THE DREAD OF DEATH

And the Ghosts of the Vanished Past That Make One Wish He Might

LIVE HIS EARLY LIFE OVER AGAIN.

The Service of Satan Responsible for Such Tormenting Regrets.

FINDING THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR ! BROOKLYN, March 9.-The Rev. T. De. Witt Talmage, D. D., preached in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, this morning, to an overflowing congregation. After expounding appropriate passages of Scripture be announced his subject to be: "Would You Like to Live Your Life Over Again?" His text was Job ii. 4: "All that a man hath will he give for his life." He said: That is untrue. The Lord did not say it, but Satan said it to the Lord, when the evil one wanted Job still more afflicted. The record is: went Satan forth from the presence of the Lord and smote Job with sore boils." And Satan has been the author of all eruptive discase since then, and he hopes by poisoning the blood to porson the soul. But the result of the diabolical experiment which left Job victor proved the falsity of the Satanic remark: "All that a man hath will be give for his life." Many a captain who has stood on the bridge of the steamer till his passengers got off and steamer till his passengers got off and he drowned; many an engineer who lias kent his hand on the throttle valve or his foot on the brake until the most of the train was saved while he went down to death through the open draw-bridge; many a fireman who plunged into a blazing house to got a sleeping child out, sacrificing his life in the at empt, and thousands of martyrs who submitted to fiery stake and linife of massacre and headsman's ax and guillotine rather than surrender principle, prove that in many a case my text was not true, when it says: "All that a man hath will he give for his life."

But Satan's falsehood was built on a truth. Life is very precious, and if we would not give up all there are many things we would surren der rather than surrender it. We see how precious life is from the fact that we do every-thing to prolong it. Hence all sanitary requia-tions, all study of hygene, all fear of draughts, all waterproofs, all doctors, all medicines, all struggle in crisis of accident.

REGRET FOR THE PAST.

An admiral of the British navy was courtof danger and so damaging the ship. It was roved against him. But when his time came to be heard he said: "Gentlemen, I did turn the ship around and admit that it was damaged, but do you want to know why I turned it? There was a man overboard, and I wanted to save him, and I did save him, and I consider the life of one sailor worth all the vessels of the British navy." No wonder he was windicated. Life is indeed very precious. Yea, there are those who deem life 50 precious they would like to repeat it, they would like to try it again. They would like to go back from 70 to 60, from 60 to 50, from 50 to 40, from 40 to 30 from 30 to 20. I purpose for very practical and useful purposes, as will appear before I get through, to discuss the question we have all asked of others, and others have again and again asked of us, would you like to live your may practically live your life all you have learned of wisdom in your past life. You may put may be coming 10 years worth the preceding for the second of the am of Youth he would do as much as his frier had done in discovering America. So he p out in 15:2 from Port Rico and cruised abo out in 18:2 from Port Rice and cruised about among the Bahamas in search of that fountain. I am giad he did not find it. There is no such fountain. But if there were and its waters were bottled up at a thousand dollars a bottle, the demand would be greater than the supply, and many a man who has come through a life of uselessness, and perhaps sin, to old age would be shaking up the potent liquid, and if he were directed to take only a teaspoonful after each meal would be so anxious to make sure work he would take a tablespoonful, and if directed to take a tablespoonful would take a glassful.

some of you would have to go back

the thirties or the twenties, or into the teens, what a nuisance you would be to others and what an unhappiness to yourself. Your cotemwhat an unhappiness to yourself. Your cotemporaries would not want you and you would not them. Things that m your previous journey of life stirred your healthful ambition, or gave you pleasurable surprise, or led you must happy interrogation, would only call forth from you a disgusted "On, pshaw!" You would be blase at 30 and a misanthrope at 40 and unendurable at 50. The most inane and stupid thing imaginable would be a second journey of life. It is amusing to hear people say: "I would like to live my life over again, if I could take my present experience and knowledge of things back with me and begin under those improved auspices." Why, what an uninteresting boy you would be with your present attainments in a child's mind. No one would want such a boy around the house. A philosopher at 22, a wientist at 15, an archaeologist at 10 and a domestic nuisance all the time. An oak crowded into an acorn. A Rocky Mountain eagle thrust back into the egg shell from which it was hatched. Beside that, if you took life over again, you would have to take its deep sadnesses over again. Would you want to try again the griefs and bereavements through which you have gone? What a mercy that we shall never be called to suffer them again! We may have others bad enough, but those old ones never again or your child again." If you were permitted to stop at the sixtieth milestone or the filtieth milestone to the filtieth milestone or the filtieth milestone or the something like mine one day last November in Italy.

ALONE IN POMPEH.

I walked through a great city with a friend and two guides, and there were in all the city only four persons and they were those of our own group. We went up and down the streets, we entered the houses, the museums, the temples, the theaters. We examined the wonderful pictures on the walls and the most exquisite mosaic on the floor. In the streets were the deep worn ruts of wagons, but not a wagon in the city. On the front steps of the mansions in the city. On the front steps of the mansions the word "Welcome," in Latin, but no human being to greet us. The only bodies of any of the citizens that we saw were petrified and in the museum at the gates. Of the 35,000 people who once lived in those hones and worshiped in those temples and clapped in those theaters, not one left! For 1800 years that city of Pompeli had been buried before modern exploration scooped out of it the lava of Vesuvins. Well, he who should be permitted to return on the pathway of his earthly life and live it over again would find as lonely and sad a pilgrimage. It would be an exploration of the dead past. The old schoolhouse, the old church, the old home, the old play ground either gone or occupied by others, and for you more depressing than was our Pompeian visit in November.

Beside that, would you want to risk the that you are here I conclude that though in many respects your life may have been unfortunate and unconsecrated you have got on so far tolerably well, if nothing more than tolerable. As for myself, though my life has been far from being as consecrated as I would like to have had it. I would not want to try it over again, lest next time I would do worse. Why, just look at the temptations we have all passed through and just look at the multitudes who have gone completely under. Just

CALL OVER THE ROLL of your school mates and college mates, the clerks who were with you in the same store or bank, or the operatives in the same factory with just as good prospects as you, who have come to complete mishap. Some young man that told you he was going to be a millionaire and own the fastest trotters on Westchester turnpike and retire by the time he was 35 years of age, you do not hear from for many years, and know nothing about him until some day he comes into your store and asks for 5 cents to get a mug of beer. You the good mother of a household and all your children rising up to call you biessed, can remember when you were quite jealous of the belle of the village who was so transcendently fair and popular. But while you have these two honorable and queenly names of wife and mother, she became a poor waif of the streat and went into the a poor waif of the street, and went into the blackness of darkness forever. Live life over again? Why, if many of those who are now blackness of darkness forever. Live life over again? Why, if many of those who are now respectable were permitted to experiment, the next journey would be demolition.

You got through, as Job says, by the skin of the teeth. Next time you might not get through at all. Satan would say: "I know him now better than I did before, and have for 50 years been studying his weaknesses, and it will weave a stronger web of circumstances to catch him next time." And Satan would concenter his forces on this one man, and the last state of that man would be worse than the first. My friends, our faces are in the right direction. Better go forward than backward, even if we had the choice. The greatest disaster I can think of would be for you to return to boyhoud in 1880. Oh, if life were a smooth Luzerne or Cayuga lake I would like to get into a yacht and sail over it, not once, but twice—yea, a thousand times. But life is an uncertain sea, and some of the ships crash on the icebergs of cold indifference and some take fire of evil passion and some lose their bearing and run into the skerries and some are never heard of. Surely on such a treacherous sea as that one voyage is enough.

Beside all this, do you know if you could voyage is enough, Beside all this, do you know if you could Beside all this, do you know if you could have your wish and live life over again it would put you so much further from reunion with your friends in heaven? If you are in the noon of life or the evening of life you are not very far from the golden gate at which you are to meet your transported and emparadised loved ones. You are now, let us say, 20 years or 10 years or 1 year off from celestial conjunction. Now suppose you went back in your earthly life 30 years or 40 years or 50 years, what

AN AWFUL POSTPONEMENT of the time of reunion! It would be as though you were going to San Francisco to a great banquet, and you got to Oakland, four or five miles this side of it, and then came back to martialed for turning his ship around in time | Hobokea or Harlem to get a better start; as though you were going to England to be crowned and having come in sight of the mountains of Wales you put back to Sandy Hook in order to make a better voyage. The further on you get in life, if a Christian, the nearer you are to the renewal of broken up companionship. No; the wheel of time turns in the right direction, and the British navy." No wonder he was vindi- it is well it turns so fast. Three hundred and to 80, from 80 to 50. I purpose for very practical and useful purposes, as will appear before I get through, to discuss the question we have all asked of others, and others have again and again asked of others, and others have again and again asked of us, would you like to live your life over again?

The fact is that no intelligent and right fearing man is satisfied with his past life. We have all made so many mistakes, stumbled into so many blunders, said so many things that ought not to have been said, and done so many things that ought not to have been said, and done so many things that ought not to have been done, that we can suggest at least 55 per cent of improvement. Now, would it not be grand if the good Lord would say to you. "You can go back and try it over again." I will by a word turn your hair to brown or black or golden, and smooth all the wrinkles out of your temple and cheek, and take the bend out of your temple and cheek, and take the bend out of your temple and cheek, and take the bend out of your temple and the rheumatic twinge from the foot, and you shall be 21 years of age and just what you were when you reached that point before." If the pro-osition were made, I think many thousands would accept it. That feeling caused the ancient search for what was called.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH, the waters of which taken would turn the bair of the occeptantian into the curly locks of a boy, and however old a person who drank at that fountain he would to as much as his triend had done in discovering America. So he put out in 182 from Port Rice and crussed about among the Bahamas in each of that fountain. I have indeed the country among the Bahamas in each of that fountain. I have indeed the profit the fountain among the Bahamas in each of that fountain. I have indeed the profit of the great Bahamas in each of that fountain he would do as much as his triend had done in discovering America. So he put out in 182 from Port Rice and crussed about among the Bahamas in each of that fountain.

Beside the water a

THE BEST ATONEMENT.

Beside that, we have all these years been learning bow to be useful, and in the next decade we ought to accomplish more for God and the church and the world than in any prepast indolence or past transgression is by future assiduity. Yet you often find Christian men who were not converted until they were 40 or 50, as old age comes on, saying; "Well, my work is about done and it is time for me to rest." a classful.

But some of you would have to go back further than to 21 years of age to make a fair start, for there are many who manage to get all wrong before that period. Yea, in order to get a fair start some would have to go back to the father and mother and get them corrected; yea, to the grandfather and grandmother and have the go back to the father and mother and get them corrected; yea, to the grandfather and grandmother and have their life corrected, for some of you are suffering from bad hereditary influences which started a hundred years ago. Well, if your grandfather lived his life over again and you lived your life over again, what a cluttered up place this world would be, a place filled with miserable attempts at repairs. I begin to think that it is better for each generation to have only one chance, and then for them to pass off and give another generation a chance.

LESSONS OF EXPERIENCE.

Beside that, if we were permitted to live life over again, it would be a stale and stupid experience. The zest and spur and enthusiasm of life come from the fact that we have never been along this road before, and everything is new, and we are alert for what may appear at the next turn of the road. Suppose you, a man of mid-life or old age, were, with your present feelings and large attairments, put back into the thirties or the twenties, or into the teens, dustry in the future!

If this rail train of life has been detained and switched off and is far behind the time table, the engineer for the rest of the way must put on more pressure of steam and go a mile a minute in order to arrive at the right time and place under the approval of conductor and directors.

As I supposed it would be, there are multitudes of young people listening to this sermon on whom this subject has acted with the force of a galvanic batter. Without my saying a word to them they have soliloquized saying:

"As one cannot live his life over again, and I can make only one trio, I must make no mistakes: I have but one chance and I must make the most of it." My young friends, I am glad you made this application of the sermon yourself. When a minister toward the close of his sermon says: "Now a few words by way of application," people begin to look around for their hats and get their arm through one sleeve of their overcoats and is a failure. I am glad you have made your own application and that you are resolved, like a Quaker of whom I read years ago, who, in substance, said: "I shall be along this path of life but once and so I must do all the kindness I can and all the good I can." My hearers, the Time gone is gone forever. An opportunity passed the thousandth part of a second has by one leap reached the other side of a great eternity. In the autumn when the birds mi-grate you look up and see the sky black with eternity. In the autumn when the birds migrate you look up and see the sky black with wings and the flocks stretching out into many leagues of air, and so to-day I look up and see two large wings in full sweep. They are the wings of the flying year. That is followed by a flock of 365, and they are the flying days is followed by 24, and they are the flying days is followed by 24, and they are the flying days is followed by 24, and they are the flying hours, and and each of these is followed by 60, and these are flying minutes. Where did this great flock start from? Eternity past. Where are they bound? Eternity to come. You might as well go agunning for the qualis that whistled last year in the mendows, or the robins that last year in the mendows, or the robins that last year caroled in the sky as to try to fetch down and bag one of the past opportunities of your life. Do not say, "I will lounge now and make it up afterward." Young men and boys, you can't make it up. My observation is that those who start sowing Genesee wheat always sow Genesee wheat. And then the reaping of the harvests is so different.

There is grandfather now. He has lived to did age because his habits have been good. His eyesight for this world has got somewhat dim, but his eyesight for heaven is radiant. His hearing is not so actue as it once was, and he must bend clear over to hear what his little grandchild says when she asks him what he has brought for her. But he easily catches the and for making this world happy. Splengid! Glorious! Magnificent! He will have hard Glorious! Magnificent! He will have hard work getting into heaven, because those whom he helped to get there will fill up and crowd the gates to tell him how giad they are at his coming until he says: "Please to stand back a little till I pass through and cast my crown at the feet of Him, whom having not seen, I love." I do not know what you call that. I call it the harvest of Genesee wheat.

REAPING AND SOWING Out yonder is a man very old at 40 years of age, at a time when he ought to be as buoyant as the morning. He got bad habits on him very early, and those habits have become worse. He is a man on fire, on fire with alcoholism, on fire with all evil habits, out with the world and the world out with him. Down and falling deeper. His swollen hands in his threadbare pockets and his eyes fixed on the ground, he passes through the street, and the quick step of an innocent child or the strong step of a young man or the roll of a prosperous carriage maddens him, and he curses society and he curses God. Fallen sick, with no re-sources, he is carried to the almshouse. A loathsome spectacle, he lies all day watting for dissolution, or in the night rises on his cot and fights apparitions of what he might have been and of what he will be. He started in life with and of what he will be. He started in life with as good a prospect as any man on the American continent, but there he is a bloated carcass waiting for the shovels of public charity to put him five feet under. He has only reaped what he has sowed. Harvest of wild oats! "There is a way that seemeth right to a man, but the end thereof is death."

Young man, as you cannot live life over again however you may long to do so, be sure to have your one life right. There is in this august assembly I wot not, for we are made up of all sections of this land and from many lands, some young man who has gone away from home and perhaps under some little spite or evil persuasion of another, and his parents know not where he is. My son, go home! Do not go to sea! Don't go to-night where you may be tempted to go. Go home!

SWEET FORGIVENESS.

SWEET FORGIVENESS. Your father will be glad to see you and your other, I need not tell you how she feels. How I would like to make your parents a present of their wayward boy, repentant and in his right mind. I would like to write them a letter and you to carry the letter, saying: "By the blessing of God on my sermon I introduce to you ne whom you have never seen before, for he has become a new creature in Christ Jesus,' My boy, go home and put your tired head on the bosom that nursed you so tenderly in your childhood years. A young Scotch-man was in battle taken captive by a band of Indians, and he learned their language and adopted their habits. Years passed on, but the old Indian chieftain never forgot that he had in his possession a young man who did not belong to him. Well, one day this tribe of Indians came in sight of the Scotch regiments from whom this young man had been captured, and the old Indian chieftain said: "I lost my son in battle and I know how a father feels at the loss of a son. Do you think your father is yet alive?" The young man said: "I am the only son of my father, and I hope he is still alive." Then said the Indian chieftain: "Because of the loss of my son this world is a desert. You go free. Return to your countrymen. Revisit your father, that he may rejoice when he sees the sun rise in the morning and the trees blossom in the spring."

So I say to you, young man, captive of waywardness and sin: Your father is waiting for you. Your sisters are waiting for you. God is passed on, but the old Indian chieftain never

The Order at the Clearing House-A Big Jump Daring the Past Week-Saturday's Closing Quotations on

All the Exchanges. There is no disputing a statement when it is backed up by solid fact. It has been claimed all along since the beginning of the year that business was active and expanding at a rate never before known. Those who took only a surface view doubted this, or, at least, wanted proof for it. This is being furnished every day, week and month by the Clearing House and cannot be disputed. This authority shows that the bank clearings, last week were $3,000,000 in round numbers greater than those for the corresponding week last year. Returns for January and February last year. Returns for January and February showed large gains over the same months of ISS. As clearings are based on actual business, and are made up the same way from year to year, they are of uniform value as a gauge of prosperity. When, therefore, they disclose the fact that Fittsburg is smashing all former records there is no room for doubt. The report for the day and week follows:

Stock Brokers Still on the Fence-More Gains Than Losses.

Stock brokers were on their good behavior during the short session of the exchange Sat-urday. They were neither noisy nor voracious, but made their bids in a listless sort of way a if they didn't care whether school kept or not, They were evidently waiting for the unex-pected to happen, but it didn't. There were hids on 71 stocks, covering pretty much the entire list, with total safes of only 40 shares. A strong market under such circumstances is not a little surprising, but it not only held its own, but scored a few advances. The natural gassers were steady, with Wheeling a shade higher. Street railways were stronger, and so were Pineage, Electric and Switch and Signal, Luster was the weakest spot. Bank shares were strong and in demand. Farmers' Deposit National was bid up to 500. This is an advance National was sid up to 300. This is an advance of 50 since the first of the year.

Nothing transpired during the week to affect values for the worse. The excellent business and good financial condition of the Westinghouse Electric Company, as set forth in their statement to stockholders, not only sustained the stock, but caused a fractional advance. Allegheny Heating Company closed with a net loss of $2 a share, but with a promise of full recovery.

A Miller's Views Regarding the Wheat and Flour Situation.

NO EXPORT OR SOUTHERN DEMAND.

The Present Upward Movement of Coffees Promises to Continue.

HIDES REDUCED .-- HARNESS ACTIVE

OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH. SATURDAY, March 8, 1890. A representative of one of our leading manufacturers of flour, thus puts the situation of his industry: "In a long experience I have not know a time when low grade flours were such a drag as they have been the past few months. We have generally found a market for this class of flour in the South and Europe. This season there is scarcely any demand from these sources. The export demand has been cut off by the large supplies in Eastern Europe; larger than the highest estimates last fall. Through the South the corn crop was unusually large last season, and the colored people have evidently not indulged as much in flour as in former seasons. Even foundry flour is in light demand, and sells lower than I have ever known. This is the lowest grade, and is used in molding, being mixed with the sand to make a smooth casting. Wheat has been relatively higher than flour all this season. It has been anything but a profitable season for millers. We get very low prices for the offal. Bran has been lower than hay for the past six months, a thing unknown before. With the low price of bran and middlings it pays to feed this in preference to hay. The latter is only used for the needful roughness in feeding stock.

"Altogether the wheat and flour situation has been different from anything in my experience this season. Within a few days there has been a stiffening in prices of wheat and flour of the this season. Within a few days there has beer a stiffening in prices of wheat, and flour of the high grades is firmer, but low grades give no signs of improvement.

Prospects for Higher Coffee. It will be seen by reference to domestic market column that package coffee has at last yielded to the pressure and moved upward. The advance of %c is in the view of our leading jobbers far less than the situation warrants. Green coffees have risen fully lc per pound the past week, and before the rise packages were relatively too low.
Said a leading jobber: "There has not been a time for many years when the stocks of coffee in the hands of New York merchants were as low as they are at this time. In addition to this all advices from Brazil point to a short crop the coming season. It is to my mind about as cer-tain as anything future can be that we are to have higher priced coffee, and the ½c rise this week is only the beginning of the upward Harness Leather and Hides.

The week past shows improvement in demand for harness leather. February's trade was not up to expectations, and, in fact, fell below the corresponding month of last year. Since the 1st of March there has been a manifest imand Allegheny tanners report that there is no longer any accumulation of stock. Goods are going out about as fast as produced, and from now on there is little doubt that markets will absorb the entire output.

The weakness of heavy steer hides for a few weeks past has culminated in a drop of ½c.
The decline has been in the air for a month past, and is at last recognized by the tanners and hide dealers of this city and Allegheny, who have agreed on the following scale of prices to go into effect Monday, March 10:
Green steer hides, trimmed, 75 pounds and up, per pound.

Green steer hides, trimmed, under 60 pounds, per pound.

Green of thick, trimmed, all weights, per pound.

Green of thick, trimmed, all weights, per pound.

Green buil hides, trimmed, all weights, per pound.

NO SQUEEZE.
