Chief Brown Says Pittsburg Has 800 Speak-Easies.

NO FAULT OF THE POLICE.

Otherwise Excellent Condition of the City's Morals.

SECOND REPORT OF THE CHIEF

The second annual report of Chief J. O. Brown, of the Department of Public Safety, to be transmitted to Councils to-day, contains much of importance and is of extraordinary interest to every citizen and taxpayer in Pittsburg. It includes the reports made to him by the heads of the bureaus in his department, as previously published, and his comments on them. The appropriation of his department was $654,500. None of this money, he says, was expended without first an order having been issued by the proper department, countersigned by the police surveillance. He then continues: Chief of the Department of Public Safety personally. This involved labor and a personal supervision on his part of many thousands of orders, as well as of a vast number of pay rolls, but he deemed it a wise and proper regulation. In the Bureau of Electricity the Chief expects greater facilities as improvements are made. He proposes during the year to continue the electrical improvements. Councils having placed electric roads in care of his department, he has assigned the duty to the Bureau of Electricity, which will greatly augment the responsibility of this bureau.

EXTENSION OF FIRE LIMITS. In speaking of the work of the Building Inspectors Chief Brown is very pointed in his remarks about the fire limits. He desired to have them extended, but the Legislature rejused to do so. Wooden buildings are being erected indiscriminately, without any control, and are great fire traps. He objects, too, to the building permit fees, which are a tax on men who are building and thus bettering the city, as well as adding to the taxable property.

The plumbing inspector's work is highly praised, but the Chief says that to regulate the plumbing and sewerage of a great city is entirely beyond the power of one man, As it is now, he can only issue permits and no doubt much imperfect work is done. The Chief advocates the passage of an ordinance that would empower his department to make the proper sewerage and gas connections with all property fronting on or subject to drainage or gas connections with sewers or gas mains at the time the same are placed in the streets—the property benefited to be charged with the same. This would result in a better system of drainage, sewerage and plumbing, and lower the death rate

PENSIONING OLD EMPLOYES.

The Disability Board is commented on, and the assertion made that some such arrangement should be made to benefit the Police Bureau as this board has for the Fire Bureau. Provision should also be made for the worn-out employes of the city who have during a lifetime served the city. The neglect of the city to provide some moderate financial provision for these worn-out employes has resulted in finding a number of them in various city departments draw-ing full pay, when they are physically unable to perform any duty commensurate with the salaries; a very bad system, as well as an expensive one, to provide for worthy worn-out servants of the city. The Health Bureau is given considerable space. Chief Brown says: The fact that the city has simply been fortumate in having no general epidemic of con-tagious diseases does not preclude the possi-bility of such a thing occurring. We have a cosmopolitan population the very ends of the earth are part and parcel of our people; we have all nationalities and classes mixed together. The foreign element is settling and centralizing in certain sections of the city, bringing with them all their habits, customs and unsanitary conditions.

A PRESSING NEED.

One of the needs of the city of Pittsburg to promote and insure a low death rate in the uture, as well as prevent general epidemic diseases, is the devising of some means for the successful treatment and disposal of garbage. The backyards and cellars of tenement houses, and the alleys and byways of the city of Pitts. burg, are the public receptacles of all manner of garbage, filth and decomposed rubbish. The question has in the past been treated as a light and unimportant one; but is, nevertheless, which may at any time result from inattention to it, pass unnoticed by your honorable bodies. It is a question that affects all large cities, and one which all the large cities in this country, as well as elsewhere, have had much trouble to properly solve. To my mind, from a careful and somewhat extended observation during the two years that I have been at the head of this department, the only successfully way of cleansing and keeping clean a city so large and populous as Pittsburg is by contract with some well-organized and trustworthy sanitary company for the removal of garbage and decomposed matter of every kind and character beyond the precincts of the city, and by them treated as their commercial interest might deem best.

EAST END MORTALITY.

Another matter that the Chief calls atten tion to is the large death rate in the East End wards. He attributes it to three causes: Lack of proper sewerage; little or no proper disposition of garbage; the opening of a large number of old and abandoned water wells, that and long been closed up, at the time of the Johnstown flood, notwithstanding the public notice of the Bureau of Health that the river water was infinitely better.

Speaking of the Fire Bureau, Mr. Brown is pleased with the work during the year, and calls attention to the fact that it required but 74 cents per capita to run the department. He further says:

During the year I re-organized the Fire Bureau somewhat upon the basis of the organization of the Bureau of Police in the year 1888, making the standard for appointment one of the standard for appointment on the standard policy and the standard for appointment of the standard considerations. of physical qualifications, as well as character, and to some degree one of general intelligence. l am a firm believer that all ap-pointments in the Department of Pub-lic Safety should be made solely upon the basis of good moral character and general intelli-gence, with sufficient physical force to mainain said character as well as to perform the duties incumbent upon the appointees, and that the tenure of office should be based upon fidelity to trust and to duty.

A NEW OFFICE RECOMMENDED.

The appropriation for the year 1890 provide for an appropriation of $3,000 as the salary of a Fire Director, and I shall bring this matter officially before your honorable bodies in the street and Second avenue, is an applicant of floating ice and snow. near future in the nature of an ordinance creating said office. The city of Pittsburg, in virtue of its wonderful growth and develop-ment, has assumed such large proportions and become so important that there should be a has no lears of his political enemies, and the other replied. He should be a person especially qualified for the place, being caim and courageous, having a knowledge of fire matters, chemical combus-tion, construction of buildings, and strength and character of building material; in short, in addition to natural heroic qualifications, he should have some special scientific training. Of the Bureau of Polica Mr. Bureau calls

Of the Bureau of Police, Mr. Brown calls attention to the good work of Superintendent Gamble Weir, also to the fact that all the station houses in the city, with the exception of the Central station, will be com-pleted this year, and will place the Police Bureau, so far as station houses are concerned, on a basis that will compare favorably with any city in the country; he asks the members of Councils as they pass by station houses to drop in and ins condition and regulation of them. It is also remarked that the report shows a high perfection and completeness of police records in this city, and that they are now equal to the best in the country. Mr. Brown further

APPARENT WISDOM The wisdom of dividing the city, so fas as police regulations are concerned, into three districts, and having at the head thereof an indistricts, and having at the head thereof an in-spector, I think has become more and more ap-parent. Each of these three inspectors has at-tached his annual report of the work done in the respective districts, and they contain much-valuable and special information, showing in detail the vast number of prosecutions of criminals and the suppression and extinction of vice and immerality, and the regulation and countrol of the Sabbath day, making the same a day of quietude and peace and rest to all our people inroughout the whole city, worsn'y cyonr investigation.

RESULT OF A STRUGGLE. This has not been brought about without a great struggle against men, money and political influence, and that it has been achieved at all, in view of the stern and uncompromising efforts made to continue a perpetuation of these vices, is a great credit to the Police Bureau, and that the suppression of the vices has been a great benefit to the city, socially and morally, there can be no doubt.

Chief Brown here dwells at length on the improved morality of the city as regards the extinction of disorderly houses or their relegation from public view, which he says is almost complete. Such places, he adds, ought not, in his opinion, to be totally eradicated, but rather placed under strict

DIFFICULTIES TO OVERCOME. In enforcing the laws against crime in this city there have been many difficulties in the way, and I wish to embrace the present opportunity of calling your attention to some of these, and ask your co-operation in overcoming the same.

First—In many cases it is a very difficult matter to obtain positive proof against criminais. inals.

Second—The opposition and interference of otherwise respectable people in the interest of their friends, relatives, acquaintances or political associates, who have been unfortunate. enough to get within the meshes of the law and on the criminal calendars, Third-Councilmanic influence and inter-

Third—Councilmanic influence and interference.

Gentlemen, these things ought not to be. I am well aware that a stern enforcement of the law is not what is wanted in a community made up of a mixed population such as Pittsburz, and the man that has the courage to do his duty invites upon himself a conflict that will ultimately carry him out of office and power. Criminals and their associates are all against good government. Many sensible citizens want laxity in the enforcement of the law as to their friends and acquaintances, and a great majority of good citizens love to enjoy the peace and quietness of law and order, but do not wish the personal trouble and inconvenience of assisting to maintain the same.

THE SPEAK-EASY EVIL. I might in this connection call your attention to the fact that, perhaps, the greatest force at work to-day, silently in most cases, but surely, for the disruption of the moral condition of the city is the illegal liquor traffic. I am aware, gentlemen, that this is a question about which there are an infinite amount of opinions, but there are some facts that can easily be ions, but there are some facts that can easily be proven from the records, and that is, first, that drinking is largely on the increase in the homes and families of this city; second, that the young and growing generation are becoming acquainted with and familiarizing themselves with the use of liquor in the home life that was perhaps never known in Pittsburg prior to this time. The speak-easy proprietor is not wholly responsible for this state of affairs. The botting house, wholesale liquor dealers and the browers that go beyond their promises to dispose of their goods are chargeable with much of the introduction of liquor into the home life.

AN ASTONISHER.

There are at present about S00 speakeasies in the city of Pittsburg. The reason why these are not suppressed by the Police Bureau may be a question that might fairly be asked by your honorable bodies as well as by the public, and I answer: First—The Brooks law makes it the special duty of the ward constable to return all un-licensed houses in their various wards. Second—Lacense is the mere mercantile tax for the privilege of engaging in and handling of a legalized business, made so by the State of Pennsylvania, the collecting of which tax is Pennsylvania, the collecting of which tax is not part and parcel of the work of the Bureau of Police, in any sense, more than the collecting of any other mercantile or commercial tax.

Third—It is not a breach of the peace of any statutory law relating to the peace of the community to be engaged in a legalized business without having first paid a commercial tax.

Fourth—The limited number of saloons and their distribution is wholly inadequate for the supply and wants of the drinking community of this city.

ONE THING NEEDFUL.

There should be absolutely prohibition withn the city of Pittsburg, or else there should be such a number of saloons and so properly distributed as to fairly and orderly supply the wants and needs of the drinking classes in the city. If this was done, and the proper authorities, whose business it is to collect the commercial and mercantile tax, would unite with the Bursan of Police for the proper enforcement of the liquor law, and the collecting of the tax aforesaid in this city, the speak-easy man would soon be a relic of the nast. This department, however, has vigorously.

and with an unrelenting hand, attempted to and with much success stamp out illegal traffic on the Sabbath day.

Before leaving the subject of the Police Bureau, I wish to state that the morale of the Sureau, I wish to state that the introduction oblice force has been steadily improving during the past year under the system of drills and ignid discipline, and the fidelity of the inspectrigid discipline, and the fidelity of the inspect-ors to their duty. Policing is a profession that can be only made successful by hard and labori-ous work and constant attention to duty. I trust that with your co-operation and assist-ance the work of improving the morals of the police of the city, enforcing of law and the suppression of crime and for the uplifting of the Police Bureau may continue.

TRIBUTE TO THE PRESS.

Of the newspapers the Chief says: During the year the criticisms of the various newspapers have been of the most friendly and pelpful character, and have been in the nature of wise counsel and assistance, with but few exseptions, and they probably for political pur poses and from party politics—as it must be parent to every observing citizen and ever ight-thinking man, that much better munic the new charter, and especially so far as pol-administration and regulations are concern-

At the end of his report Chief Brown writes: I have given my entire time and attention to the personal management, supervision and control of all work in my denartment, and am personally responsible for all acts of omission and commission that have occurred during the year whereby the government of your city might or could have been improved so far as this department is concerned. If such has been the case it has been brought about owing to the magnitude of the work to be done, and the vast variety of details requiring such constant attention, labor and thought.

In conclusion permit me to say, gentlementhat with the countenance of your hearty cooperation, as well as the co-operation and assistance of all law-abiding citizens, and the assistance of those great conservatives of public morais—the pulpit and the press—the city of Pittsburg, with its vast industries and wealth, may add to it the better gifts of law and order. I have given my entire time and attention to

HEAVY CUTS TO WILD WEST CITIES.

BIG OIL OPERATIONS FOR THE SUMMER

The Pennsylvania Company has issued a circular to its agents, notifying them of the big cut in passenger rates that takes effect to-morrow from Chicago to St. Louis, Kan sas City, Denver, St. Paul and intermediate points. The present rate from Pittsburg to Kansas City is $24 50, and the cut rate will be $20; from this city to Denver the regular tariff is $42 65; after to-day it will be $30, a reduction of $12 65. To other points the rates are cut in proportion.

The Pennsylvania Company is always careful not to disobey the inter-State law, and in its instructions to agents it enjoins them to give intermediate points their pro-portionate reduced rate. The B. & O. and the other local lines have also issued such circulars, and a lively Western war is pre-

CAN'T TELL THEIR OUTCOME.

"The trouble," said a local passenger man last evening, "is that you can't tell where such rate fights will end. They are liable to spread, though I don't think the war will be carried east of Chicago, but it is bound to reach to the Pacific coast. It was started in a very simple way by the Chicago, Mil-waukee and St. Paul road. Many of the lines west of Chicago like the Northwestern and Union Pacific and the Wisconsin Central and the Northern Pacific have made a combination and they carry solid through trains over their roads without change of cars. Now a passenger on the Chicago, Mil-waukee and St. Paul to the West would have to change at St. Paul, since they haven't a receiving line. The Union Pacific wanted to take them into the deal, but they refused. The result is the Chicago, Milwau-kee and St. Paul road has been losing business. They tried to regain it by offering agents double commissions and they are do-ing it now, but they were still losing money. LIKELY TO LAST SOME TIME.

The cut was the last resort, and the other lines have already met it. The slashing is liable to continue some time. At the reduced tariff the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul's share of the rate for passengers from Pittsburg to St. Paul after the commission of $2 to the agent is paid, is only 50 cents. "As a result of the cut the demand for tickets to the West has increased enormously. Oh, it will be a good thing for the Eastern lines, but wee betide the Western managers when the enraged stockholders suddenly jerk them up. Pittsburg is not kicking, neither are the people. The rates are liable to be cut still further in a few

tions Next Summer. John Eaton, President of the Oil Well

Supply Company, went East last evening. In chatting about the prospects for business in his line, he said: "The indications now are that as soon as the roads become navigable once more, the activity in the oil fields will be enormous. The Standard Oil Company is planning to put down a number of wells in the Lima territory. They propose to develop that field this summer on an extensive scale. The demand for oil well supplies has been good all winter, and orders for he summer are coming in at a lively pace. It is commonly supposed that it costs a great deal of money to sink a well in Allegheny county. It does cost a little more than in the Bradford field, but the expenses are not nearly so heavy as they would have one benow have three general agents located in that territory.

"It is surprising," he said, "how many petty suits are entered against us by other electric companies. It costs us from $200,000 to $300,000 per year to defend our rights. It is one suit after another. Why I was recently in Europe for 60 days, and when I came back I lound a batch of complaints and allegations to answer, and not one of them amounted to a row of pins. The Reed family lives crews were busily engaged all day getting at No. 153 Fulton street, and is highly rematerial to the mills and making up trains of out-bound freight. They delivered 85 cars to the Pittsburg,

Virginia and Charleston, and 40 cars of material were received. Forty cars were delivered to the Baltimore and Ohio Transfer; 56 were taken away from Jones & Laugh-lins' mills to be shipped south, and 55 to go north. Oliver's mills were supplied with material from the Chartiers yards, as were also the lower mills-Sligo, Singer, Nimick & Co. and Painter's. The Twenty-third street freight yard was cleared up and everything along the tracks was put in pretty good shape.

The railroad officials stated last night that the strike is practically over. They have in sight more men than are needed just

He was at once removed to the West Penn Hospital by Dr. Clark, and after a closer investigation it was deemed advisable to amputate the crushed limb, which was done. Mr. Heckman's other injuries, however, were of such a serious nature that he could not stand the shock, and he died a short time after the amputation.

Mr. Heckman was 62 years old. He lived at No. 334 Thirty-ninth street. He had been for many years at the Black Diamond, and was well known and much respected in Lawrenceville. He leaves a wife and a large family. Nearly all his children are

A COAL MINER'S FEAT.

He Dag 92 Cars of Black Diamonds in 11 Days.

The clerks at Lysle, Bailey & Co.'s mines, at Camden, have established a museum of their own. "Happy Jack," well and favorably known as the general utility man about the premises for 16 years, captured a huge white owl in the vicinity of New England while delivering goods. The owl is imprisoned under a large tub in the second floor of the stone building. He tips the beam above the seven round notch. A large aggregation of patrons, as well as commercial tourists, have been invited to see this monstrosity. An enterprising mu-seum manager of this city is negotiating for

Walter Calverley, of the Alliquippa mines, Camden, mined 92 cars of coal in the last 11 days, aggregating 2,310 bushels. The scale price of 3 cents per bushel netted him $69 30 for 11 days work. Four cars of 25 bushels each is considered a good day's work. The output is an unusual one. Mr. Calverley is a young Englishman not weigh-ing over 135 pounds and says that had he known that there would have been so much fuss made about his output, he certainly could have made it 100 cars instead. Man, and None of Them POSTED ON HIS BUSINESS AFFAIRS

The failure of the W. A. Baeder Glue Company, of Springdale, as far as its actual if he will stick, but take him by the hand occurrence is concerned, came in the nature occurrence is concerned, came in the nature of and help him to stick."

Mr. McConnell will speak in the same sons residing in the upper portion of Allegheny who are said to have been expecting it. During yesterday the matter was a general topic of discussion, not only on account of the connections of some of the members of the firm, but of the many persons who are said be "caught," to a greater or less extent, in the failure. Those to whom the assignment is not sur prising, state as their reasons for such an opinion the evident carelessness of Haughey in the management of the works. They ad. kicking a little boy who was playing on the in the management of the works. They admit on all sides the capability of the man to conduct the business of which he had charge. He was well known as a really when one of the strollers struck him in the irst-class glue manufacturer-in fact, it is stated that the Armour Company, of Chicago, has been after his services for some time. He seemed to be always traveling to New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, and such places, drumming up trade, as was claimed.

DON'T WANT TO TALK. Efforts were made yesterday to get the views of a number of parties said to be inviews of a number of parties said to be involved or interested in the assignment with but little success. There seemed to be a pre-arrangement to keep out of the reach of the newspaper folk. One gentleman, a son of A. Holstein, who lives on North Canal street, was the only one knowing anything of the matter who could be prevailed upon to talk. He said: "The only information I have in the matter is gathered in a general way from my father, who had loaned about $17,000 to Hanghey on the paper issued by him. I trequently told my father to refrain from touching any of it, as I had but little confidence in Hanghey. dence in Haughey. He was always dancing round and doing the grand, like a million-aire, which was not in keeping with the standing of the concern of which he was the manager. I understand that Wm. Flac-cus loaned him about $13,000, and I have been told of quite a number who hold the paper for small sums. HELPED BY HIS FATHER.

"How they will make out I cannot say My father, however, is well secured. He was quite nervous for a time during the early portion of last week, but Haughey brought his father here from Indianapolis, a wealthy man and President of a leading bank there. He gave my father about $7,000, and secured the balance to him in real estate. "What became of the money borrowed i

ITS SUCCESS CONTINUES.

The Second Avenue Electric Road Doing : Flourishing Business. The Second Avenue Electric road closed its first week Saturday night. The cars were crowded all day Saturday, and the indications are that before the road is in operation a month the traffic will have inreased fully 200 per cent. One of the men interested in the company said yesterday that they are greatly encouraged with the prospects for the future of the road. There are several new plans of lots being laid out for sale out Second avenue and it is expected that other inducements will be offered to the people to move out that way.
