HENRY AUCTION CO., Lambie arose and said that he would vote no, and, as his reason for so doing, wished to state that a recent decision of the Supreme Court in relation to a street in Philadelphia would very seriously affect all street legislation by Cour-cils concerning street improvements and sew-ers, and while he was very sorry that such was the case, he did not want to go on record as in favor of getting the city into litigation. The roll was then called and the ordinances were passed by a vote of 23 ayes to 1 no, as follows; Grading and naving Dresden alley, from Fifty-third to McCnodless street; Twenty-second street, from Railroad 250 feet northwardly; Hoffer alley, from Forty-fifth to Forty-sixth streets; Minerva street, from Taylor to Ella streets; Roup street, from Fifth to Negley ave-nues; Adler street, from Shady avenue to Highland avenue; Broad street, from Highlahd to Collins avenues; Edwards alley, from Suth Twenty-seventh street to its eastern terminus.
