Remonstrants Against Liquor License Applicants

AGAIN GOING INTO COURT.

Less Than Three Dozen Written Remonstrances Filed.

A WAY TO STOP SOME KICKING

Yesterday was the last day in which remonstrances to the granting of liquor li- settled the proceeding-lor the time being, ceuse could be filed with the Clerk of Courts, at least. and less than three dozen have been filed. Notwithstanding the utterances of the W. C. T. U. and other opponents of the busithe office, scanning the list of applicants, some suppose that remonstrances would come in a shower at the last day, as in other years when they were brought in baskets on the last day allowed.

Ex-Sheriff Hunter states that nearly all the remonstrances so far filed have come from the outlying districts, and but very few from the cities.

Among the districts in which applicants gheny, Eighth ward, and all in the Eleventh township, Forward township and O'Hara | that nothing had yet been done. township.

It is suspected that the temperance people have decided on a change of tactics. They can go into court and file their objections. and not be at the expense of getting lawyers to make out papers, and some think this the most effective way to object.

There is but one applicant for license from Moon township, but there are people there who think even one liquor store too many. A GREAT BURDEN.

There are not a great many people en-gaged directly in the liquor business, comparatively, but nevertheless the regulation of it is beginning to be regarded as a great burden by all who are directly connected with it, and more especially by lawyers and judges whose functions are directly inter-tered with, and there are also some queer phases suggested that may be developed during the hearings in applications for license, which begin next Monday.

The first thing that causes discontent i the fact that applicants for license are heard in March, and that it devolves on the Court of Common Pleas No. 2 to run the Criminal Court that term. The March term calendar is always the heaviest of the year, and there have been persons acquitted in the past few days who have lain in jail since last tall awaiting trial now turned out and pro-nounced insolvent. Suppose it had been their fate to have been held over to the June term for trial. What unrequited misery would have been their late! Then again the Constitution is supposed to guarantee persons charged with crime a speedy trial, and how are they to get it if the March term be shortened?

COST TO THE COUNTY.

The county, too, is interested. These people might be valuable were they at large -that is, the innocent portion of them. Now the county will be called upon to never so crowded as at present, and many suggest that civil business can wait better than criminal. Judge Gripp alone has sent some 60 people to jail to await trial, and Judge McKenna some 50 more.

Then, too, justice is often cheated by delay. A prosecutor may not be able after six mouths' waiting to secure his witnesses, and the accused, no matter how guilty, go

Then, in June lawyers begin to sigh for rest, and their thoughts stray to green fields, umbrageous woods and sea breezes, and the Judges themselves, being only human, are supposed to be afflicted with passions much as other men, and altogether the present ar-rangement is decidedly unsatisfactory. The political pot also begins to boil in June. In Philadelphia the courts run differently, in some respects, from those in this county.

A Judge is detailed from each off our courts to hear license applicants, and it is suggested that the courts here might assist each other. Judge Stowe, however, is said to hold that there is a constitutional objection to the Judges doing so here, and he is be-lieved to be well intrenched in his position, especially so far as the trial of murder cases

A REMEDY SUGGESTED. The remedy suggested is that one Judge hear the license applications, and reserve delicate cases, where he does not wish to assume sole responsibility, for consideration by the full bench. In this manner both civil and criminal trials and license appli-cations might be heard at once. Some people are uncharitable enough to suppose that the Judges in Common Pleas No. 1 are not over-anxious to hear applicants for license. Some lawyers are inclined to think that applicants for wholesale license may not have as plain sailing as they seem to think. They say in the Pollard case and other passed on last summer, all possible phases were not passed on by the Supreme Court. Says one: "Suppose a man with a suspi-ciously red nose should be an appli-cant. The Judges have considerable discretion, and suppose they should decide that his nose threw him out of court. The Supreme Court could not very well pass on such a case, for it could not have that nose photographed for review."

Another may not be able to run the gauntlet when asked if he has sold to unli-

WOULD CUT OUT MANY. Then again, it is said that Justice Shars-wood has held that a man who sells from a spigot is not a wholesale dealer, and it is held that this construction would cut out the majority of applicants, as most of them sell quarts. On the other hand, a Judge in Philadelphia has not only ruled that there is nothing to hinder such dealers from furnishing purchasers with glasses, allowing them to divide and drink the stuff on the Altogether, license bearings promise to be fully as interesting this year as previ-ously, but the burning question is: Shall the jail be crowded to suffocation, prosecufors and the county put to immense expense, and innocent people be immured for months merely that license applications shall be heard?

"Better by far," say objectors, "that the

BREAD AND COFFEE.

The Diet with Which a Wife and Children Are Said to be Furnished.

Superintendent Dean, of the Anti-Cruelty Society, yesterday a ternoon received a complaint against John Chambers, a resident of the New Brighton road, a short distance from Allegheny, who is charged with neg-lect of his wife and children. The complaint is made by a very responsible gentle-man, who says that the wife and children have been living on bread and coffee sup-plied by Mrs. Chambers' mother. Most of the bread, the informant said, was taken from his family by Chambers and fed to a dog.

Secretary Dorente said that the circumstances alleged pointed to a plan on the husband's part to induce his wife to agree to the sale of some property. The case will be investigated.

ENTIRELY FLATTENED OUT.

O'Donnell Refuses to Make Good the Charge of Itlegal Liquor Selling Against McDonough-Something May Drop Subarquently-Much Interest in the Case. A large crowd gathered yesterday afteroon to hear the case of Patrick O'Donnell vs. Patrick McDonough, on the charge of selling liquor to a boy named Buerkle, before Alderman Cassidy. The First ward took a lively interest in the matter, and polities was exuded at every pore. The proceeding was exceedingly brief, and in 15 minutes from the time set for the hearing the audience had dissolved. O'Donnell deposed that he had no charge to make, and that he didn't know what he was doing when he made the information. He then proceeded to state that he had never seen any violation of the law in McDonough's place, and that he (O'Donnell) had been influenced to make the information. This, of course,

On the other hand there was talk in the Alderman's office as though the matter had not ended. Alderman Cassidy stated that there were various discrepancies between ness to the effect that they would not do as they did before, the fact that Miss McConnell and others spent considerable time in the said he was out when O'Donnell came to make it, and that there were seven people who had beard him make it, and turther tell that he had remonstrated with the barkeeper for selling to the boy. Alderman Cassidy intimated that O'Donnell's views might have been changed by the fear would not get sewer contracts unless he let up on his story.

The office force substantiated the Alderman's statements, and one of them named several people who, he said, would depose to the correctness of the statement as to have been remonstrated against are: Pitts-burg, Fifth ward, Seventeenth ward, Eighteenth ward, Twenty-sixth ward; Alle-cheny, Eighth ward, and all in the Eleventh gheny, Eighth ward, and all in the Eleventh ward; Verona borough, Oakmont borough, Hampton township, Collier township, Moon matter, but a visitor to the office was told

IN TROUBLE ONCE MORE. How Gus Spitz Manages to Keep Himself in

Hot Water. Augustus P. Spitz is in trouble again, this time in Boston. "Gus" Spitz is well but not favorably known in this city. During 1886 he kept a hat and gents' furnishing good store on Sixth street, where the Hotel Schlosser is now located. His career here was brilliant and brief, and he left behind him numerous creditors. Many business men of this city have his name on their books over accounts which have never been settled. Spitz has recently been running a cigar store in Boston under the name of the Com-bination Tohacco Company. His store was closed Iast Saturday on an attachment issued by a Virginia tobacco firm. Spitz has had a strange career. He has done business in Boston. Providence, New York, Philadel-phia, Fall River, Pawtucket, Pittsburg and Wheeling, and in all has failed for consider-able sums, leaving many creditors.

Spitz and his father came to this city early in 1886 from Providence. He did, apparently, a rushing business in his Sixth street store, and soon opened a branch store in Wheeling, where he established his brother-in-law, Henry Solomon. The father's health broke down and he went to Boston, and for a time Gus was associated here with his brother. Gus was suave in his manners, a good talker and seemed to be able either to obtain credit or borrow cash wherever he desired. After several months in the Sixth street store Spitz moved his entire stock to Allegheny, sold it at auction and then failed for $50,000. There were no assets, Spitz, while here, lived in style on Penn avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets. After accumulating all possible cash here he departed for the East. Those who know board them month after month, and there is no recompense anywhere. The jail was him in this city say that he was a roisterer, spending money lavishly.

A RUNAWAY RETURNED.

Annie Schumann and Louisa Anthony left their homes in Natrona, last week, and came to Pittsburg. Meeting a lady on Liberty street they asked where they could find an employment agency. The lady, who was one of the Misses Lowrey, of 321 Penn avenue, said that they could employ both girls, without the intervention of an employment agent. The girls were taken in and given work, but the parents of Annie Schumann came to the city on Wednesday night, saying that she had run away with a young lady, but last night, through the work of the police, discovered where the girl was employed.

Special Officer William Glenn was sent to the house and took Miss Schumann to the Central station, where she stated that home had been made odious to her by the action of her parents, who forced her to do all the work possible, and never allowed her out of doors with even a girl com-

After a long consultation with Inspector McAleese the Schumann girl was sent home with her parents last night, but a watch will be kept over their treatment of the girl henceforth, as it is thought that it is as much their fault as hers that the girl left her home. As they stated she was under 16 years of age she was given over into their charge by the police authorities, but it is understood that Agent Dean, of the Humane Society, will investigate the matter further.

A FIGHTING ALDERMAN

Notified of His Informal Arrest on a Charge of Disorderly Conduct. Alderman D. R. Callen, of the Sixth ward of Allegheny, was yesterday informally arrested, on an information for disorderly conduct, sworn to by J. W. McGeagh, a jeweler of 304 Beaver avenue, Allegheny. The complainant alleges that the Alderman accused him of stealing a jewel out of a watch left to be repaired, abused him and his clerks soundly and asked them out into the street to fight. The Aiderman was not locked up. He was notified of the warrant and was allowed to go on his own recognizance until the time for hearing before Mayor Pearson is fixed.

HIS NEIGHBORS COMPLAIN.

A Port Perry Man Will be Asked to Explain His Treatment of His Wife. Elijah Crowe, of Port Perry, will be called upon by Superintendent Dean, of the Anti-Cruelty S ciety, to explain statements made against him by some of his neighbors, concerning treatment of his sick wie. The complaint alleges that Crowe does not provide for his wife and that, when she became sick, refused or neglected to procure a physician.

When the state of affairs became known civil business be postponed, it it be absolutely necessary that two Judges shall sit in the License Court."

When the state of affairs became known the neighbors supplied the sick woman with suitable food and called a doctor to attend her. Mr. Dean will investigate the case to-day.

WHO NETTIE HENDERSON IS.

Former Well-Known Resident of the First Ward of This City.

Nettie Henderson, who, it was thought, committed spicide in Cincinnati last Wednesday, was pretty well known in the First ward of this city. She was a native of Michigan, and came to Pittsburg with her sister, who is known as Cora Blake Miss Henderson had money in the Bank of Pittsburg, which she drew out on January 10. Her acquaintances here believe that she committed suicide on account of a disappointment in love.

The Remarkable Growth of Pittsburg During the Past Year,

AS SHOWN BY SALES OF STAMPS. Only Six Cities in the United States Lead

Us in P. O. Receipts. THE MARVELOUS INCREASE OF A YEAR

It will gratify the citizens of Pittsburg to learn that the local postoffice receipts for the last year have been so phenomenally large that Pittsburg, so far as rating among the first-class postoffices of the nation is concerned, has forced her way into the same rank as Brooklyn, Baltimore, San Francisco and Washington, and has shivered all previous records in the history of the postal department. The increase in gross receipts during the last year is quite without parallel.

Where other postoffices in the nation have been averaging 7 per cent increase in revenue during the year which will end April 1, Pittsburg has shown an increase of 21 per cent, and is now assured of a rating which will astonish the country, inasmuch as the cities she is neck and neck with are far ahead in actual population. Postoffices of the first class comprise all those which exceed $40,000 in revenue. There are 13 classes in the official rating, the thirteenth being the highest. The salary of the postmaster is $3,000 tor $40,000 offices, and $100 is added to the postmaster's yearly salary for every $50,000 increase in the yearly receipts. NOT DONE IN A YEAR.

It took Pittsburg many years to reach $400,000, the figure she has been at during the past year with the postmaster's salary at $3,900. The next grade to be reached was $450,000 receipts, with a salary of $4,000. But so materially did the receipts increase But so materially did the receipts increase since April 1, 1889, that that grade was passed during the early winter months, and it was within the limits of possibility to reach the $500,000 grade, with a salary of $5,000. If the receipts of to-day are as heavy as usual Pittsburg passes from the tenth to the twelfth grade within one year, an unparalleled achievement in the history of the Postel Department. The next little of the Postal Department. The neat little addition $1,100 per annum to the salary of Posta aster McKean will be appreciated by that official. The cities in the twel-th grade are now Pittsburg, San Francisco, Baltimore, Brooklyn and Washington. There are but six cities in the United States which now lead Pittsburg in postal receipts, viz: New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and Cincinnati It is quite possible for Pittsburg to enter the highest class along with the above cities within the coming year. Superintendent of Mails Collins figures that 23 per cent of an ncrease will bring Pittsburg up to $600,000 in gross receipts—postmaster's salary $6,000—by April 1, 1891. The increase in percentage in 1889-1890 has been 21, and only a slight increase will be necessary.

NEW YORK IS AHEAD. There is only one higher salary than $6,000 paid and that is in New York, where $8,000 is the figure. There are only the cities of Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati west of the Allegheny Mountains which lead Pittsburg in postal facilities, and a big boom is looked for locally when the office gets into its new quarters, which are now positively promised by October 1.

This city has now left far behind the fol-Plowing cities of the nation: Louisville, Buffalo by an increase in the ratio of two to one; Cleveland the same; Rochester, De-troit, Kansas City, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Denver; Indianapolis by a ratio of 2½ to 1; New Orleans by an increase of over a third, and Richmond and other cities are not in it at all. It is a singular fact that the receipts of St. Paul and Minneapolis were each $296,000, differing in amount

Suspicions That the Girl's Parents are Responsible for Her Escapade.

Pittsburg can exult with reason over the phenomenal increase which the business interests of the city show by the figures above given, and Postmaster McKean claims that the postul business of a city is an index of its future which is fully as indicative as the varying figures of the Clearing House.

A FEMALE DETECTIVE.

Mrs. Gross Gives a Tip as to the Whereabouts of a Much-Wanted Man.

A few days ago a man named Lawson, who had been boarding at the First Avenue Hotel, disappeared suddenly, leaving a large sized board bill behind him. Simultaneously an officer from Magistrate Gripp's office appeared with a warrant for Lawson's arrest, but Lawson wasn't there. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. E. S. Gross, the woman who distinguished herself by spoiling the New Year's celebration of the Chinese by turning the hose on their pyrotechnical display, telegraphed from Beaver to Inspector McAleese that Lawson was there in hiding.

The Inspector, knowing that Mrs. Gross

was visiting at Beaver, and knowing also that Mrs. Gross was a pretty good detective, notified Magistrate Gripp of the circum-stance. Constable Groetzinger was sent to Beaver, and returned to the city last night with Lawson in tow, and the prisoner was landed in jail.

THE ITALIAN RESISTED,

But an Officer, a Sergeant and an Inspector Managed Him.

Dondalata Angelo, an Italian vendor of toy windmills, was arrested on Diamond street yesterday afternoon by Officer Robin son for violating a city ordinance in peddling without a license. When taken to Central station he asked what he was arrested for. Upon being told, he said that was not enough, and he would fight be ore he would go back to the cellroom. He wa small, but very tough, and did fight. It took the united efforts of Officer Robin-son, Sergeant Gray and Inspector McAleese to get him back, but they finally did after a hard struggle.

WORKING FOR THE SENATE.

Mr. Pugh, of Somerset, Hopes to Knock On Senator Alexander. Representative J. H. Pugh, of Somerset, registered at the Anderson last evening He is a candidate for the State Senate in his district against the present incumbent, Senator Alexander, of Fulton county. The district is composed or Somerset, Bedford and Fulton counties. So far a candidate from Bedford has not appeared in the arena Mr. Pugh said be came to Pittsburg on private business. He is confident he will receive the undivided support of his own county, and he expects to knock out Mr. Alexander in the shuffle.

NOT A BROKEN REED.

The Captain of the Central Station Finisher His 44th Year's Service To-Day. This marks the 44th anniversary of Captain Reed's connection with the active police force of Pittsburg. He probably stands the highest in continuous service in the United States as a police officer, and still manages the affairs and books of the Central Station with an accuracy and clean book work creditable to a much younger man.

Fourth of the Series of Lenten Lectures at St. Peter's Church.

Rev. Robert W. Grange, rector of the Church of the Ascension, East End, delivered a very interesting lecture last evening in St. Peter's Episcopal Church. It was the fourth of the series of Lenten lectures, under the auspices of the King's Sons and King's Daughters belonging to that congregation. Rev. Grange spoke on the subject of "The True Soldier." He said that in casting about for a suitable subject he found that to be one of the best he could call to mind, as there was no doubt that most peo-ple had trials and troubles, and he who fought against them best was the best sol-dier. Not only in the example of St. Paul, but also in the teachings of Christ, the simi-larity of the good soldier and the Christian
