TRUE TO HIS PROMISE

Governor Campbell Calls on the Randall Club.

FIVE HOURS THEIR GUEST.

He Shakes a Thousand Democratic and Republican Hands.

JUDGE MAGEE GIVEN A HINT.

More than a thousand Democrats and a considerable sprinkling of Republicans—among the latter Mayor McCallin, of this city, and Mayor Rogers, of Allegheny, Judge Slagle, and others too numerous to mention—thronged the rooms of the Randall Club last night to take Governor James E. Campbell, of Ohio, by the hand, the occasion being the return game, the first being played by the Randall Club at Columbus on the occasion of Governor Campbell's inauguration.

The matter was entirely social, and all efforts to draw the distinguished guest out on the subject of the Ohio gerrymander and the McComas bill were futile. He talked freely, but showed his ability to talk and say nothing that had any hand-hold to it, except by implication.

Governor Campbell arrived at Union station on the 7:10 P.M. train, where he was met by the Reception Committee, Colonel F. N. Guthrie, J. P. Fleming, Thomas Wallace, W. J. Wright, J. K. Fletcher, Frank J. Weikel, Colonel Echols, T. O'Leary, Jr., John McCaffrey, W. A. Ogden and William J. Weikel.

TAKEN TO THE CLUBHOUSE.

The distinguished guest was escorted to the Seventh Avenue Hotel, where, after being refreshed, he was escorted to the clubhouse on Sixth street, arriving shortly after 8 o'clock, and handshaking, congratulation and repairs filled the time for three hours.

The floral decorations of the room were in full bloom, and the guests received in a style that evidently made him feel safe from the start. Each member of the club, and many besides, wore roses—red or white—in the lapels of their coats, and the dust of Governor Campbell's shoes was greeted, and also decorated in the same manner.

President F. J. Weikel introduced Governor Campbell generally, and then the guests filed past him, taking his hand as they passed. The first man to shake it was C. Zug, of the Sable Iron Works. Judges Slagle and Magee, R. W. P. Esq., and Alderman Cassidy, P. Foley, W. J. Brennan, Councilman Mullin and others of the County Democracy followed in rapid review and the greeting was cordial, but brief, except when Governor Campbell stopped to warn Judge Magee not to attempt to sit down on the beer men, as it had been tried with disastrous results in Ohio.

SOME OF THOSE PRESENT.

Where every Democrat left himself to be a King, it is perhaps invidious to mention names, but there were too many to mention in one evening. Among those present and noticed by the reporter were ex-Postmaster Larkin, three aspirants for County Commissioner, Messrs. McWilliams, J. J. Wilson and D. J. Boyle; ex-Congressman Patton, of Judge Harry White's bailiwick; H. J. Layden and James D. Temple, of East Liverpool, who said they wanted to see their Governor; and Pittsburgh was nearer than Columbus; James J. McNally, of Youngstown, O., who gave a similar excuse; Frank Grosser, of the Allegheny county bar; J. G. Weldon, who rejoiced to meet the man that had flattened Forker; Governor Campbell responded that there is no benefit accruing to the Fifth avenue property from the opening of Cecil alley.

GETTING INTO SHAPE.

The non-partisan U. C. T. E. Will Meet to Organize on Thursday. The first meeting for the purpose of organizing a non-partisan union of U. C. T. E., will be held at the Fourth U. P. Church, Allegheny, Thursday afternoon. At 2:30 the organization will be effected and a constitution will be adopted. Mrs. J. D. Barry will read a paper on "Scientific Temperance and Miss Mary Munroe will read one on "Methods for Young People's Societies," and the subject for Mrs. J. S. Collins' paper will be "Answers to Criticisms."

This latter paper has been prompted by the action of the publisher of the Christian Statesman, who are said to have sent circulars broadcast attacking the non-partisan faction.

HERR MOST COMING HERE.

The Anniversary of the Paris Commune to be Celebrated. Herr Most, whose Indian name is Man-Who-Hides-Under-the-Bed, will be in this city next week. He will address a meeting at Lafayette Hall Saturday, the 29th inst., under the auspices of the Universal Organization of Socialists. The event will be in honor of the nineteenth anniversary of the uprising of the Paris Commune. It is expected that the hall will resound with "Liberte, Egalite, Fraternite."

A PLEA FOR SMITH.

Colonel W. D. Moore Goes to Harrisburg to Ask Mercy for the Hardener. Colonel W. D. Moore went to Harrisburg last evening to appear before the Board of Pardons in behalf of Frank Hunter, an 18-year-old boy of Oil City, who was sent up for nine months on a serious charge. The Colonel will also make a plea for Smith, the colored murderer, who is sentenced to be hanged April 8. Mr. Moore said that Judge White a few days ago wrote a strong letter to the board asking that the sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. The Judge says he was fairly convicted, but the act, he thinks, was committed from "insane jealousy."

A JOHNSON-THREE CAUGHT.

And There Are Three Hundred Dollars Waiting for an Owner. Detectives Shore and Robinson yesterday arrested Julius Cohen at the corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street. Cohen is charged with having stolen $300 in Johnstown about a week ago. The police officers here received a telegram from Chief of Police Harris, of Johnstown, stating that Cohen had come here, and to arrest him. He was captured yesterday and locked up in Central station.

THE FUNDS TO BE DIVIDED.

All Controversy Over the Day Nursery to be Ended To-Day—A Joint Committee Will Settle the Matter—The Board and Union Will Separate as Friends.

The Board of Managers of the Allegheny Day Nursery held an important meeting yesterday afternoon. The business that occupied their attention was a proposition from the Sterrett Union to arbitrate the difficulties existing between the board and the union over the future control of the nursery and the division of the funds belonging to the institution. A committee consisting of Mrs. Samuel Sloan, Mrs. James Arthur and Miss Mary Stevenson, representing the Sterrett Union, presented the following proposition on behalf of that organization:

Recognizing that the ladies of the Nursery have worked nobly to make the nursery what it is, and being satisfied with their own declaration that they cannot longer work under our organization, and that they have applied for a charter for another nursery, to be independent of any temperance union, we propose an amicable settlement of the difficulty by agreeing that the independent nursery shall have $500 of the money in the Sterrett Union as an undertaking in which they can work. We know that there is much to do and room for all. The separation will take effect April 1, Sterrett Union to assume all responsibility at that time.

We are prompted to this action by the remembrance that there are bonds of friendship between us begotten by years of united work dating back long before we were called together in this work; some are united by the sacred ties of relationship. Hence no root of bitterness should spring up or any estrangement and bring dishonor on the Master whom we are trying to serve.

This matter was thoroughly discussed, every member of the board expressing her views on the matter. There was a considerable diversity of opinion among the managers, although the discussion was free from all bitterness. Some thought that there should have been an equal division of everything, including the money and the furniture in the nursery; some favored a plan giving the union half the money and the building and the managers the remainder of the money and the furniture; others argued that the board should be willing to take the $500 offered by the union, and have no further controversy over it.

The matter ended by the appointment of a committee with full power to act to confer with a similar committee from Sterrett Union, and to arbitrate the matter to-day. The board expressed its willingness to bind itself to whatever decision the joint committee might arrive at, providing the money was the same. The committee appointed by the board are Mrs. Charles Keefer, Mrs. G. B. Hill and Mrs. N. W. Stevenson.

FOUND THEM NEGLECT.

"The Solicitor found the State authorities were neglecting their duties. He reported back to the department that it would be to the best interests of the service to take the matter to the State and make a complaint made to the Secretary of the Treasury about the way business was done at Castle Garden, that he sent the Solicitor of the department to New York to make an investigation."

LABOR LEADER'S VIEWS.

John Flannery, editor of the Trades Journal, says: "I do not think the 600 Huns were imported miners. If they were right to come to this country and make a living as any other class of people. An employer also has as much right to import laborers as a church congregation has to import a preacher."

TO NOMINATE DELEGATES.

Ironworkers Will Put Up Their Favorites to the Convention Saturday. Nominations for delegates to the annual convention of the Amalgamated Association in June will be held by a great many lodges Saturday evening next. Last month a printed blank was sent out to all the lodges, asking for suggestions for candidates in new scale. The answers are nearly all in, as they were returnable the first Monday of the present month.

CALLER SPITE WORK.

Inspector Layton Says the Huns Were Not Contract Laborers.

PUDDLERS MAY WANT AN ADVANCE.

Martin's Business Said to be Prospering Under the Boycott.

THE LABOR ITEMS OF ALL TRADES.

R. D. Layton, Special Agent of the Treasury Department, said yesterday that the reported importation of 600 Hungarians was nothing but a sensation instigated by the press on the part of the New York State Commissioners in Castle Garden. Mr. Layton says he does not think the 600 men were under contract, and nothing would have been said about it if the representatives of the Federal Government and the State Commissioners had not been at war against each other. He says the latter sent out the report for the purpose of creating the impression that the others were not attending to their business.

To a DISPATCH reporter Mr. Layton said: "All this business about these men being imported under contract is bunkum. I have found out that this report was sent out by the State Commissioners of New York who were relieved by Secretary Windom. As THE DISPATCH stated yesterday, there is a war going on between the State Commissioners and the Federal Government. Formerly the State authorities had the control of the immigrants arriving at Castle Garden. This was so means complaints made to the Secretary of the Treasury about the way business was done at Castle Garden, that he sent the Solicitor of the department to New York to make an investigation."

ACCIDENTS OF ONE DAY.

Four Men Badly Burned by a Gas Explosion at the Black Diamond.

John Hart, John Litche, John Luther and Andrew Micham were badly burned yesterday by an explosion in the Black Diamond Steel Works. Early in the morning a slight leak was discovered in the natural gas pipe which supplies the furnaces. Two plumbers came in the afternoon to repair it, and one of them brought a light near to the hole, and an explosion followed with the utmost violence.

Hart is a married man, 33 years of age, and lives on Smallman, near Thirtieth street. He was most severely burned, but his condition is not considered serious. Litche lives on River avenue, Allegheny, Micham on Troy Hill, and Luther at No. 2715 Railroad street.

The people in a scaffold on which he was working at a house on Seventh avenue yesterday afternoon. He dropped 15 feet, but had no bones broken. He was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital.

ABOLITION OF BUILDING FEES.

A Matter of Importance to be Considered by Councils. There is a movement on foot which will shortly materialize in an effort to abolish the system of fees in the Building Inspector's office. The expense is taken by men who have but a very small interest, pecuniarily, and a large one politically in the matter, and the result is that the fee system is or will be condemned.

In consulting the authorities on the subject, it is believed that it would be better to abolish the fee system, but there were many points to consider in the matter. In the first place, the abolition of the fee system would result in a loss of revenue to the city, which would have to be made up by other means.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JOHN BURNS.

The Well-Known Charitable Woman Laid to Rest in St. Mary's. The funeral of Mrs. John Burns, wife of the well-known liveryman, took place yesterday from her late residence on Center avenue. Solemn religious mass was sung in St. Mary's Cathedral, and the remains were interred in the cemetery.

STABBED WITH A CASEKNIFE.

A Southsider Seriously Cut Under the Shoulder by His Nephew. There was a cutting affair on the Southside yesterday afternoon. John Youhas and Joseph Goliski are stepbrothers and live together on the Birmingham road. They got involved in a quarrel yesterday, and Goliski drew a caseknife and stabbed Youhas in the left shoulder, but it is by no means dangerous. The father was arrested, but the son escaped. Dr. Moyer dressed Goliski's wound.

JONES ON HIS WAY HOME.

His Mystic Chain Brethren Got Him Out of New York. John E. H. Jones, the young man who attempted suicide in a New York church over a few days ago, was yesterday handed over to the brethren of the Mystic Chain, who took charge of him. John J. Davis, the State Secretary of the organization, left New York with Jones yesterday afternoon.

LOTS OF LIBRARIES.

New Suggestions as to the Disposition of Forces and Funds.

MAIN LIBRARY IN SCHENLEY PARK.

An Old City Branch and a Big Music Hall on the Bedford Avenue Site.

NOVEL IDEAS GIVEN TO THE PUBLIC.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie has had, as a matter of course, his own ideas in regard to the most equitable arrangement of the good things he intends to shower upon Pittsburgh in the near future, but his favorite method of procedure in regard to the development of the free library and its adjuncts will be to make sure of public approbation before any decisive move is advocated in the municipality.

The fullest and freest discussion through the newspapers is courted by all concerned, and the manifest necessity is to have something to discuss. To secure this end the following detailed plans are submitted to the public, coming from an authoritative source.

THE MAIN LIBRARY.

In the main library are to be the expensive editions of books; an art and room for literary curios of all descriptions. Rare works of reference and special lines of literature would also be included, but the arrangement in the main library is more elaborate than in any of the branches.

It will be remembered that Mr. Carnegie wrote to Mrs. Schenley some time since, in other words, in the East End. The surrounding should be, according to the present ideas, 15 to 20 acres of park and terraces. The building should embody the architectural beauties possible with plenty of ground to use and ample funds to work out the most advanced plans.

ONE FOR THE OLD CITY.

Let the old city should feel itself neglected the following plan in detail is advanced: What is called the Bedford avenue site contains 4 1/2 acres. Below it, toward the Union station, and included in the O'Hara estate, are several acres of shanties. This tract should be cleared and turned into a beauty-spot facing the city proper. The old city branch would be the idea. Mr. Carnegie will expend dollar for dollar on it that was given to Allegheny; in other words, $300,000.

Mr. Carnegie has been surprised and delighted at the demand for the use of Carnegie Hall, in Allegheny. It has given him an impression that a magnificent and spacious music hall in Pittsburgh would earn the money to buy many a book in the Carnegie Hall, in Allegheny. It has given him an impression that a magnificent and spacious music hall in Pittsburgh would earn the money to buy many a book in the Carnegie Hall, in Allegheny.

AWAY IN THE FUTURE.

The size of the site would allow of a reserved space for something yet a good distance off, but nevertheless at the bottom of Mr. Carnegie's horn of plenty, viz., a great conservatory of music; one that would educate Pittsburgh's rising generation in the realms of music. Possibly an art school may loom out of the dim future.

The branch libraries for the upper Southside, Templeville and Lawrenceville would not be overlooked, although, of course, much smaller in size than the main building or the old city branch, but would be thoroughly equipped with reading matter. It would be assumed that special and outside of the ordinary run of literature would be easily sought and found at the principal depositories. Not only this, but the Allegheny Free Library might be considered as forming a branch of the general plan, this being not in any sense a checkmate of the handsome affair upon the Northside.

NOT UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Judge Stowe in Favor of Something Like the Australian Ballot Law.

It being reported that Judge Stowe differed from Chancellor E. Black regarding the applicability of the Australian system of voting in Pennsylvania, holding that it conflicted with the constitutional provision in this State that voters and their votes should be registered and numbered, his Honor was asked regarding the matter yesterday. He replied that someone must be mistaken, as he not only never held so, but considered the ballot secret at present, if a voter chose to make it so, as it was a penal offense for an election officer to disclose how anyone voted save where it became necessary in a legal investigation.

Judge Stowe said he knew of no reason why the Australian system would not work well, or something to that effect.

OUR LINES.

Embroideries. We bring them direct from St. Gall. It is not the most important point that that our goods are made in Switzerland, but we give you a large choice of styles that represent our best judgment, selected from the original stock, and not what is left from somebody's line that was picked out of the remains of somebody else's selections from another's choosings.

Remember both these points, though: That our prices ARE the lowest, and that the patterns ARE our own. Our Embroidery stock is absolutely complete. We would like everybody to buy early, so that the most popular lines can be renewed before the season ends.
