COUNTING THE COST.

The Proposed Diamond Street Widening Not so Expensive.

QUITE CHEAP FOR THE CITY.

Figures of the Board of Viewers on Damages and Assessments.

LEASEHOLDERS LEFT OUT IN THE COLD

Those interested in the opening of Diamond street were given a peep at what may be the figures upon benefits and damages assessed upon property holders. It is wellknown that reports of this character cannot be relied upon as to exact figures until signed by the Board of Viewers and submitted to Councils. So the work of yesterday was simply a foretaste of good things in store for the lucky side of the proposed street and unpleasant doses for the other people. There was a lively howl from some quarters and threats of legal recourse are by no means slow in coming to the front. The greatest interest as well as the live-liest prospects for a fight are concentrated in the block lying between Wood and Smithfield streets. On the Fourth avenue side there are at least two property holders who will resent payment of benefits from the opening of the street. Judge M. W. Acheson owns the property fronting upon Smith-field street. In his celebrated tilt of some weeks since with T. O'Leary, Jr., Judge Acheson expressed a determination to take legal measures to avoid assessment, because his property fronts solely upon Smithfield street. The same action is looked for from the Citizens' National Bank, whose property fronts on Wood street.

TOO MAD TO TALK.

Those who are affected by the taking away of 25 feet depth, and who are assessed benefits covering or exceeding claims for damages for loss of property, are so mad that no opinions are vouchsafed. The Grand Opera House Company, which is allowed damages of $38,275 and charged benefits of $46,661, it thus costing them $8,386 and 25 teet depth of their property to be given the privilege of tearing down the Opera House, are somewhat in a quandary.

The people who receive benefits along Diamond alley, between Wood and Smithfield streets, profess mild elation at receiving five test additional depth to their holdings. But the general feeling is that until the award of the Board of Viewers gets into Council it is wiser to say little.

Mr. O Leary read the list off at the meeting yesterday, to a deeply interested audience. The kickers were by no means backward in speaking up. Some curt inter-changes of opinion were bandled between members of the board and other parties. A representative of the Lynch estate charged that some mysterious syndicate on the lucky side of the street was being taken care of by the Board, and some hot rejoinders whiled away several minutes.

MAKES HIM DIZZY. Mr. George Marshall said that the figures made him dizzy: "We have to pay the city $6,000 for tearing down our building and moving away." W. J. Sawyers said he would certainly appeal.

The holders of leases were all left upon the chilly outside in the figures submitted yeslerday. The butchers in the vicinity of yesterday. The butchers in the vicinity of the market who put in claims of from $5,000 to $10,000 were ditched completely. J. R. Weldin & Co. were given no attention, despite their claims of nearly $50,000 damages. Manager E. D. Wilt, of the Grand Opera House, who put in a claim of $187,000, was the subject of a special statement by the hoard, the claim being advanced that while Mr. Wilt might claim his annual profits for the four years his lease has to run, he could not claim anything else than such a fleure as some other manager. than such a figure as some other manager would offer for the lease.

Mr. Wilt was subjected to inquiry, but declined to say anything but that he had two attorneys who were under contract to talk for him when the proper time arrived. As J. R. Weldin & Co. have had Major A. M. Brown and John Hampton, Esq., retained for six months in their interest, legal proceedings against the opening of the eet may be counted upon with certainty Mutterings in angry key were heard in many quarters, but few of those seen were willing to talk without further considera-

RUMORS, BUT NO BACKERS, The charge was boldly made last night, by a gentleman directly interested, that an underground arrangement was already in full blast by which especially virulent kickers would be placated in a generous manner, with a view of preventing such a contingency as a test case of the legality of the entire condemnation. Other charges of an equally sensational nature were flying from mouth to mouth, but the remarkable disinclination of anybody to assume re-sponsibility of the circulation of the rumors was quite as remarkable as the context of the stories.

The list, when finally amended, will be submitted to Councils in connection with the ordinance. The list of damages and benefits assessed, read yesterday, is as fol-

A TALE OF TWO CITIES.

An Argument in Favor of Consolidating Pittsburg and Allegheny City-Taxables and Taxes That Shows Something Singular - Possible Population of Each

One of the strongest arguments used yesterday around City Hall for the consolidation of Allegheny and Pittsburg was culled rom the report of the County Controller. The assessments show that for the next three years the county valuation will be $268,-227,828. On the country basis the valuation in the city is $189,502,888, while the work of the City Assessors shows over $181,000,000.

The City Tressurer and Controller make a very strenuous kick on this matter of taxing Pittsburg in contradistinction to Allegheny by over 50 per cent of a difference. This by over 50 per cent of a difference. This was shown by a review of the city taxables, taken from the official report, which showed up 59,298. This, on the old State basis, multiplied by five, would show a population of 296,490. The Allegheny list of taxables embraces 25,364, giving on the State basis 126,820 population, and the inequal taxation is so very apparent that the people interested are more determined than ever that the county taxes will fall short, as the residents of the city claim that they are unduly taxed of the city claim that they are unduly taxed and pay too much now.

The Controller thinks that this sort of dispute will affect not alone the hump-cutting pute will affect not alone the hump-cutting project, which ought to be paid partly by the county, but also the free bridge project, in which the county is interested. The peo-ple of Allegheny county, he said, were in a position to decide whether Pittsburg should pay more than half the taxes of the county, but then Pittsburg people might object as a matter of form. This question will shortly come up in Councils for discussion.

REVISING THE TAX SYSTEM.

Another Meeting of the Commission to be Held at Harrisburg.

County Commissioner Mercer left for the State capital last evening to attend a meeting of the Tax Committee of the State Association. The Tax Commission will convene at the same time, and Charles B. Price, of Erie, who represents the County Commissioners, desires to consult with his colleagues to guide his action. Mr. Mercer said that any data they had secured would be turned over to him, and he would give it to the

"The problem to be solved," said Mr.
Mercer, "is equalization of the taxes. The commission was organized to revise the tax system. Taxes are based on wealth, but how to lay them equitably is the question. In the country districts it is not so hard, but in the cities where the standards of value are so fluctuating and depend on so many things it is a most difficult job."

A MINIATURE FAC-SIMILE Of the Simplest Life Insurance Policy

Issued. The Equitable Society issues an exact reproduction, on a small scale, of one of its new free tentine policies. Aside from its use in showing the simplicity and liberality use in showing the simplicity and liberality of the society's latest contract of insurance, this miniature policy is quite a curiosity, and an interesting example of the perfection to which the art of the engraver and printer has been carried. It is printed in red and black, and is complete in every respect, including a miniature of the exquisite engraved heading of the original policy, and fac-similes of the signatures of the president and secretary.

WHAT WE HAVEN'T GOT

SPRING CLOTHING!

From a Pair of Kentucky Jean Pants to a Gorgeous Fancy Vest Isn't Worth Having.

Paste This in the Crown of Your Hat and Don't Forget It.

No man can be on very good terms with himself unless he is decently and comfortably clad. The question of cost enters largely into the matter of dress. Well you can spend a fortune and not get very much out of it, and you can spend very little and get a whole lot, so to speak. It all depends on how you buy and where you buy. It is the disposition of most men to buy as cheaply as possible when it comes to the purchase of clothing for themselves. They may be extravagant in everything else, but practice the strictest economy in the matter of dress.

WE ARE PREPARED FOR SUCH MEN

And the "pull" we've got is a price-pull, which will pull more trade than any amount of bombast in the newspapers. Really Elegant Spring Overcoats

At $8, $10, $12 and $15.

BEAUTIFUL SPRING SUITS

For $10, $12, $15 and $18. With hundreds of Spring Overcoats at $5, $6 and $7, and hundreds of Spring Suits at $6, $7 and $8 which, while not being as good as our bigger priced ones, yet are vastly better in every way than what you'd get for from $2 to $4 more money elsewhere.

THIS WEEK WE BEGIN A TRIUMPH!

In more than the ordinary import of trade speech, it's an entirely new stock; a collection of the nicest, nattiest, newest things the good judgment of scores of manufacturers could devise and design.
