FARES IN FIVE CITIES, From Miles of Street Rail-

ways, to be Collected by

A PROMINENT PITTSBURGER

H. Sellers McKee Becomes a Real Rapid Transit Magnate.

THE SYSTEMS HE HAS GOBBLED

H. Sellers McKee has become a street railway magnate on a tolerably large scale, baying become sole owner of the street railway systems of several Eastern cities. In these large transactions, involving several millions of dollars, Murray Verner has been Mr. McKee's confidential agent, and it is upon the former's judgment that the large investments have been made. Mr. McKee's purchase of the Birmingham system, in this city, was an experiment in a new field. It was Mr. McKee's idea that no property of any nature responds more readily to the touch of a new owner and progressive management than street car lines. The road cost $1,000,000 and paid under the old management very well. The time was quickened, stoves were put in the cars, and a general improvement made, and the public came forward in a most gratifying manner. As an illustration of the increase in actual receipts, Sunday, March 2, of this year showed a gain of $151 over the corresponding day of 1889. In improving the road by the use of the Thomson-Houston electric system, as now contemplated. a further increase is confidently expected.

THE POCHESTER DEPARTMENT. The system of Rochester, N. Y., has been under Mr. McKee's control for over six months, and the receipts have increased onethird. The electric system for Rochester is now completed, and will be put into operation on the first of next month. The Rochester and Brighton Beach Railway is a part of the system. It is 15 miles long, and runs to Lake Erie, where is located Rochester's summer resort. With rapid transit it is expected during the coming summer to double the receipts of previous years. The Thomson-Houston system is said to be capable of railway speed, with minimum dangers to be apprehended.

The system of Buffalo, N. Y., was next purchased by Mr. McKee. The sale was made nearly two weeks since, and included every foot of street railway in Buffalo. The property was essentially old-fashioned, there being no semblance of rapid transit under the old regime. The Thomson-Houston will also be applied to Buffalo.

Mr. Murray Verner will remove from Pittsburg to Buffalo within the course of a month, and will locate there permanently He will assume charge of the systems of Buffalo, Rochester and one other city. His permanent removal from Pittsburg will create great surprise and many regrets among his thousands of friends.

WILL TAKE HIS WHOLE TIME. Mr. Verner's handsome residence on Ponn avenue will be given up within a month. The duties he will assume in the management of Mr. McKee's New York interests will require Mr. McKee's New York interests will require Mr. Verner's active superintendence, and he yields to the demands of business in leaving Pittsburg. The exact date is not yet fixed.

Mr. Verner had for years been superintendent of the Citizens' or Penn avenue line, and he was largely instrumental in the adoption of the cable system by that company. When Mr. McKee purchased the Hirmingham system Mr. Verner resigned from the Citizens' Traction superintendency to accept a similar position upon the Birmingham railway. His vast experience was appreciated by Mr. McKee, and he has evinced such sagacity in the appraisement of street railways and charters as to advance very rapidly to a position of great responsibility. His personal popularity is too well known to require extended mention. He will be much missed in Pittsburg by his business and personal associates.

missed in Pittsburg by the solution of Mr. Sewark, N. J., comes next in the list of Mr. McKee's acquisitions. It was reported some weeks since to have been sold to the Elkius syndicate, of Philadelphia. The report, though widely credited is only true in the fact that the Elkius syndicate tried to buy Newark's lines, but Mr. McKee moved decisively, and secured the entire system of the city. The lines, but are along in the city. The secured the entire system of the city. The stock of the Newark roads was quoted at 400, 109 being par. Electricity will be applied as a motive power without delay, and the property is expected to appreciate greatly in value. ALL SETTLED YESTERDAY.

The negotiations for the system of Syracuse N. Y., were concluded in New York City yes terday by Messrs, McKee and Verner. The latter spent several days last week in Syracuse. and representatives of the road met the Pitts burgers in New York City, where the deal was completed yesterday. So that Mr. McKee is sole owner of the Birmingham lines in this city, and the systems of Buffalo, Rochester, Newark and Syracuse. Columbus, O., was under con-sideration, but was not deemed as favorable an portunity as the others secured.

Prices are impossible to secure in connection with the above transactions, but it is supposed that Mr. McKee has invested $5,000,000 in street railroads within the last year, those figures being below, if anything, the actual amount. Large investments are to be made in the pro-spective improvements.

Report of the Present Condition of the Northside Sinking Fund.

Controller Brown, of Allegheny, last night submitted his report for February to the Councils Finance Committee. The receipts were $75,850 76, and the expenditures $54,544 81. The Sinking Fund Commission reported $47,248 45 cash on hand and $267,748 45 in securities; debts, $86,216 20; credits, $63,202 75; money in possession of Treasurer, $23,013 45. During the year the commission has redeemed and canelled $21,000 worth of water main extension bonds. Since the creation of the commission, in 1880, they have redeemed and cancelled $558,-000 worth of city bonds, and have earned for the city $65,058 20. The earnings for last year were $9,270. The report was received and or dered printed in the annual report.

The resolution for the purchase of property on Howard street, to be used for an addition to its pumping station, at a cost of $2,500, was ned to Councils with an affirmati

AT CROSS PURPOSES.

One Proposes to Show Good and the Other Bad Faith-P. & Mt. O. L. P. Co. Versus P. I. P. Co.-Resumption of the Hearing in the Equity Suit.

The hearing in the equity suit of the Pittsburg and Mt. Oliver Inclined Plane Company versus the Pittsburg Inclined Plane Company was resumed before the Master, D. F. Patterson, Esq., yesterday, opening by the cross-examination of Civil Engineer Von Wagner by Mr. Lewis, attorney for the defendant. After many explanations in addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, differentiation, inclination, variation and so on to distraction, Mr. Lewis met with an obstruction, and had Mr. Von Wagner set aside until he could produce a

Mr. C. J. Schultz was next cross-examined He said he had employed Vou Wagner to make the survey by the authority of the members of the Pittsburg and Mt. Oliver Inclined Plane Company, in the latter part of October, 1888, given verbally by a majority of the company. The idea had been originated by witness while standing on Washington avenue and looking down. Plaintiffs appear to attach much importance to the particular conjunction of events about this time. It was not an acci-dental meeting, as witness knew the members would be there. Witness was not positive that there had been a meeting of the corporators

Mr. Hampton then took Mr. Schultz in han Mr. Hampton then took Mr. Schultz in hand and he said he had never heard of the defendant company or any other operating there up to that time, and that the defendant company did not get its charter until several months after the Pittsburg and Mt. Oliver Incline Plane Company had gotten the survey made.

Jacob Theis (h not sounded), the man who drove the stakes for Von Wagner, was sworn. Mr. Lewis also objected to his testimony as secondary, holding that Schultz had not been authorized to have the survey made, or at least that such authorization was not shown. The master overruled the objection.

Joseph Keeling, Jr., deposed that application for a charter had been made in March, 1888, and it was gotten in June, and witness put the document into his safe and forgot it, and when Schultz got home from Europe he called witness' attention to the ouission, and took the charter and had it recorded. Then at a meeting of a majority of the corporators in October Schultz was authorized to get a survey made. Witness saw the pins, but did not see the survey made. Witness and his father had made plaintiffs a tender of right of way through their property for Si2,000.

On cross-examination witness said the option had been given in the latter part of February, 1889, given verhally. Witness knew Mr. Schultz's authority was wide enough and deep enough to contract.

He was conveyed to his home on McLain avenue was conveyed to his home on McLain avenue, Thirty-first ward. Mr. Boston is a peculiarly unfortunate man. He has been injured in one way or another four times since November last, and it is not a week since he buried his wife, who died after a long, painful illness.

Previous to that time he had been compelled on account of the strike in Dilworth, Porter & Co.'s mill to be idle for over a year.

Some Flat Statements Made in the Mansell Trial at Mckeesport.

THE INTEREST GROWS INTENSE. Fears That the Millennium Will Overtake the Present Agony.

PROGRESS MADE ON THE SECOND DAY

With the second day's session of the trial of the Rev. R. B. Mansell, at McKeesport, interest is greatly increased. When it opened yesterday morning a large audience was present, and many of the chairs were occupied by ladies. At the afternoon session the crowd greatly increased, and in the evening the large lecture room was comfortably filled.

A competent stenographer was present, and progress was greatly expedited. So far only witnesses for the prosecution were heard, and stacks of damaging evidence were piled up against the already troubled parson. Although evidently much worried, Mr. Mansell bears up wonderfully, and remained cool and collected throughout the entire ordeal. One feature, however, that seems strange is that Mr. Mansell always sits with his side to the witness, and has not yet looked a witness in the face while he was giving testimony.

At times during the trial witnesses be At times during the trial witnesses became greatly excited, and, as one of the ministers remarked, "characters were brackened at half the usual price," The defense also seized one of these exciting times to score a point and brought out the history of a lively tilt between the Rev. Dr. Meacham and the Bishop, in which the reverend doctor was pulled back to his seat by the coat-tails. A LONG TRIAL AREAD.

There are still a number of witnesses to be called, and the trial will probably extend over the week. When Dr. Wheeler, who represents the defense, was asked yesterday how long the trial would last he laughed and remarked: "Until the millennium, I guess. I only hope it will quit before that time, as I would hate to be caught then in such company."

At the morning session Dr. C. W. Smith was again put on the stand and testified that Mansell had made no objection to signing the paper in the book room. He also said the paper had not been returned to Mr. Mansell until eight or ten weeks after it was signed. After Mr. Mansell had gotten the paper the witness said Mr. Mansell said to him: "I lied and I acknowledged it. Core lied, and he would not acknowledge it."

Rev. J. F. Core was the next witness. He said: "Mr. Mansell told me, shortly after my appointment to the Blairsville district, that he had told Bishop Wiley what a fine preacher I was, and pointed me out to him. The Bishop, he said, then replied, 'that fixed the matter.' He also told me Beacom, Meacham and Boyle had bitterly opposed my appointment, and that the fight had been heard all over the parsonare."

The witness then detailed the meeting at the "Until the millennium, I guess. I only hope it Sonare."

The witness then detailed the meeting at the bookroom, at which Dr. Mansell had signed a paper retracting all he had said about the ministers regarding the Beaver cabinet session. He said Dr. Mansell was not forced to sign the paper, and, in fact, broke down and cried during the meeting. He said when that meeting closed all of the ministers were weeping. MR. CORE CORROBORATED. Dr. T. N. Boyle then corroborated Mr. Core's

Dr. T. N. Boyle then corroborated Mr. Core's testimony regarding the cabinet meeting, and the meeting at the bookroom. He said he had drawn up the paper which Mr. Mansell had signed. He was then shown a copy of the paper. He thought it was a correct copy.

Dr. Beacom was called, but his testimony was the same as the others. Dr. N. G. Miller, Presiding Elder of the McKeesport district followed and said he had attended the bookroom meeting at the request of Dr. Mansell and that Mr. Mansell had not been kidnaped. In regard to the Eirod matter he said Mr. Mansell had not been kidnaped. In regard to the Eirod matter he said Mr. Mansell had been given due notice concerning its organization, and that it was put under the charge of Dr. Davis, of the Second Church, because Dr. Mansell had too much to do.

At the opening of the afternoon session Dr. Meacham was recalled. He deuied there had been any fight at Beaver over the appointment of J. F. Core. The attorney for the defense, however, kept firing questions at him until the witness got mad and admitted that there had been a slight disturbance." What was that disturbance?" promptly been a slight disturbance.
"What was that disturbance?" promptly asked Dr. Wheeler. "Everything was not as "Don't go hunting into pastures new."
quickly interposed Dr. Cox.
Dr. Wheeler, however, explained that Dr.
Mansell had been led to his assertions about the cabinet from the fact that there had been the capinet from the fact that there has been a fight which had been overheard in his house. He simply wanted to know what that fight was and was allowed to continue. ONE OF THE DISPUTES. Dr. Meacham then said: "There was a dis pute over the appointment of a minister in the Washington district. I had offered his name Washington district. I had offered his name as a candidate for the position of presiding elder in the Blairsville district. The Bishop ruled that he should be a man from that district, and of course I lost. That was on Friday and Mr. Core was appointed that day. I then recommended my man for another position, but when we met the next day I found the Bishop had disregarded me in the matter and a heated discussion followed. I was, however, told to keep quiet by one of the brethren and advised that a Bishop was too big a man for me to tackle."

"Didn't the brother pull you back to your seat by the coat tail?" asked the attorney for the defense, but the witness refused to answer. Dr. Beacon was then recalled and said Mr. Mansell had told him often the paper had been returned to him, that he had misrepresented all of us except Core, and that he did not him.

H. J. Hichman testified that Mansell had told him that N. G. Miller had forced him to sign the paper at the bookroom by declaring that he would suspend him from his charge and make public accusations against him. He said Mr. Mansell told him that without his asking for it.

WHAT HE HAD SAID.

E. P. Murphy and J. W. Morgan said Mansell signing the paper in the book room, but that he had beaten the ministers at Latrobe, and was vindicated. They also said half the congregation were against Mr. Mansell's return at last conference, and that many of the members of the congregation had refused to pay any money to the church while Dr. Mansell was the pastor.

Samuel Finley and Dr. Stuckslager, official members of the church, testified as to how Dr. Mansell had made arrangements to come to McKeesport, and then had said in the pulpit that he had left the matter with the Bishop and the Lord.
Here one of the Judges remarked that the Bishop and the Lord were responsible for a number of the mysteries in ministerial appointments.

These witnesses also testified that a great portion of the congregation did not want his return. They also told how the pastor had accused F. R. Coursin, the class leader in his boy's accused F. R. Coursin, the class leader in his church of casting a reflection on the boy's mother by using a vile oath.

Next Postmaster Shale was put on the stand and asked if Mr. Coursin's character had been damaged by Mr. Marsell's statement. His answer created a sensation. He said: It did not hort it at all. His character at present is such that a little accusation like that would not be a marker." marker,"
C. D. Van Kirk and a number of others were called; they corroborated a large part of the

COULD NOT KEEP UP. In the evening there was no stenographer present, and Dr. Watkins took the testimony in long hand. He could not keep up, and as soon as he was ready for the witness to proceed he would call out "time" in a manner that sug gested a master of ceremonies in a prize fight,
F. H. Coursin was the only witness examined.
He told all the inside facts in connection with Mr. Mansell's coming to McKeesport. He said that at Mr. Mansell's request a meeting of the official board had been called and a request for Mansell's appointment telegraphed to the Bisnop. Mr. Mansell had also told witness that Mansell's appointment telegraphed to the Bisnop. Mr. Mansell had also told witness that he had influence with the Bishop and thought he would bring up power enough to secure the appointment. Mr. Mansell said this would knock out the combine Beacon, Boyle and Smith had formed against him.

Mr. Coursin said they only asked Mr. Mansell to come to keep Dr. Holmes from getting the appointment. appointment. "You couldn't stand Holmes," said Dr. Wheeler, with a laugh.

The other testimony was corroborative. The trial was adjourned until 8:30 this evening.

I am told the capital stock of the bank in question is only $75,000, and how one man could get $70,000 without any security is beyond me. The bank got back some of the money, but they are still out $34,000. This is all I know now. The assets and liabilities are still in doubt."

Mr. F. H. Long, Secretary of the Glendale Tin Company, of Chicago, and manager of the works, is in the city, stopping at the Seventh Avenue Hotel. His business here is to hold a conference with the officers of the American Tinned Plate Association concerning the action of the Committee on Ways and Means. Mr. Long said yester-"Tinned plate will be one of the chief in

The prospects for the busi-ness are very bright. I think in four or five years enough American tin plate will be manufactured to supply the home market. "Our mines are located in the Black Hills in Dakota, and the yield is very good. The mill we have just finished, the first one in the United States, is now in operation and we will United States, is now in operation and we will soon have American tin on the market. "PHILADELPHIA, February 18, 1890. "William McCallin, Esq.
"DEAR SIR-Would you kindly hand this letter to the President and Secretary of your Chamber of Commerce. We are desirous of locating a large manufacturing plant in or desirable city of your State for the production of all classes of wood work by patented machinery, which is already represented by establishments in London, Boston, San Fran-cisco and Tacoma, with several others cisco and Tacoma, with several others contracted for.

"We contribute largely to the importance of the places wherein we locate, because our process is such a labor saying manner of getting out work for buildings, fences, porches, etc., of all designs and natterns. We would be willing to locate permanently in your city, if a sufficient number of responsible citizens would assume the direction and control of our plant, contributing sufficient subscriptions only to handle the plant and operate the same. We would accept stock in such a company in preference to any money consideration and we will sufficiently prove all statements made to the satisfaction of those becoming interested in the same.

Forty-Mile Radios. The railroad companies have refused to grant the request of the coal operators to change the rates governed by the 40-mile radius. A meet ing of the "thin-vein" men was held yesterday. A letter was read from C. S. Wight, Assistant General Freight Agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and Secretary of the meeting of Pittsburg coal-carrying roads, to the effect that they could not arrive at any agreement changing the present 40-mile radius district. A resolution was passed that in the opinion of the operators the majority of the railroad representatives did not understand that final representatives did not understand that final action was taken on the question, and that the letter did not purport to be issued as an instruction from that meeting. A committee, consisting of Alexander Dempster, F. L. Robbins, J. Morton Hall, M. F. Sanford, Dr. D. M. Anderson and William P. DeArmitt, was appointed to go to Chicago and endeavor to secure a final and official answer.

A letter was received from Patrick McBryde, of the Executive Council of the United Mine Workers, asking for a conference on next year's wage scale. It was decided to do nothing about it for the present.

Brickyard Men Say They Cannot Increase Wages 50 Cents in Two Years. Secretary Dillon, of the American Flint Glass Workers' Union and Organizer of the Federation of Labor, stated yesterday that had he known the brickmakers were organized in the East and West in the Knights of Labor, he would not have gone to their meeting Monday night. He says the Federation will not divide a trade or take any branch union into the or-ganization that is controlled by the Knights. It is stated, however, that the brickmakers all over the country are agitating the idea of leaving the Knights of Labor, form a trades union of their own, and then attach themselves to

The wages of the latter, he said, had been advanced 25 cents just two years ago, and they would object to any further increase. They stated that they would do nothing until the scale was presented. This will not be done for a month yet.

Why is it that so many persons in making their wills or creating trusts name some per-son as their executor or trustee? We can nderstand why it is so in some cases, but it would seem as if the advantages of an impersonal administration are not fully under-stood or realized, or a much larger number of persons would leave their estate to be administered by trust institutions. What are some of the manifest advantages of an im-personal administration? One is perma-With a personal administration there is always the contingency of death of executor or trustee, but a trust company such as The Safe Deposit Company Of Pittsburg, having a perpetual charter, does not die. Then again, there is experience, and this is a great consideration, as an inexperi-enced person, though qualified in other repects, is apt to make mistakes, and is very likely to get the estate into legal difficulties and losses. Again there is security. An institution such as The Safe Deposit Company Of Pittsburg, with a large capital full paid, affords complete security, and is a guarantee in itself that the trust funds will e honestly and faithfully cared for. We ask our readers to earnestly consider this subject, and act accordingly. In this connection we ask you to carefully consider the claims of The Safe Deposit Company Of Pittsburg, established in our midst more than 20 years ago, having a rich experience,

MR. M'GINTY'S MULE,

And the Excitement it Created at Night on Mount Washington.

WHITE GHOST, WITH WINGS.

That Made a Pretty Mess of Turnip Patches and Flower Beds.

LAID OUT AT LAST BY THE LAW

Agent Berryman, of the Humane Society, esterday found McGinty. He not only ound McGinty, but he discovered Mc-Ginty's white mule.

For several weeks the Humane Society has been receiving complaints concerning the depredations of McGinty's mule on Mt Washington. It was alleged in numerous communications that a white mule had been creating much excitement on the hill. At the dead hour of the night there was sometimes pushed into a bedroom window a long, white nose, with eerie wing-like attachments in the shape of ears. Many women were frightened into the center of next week, and not a few men were persuaded that there was some basis for the investigations of the Boston Psychological Society. In the morning, cowslips, bachelor buttons and daisies were often found tramped down, and when the good housewife looked over her garden she usually found the tracks of a horseshoe.

STORIES OF THE GHOST. Many were the stories told in the Thirty second and Thirty-fifth wards of the night apparition, which invaded gardens, ate turnit patches, put its head into summer kitchens, d voured mackerels put to soak, and in a general

No. I has been grinding away reliably ever since it blew in, but there was much doubt as to which way the ante-clinal ran.

There was a perfect deluge of telegrams about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, apprizing Carnegie, Phipps & Co., Jones & Laughlins, Oliver Bros. & Phillips, the Manufacturers' and Philladelphia Natural Gas companies, James S. McKean, the Charleroi Plate Glass Company, and other holders of leases, that the Daly No. 2 had come in 800 pounds strong. It is the biggest yet struck in the field.

W. D. Hartupee, engineer of Charleroi, stated that the Daly No. 2 strike was worth $100,000 to the new town, as it showed that the ante-clinal ran under the town site. The Charleroi No. I, now being drilled, is exactly in line with the big roarer and Oliver Bros.' big well, back on the hill above Charleroi. There was considerable rejoicing over the strike, and gas leases in that vicinity are at an enormous premium.

BALKING A BRIDAL AFFAIR.

Whisky and the Patrol Wagon Prevented a Wedding This Afternoon.

Mollie Farrell, Lydia Miller, alias Frew, and Nellie Miller were last night arrested at 245 Second avenue. Three men who were in the room at the time of the arrest escaped before the police arrived at the request of Lydia Miller's husband who dissappreved of the proceedings. He lives at 52 Hill street, and found the party too convival to his taste.

When Nellie Miller arrived at the police station, she as well as the others, was en dishabille, and bemoaned her fate saying she was FACE TO FACE WITH IT. Finally, on Monday night, Agent O'Brien went home late at night. He reached the top of the incline, and started to walk home under the shade of the trees which obscure the sidewalks, tortuous and narrow, up and down the walks, tortuous and narrow, up and down the hills of Mt. Washington. He was half way home when he saw a white figure floating before him. There were wings to it, waving to and fro, and the sturdy agent of the Humane Society stood irresolute. He had seen many strange sights, but it had never been his ill luck to meet a ghost face to face. Sam was tired that night and very anxious to get home, but he concluded not to go home. He turned sharp about, and, as he heard the flapping of the wings in the night wind, he fled toward the incline.

the wings in the night wind, he ned toward the incline.

Yesterday morning Mr. O'Brien cave Mr. Berryman orders to scour the hill, here and there, for McGinty's mele. Mr. O'Brien went to court and Mr. Berryman made the search. He tramped through mud to his knees. He exercised great care not to ask an adult, who knew the old joke, where McGinty lived, but approached children on the street. Thus he finally located the house, and came face to face with John McGinty. The mule was not at home, but the owner, protesting that he thought more of Jack than he did of his life, begged that the white mule might be spared. begged that the white mule migns be spared. Mr. Berryman was at first obdurate, but at last yielded to the pleadings of an admirer, and prunised te spare the pet if McGinty would promise to feed Jack on something else than love and canary birds. Thus the case stands.
