each, was won by Cap-tain L. Ormonde clubs. THE League organ, the Sporting Times, this week says: "There was abundant reason for keeping secret, for a time at least, much of what was done last week at Cleveland behind closed doors. We can assure our readers, how-ever, that the result, as will in good time ap-pear plain, is the outcome of deliberate, judi-clous consideration among the delegates, who never fly off the tangent. The work of the Clevelaod meeting in overy way was wise, and the League is the better for the result thereof. The Brotherhood meanwhile may work their usual bluff of criticism. But what they know of the inside of that meeting is exactly what the world at large knows-everyboody will be M. B. Lemon will leave the city to-morrow evening for Cleveland, to represent the new local club at the general meeting of the Players' National League. Manager Hanlon "I am certain that we'll have a good meeting. I know that everybody connected with the new League is full of confidence, and that alone will make the meeting successful. We have one or two questions to ack, but they are not of much importance. Indeed, I do not think that there will be any great difference of opmion shout anything at the meeting. Cortainly the the world at large knows-everybody will be informed fully in good time. Meanwhile the Brotherhood's grave is being quietly dug. The corpse will be ready in time for the funeral."

Work for Divorce Courts.

The diverce courts of the country are kept busy, chiefly because women have too much work to do and are often cross and irritable as a result. Housewives who avoid the worry and bother of baking and who keep on hand a good supply of Marvin's famous Royal loaf bread rarely know anything but happiness and contentment in their home TISSU lives.
